Railroads Shut Down By Strike Despite Ban

Clerk's Union Defies Court, Government Action Considered

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Railway clerks ignored government orders today and shut down the nation's trains as the peak of the Christmas mailing season neared. Three smaller unions ordered their men back on the job.

The Brotherhood of Railway and Airline Clerks (BRAC), whose 200,000 rail members handle baggage and sell tickets, said it was refusing to comply with a federal judge's 3 a.m. EST back-to-work order.

BRAC pickets were on the line throughout the nation. A critical question was whether members of the other three unions—the United Transportation Union (UTU), the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employes and a dining car employes union—would cross the picket lines. Altogether 425,000 union members are involved.

The strike forced 600,000 big city commuters to find other ways to and from the job. The Postal Service stopped accepting parcel post packages for destinations more than 300 miles away. The Big Three automakers cut back shifts in several cities.

The strike began at 12:01 a.m. to back up union demands for bigger pay raises than a White House board had recommended or the railroads had offered.

Fifty-nine minutes later, Congress completed passage of a bill ordering a halt to the strike and giving rail workers a 13 1-2 per cent pay increase. The pay provision was unprecedented in the memory of congressional observers.

President Nixon signed the legislation at 2:10 a.m. and said he expected workers "immediately to return to work and their leaders to return to the bargaining table."

And at 3:17 a.m., in his suburban home, U.S. District Judge John H. Pratt responded to industry pleas and issued a 10-day temporary restraining order against the unions on the basis that the new law had been violated.

In New York city, the subway passenger load was nearly doubled. Ford cut back to two four-hour shifts its assembly plant in Atlanta. General Motors and Chrysler began cutting back shifts in Delaware.

In Knoxville, Tenn., a feed dealer said the strike "will put us out of business by tomorrow night." He said grain movement in the Southeast depends on rails. The Mobile, Ala., dock facility said it would have to close by midnight Friday if the strike is not settled.

In Chicago, the nation's rail

Strike Has Little North Bay Effect

Today's nationwide rail unions strike had little visible influence in Marin and Southern Sonoma counties, but it was a major worry to local auto dealers, furniture and appliance stores and other firms.

Southern Pacific Railroad spokesman William G. Phelps said the only place likely to be picketed was a crew change point in Petaluma. Phelps said that rail traffic through Marin and Southern Sonoma consists mostly of lumber trains from the Redwood Empire to the Bay Area. Northwestern Pacific Railroad was running few trains in Marin at this time. anyway, Phelps said.

Few Marin firms depend on direct rail service for incoming or outgoing shipments. One is the A. G. Schoonmaker, Inc., of Suasalito. There, M.J. Sullivan, executive vice president, said today the timing of the strike meant it will have little immediate impact on his firm.

But if it lasted more than a few days, it could affect shipments due from Schoonmaker's suppliers, he said.

"They'll ruin us" if the rail strike continues, one Marin auto agency said. Dealers for all the major American-made cars agreed.

Ford, General Motors and Chrysler plants ship cars by rail in "piggy-back" truck transporters from factories in the Midwest to the Bay Area. The cars are then delivered by truck to the dealers.

Abe Froman, president of Braverman's Furniture in San Anselmo, said nearly all "case goods" such as bedroom sets, dining room furniture and large couches are shipped from eastern manufacturers by rail. He said if the strike continues it will become almost impossible to obtain stocks.

Appliance dealers also said almost all their merchandise depends on rail transport.

Elsewhere in the Bay Area, the rail strike's most obvious effect was the stoppage of commute passenger traffic on the San Francisco Peninsula, where 12,000 riders had to find other transportation today.

Rail lines canceled all their long-run passenger trains, and shunted freight cars loaded with perishables to special points where they could be cared for, SP spokesman Phelps said.

Sharp Quake Shakes Peru, Ecuador

LIMA, Peru (UPI) — An earthquake of potential "disastrous" proportions rocked the jungled Peru-Ecuador border area late Wednesday. It appeared centered in the upper northwest corner of Peru, several hundred miles from the killer earthquake of May 31.

The Upsala Seismological Institution in Sweden said the energy released by the quake was about one-fifth of that of the May temblor, "but still is an earthquake of disastrous measures.

First reports were that 13 persons were known dead in this earthquake and that many others were injured.

The Peruvian National Institute of Geophysics said the quake had a force of 7.5 on the Richter scale of 10 and was centered in the Ecuadorian Bay of Guayaquil about 50 miles north of the Peruvian city of Tumbes.

Reports from the Peruvian city of Sulland said at least 12 persons were killed there and "a great number of persons" were injured. (Earlier in Quito, Ecuadorian authorities said at least one person was killed in a border village and several persons were hurt.)

The quake was recorded at 11:35 p.m. EST by the University of California Seismological station in Berkeley.

Some Peruvian cities are still clearing the rubble of a disastrous quake that killed at least 70,00 persons May 31.

Sullana is about 25 miles north of the cotton growing center of Piura where reports said the Colonial cathedral was badly damaged.

Reports from towns and villages in Ecuador said there was a general panic when the quake struck, and most people ran into the streets.

Senate Troop Ban Gains Acceptance

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Secretary of State William P. Rogers said today the administration would no longer oppose a Congressional ban on the introduction of ground combat troops into Cambodia, although it still feels President Nixon's hands should not be tied.

Rogers told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that the administration—despite its two-month battle against such a prohibition earlier in the year — feels that a restriction voted unanimously by the Senate Tuesday "carries out the President's intentions."

He said it would "be totally inconsistent with the policies of this administration" to send ground combat troops into Cambodia. His testimony did not make it clear, however, whether that statement applied to a resumption of last spring's offensive against Communist sanctuaries in Cambodia along its border with Vietnam.

"As you know, the position of the administration is that the President's hands should not be tied," Rogers said. For that reason, he said, "We do not approve of it, but I have no opposition to its passage. It carries out the President's intentions. We have no intention of using ground forces in Cambodia."

Rogers testified before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in support of a $255 million foreign aid outlay to Cambodia, contending that the beleaguered Indochina state could be saved from North Vietnamese attacks with U.S. money instead of U.S. manpower.

The ban on ground combat troops approved by the Senate is before a Senate-House conference trying to iron out differences in a $66 billion defense appropriations bill.

The House version did not mention Cambodia. The administration's decision not to fight the prohibition could persuade House conferees to accept it in the final version of the bill.

Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the committee, vowed that the bill would receive "careful and deliberate consideration" — suggesting that it will not be cleared before adjournment of the 91st Congress.

Fulbright said approval of the bill as written would be regarded, at least by Cambodia, as a "ratification" of a new U.S. commitment to Cambodia's defense that could lead to another Vietnam.

"I personally will not be a party to another hasty endorsement of executive branch policy in Southeast Asia," Fulbright told Rogers.

Earlier, the committee disclosed that Rogers told Congress in April that substantial military aid to Cambodia undoubtedly would lead to a request for U.S. troops and military advisers.

Today's was the first public confrontation between Rogers and the committee in 17 months.

Embargo Lifted On Parcel Post In Western U.S.

In announcing its embargo yesterday, the post office refused to accept second, third and fourth class mail because of the railroad strike.

The change today affects only parcel post in the western states. Second and third class mail or newspapers and advertising circulars, are still embargoed beyond a 300-mile limit, according to the regional headquarters in San Francisco.

There is no restriction on air mail or first class mail or air parcel post.

Calley Had Kill Orders: His Defense

FT. BENNING, Ga. (UPI) — Lt. William L. Calley's defense attorney told a six-officer military court today that Calley took his platoon into the Vietnamese hamlet of My Lai under orders that "every living thing in that area be killed."

In a brief opening statement, defense attorney George W. Latimer said Calley would take the stand in his own defense and give a full account "of his actions, conduct and behavior."

Calley, 27, is accused of killing, or ordering killed, 102 South Vietnamese civilians March 16, 1968, the day he led his platoon on a search-and-destroy mission through My Lai.

Latimer said the cluster of villages in which My Lai was situated was known as Viet Cong country and a death trap for American soldiers.

Many of the members of Calley's platoon had been killed or had arms and legs blown off and had been "ruined for life" in preceding weeks by mines, booby traps and ambushes set by "civilians of all ages" of the area, Latimer said.

The day before the attack, he said, funeral services had been held for three soldiers who had been killed. He said the feeling at the services was a general mood of reprisal.

"He told his men that at long last they were going to close with the enemy and be given the opportunity to get even for the loss of their buddies," Latimer said.

"He said the area was defended by the 48th Viet Cong Battalion, one of their finest, and the mission was not only to search-and-destroy My Lai 4, but My Lai 5 and 6.

"He said the information was that all civilians had left the area and if any were remaining they would be Viet Cong or Viet Cong sympathizers.

"He ordered the village burned, the animals shot, the

Welfare Aide Says All Legal For Wage Earner

By WAT TAKESHITA

A Marin County mother of four children, who grosses $7,000 to $7,500 per year as a clerk for the federal government, is drawing $310 per month in welfare aid, bringing her gross income to about $11,000 per year.

Betty L. Presley, director of Public Social Services, acknowledged that the woman is on welfare, is eligible for Medi-Cal aid and gets $165 worth of food stamps per month for $126.

All of this is quite legal under existing federal law, which was changed by the 1967 amendments to the Social Security Act, she pointed out.

Theoretically, the woman could earn much more and still stay on welfare, Miss Presley added. On the basis of various exemptions granted to welfare recipients under the federal law, this woman could gross almost $900 per month and still be eligible for $150 to $200 in welfare aid.

Miss Presley said she did not know how many such cares were on county welfare rolls.

"It is this open-ended nature of the earned income exemption that adds to the increase in caseload," declared Miss Presley.

She agrees with the aim of the law — to provide incentive for a person on welfare to supplement public aid with her own earned income.

"But it shouldn't be open-ended; they should put a lid on the ceiling so that a person who reaches a certain income is ineligible for public aid. Welfare directors in the state and the boards of supervisors have been trying to put a ceiling but we haven't succeeded. It will take an act of congress to change it. That is one of our main problem areas. It doesn't allow us to close a case, and results in recipients staying on public aid much longer," she said.

The ordinary worker does not have that advantage. A nonrecipient mother of four children who grosses $900 per month would not begin to qualify for public aid be-

Reds Snub Proposal To Free POWs Soon

PARIS (UPI)—The United States proposed today that the Vietnam peace talks move into daily sessions devoted to an immediate release of war prisoners so the first men could be freed during the Christmas season. The Communists refused.

U.S. Ambassador David K.E. Bruce and South Vietnamese negotiator Pham Dang Lam renewed President Nixon's proposal Oct. 7 that U.S. and Allied war prisoners in North Vietnam be exchanged for the thousands of Communist prisoners in South Vietnam.

But after today's fruitless session Bruce told reporters: "I regret to say they would not respond directly to this proposal, and they even refused to meet tomorrow to discuss it." He had suggested daily POW sessions beginning Friday.

The Viet Cong's Mme. Nguyen Thi Binh said the Communists would discuss the prisoner offer only if the United States would announce an unconditional troop withdrawal. She repeated her statement to newsmen after today's session.

Madame Binh said she had made what she called a "very important" cease-fire proposal. For the first time the Viet Cong said it would proclaim a cease-fire with South Vietnamese troops, not just with American troops, but only after the current Saigon government is overthrown and a coalition government is formed.

"We also declared if Washington agrees to withdraw troops we are ready to discuss liberating captives, but the American delegate once again refused logic and reason, proof again the United States is not ready to negotiate a cessation of the war but seeks to prolong it," Mme. Binh said.

She said the Communists would observe a cease-fire only after the United States agrees to withdraw its troops by June 30, 1971, and to scuttle the present Saigon administration in favor of a coalition government that would include Communists.

Hanoi broadcasts meanwhile rejected proposals for a prolonged cease-fire through the Christmas, New Years and jtet holidays and suggested brief periods for each of the holidays. The broadcast called the suggestion a "treacherous trick" by the Nixon administration.

School Vandalism In Alarming Boost

Gordon Trigg, an aide to the superintendent of Los Angeles City schools, said the district five years ago spent only $239,000 a year for daytime security but it now spends $1.36 million.

Railroads Shut Down By Strike Despite Ban

Clerk's Union Defies Court, Government Action Considered

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Railway clerks ignored government orders today and shut down the nation's trains as the peak of the Christmas mailing season neared. Three smaller unions ordered their men back on the job.

The Brotherhood of Railway and Airline Clerks (BRAC), whose 200,000 rail members handle baggage and sell tickets, said it was refusing to comply with a federal judge's 3 a.m. EST back-to-work order.

BRAC pickets were on the line throughout the nation. A critical question was whether members of the other three unions—the United Transportation Union (UTU), the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employes and a dining car employes union—would cross the picket lines. Altogether 425,000 union members are involved.

The strike forced 600,000 big city commuters to find other ways to and from the job. The Postal Service stopped accepting parcel post packages for destinations more than 300 miles away. The Big Three automakers cut back shifts in several cities.

The strike began at 12:01 a.m. to back up union demands for bigger pay raises than a White House board had recommended or the railroads had offered.

Fifty-nine minutes later, Congress completed passage of a bill ordering a halt to the strike and giving rail workers a 13 1-2 per cent pay increase. The pay provision was unprecedented in the memory of congressional observers.

President Nixon signed the legislation at 2:10 a.m. and said he expected workers "immediately to return to work and their leaders to return to the bargaining table."

And at 3:17 a.m., in his suburban home, U.S. District Judge John H. Pratt responded to industry pleas and issued a 10-day temporary restraining order against the unions on the basis that the new law had been violated.

In New York city, the subway passenger load was nearly doubled. Ford cut back to two four-hour shifts its assembly plant in Atlanta. General Motors and Chrysler began cutting back shifts in Delaware.

In Knoxville, Tenn., a feed dealer said the strike "will put us out of business by tomorrow night." He said grain movement in the Southeast depends on rails. The Mobile, Ala., dock facility said it would have to close by midnight Friday if the strike is not settled.

In Chicago, the nation's rail

Mother Of Four Reaps A Windfall

Welfare Aide Says All Legal For Wage Earner

By WAT TAKESHITA

A Marin County mother of four children, who grosses $7,000 to $7,500 per year as a clerk for the federal government, is drawing $310 per month in welfare aid, bringing her gross income to about $11,000 per year.

Betty L. Presley, director of Public Social Services, acknowledged that the woman is on welfare, is eligible for Medi-Cal aid and gets $165 worth of food stamps per month for $126.

All of this is quite legal under existing federal law, which was changed by the 1967 amendments to the Social Security Act, she pointed out.

Theoretically, the woman could earn much more and still stay on welfare, Miss Presley added. On the basis of various exemptions granted to welfare recipients under the federal law, this woman could gross almost $900 per month and still be eligible for $150 to $200 in welfare aid.

Miss Presley said she did not know how many such cares were on county welfare rolls.

"It is this open-ended nature of the earned income exemption that adds to the increase in caseload," declared Miss Presley.

She agrees with the aim of the law — to provide incentive for a person on welfare to supplement public aid with her own earned income.

"But it shouldn't be open-ended; they should put a lid on the ceiling so that a person who reaches a certain income is ineligible for public aid. Welfare directors in the state and the boards of supervisors have been trying to put a ceiling but we haven't succeeded. It will take an act of congress to change it. That is one of our main problem areas. It doesn't allow us to close a case, and results in recipients staying on public aid much longer," she said.

The ordinary worker does not have that advantage. A nonrecipient mother of four children who grosses $900 per month would not begin to qualify for public aid be-

Sharp Quake Shakes Peru, Ecuador

LIMA, Peru (UPI) — An earthquake of potential "disastrous" proportions rocked the jungled Peru-Ecuador border area late Wednesday. It appeared centered in the upper northwest corner of Peru, several hundred miles from the killer earthquake of May 31.

The Upsala Seismological Institution in Sweden said the energy released by the quake was about one-fifth of that of the May temblor, "but still is an earthquake of disastrous measures.

First reports were that 13 persons were known dead in this earthquake and that many others were injured.

The Peruvian National Institute of Geophysics said the quake had a force of 7.5 on the Richter scale of 10 and was centered in the Ecuadorian Bay of Guayaquil about 50 miles north of the Peruvian city of Tumbes.

Reports from the Peruvian city of Sulland said at least 12 persons were killed there and "a great number of persons" were injured. (Earlier in Quito, Ecuadorian authorities said at least one person was killed in a border village and several persons were hurt.)

The quake was recorded at 11:35 p.m. EST by the University of California Seismological station in Berkeley.

Some Peruvian cities are still clearing the rubble of a disastrous quake that killed at least 70,00 persons May 31.

Sullana is about 25 miles north of the cotton growing center of Piura where reports said the Colonial cathedral was badly damaged.

Reports from towns and villages in Ecuador said there was a general panic when the quake struck, and most people ran into the streets.

Senate Troop Ban Gains Acceptance

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Secretary of State William P. Rogers said today the administration would no longer oppose a Congressional ban on the introduction of ground combat troops into Cambodia, although it still feels President Nixon's hands should not be tied.

Rogers told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that the administration—despite its two-month battle against such a prohibition earlier in the year — feels that a restriction voted unanimously by the Senate Tuesday "carries out the President's intentions."

He said it would "be totally inconsistent with the policies of this administration" to send ground combat troops into Cambodia. His testimony did not make it clear, however, whether that statement applied to a resumption of last spring's offensive against Communist sanctuaries in Cambodia along its border with Vietnam.

"As you know, the position of the administration is that the President's hands should not be tied," Rogers said. For that reason, he said, "We do not approve of it, but I have no opposition to its passage. It carries out the President's intentions. We have no intention of using ground forces in Cambodia."

Rogers testified before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in support of a $255 million foreign aid outlay to Cambodia, contending that the beleagured Indochina state could be saved from North Vietnamese attacks with U.S. money instead of U.S. manpower.

The ban on ground combat troops approved by the Senate is before a Senate-House conference trying to iron out differences in a $66 billion defense appropriations bill.

The House version did not mention Cambodia. The administration's decision not to fight the prohibition could persuade House conferees to accept it in the final version of the bill.

Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the committee, vowed that the bill would receive "careful and deliberate consideration" — suggesting that it will not be cleared before adjournment of the 91st Congress.

Fulbright said approval of the bill as written would be regarded, at least by Cambodia, as a "ratification" of a new U.S. commitment to Cambodia's defense that could lead to another Vietnam.

"I personally will not be a party to another hasty endorsement of executive branch policy in Southeast Asia," Fulbright told Rogers.

Earlier, the committee disclosed that Rogers told Congress in April that substantial military aid to Cambodia undoubtedly would lead to a request for U.S. troops and military advisers.

Today's was the first public confrontation between Rogers and the committee in 17 months.

Calley Had Kill Orders: His Defense

FT. BENNING, Ga. (UPI) — Lt. William L. Calley's defense attorney told a six-officer military court today that Calley took his platoon into the Vietnamese hamlet of My Lai under orders that "every living thing in that area be killed."

In a brief opening statement, defense attorney George W. Latimer said Calley would take the stand in his own defense and give a full account "of his actions, conduct and behavior."

Calley, 27, is accused of killing, or ordering killed, 102 South Vietnamese civilians March 16, 1968, the day he led his platoon on a search-and-destroy mission through My Lai.

Latimer said the cluster of villages in which My Lai was situated was known as Viet Cong country and a death trap for American soldiers.

Many of the members of Calley's platoon had been killed or had arms and legs blown off and had been "ruined for life" in preceding weeks by mines, booby traps and ambushes set by "civilians of all ages" of the area, Latimer said.

The day before the attack, he said, funeral services had been held for three soldiers who had been killed. He said the feeling at the services was a general mood of reprisal.

"He told his men that at long last they were going to close with the enemy and be given the opportunity to get even for the loss of their buddies," Latimer said.

"He said the area was defended by the 48th Viet Cong Battalion, one of their finest, and the mission was not only to search-and-destroy My Lai 4, but My Lai 5 and 6.

"He said the information was that all civilians had left the area and if any were remaining they would be Viet Cong or Viet Cong sympathizers.

"He ordered the village burned, the animals shot, the

Strike Has Little North Bay Effect

Today's nationwide rail unions strike had little visible influence in Marin and Southern Sonoma counties, but it was a major worry to local auto dealers, furniture and appliance stores and other firms.

Southern Pacific Railroad spokesman William G. Phelps said the only place likely to be picketed was a crew change point in Petaluma. Phelps said that rail traffic through Marin and Southern Sonoma consists mostly of lumber trains from the Redwood Empire to the Bay Area. Northwestern Pacific Railroad was running few trains in Marin at this time, anyway, Phelps said.

Few Marin firms depend on direct rail service for incoming or outgoing shipments. One is the A. G. Schoonmaker, Inc., of Suasalito. There, M.J. Sullivan, executive vice president, said today the timing of the strike meant it will have little immediate impact on his firm.

But if it lasted more than a few days, it could affect shipments due from Schoonmaker's suppliers, he said.

"They'll ruin us" if the rail strike continues, one Marin auto agency said. Dealers for all the major American-made cars agreed.

Ford, General Motors and Chrysler plants ship cars by rail in "piggy-back" truck transporters from factories in the Midwest to the Bay Area. The cars are then delivered by truck to the dealers.

Abe Froman, president of Braverman's Furniture in San Anselmo, said nearly all "case goods" such as bedroom sets, dining room furniture and large couches are shipped from eastern manufacturers by rail. He said if the strike continues it will become almost impossible to obtain stocks.

Appliance dealers also said almost all their merchandise depends on rail transport.

Elsewhere in the Bay Area, the rail strike's most obvious effect was the stoppage of commute passenger traffic on the San Francisco Peninsula, where 12,000 riders had to find other transportation today.

Rail lines canceled all their long-run passenger trains, and shunted freight cars loaded with perishables to special points where they could be cared for, SP spokesman Phelps said.

Embargo Lifted On Parcel Post In Western U.S.

In announcing its embargo yesterday, the post office refused to accept second, third and fourth class mail because of the railroad strike.

The change today affects only parcel post in the western states. Second and third class mail or newspapers and advertising circulars, are still embargoed beyond a 300-mile limit, according to the regional headquarters in San Francisco.

There is no restriction on air mail or first class mail or air parcel post.

Reds Snub Proposal To Free POWs Soon

PARIS (UPI)—The United States proposed today that the Vietnam peace talks move into daily sessions devoted to an immediate release of war prisoners so the first men could be freed during the Christmas season. The Communists refused.

U.S. Ambassador David K.E. Bruce and South Vietnamese negotiator Pham Dang Lam renewed President Nixon's proposal Oct. 7 that U.S. and Allied war prisoners in North Vietnam be exchanged for the thousands of Communist prisoners in South Vietnam.

But after today's fruitless session Bruce told reporters: "I regret to say they would not respond directly to this proposal, and they even refused to meet tomorrow to discuss it." He had suggested daily POW sessions beginning Friday.

The Viet Cong's Mme. Nguyen Thi Binh said the Communists would discuss the prisoner offer only if the United States would announce an unconditional troop withdrawal. She repeated her statement to newsmen after today's session.

Madame Binh said she had made what she called a "very important" cease-fire proposal. For the first time the Viet Cong said it would proclaim a cease-fire with South Vietnamese troops, not just with American troops, but only after the current Saigon government is overthrown and a coalition government is formed.

"We also declared if Washington agrees to withdraw troops we are ready to discuss liberating captives, but the American delegate once again refused logic and reason, proof again the United States is not ready to negotiate a cessation of the war but seeks to prolong it," Mme. Binh said.

She said the Communists would observe a cease-fire only after the United States agrees to withdraw its troops by June 30, 1971, and to scuttle the present Saigon administration in favor of a coalition government that would include Communists.

Hanoi broadcasts meanwhile rejected proposals for a prolonged cease-fire through the Christmas, New Years and jtet holidays and suggested brief periods for each of the holidays. The broadcast called the suggestion a "treacherous trick" by the Nixon administration.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Peace Message

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope Paul VI said in his 1971 peace message published today people were afraid of a "catastrophic imprudence" which could lead to "uncontrollable holocaust."

He said only the realization that all men are brothers would bring lasting peace.

The message was published for the Vatican-sponsored World Day of Peace Jan. 1.

The Pope said after the World War II the whole world said "enough . of everything that gave rise to the human butchery and appalling devastation and determined not to go to war again."

Harlow Resigns

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Bruce N. Harlow has resigned as President Nixon's political adviser, and the White House said he has been ruled out as the next GOP national chairman.

Harlow, 54, said he would return to his old post as a lobbyist for Proctor & Gamble. He had tried to resign as White House counsellor on two other occasions before Nixon reluctantly agreed to his departure Wednesday.

Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler said Harlow's leaving ruled him out as a potential successor to Rep. Rogers C.B. Morton in the Republican chairmanship. Morton has been nominated Secretary of the Interior and Harlow had been mentioned as a possible successor

Captive's Report

MONTEVIDEO (UPI) — American agriculture expert Claude L. Fly, held captive by Tupamaros terrorists for four months, said Wednesday night he is "virtually suspended in time and space" in a small cell.

In a typewritten letter delivered to United Press International in Montevideo by his leftist kidnapers, Fly begged to "be free to pursue my professional work and to be with my family . . . holding malice toward none but goo will toward all."

The 65-year-old soils expert from Fort Collins, Colo., was kidnaped from his laboratory on the outskirts of the Uruguayan capital Aug. 7. The government of President Jorge Pacheco Areco has refused to deal with the Tupamaros.

Bird Watch

TAIPEI (UPI) — Formosan police looked to the skies Wednesday in a bird watch organized to intercept homeward bound pigeons believed to be carrying morphine. A spokesman said informants had told police smugglers had begun using homing pigeons to fly in morphine from abroad.

'Unethical' Blast

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A House subcommittee chairman has described as "unethical" the assignment of the Coast Guard commandant as head of a board probing the unsuccessful attempt of a Soviet seaman to defect to the United States.

The charge was made Wednesday by Rep. Rayne Hays, D-Ohio, who called Adm. C.R. Bender, the Coast Guard commandant, before his Foreign Affairs subcommittee.

Hays said Bender should not head the board of inquiry because he was involved in communications that led to the crew of the Coast Guard vessel Vigilant returning Simas Kudirka, a Lithuanian seaman, to Soviet officers off Cape Cod Nov. 23.

Witchcraft Probe

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) —The case of high school teacher Ann Stewart, accused of telling her students she is a witch and promoting witchcraft, will be decided by a committee of fellow teachers.

The Flowing Wells school board Wednesday decided in a secret hearing that the committee should study the case and recommend in February whether Mrs. Stewart 's suspension should be permanent.

Mrs. Stewart, who has taught English in the small school district for 11 years, was advised by her lawyer not to comment on the charge —that she "taught witchcraft and claimed she was a witch in such a way as to psychologically affect her students."

Regan At Posh Gathering Of GOP

CHICAGO (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan of California met with Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie of Illinois, Sen. Charles Percy, state committeemen and major contributors to the Republican Party at a reception yesterday.

The gathering, held at the Sheraton-Blackstone Hotel, was closed to newsmen. It included members of the "500 Club," Republicans who pledge at least $500 annually to the GOP.

Seven of every 10 of the 20 million people in the Indian state of Orissa are rice farmers, says National Geographic.

Allergy Link

CHICAGO (UPI)—Preservatives used in some cosmetics and other perishable products may cause severe, protracted allergies, a skin specialist has reported.

Dr. William Schorr of the Marshfield, Wis., clinic, presented his report Wednesday to the convention of the American Academy of Dermatoligists.

But for these, he said, switching from one brand to another provided no relief because the same preservative was used.

Schorr said it was difficult to establish which chemical appeared responsible for the allergies, since the formulas of such products are secret.

Hinder To Talks?

DETROIT (UPI) — Chrysler Corp.'s permanent lay-offs of more than 3,000 workers and planned shutdowns of plants over the Christmas and New Year's holidays may hinder contract talks between the company and the United Auto Workers.

Douglas Fraser, UAW vice president in charge of the union's Chrysler Department, charged Wednesday that the widespread layoffs were an attempt to avoid holiday pay due the workers under the old agreement.

"The people at the top are responsible for this bad planning," Fraser said. "They must have cash registers instead of hearts. These men (Chrysler executives) have never missed a Christmas. If we sound bitter, it's because we are."

Nuclear Reactor Plant Is Backed

BERKELEY (UPI) — The Atomic Energy Commission announced today that its Safety Licensing Board has approved construction of a second nuclear reactor at the Pacific Gas & Electric Company's Diablo Canyon power station.

The AEC said the safety group, which held hearings earlier this year on the proposed second unit, has found no geological or seismological reason not to permit its construction.

No Deals Held Way To End Kidnappings

R. G. KLEINDIENST
A harsh solution

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Richard G. Kleindienst, the No. 2 man at the Justice Department, says the way to handle kidnappings by political terrorists is to sacrifice the victim, if need be, rather than make a deal—provided the victim is someone other than the President or vice president and their families.

Kleindienst, a deputy attorney general, was asked in an interview with UPI how he thought the United States would react to a political kidnapping, such as those in Canada or Latin America.

"Leaving aside the President and vice president and their families," he answered after careful consideration, "I'd recommend they not barter.

"There's no way you can protect everyone. The cabinet, senators, congressmen . . . it would be better to make one sacrifice, then there would never be another incident."

Kleindienst did not elaborate, but he made it clear he believed that once potential kidnappers understood their demands would not be met, incidences of political abductions would end.

"There isn't really an effective way to prevent a kidnap," Kleindienst said. But he personally doesn't worry about it and feels he faces "a bigger risk just driving home" in traffic every night than he does from kidnapers or killers.

Kleindienst, 47, said he has received three threatening letters—one a kidnap warning and two saying he would be shot. He puts them in the context of how he views the radical movement itself.

"I think it's superficial," he said. "It's very thin. The only real power they have is the ability to create apprehension, hysteria and fear. They don't anywhere have the capacity to destroy the government.

"The worst thing would be that you could have such a reaction to them that there would be repression and this would create an incubator for further violence.

"Free speech is the best antidote to the radical in this country," Kleindienst said. "Put him on television, in the newspapers, on radio. Let the people hear what he has to say. I would guess that 98 per cent of the blacks and 99 per cent of the whites don't believe it."

Jury Convicts Isla Vista Man

SANTA BARBARA (UPI)—Richard Edward Fisk, 21, who has been missing from court proceedings, was convicted Wednesday of throwing a Molotov cocktail at officers during last February's rioting in Isla Vista.

Fisk was the only one of four on trial on the charge to be convicted before Superior Court Judge John A. Westwick. The jury failed to reach a decision on the charges against Emily DeFalla, Donald Gesslinge and Jeffrey Schoppert.

Fisk was convicted of unlawful possession, manufacture and disposition of fire bombs. He faces a one-to-10 year prison term.

Blackout Increases In Britain

LONDON (UPI)—Power cuts caused by an electrical workers' slowdown today forced Northern Ireland to shut down nearly all its industry, idling 100,000 workers.

The slowdown, in its fourth day, has cut off electricity to just about everybody in Britain, Wales and Northern Ireland at various times. Even Queen Elizabeth II had to take tea by candlelight and Parliament met by candlelight Wednesday.

Refusal by electrical union leaders to allow their pay dispute to be settled by arbitration gave little hope for an early end to the crippling power cuts that brought growing chaos to the British economy.

While electricity board officials in England and Wales said today's cuts would probably be no worse than Wednesday's, Northern Ireland, which declared a state of emergency Monday night, faced a worsening situation.

Acting with the emergency authorization, the government shut down virtually all of Northern Ireland's industry at midnight Wednesday. Exceptions were water, gas, transport, sanitation, broadcasting and newspapers. An estimated 100,000 persons were affected.

Algiers was the headquarters for three centuries of the Barbary pirates, who preyed on Mediterranean shipping.

Hanoi Hits Any Long Cease-Fire

SAIGON (UPI) —North Vietnam today denounced any proposal of an extended cease-fire from Christmas to the Tet lunar new year in South Vietnam as "a new treacherous trick by the Nixon administration."

In a Hanoi radio broadcast monitored here, North Vietnam said "The U.S. suggestion of a prolonged cease-fire from Christmas to the lunar new year (in January)) is an extremely treacherous scheme by the Americans aimed at advertising the so-called cease-fire proposal by (President) Nixon last Oct. 7."

In the Cambodian Command today reported the recapture of two towns occupied in the recent Viet Cong and North Vietnamese dry season offensive. South Vietnamese gunboats battled Communist forces near Phnom Penh's outskirts Wednesday night.

Field reports from Saigon said South Vietnamese forces killed 48 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese inside Cambodia but suffered their heaviest losses in a single battle since crossing the border eight months ago.

The Cambodian Command said government forces striking from three sides retook the district headquarters of Pouk, 150 miles north of Phnom Penh Wednesday. The town is near the 10th Century ruins of Angkor Wat.

Cambodian troops pushed into the town of Sre Khlong at nightfall Wednesday after three days of fighting 50 miles southwest of Phnom Penh on Highway 4.

Brig Gen. Sosthene Fernandez, commander of the Cambodian 2nd Military Region, said 10 Cambodian troops were killed and 35 wounded in recapturing the town.

The Cambodian victories helped nulify some of the effects of the drive the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese began with the end of heacy seasonal rains.

In Phnom Penh itself, the roar of gunfire was heard throughout the night from an artillery duel 12 miles south of the city on the Mekong River between Communist troops and South Vietnamese gunboats aided by Cambodian artillery.

The Cambodian Command said a convoy of South Vietnamese gunboats was fired on by the Communists near the village of Tuk Khleang, touching off the battle.

Am Rong said most civilians living along Highway 7 about 50 miles northeast of the provincial capital of Kompong Cham had left their homes due to the approaching battles.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Peace Message

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope Paul VI said in his 1971 peace message published today people were afraid of a "catastrophic imprudence" which could lead to "uncontrollable holocaust."

He said only the realization that all men are brothers would bring lasting peace.

The message was published for the Vatican-sponsored World Day of Peace Jan. 1.

The Pope said after the World War II the whole world said "enough . of everything that gave rise to the human butchery and appalling devastation and determined not to go to war again."

Harlow Resigns

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Bruce N. Harlow has resigned as President Nixon's political adviser, and the White House said he has been ruled out as the next GOP national chairman.

Harlow, 54, said he would return to his old post as a lobbyist for Proctor & Gamble. He had tried to resign as White House counsellor on two other occasions before Nixon reluctantly agreed to his departure Wednesday.

Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler said Harlow's leaving ruled him out as a potential successor to Rep. Rogers C.B. Morton in the Republican chairmanship. Morton has been nominated Secretary of the Interior and Harlow had been mentioned as a possible successor

Captive's Report

MONTEVIDEO (UPI) — American agriculture expert Claude L. Fly, held captive by Tupamaros terrorists for four months, said Wednesday night he is "virtually suspended in time and space" in a small cell.

In a typewritten letter delivered to United Press International in Montevideo by his leftist kidnapers, Fly begged to "be free to pursue my professional work and to be with my family . . . holding malice toward none but goo will toward all."

The 65-year-old soils expert from Fort Collins, Colo., was kidnaped from his laboratory on the outskirts of the Uruguayan capital Aug. 7. The government of President Jorge Pacheco Areco has refused to deal with the Tupamaros.

Bird Watch

TAIPEI (UPI) — Formosan police looked to the skies Wednesday in a bird watch organized to intercept homeward bound pigeons believed to be carrying morphine. A spokesman said informants had told police smugglers had begun using homing pigeons to fly in morphine from abroad.

'Unethical' Blast

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A House subcommittee chairman has described as "unethical" the assignment of the Coast Guard commandant as head of a board probing the unsuccessful attempt of a Soviet seaman to defect to the United States.

The charge was made Wednesday by Rep. Rayne Hays, D-Ohio, who called Adm. C.R. Bender, the Coast Guard commandant, before his Foreign Affairs subcommittee.

Hays said Bender should not head the board of inquiry because he was involved in communications that led to the crew of the Coast Guard vessel Vigilant returning Simas Kudirka, a Lithuanian seaman, to Soviet officers off Cape Cod Nov. 23.

Witchcraft Probe

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) —The case of high school teacher Ann Stewart, accused of telling her students she is a witch and promoting witchcraft, will be decided by a committee of fellow teachers.

The Flowing Wells school board Wednesday decided in a secret hearing that the committee should study the case and recommend in February whether Mrs. Stewart 's suspension should be permanent.

Mrs. Stewart, who has taught English in the small school district for 11 years, was advised by her lawyer not to comment on the charge —that she "taught witchcraft and claimed she was a witch in such a way as to psychologically affect her students."

Regan At Posh Gathering Of GOP

CHICAGO (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan of California met with Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie of Illinois, Sen. Charles Percy, state committeemen and major contributors to the Republican Party at a reception yesterday.

The gathering, held at the Sheraton-Blackstone Hotel, was closed to newsmen. It included members of the "500 Club," Republicans who pledge at least $500 annually to the GOP.

Seven of every 10 of the 20 million people in the Indian state of Orissa are rice farmers, says National Geographic.

Allergy Link

CHICAGO (UPI)—Preservatives used in some cosmetics and other perishable products may cause severe, protracted allergies, a skin specialist has reported.

Dr. William Schorr of the Marshfield, Wis., clinic, presented his report Wednesday to the convention of the American Academy of Dermatoligists.

But for these, he said, switching from one brand to another provided no relief because the same preservative was used.

Schorr said it was difficult to establish which chemical appeared responsible for the allergies, since the formulas of such products are secret.

Hinder To Talks?

DETROIT (UPI) — Chrysler Corp.'s permanent lay-offs of more than 3,000 workers and planned shutdowns of plants over the Christmas and New Year's holidays may hinder contract talks between the company and the United Auto Workers.

Douglas Fraser, UAW vice president in charge of the union's Chrysler Department, charged Wednesday that the widespread layoffs were an attempt to avoid holiday pay due the workers under the old agreement.

"The people at the top are responsible for this bad planning," Fraser said. "They must have cash registers instead of hearts. These men (Chrysler executives) have never missed a Christmas. If we sound bitter, it's because we are."

Nuclear Reactor Plant Is Backed

BERKELEY (UPI) — The Atomic Energy Commission announced today that its Safety Licensing Board has approved construction of a second nuclear reactor at the Pacific Gas & Electric Company's Diablo Canyon power station.

The AEC said the safety group, which held hearings earlier this year on the proposed second unit, has found no geological or seismological reason not to permit its construction.

No Deals Held Way To End Kidnappings

R. G. KLEINDIENST
A harsh solution

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Richard G. Kleindienst, the No. 2 man at the Justice Department, says the way to handle kidnappings by political terrorists is to sacrifice the victim, if need be, rather than make a deal—provided the victim is someone other than the President or vice president and their families.

Kleindienst, a deputy attorney general, was asked in an interview with UPI how he thought the United States would react to a political kidnapping, such as those in Canada or Latin America.

"Leaving aside the President and vice president and their families," he answered after careful consideration, "I'd recommend they not barter.

"There's no way you can protect everyone. The cabinet, senators, congressmen . . . it would be better to make one sacrifice, then there would never be another incident."

Kleindienst did not elaborate, but he made it clear he believed that once potential kidnappers understood their demands would not be met, incidences of political abductions would end.

"There isn't really an effective way to prevent a kidnap," Kleindienst said. But he personally doesn't worry about it and feels he faces "a bigger risk just driving home" in traffic every night than he does from kidnapers or killers.

Kleindienst, 47, said he has received three threatening letters—one a kidnap warning and two saying he would be shot. He puts them in the context of how he views the radical movement itself.

"I think it's superficial," he said. "It's very thin. The only real power they have is the ability to create apprehension, hysteria and fear. They don't anywhere have the capacity to destroy the government.

"The worst thing would be that you could have such a reaction to them that there would be repression and this would create an incubator for further violence.

"Free speech is the best antidote to the radical in this country," Kleindienst said. "Put him on television, in the newspapers, on radio. Let the people hear what he has to say. I would guess that 98 per cent of the blacks and 99 per cent of the whites don't believe it."

Jury Convicts Isla Vista Man

SANTA BARBARA (UPI)—Richard Edward Fisk, 21, who has been missing from court proceedings, was convicted Wednesday of throwing a Molotov cocktail at officers during last February's rioting in Isla Vista.

Fisk was the only one of four on trial on the charge to be convicted before Superior Court Judge John A. Westwick. The jury failed to reach a decision on the charges against Emily DeFalla, Donald Gesslinge and Jeffrey Schoppert.

Fisk was convicted of unlawful possession, manufacture and disposition of fire bombs. He faces a one-to-10 year prison term.

Unruh To Teach

NORTHRIDGE (UPI)—Jess Unruh, defeated Democratic gubernatorial candidate, will teach a three-hour weekly seminar on American politics at San Fernando Valley State College during the spring semester.

Blackout Increases In Britain

LONDON (UPI)—Power cuts caused by an electrical workers' slowdown today forced Northern Ireland to shut down nearly all its industry, idling 100,000 workers.

The slowdown, in its fourth day, has cut off electricity to just about everybody in Britain, Wales and Northern Ireland at various times. Even Queen Elizabeth II had to take tea by candlelight and Parliament met by candlelight Wednesday.

Refusal by electrical union leaders to allow their pay dispute to be settled by arbitration gave little hope for an early end to the crippling power cuts that brought growing chaos to the British economy.

While electricity board officials in England and Wales said today's cuts would probably be no worse than Wednesday's, Northern Ireland, which declared a state of emergency Monday night, faced a worsening situation.

Acting with the emergency authorization, the government shut down virtually all of Northern Ireland's industry at midnight Wednesday. Exceptions were water, gas, transport, sanitation, broadcasting and newspapers. An estimated 100,000 persons were affected.

Algiers was the headquarters for three centuries of the Barbary pirates, who preyed on Mediterranean shipping.

Hanoi Hits Any Long Cease-Fire

SAIGON (UPI) —North Vietnam today denounced any proposal of an extended cease-fire from Christmas to the Tet lunar new year in South Vietnam as "a new treacherous trick by the Nixon administration."

In a Hanoi radio broadcast monitored here, North Vietnam said "The U.S. suggestion of a prolonged cease-fire from Christmas to the lunar new year (in January)) is an extremely treacherous scheme by the Americans aimed at advertising the so-called cease-fire proposal by (President) Nixon last Oct. 7."

In the Cambodian Command today reported the recapture of two towns occupied in the recent Viet Cong and North Vietnamese dry season offensive. South Vietnamese gunboats battled Communist forces near Phnom Penh's outskirts Wednesday night.

Field reports from Saigon said South Vietnamese forces killed 43 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese inside Cambodia but suffered their heaviest losses in a single battle since crossing the border eight months ago.

The Cambodian Command said government forces striking from three sides retook the district headquarters of Pouk, 150 miles north of Phnom Penh Wednesday. The town is near the 10th Century ruins of Angkor Wat.

Cambodian troops pushed into the town of Sre Khlong at nightfall Wednesday after three days of fighting 50 miles southwest of Phnom Penh on Highway 4.

Brig Gen. Sosthene Fernandez, commander of the Cambodian 2nd Military Region, said 10 Cambodian troops were killed and 35 wounded in recapturing the town.

The Cambodian victories helped nulify some of the effects of the drive the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese began with the end of heacy seasonal rains.

In Phnom Penh itself, the roar of gunfire was heard throughout the night from an artillery duel 12 miles south of the city on the Mekong River between Communist troops and South Vietnamese gunboats aided by Cambodian artillery.

The Cambodian Command said a convoy of South Vietnamese gunboats was fired on by the Communists near the village of Tuk Khleang, touching off the battle.

Am Rong said most civilians living along Highway 7 about 50 miles northeast of the provincial capital of Kompong Cham had left their homes due to the approaching battles.

Jamaica, then inhabited by the Arawak Indians, was visited by Columbus in 1494 and named St. Iago.

Could This Be Wettest Winter?

The record, compiled by Crocker-Citizens National Bank in San Rafáel shows a total of 6.26 inches of rain had fallen by thy end of November 1940 as compared to 11.55 inches this November.

1940-41 caught up fast, hoever, with 16.45 inches in December, 15 inches in January and 15.88 inches in February.

As of yesterday, Marin had had 8.49 inches since Dec. 1, according to Independent-Journal rain gauges.

The driest winter on record was 1938-39 when only 16.69 inches of rain fell on Marin.

The I-J's rainfall figures have been revised since Nov. 27 when .38 of an inch which fell during the afternoon was not included in the next day's 24-hour reading.

Corrected daily totals are: Nov. 28 - 9.21 inches; Nov. 29 8 11.37; Nov. 30 - 11.55; Dec. 1 - 12.44; Dec. 2 - 14.42; Dec. 3 - 15.28; Dec. 4 - 19.48; Dec. 5 - 19.57; Dec. 6 - 19.58; Dec. 8 - 19.61 and Dec. 8 - 20.04 inches.

Getty Son Seeks Trusteeship Again

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Oil magnate J. Paul Getty's youngest son filed suit Wednesday demanding to be reinstated as a trustee of a Malibu Art museum named for the father.

Gordon P. Getty, 36, said he was removed Dec. 8, 1966, just three months after he filed suit for a part of a trust set up by his grandmother, Sarah, in 1934.

Suit Charges School Bias

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Mission District residents have filed a suit in federal court which charges ethnic discrimination by the San Francisco Unified School District in 13 elementary schools with a large number of Latino students.

The suit filed Wednesday asserts that the district spends less money in the 13 schools than elsewhere in the city and it alleges that Donald A. Rhodes, assistant superintendent for elementary schools, had refused to admit discrimination exists and would not "negotiate in good faith."

Rhodes acknowledged he met with members of the Mission Coalition organization, which filed the suit, but said it was not a negotiating session only an attempt at "seeking of fact."

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — If you are fascinated by the kinds of things people leave unclaimed in safe deposit boxes, you may be interested in an auction State Controller Houston I. Flournoy has arranged in San Francisco next Monday.

The items have been delivered by banks throughout the state under the Uniform Disposition of Unclaimed Property Act.

Included are 412 items of jewelry, 55 rings, 30 watches, 240 pieces of tableware, 27 pieces of United States currency which include four $100 Gold Certificates, four U.S. gold coins, 156 other U.S. coins, 195 foreign coins including 102 of yellow metal and one mink cape.

The auction will start at 1 p.m. at the La Salle Gallery, Inc. 2083 Union Street.

Fare Is Fair

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An examiner for the Civil Aeronautics Board has recommended 11 per cent as a fair and reasonable return on investment for the nation's trunk airlines. The examiner recommended the same return for local airlines. The recommendation was made in connection with current CAB studies of airline applications for fare boosts.

Case Dropped: Evidence Lack

Burglary charges against three Mill Valley men and a San Francisco woman have been dismissed in Marin Municipal Court when the district attorney's office did not have enough evidence to proceed with the case.

Released were Robert Fairchild Fiele, 21; Roman Dwight Brown and Brian Kurk Armstrong, all 21, and Bonnie Lee Vanderkolk, 24.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Peter Mitchell said the case is still under investigation.

The four had been arrested Oct. 19 on suspicion of burglarizing the Greyhound Bus Depot in Mill Valley.

Case Dropped: Evidence Lack

Burglary charges against three Mill Valley men and a San Francisco woman have been dismissed in Marin Municipal Court when the district attorney's office did not have enough evidence to proceed with the case.

Released were Robert Fairchild Fiele, 21; Roman Dwight Brown and Brian Kurk Armstrong, all 21, and Bonnie Lee Vanderkolk, 24.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Peter Mitchell said the case is still under investigation.

The four had been arrested Oct. 19 on suspicion of burglarizing the Greyhound Bus Depot in Mill Valley.

Auction Slated On Items Left In Bank Boxes

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — If you are fascinated by the kinds of things people leave unclaimed in safe deposit boxes, you may be interested in an auction State Controller Houston I. Flournoy has arranged in San Francisco next Monday.

The items have been delivered by banks throughout the state under the Uniform Disposition of Unclaimed Property Act.

Included are 412 items of jewelry, 55 rings, 30 watches, 240 pieces of tableware, 27 pieces of United States currency which include four $100 Gold Certificates, four U.S. gold coins, 156 other U.S. coins, 195 foreign coins including 102 of yellow metal and one mink cape.

The auction will start at 1 p.m. at the La Salle Gallery, Inc. 2083 Union Street.

Fare Is Fair

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An examiner for the Civil Aeronautics Board has recommended 11 per cent as a fair and reasonable return on investment for the nation's trunk airlines. The examiner recommended the same return for local airlines. The recommendation was made in connection with current CAB studies of airline applications for fare boosts.

Could This Be Wettest Winter?

The record, compiled by Crocker-Citizens National Bank in San Rafáel shows a total of 6.26 inches of rain had fallen by thy end of November 1940 as compared to 11.55 inches this November.

1940-41 caught up fast, hoever, with 16.45 inches in December, 15 inches in January and 15.88 inches in February.

As of yesterday, Marin had had 8.49 inches since Dec. 1, according to Independent-Journal rain gauges.

The driest winter on record was 1938-39 when only 16.69 inches of rain fell on Marin.

The I-J's rainfall figures have been revised since Nov. 27 when .38 of an inch which fell during the afternoon was not included in the next day's 24-hour reading.

Corrected daily totals are: Nov. 28 - 9.21 inches; Nov. 29 8 11.37; Nov. 30 - 11.55; Dec. 1 - 12.44; Dec. 2 - 14.42; Dec. 3 - 15.28; Dec. 4 - 19.48; Dec. 5 - 19.57; Dec. 6 - 19.58; Dec. 8 - 19.61 and Dec. 8 - 20.04 inches.

Getty Son Seeks Trusteeship Again

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Oil magnate J. Paul Getty's youngest son filed suit Wednesday demanding to be reinstated as a trustee of a Malibu Art museum named for the father.

Gordon P. Getty, 36, said he was removed Dec. 8, 1966, just three months after he filed suit for a part of a trust set up by his grandmother, Sarah, in 1934.

Suit Charges School Bias

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Mission District residents have filed a suit in federal court which charges ethnic discrimination by the San Francisco Unified School District in 13 elementary schools with a large number of Latino students.

The suit filed Wednesday asserts that the district spends less money in the 13 schools than elsewhere in the city and it alleges that Donald A. Rhodes, assistant superintendent for elementary schools, had refused to admit discrimination exists and would not "negotiate in good faith."

Rhodes acknowledged he met with members of the Mission Coalition organization, which filed the suit, but said it was not a negotiating session only an attempt at "seeking of fact."

AHEAD OF 1940

Could This Be Wettest Winter?

The record, compiled by Crocker-Citizens National Bank in San Rafael shows a total of 6.26 inches of rain had fallen by thy end of November 1940 as compared to 11.55 inches this November.

1940-41 caught up fast, hoever, with 16.45 inches in December, 15 inches in January and 15.88 inches in February.

As of yesterday, Marin had had 8.49 inches since Dec. 1, according to Independent-Journal rain gauges.

The driest winter on record was 1938-39 when only 16.69 inches of rain fell on Marin.

The I-J's rainfall figures have been revised since Nov. 27 when .38 of an inch which fell during the afternoon was not included in the next day's 24-hour reading.

Corrected daily totals are: Nov. 28 - 9.21 inches; Nov. 29 8 11.37; Nov. 30 - 11.55; Dec. 1 - 12.44; Dec. 2 - 14.42; Dec. 3 - 15.28; Dec. 4 - 19.48; Dec. 5 - 19.57; Dec. 6 - 19.58; Dec. 8 - 19.61 and Dec. 8 - 20.04 inches.

Getty Son Seeks Trusteeship Again

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Oil magnate J. Paul Getty's youngest son filed suit Wednesday demanding to be reinstated as a trustee of a Malibu Art museum named for the father.

Gordon P. Getty, 36, said he was removed Dec. 8, 1966, just three months after he filed suit for a part of a trust set up by his grandmother, Sarah, in 1934.

Suit Charges School Bias

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Mission District residents have filed a suit in federal court which charges ethnic discrimination by the San Francisco Unified School District in 13 elementary schools with a large number of Latino students.

The suit filed Wednesday asserts that the district spends less money in the 13 schools than elsewhere in the city and it alleges that Donald A. Rhodes, assistant superintendent for elementary schools, had refused to admit discrimination exists and would not "negotiate in good faith."

Rhodes acknowledged he met with members of the Mission Coalition organization, which filed the suit, but said it was not a negotiating session only an attempt at "seeking of fact."

Fare Is Fair

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An examiner for the Civil Aeronautics Board has recommended 11 per cent as a fair and reasonable return on investment for the nation's trunk airlines. The examiner recommended the same return for local airlines. The recommendation was made in connection with current CAB studies of airline applications for fare boosts.

Case Dropped: Evidence Lack

Burglary charges against three Mill Valley men and a San Francisco woman have been dismissed in Marin Municipal Court when the district attorney's office did not have enough evidence to proceed with the case.

Released were Robert Fairchild Fiele, 21; Roman Dwight Brown and Brian Kurk Armstrong, all 21, and Bonnie Lee Vanderkolk, 24.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Peter Mitchell said the case is still under investigation.

The four had been arrested Oct. 19 on suspicion of burglarizing the Greyhound Bus Depot in Mill Valley.

Dec. 18 Target Date To End Current SALT Talks

HELSINKI (UPI)—U.S. and Soviet negotiators agreed today to wind up the current round of Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT) Dec. 18 and resume again as early as possible next year.

The recess date still has to be confirmed by home governments while the exact resumption date is still being discussed, conference sources said.

The United States for its part hopes to be able to get negotiations underway again next year in late February or early March, they said.

There could be a pause for the Communist Party Congress in Moscow starting March 30.

U.S. negotiators hope the fourth round in Vienna and the subsequent fifth round expected in Helsinki in the summer will produce a so-called "core agreement" on the limit of offensive and defensive missiles.

Failing this there may be a preliminary partial accord on restrictingdefensive anti-missile systems only to the two capitals.

Gerard C. Smith and Vladimir S. Semenov, the U.S. and Soviet chief negotiators, held their 12th working session today since the third round of SALT began Nov. 2.

The meeting lasted 45 minutes and was described as "businesslike, constructive and cordial."

The next meeting was scheduled for Wednesday, the five-day break caused by the long weekend trip to Leningrad by Smith and OTHER members of the U.S. delegation at Semenov's invitation.

American officials said that in addition to sight-seeing guided by Semenov, Smith and his aides will also have informal talks during the trip on matters such as next year's resumption date and the communique to be issued when this round ends.

It is probable, they said, that following next Wednesday's meeting it will be agreed to hold the final session Friday.

Arrests In Probe Of Stolen Goods

Two East Bay men were arrested yesterday by Berkeley police on suspicion of concealing stolen property taken only hours before from Braverman's Furniture Store in San Anselmo.

San Anselmo police said today that Robert Gordon Baldwin, 27, of Richmond and Albert Roy Roberts, 39, of San Pable were observed at about 7 a.m. unloading televisions and stereo equipment from a stolen delivery truck parked in a Berkeley parking lot.

The truck and $2,091 in televisions and stereo components were taken from Braverman's sometime after the store closed Tuesday and 5:20 a.m. yesterday when the burglary was discovered.

According to officers, Berkeley police watched as first Roberts unloaded televisions placing them in his vehicle and then Baldwin 15 minutes later.

Officers said both denied any connection with the San Anselmo burglary but had made arrangement to purchase the goods from the parked truck.

The two were arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on felony charges of concealing stolen property and are scheduled to appear Tuesday for entry of plea. They have both been released on their own recognizance.

Committed To Napa Hospital

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court yesterday committed Margaret Rose Islas. 29-year-old Mill Valley woman charged with attempting to kill her husband, to Napa State Hospital.

The judge made the order after reviewing reports of two psychiatrists who said that they believed Mrs. Islas did not understand the charges against her and was not mentally capable of continuing with court proceedings.

She was arrested after she reportedly stabbed her husband, Martin, 32, as he slept on Nov 13

He was treated for chest wounds which sheriff's deputies said had been made with a foot-long butcher knife.

CALLEY

wells contaminated and every living thing in that area killed."

He said higher commanders were in the area that day, including one on the ground, "and nothing was said about the killing of civilians until a lunch break."

Other commanders were flying over the action and should have known what was happening, Latimer said.

Some Viet Cong of military age were killed (presumably by artillery or aerial fire) before the ground troops got there. He said this killing was done "right at the edge of a ditch in which the government contends Calley killed at least 70 screaming women, children and old men."

Latimer said Calley and his platoon had been inadequately trained and instructed for this kind of combat. Some of the platoon members had not been in combat before, he said, all believed their sweep would be "bitterly contested," and some were frightened.

He said the platoon had information atrocities had been committed in the area and that civilians were being used as decoys.

The defense said it would contend that the act of which Calley is accused was a legal act of war. The stated intent came during an argument over what part of a deposition taken from a Vietnamese interpreter could be read to the jury.

RAILS

hub, 110,000 commuters sought other ways to work. In St. Louis, the nation's second-largest rail center, Missouri Pacific said the UTU and the maintenance of way employes union were removing pickets in Chicago, New Orleans, St. Louis and the Gulf Coast.

A key question, then, was how the other union members would respond to the pickets. A spokesman for the three unions said: "We don't tell a person to cross or not to cross a picket line."

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon was confident the rail strike would end. But he conceded under questioning that this was based more on the belief the clerks would follow the lead of the other three unions than on any direct word Nixon had from the clerks.

Nixon, despite his late hours Wednesday night, checked into the Executive Office Building early today to stay abreast of late developments. Ziegler said it would be difficult to say how much time Nixon might permit to pass before issuing an executive order to keep goods moving by other means.

The Justice Department said it was not considering legal action —such as contempt of court proceedings —against C. L. Dennis, president of BRAC.

At the hearing in the judge's home, lawyers for the three smaller unions —but not BRAC —were present. It was understood the judge took the position that service of order on the three unions was tantamount to service on BRAC as well.

Dennis himself remained out of contact today, presumably to avoid possible service of the judge's orders. "The Big Daddy has gone into hiding," a spokesman for the three smaller unions said.

Meantime, the Civil Aeronautics Board set up an emergency transportation Task Force. Chairman Secor D. Browne said he asked delegates from the scheduled airlines, the charter and cargo airlines and the air taxi operators to meet to discuss "how best to meet the transportation demands" caused by the walkout.

Labor secretary James D. Hidgson said the administration would take unspecified action to force the workers to return to work if the strike did not end today.

Four unions representing 425,000 rail workers, who were disgruntled over lack of a pay increase after working almost a year without a contract, ignored administration pleas and last minute intervention efforts by Congress to stage the massive walkout.

Dennis issued a statement through union headquarters at 11 p.m. EST, Wednesday withdrawing his earlier offer to call off the strike if Congress included the pay boost in the bill, and telling his workers to strike as planned.

The main issue in the dispute is wages. A White House panel, acting during a 60-day cooling off period ordered by Nixon, recommended a 37 per cent wage increase over three years coupled with changes in work rules that the railroads say are archaic and amount to nothing more than featherbedding.

The railroads reluctantly accepted the panel's recommendations, but the BRAC demanded wage increases of 41 per cent or more, and all four unions refused to accept any work rules changes.

WELFARE

cause the incentive exemptions do not apply, she pointed out.

Once on public aid, the laws make it easier for the person to stay on, despite a rise in earnings.

Miss Presley gave this explanation of how the welfare computations are made, using the mother of four as an example. She said she cannot reveal the identity because she is prohibited by law from disclosing welfare recipients, but figures are from the actual files.

The mother supports four children, aged 4 to 12, in an apartment which rented for $275 per month until October, when the rent was raised to $320. She is also thought to support the man with whom she lives and his child.

She draws a base pay of $270.40 every two weeks, with occasional overtime.

For the month of October, her two paychecks came to a gross of $583. The federal formula then applies in determining her welfare grant.

The first $30 of the earnings plus one-third of the balance is designated the "earned income incentive" and is exempted from the gross income.

The earned income incentive comes to $214. (It is this amount that is open-ended and keeps rising as earned income rises.) Deduct $214 from $582, and the balance is $369. This represents "non-exempt income."

From the $369 must be deducted the "expenses of employment," which include retirement deductions, withholdings, cost of transportation, a standard personal expense of $25, and cost of child care.

In the case of the woman in question, the expenses of employment totals $327. Subtracting $327 from $369 leaves only $42 of the qoman's earnings to be deducted from the welfare grant for which she and her children are eligible.

Now comes the computation of the amount of welfare grant that she can receive under the Aid to Families with Dependent Children.

Each grant differs, depending on the size of family, and age and even the sex of each child. In this case, the long table entitled "cost schedule for family budget units" say the mother and four children need $247 per month plus $165 housing allowance, or a total of $412.

From this $412 is subtracted the $42 previously computed as deductible from the welfare grant. This leaves $370 as the budgetary need. Because the county's supplementation was reduced by one-third from the 1968-69 fiscal year, the welfare payment comes to $310 per month. The reason for the county supplementation is that the state will pay only $263 for the mother and her four children while the cost schedule says she needs $412. If she were to quit working today, the welfare grant would rise to $329.

The father of the children is missing and provides no income. The woman's present common-law husband has a child of his own. If he had income, that would be computed as part of the couple's earnings, said Miss Presley. But he is not working and did not cooperate with work programs, and so he and his one child are not on welfare.

Miss Presley said that the woman is eligible under the paw, and no fraud is involved. She submits her paycheck stubs each payday to substantiate earnings and withholdings.

As a government worker, she has the government health plan. She and her children are eligible for Medi-Cal, but Medi-Cal pays only the portion that the government health plan does not cover, said Miss Presley.

She said this woman is "one of the higher" earners among the more than 4,000 families and individuals on the county's welfare rolls. She knows of no recipient who is earning more than $10,000 per year, but she conceded that under the federal formulas, especially the open-ended exemptions, a welfare recipient could earn in excess of $10,000 per year and still be eligible for welfare. "And we'd be helpless to do anything but comply. This is one of the frustrations that should be corrected. I think we shouldsay that over x-number of dollars, no welfare will be granted, or perhaps take a percentage of what the welfare standard is, and give no welfare over that ceiling. It has to be done nationally."

The earned income incentive comes to $214. (It is the amount that is open-ended and keeps rising as earned income rises.) Deduct $214 from $582, and the balance is $369. This represents 'nonexempt income."

From the $369 must be deducted the "expenses of employment," which include retirement deductions, withholdings, cost of transportation, a standard personal expense of $25, and cost of child care.

In the case of the woman in question, the expenses of employment totals $327. Subtracting $327 from $269 leaves only $42 of the woman's earnings to be deducted from the welfare grant for which she and her children are eligible.

Dec. 18 Target Date To End Current SALT Talks

HELSINKI (UPI)—U.S. and Soviet negotiators agreed today to wind up the current round of Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT) Dec. 18 and resume again as early as possible next year.

The recess date still has to be confirmed by home governments while the exact resumption date is still being discussed, conference sources said.

The United States for its part hopes to be able to get negotiations underway again next year in late February or early March, they said.

There could be a pause for the Communist Party Congress in Moscow starting March 30.

U.S. negotiators hope the fourth round in Vienna and the subsequent fifth round expected in Helsinki in the summer will produce a so-called "core agreement" on the limit of offensive and defensive missiles.

Failing this there may be a preliminary partial accord on restrictingdefensive anti-missile systems only to the two capitals.

Gerard C. Smith and Vladimir S. Semenov, the U.S. and Soviet chief negotiators, held their 12th working session today since the third round of SALT began Nov. 2.

The meeting lasted 45 minutes and was described as "businesslike, constructive and cordial."

The next meeting was scheduled for Wednesday, the five-day break caused by the long weekend trip to Leningrad by Smith and OTHER members of the U.S. delegation at Semenov's invitation.

American officials said that in addition to sight-seeing guided by Semenov, Smith and his aides will alsohave informal talks during the trip on matters such as next year's resumption date and the communique to be issued when this round ends.

It is probable, they said, that following next Wednesday's meeting it will be agreed to hold the final session Friday.

Arrests In Probe Of Stolen Goods

Two East Bay men were arrested yesterday by Berkeley police on suspicion of concealing stolen property taken only hours before from Braverman's Furniture Store in San Anselmo.

San Anselmo police said today that Robert Gordon Baldwin, 27, of Richmond and Albert Roy Roberts, 39, of San Pable were observed at about 7 a.m. unloading televisions and stereo equipment from a stolen delivery truck parked in a Berkeley parking lot.

The truck and $2,091 in televisions and stereo components were taken from Braverman's sometime after the store closed Tuesday and 5:20 a.m. yesterday when the burglary was discovered.

According to officers, Berkeley police watched as first Roberts unloaded televisions placing them in his vehicle and then Baldwin 15 minutes later.

Officers said both denied any connection with the San Anselmo burglary but had made arrangement to purchase the goods from the parked truck.

The two were arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on felony charges of concealing stolen property and are scheduled to appear Tuesday for entry of plea. They have both been released on their own recognizance.

Committed To Napa Hospital

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court yesterday committed Margaret Rose Islas, 29-year-old Mill Valley woman charged with attempting to kill her husband, to Napa State Hospital.

The judge made the order after reviewing reports of two psychiatrists who said that they believed Mrs. Islas did not understand the charges against her and was not mentally capable of continuing with court proceedings.

She was arrested after she reportedly stabbed her husband, Martin, 32, as he slept on Nov. 13.

He was treated for chest wounds which sheriff's deputies said had been made with a foot-long butcher knife.

He said higher commanders were in the area that day, including one on the ground, "and nothing was said about the killing of civilians until a lunch break."

Other commanders were flying over the action and should have known what was happening, Latimer said.

Some Viet Cong of military age were killed (presumably by artillery or aerial fire) before the ground troops got there. He said this killing was done "right at the edge of a ditch in which the government contends Calley killed at least 70 screaming women, children and old men."

Latimer said Calley and his platoon had been inadequately trained and instructed for this kind of combat. Some of the platoon members had not been in combat before, he said, all believed their sweep would be "bitterly contested," and some were frightened.

He said the platoon had information atrocities had been committed in the area and that civilians were being used as decoys.

The defense said it would contend that the act of which Calley is accused was a legal act of war. The stated intent came during an argument over what part of a deposition taken from a Vietnamese interpreter could be read to the jury.

RAILS

hub, 110,000 commuters sought other ways to work. In St. Louis, the nation's second-largest rail center, Missouri Pacific said the UTU and the maintenance of way employes union were removing pickets in Chicago, New Orleans, St. Louis and the Gulf Coast.

A key question, then, was how the other union members would respond to the pickets. A spokesman for the three unions said: "We don't tell a person to cross or not to cross a picket line."

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon was confident the rail strike would end. But he conceded under questioning that this was based more on the belief the clerks would follow the lead of the other three unions than on any direct word Nixon had from the clerks.

Nixon, despite his late hours Wednesday night, checked into the Executive Office Building early today to stay abreast of late developments. Ziegler said it would be difficult to say how much time Nixon might permit to pass before issuing an executive order to keep goods moving by other means.

The Justice Department said it was not considering legal action —such as contempt of court proceedings —against C. L. Dennis, president of BRAC.

At the hearing in the judge's home, lawyers for the three smaller unions —but not BRAC —were present. It was understood the judge took the position that service of order on the three unions was tantamount to service on BRAC as well.

Dennis himself remained out of contact today, presumably to avoid possible service of the judge's orders. "The Big Daddy has gone into hiding," a spokesman for the three smaller unions said.

Meantime, the Civil Aeronautics Board set up an emergency transportation Task Force. Chairman Secor D. Browne said he asked delegates from the scheduled airlines, the charter and cargo airlines and the air taxi operators to meet to discuss "how best to meet the transportation demands" caused by the walkout.

Labor secretary James D. Hidgson said the administration would take unspecified action to force the workers to return to work if the strike did not end today.

Four unions representing 425,000 rail workers, who were disgruntled over lack of a pay increase after working almost a year without a contract, ignored administration pleas and last minute intervention efforts by Congress to stage the massive walkout.

Dennis issued a statement through union headquarters at 11 p.m. EST, Wednesday withdrawing his earlier offer to call off the strike if Congress included the pay boost in the bill, and telling his workers to strike as planned.

The main issue in the dispute is wages. A White House panel, acting during a 60-day cooling off period ordered by Nixon, recommended a 37 per cent wage increase over three years coupled with changes in work rules that the railroads say are archaic and amount to nothing more than featherbedding.

The railroads reluctantly accepted the panel's recommendations, but the BRAC demanded wage increases of 41 per cent or more, and all four unions refused to accept any work rules changes.

cause the incentive exemptions do not apply, she pointed out.

Once on public aid, the laws make it easier for the person to stay on, despite a rise in earnings.

Miss Presley gave this explanation of how the welfare computations are made, using the mother of four as an example. She said she cannot reveal the identity because she is prohibited by law from disclosing welfare recipients, but figures are from the actual files.

The mother supports four children, aged 4 to 12, in an apartment which rented for $275 per month until October, when the rent was raised to $320. She is also thought to support the man with whom she lives and his child.

She draws a base pay of $270.40 every two weeks, with occasional overtime.

For the month of October, her two paychecks came to a gross of $583. The federal formula then applies in determining her welfare grant.

The first $30 of the earnings plus one-third of the balance is designated the "earned income incentive" and is exempted from the gross income.

The earned income incentive comes to $214. (It is this amount that is open-ended and keeps rising as earned income rises.) Deduct $214 from $582, and the balance is $369. This represents "non-exempt income."

From the $369 must be deducted the "expenses of employment," which include retirement deductions, withholdings, cost of transportation, a standard personal expense of $25, and cost of child care.

In the case of the woman in question, the expenses of employment totals $327. Subtracting $327 from $369 leaves only $42 of the qoman's earnings to be deducted from the welfare grant for which she and her children are eligible.

Now comes the computation of the amount of welfare grant that she can receive under the Aid to Families with Dependent Children.

Each grant differs, depending on the size of family, and age and even the sex of each child. In this case, the long table entitled "cost schedule for family budget units" say the mother and four children need $247 per month plus $165 housing allowance, or a total of $412.

From this $412 is subtracted the $42 previously computed as deductible from the welfare grant. This leaves $370 as the budgetary need. Because the county's supplementation was reduced by one-third from the 1968-69 fiscal year, the welfare payment comes to $310 per month. The reason for the county supplementation is that the state will pay only $263 for the mother and her four children while the cost schedule says she needs $412. If she were to quit working today, the welfare grant would rise to $329.

The father of the children is missing and provides no income. The woman's present common-law husband has a child of his own. If he had income, that would be computed as part of the couple's earnings, said Miss Presley. But he is not working and did not cooperate with work programs, and so he and his one child are not on welfare.

Miss Presley said that the woman is eligible under the paw, and no fraud is involved. She submits her paycheck stubs each payday to substantiate earnings and withholdings.

As a government worker, she has the government health plan. She and her children are eligible for Medi-Cal, but Medi-Cal pays only the portion that the government health plan does not cover, said Miss Presley.

She said this woman is "one of the higher" earners among the more than 4,000 families and individuals on the county's welfare rolls. She knows of no recipient who is earning more than $10,000 per year, but she conceded that under the federal formulas, especially the open-ended exemptions, a welfare recipient could earn in excess of $10,000 per year and still be eligible for welfare. "And we'd be helpless to do anything but comply. This is one of the frustrations that should be corrected. I think we shouldsay that over x-number of dollars, no welfare will be granted, or perhaps take a percentage of what the welfare standard is, and give no welfare over that ceiling. It has to be done nationally."

The earned income incentive comes to $214. (It is the amount that is open-ended and keeps rising as earned income rises.) Deduct $214 from $582, and the balance is $369. This represents 'nonexempt income."

From the $369 must be deducted the "expenses of employment," which include retirement deductions, withholdings, cost of transportation, a standard personal expense of $25, and cost of child care.

At the hearing in the judge's home, lawyers for the three smaller unions —but not BRAC —were present. It was understood the judge took the position that service of order on the three unions was tantamount to service on BRAC as well.

Dennis himself remained out of contact today, presumably to avoid possible service of the judge's orders. "The Big Daddy has gone into hiding," a spokesman for the three smaller unions said.

Meantime, the Civil Aeronautics Board set up an emergency transportation Task Force. Chairman Secor D. Browne said he asked delegates from the scheduled airlines, the charter and cargo airlines and the air taxi operators to meet to discuss "how best to meet the transportation demands" caused by the walkout.

Labor secretary James D. Hidgson said the administration would take unspecified action to force the workers to return to work if the strike did not end today.

Four unions representing 425,000 rail workers, who were disgruntled over lack of a pay increase after working almost a year without a contract, ignored administration pleas and last minute intervention efforts by Congress to stage the massive walkout.

Dennis issued a statement through union headquarters at 11 p.m. EST, Wednesday withdrawing his earlier offer to call off the strike if Congress included the pay boost in the bill, and telling his workers to strike as planned.

The main issue in the dispute is wages. A White House panel, acting during a 60-day cooling off period ordered by Nixon, recommended a 37 per cent wage increase over three years coupled with changes in work rules that the railroads say are archaic and amount to nothing more than featherbedding.

The railroads reluctantly accepted the panel's recommendations, but the BRAC demanded wage increases of 41 per cent or more, and all four unions refused to accept any work rules changes.

cause the incentive exemptions do not apply, she pointed out.

Once on public aid, the laws make it easier for the person to stay on, despite a rise in earnings.

Miss Presley gave this explanation of how the welfare computations are made, using the mother of four as an example. She said she cannot reveal the identity because she is prohibited by law from disclosing welfare recipients, but figures are from the actual files.

The mother supports four children, aged 4 to 12, in an apartment which rented for $275 per month until October, when the rent was raised to $320. She is also thought to support the man with whom she lives and his child.

She draws a base pay of $270.40 every two weeks, with occasional overtime.

For the month of October, her two paychecks came to a gross of $583. The federal formula then applies in determining her welfare grant.

The first $30 of the earnings plus one-third of the balance is designated the "earned income incentive" and is exempted from the gross income.

The earned income incentive comes to $214. (It is this amount that is open-ended and keeps rising as earned income rises.) Deduct $214 from $582, and the balance is $369. This represents "non-exempt income."

From the $369 must be deducted the "expenses of employment," which include retirement deductions, withholdings, cost of transportation, a standard personal expense of $25, and cost of child care.

In the case of the woman in question, the expenses of employment totals $327. Subtracting $327 from $369 leaves only $42 of the qoman's earnings to be deducted from the welfare grant for which she and her children are eligible.

Now comes the computation of the amount of welfare grant that she can receive under the Aid to Families with Dependent Children.

Each grant differs, depending on the size of family, and age and even the sex of each child. In this case, the long table entitled "cost schedule for family budget units" say the mother and four children need $247 per month plus $165 housing allowance, or a total of $412.

From this $412 is subtracted the $42 previously computed as deductible from the welfare grant. This leaves $370 as the budgetary need. Because the county's supplementation was reduced by one-third from the 1968-69 fiscal year, the welfare payment comes to $310 per month. The reason for the county supplementation is that the state will pay only $263 for the mother and her four children while the cost schedule says she needs $412. If she were to quit working today, the welfare grant would rise to $329.

The father of the children is missing and provides no income. The woman's present common-law husband has a child of his own. If he had income, that would be computed as part of the couple's earnings, said Miss Presley. But he is not working and did not cooperate with work programs, and so he and his one child are not on welfare.

Miss Presley said that the woman is eligible under the paw, and no fraud is involved. She submits her paycheck stubs each payday to substantiate earnings and withholdings.

As a government worker, she has the government health plan. She and her children are eligible for Medi-Cal, but Medi-Cal pays only the portion that the government health plan does not cover, said Miss Presley.

She said this woman is "one of the higher" earners among the more than 4,000 families and individuals on the county's welfare rolls. She knows of no recipient who is earning more than $10,000 per year, but she conceded that under the federal formulas, especially the open-ended exemptions, a welfare recipient could earn in excess of $10,000 per year and still be eligible for welfare. "And we'd be helpless to do anything but comply. This is one of the frustrations that should be corrected. I think we shouldsay that over x-number of dollars, no welfare will be granted, or perhaps take a percentage of what the welfare standard is, and give no welfare over that ceiling. It has to be done nationally."

The earned income incentive comes to $214. (It is the amount that is open-ended and keeps rising as earned income rises.) Deduct $214 from $582, and the balance is $369. This represents 'nonexempt income."

From the $369 must be deducted the "expenses of employment," which include retirement deductions, withholdings, cost of transportation, a standard personal expense of $25, and cost of child care.

In the case of the woman in question, the expenses of employment totals $327. Subtracting $327 from $269 leaves only $42 of the woman's earnings to be deducted from the welfare grant for which she and her children are eligible.

Brown Demands Election Probe

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Secretary of State-elect Edmund G. Brown Jr. has asked the Sacramento County District Attorney to investigate $95,000 anonymously contributed to the successful campaign to defeat Proposition 18.

In a letter dated Dec. 4 to District Attorney John Price, Brown said, "I demand that you launch an immediate investigation" to determine if the reporting of four anonymous contributions totaling $95,000 constituted a violation of the state Election Code.

The unidentified donors were listed in a contributions report filed with the secretary of state by Californians against Street and Road Tax Trap, which reported total contributions of $324,785.

GIs Should Call Home: Avert Delay

Marin families who want to talk with servicemen in Vietnam during the holidays would do best to have the GIs call them, Pacific Telephone Co. advised today.

Charles Russell, commercial manager in the telephone company's San Rafael office, warned "it is virtually impossible to reach a particular serviceman by calling from this end. Nearly all calls between the two countries originate in Vietnam but are paid for in this country by having the charges reversed."

Russell said special arrangements have been made to help servicemen in Vietnam call home at their convenience, particularly from the USO in downtown Saigon. Calls also are possible from some military hospitals and service centers at other bases in Vietnam, he said.

Hamilton Air Force Base's MARS office, affiliated with a worldwide shortwave radio network of military and civilians, said it also can arrange holiday talks with servicemen in southeast Asia, by appointment.

Communications with Vietnam are best in the afternoon and early evening, the radio men said today.

Brown Demands Election Probe

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Secretary of State-elect Edmund G. Brown Jr. has asked the Sacramento County District Attorney to investigate $95,000 anonymously contributed to the successful campaign to defeat Proposition 18.

In a letter dated Dec. 4 to District Attorney John Price, Brown said, "I demand that you launch an immediate investigation" to determine if the reporting of four anonymous contributions totaling $95,000 constituted a violation of the state Election Code.

The unidentified donors were listed in a contributions report filed with the secretary of state by Californians against Street and Road Tax Trap, which reported total contributions of $324,785.

GIs Should Call Home: Avert Delay

Marin families who want to talk with servicemen in Vietnam during the holidays would do best to have the GIs call them, Pacific Telephone Co. advised today.

Charles Russell, commercial manager in the telephone company's San Rafael office, warned "it is virtually impossible to reach a particular serviceman by calling from this end. Nearly all calls between the two countries originate in Vietnam but are paid for in this country by having the charges reversed."

Russell said special arrangements have been made to help servicemen in Vietnam call home at their convenience, particularly from the USO in downtown Saigon. Calls also are possible from some military hospitals and service centers at other bases in Vietnam, he said.

Hamilton Air Force Base's MARS office, affiliated with a worldwide shortwave radio network of military and civilians, said it also can arrange holiday talks with servicemen in southeast Asia, by appointment.

Communications with Vietnam are best in the afternoon and early evening, the radio men said today.

DeMartini Claims Arrest Because Of Union Status

I-J Special Report

FAIRFIELD — John J. DeMartini, vice president of San Francisco Typographical Union 21, testified today that he was arrested outside the Independent-Journal during the Valentine's Day riot because he was a union official, and not because he had disobeyed police orders to disperse.

DeMartini, one of seven defendants on trial in solano County Superior Court as a result of the Feb. 14 violence, said under cross-examination he was being stalked by several police officers because he was an officer of the union which has been on strike against the I-J since Jan. 7. DeMartini, who took the witness stand for the third day, was asked by Marin Deputy Dist. Atty. Joshua W. Thomas:

"Isn't it true that none of the other people in that area (in which DeMartini was standing) were arrested that day?"

"I was the only one who was an officer of the typographical union," DeMartini replied.

"Did you know Officer (Harold) Pennington (the arresting officer)?" Thomas asked.

"No. But Officer Pennington is now an inspector."

"Is it your testimony that it wasn't because you refused to leave that you were arrested, but because you were John DeMartini?"

"I don't see any other reason," DeMartini said.

The union official is charged with felony assault on a police officer, participating in a riot and with unlawful assembly growing out of a confrontation between demonstrators and police on Julia Street.

DeMartini, the firstdefense witness in the seven-week-old trial, disputed a policeman's claim earlier in the trial that he struck the officer during a struggle over a riot baton.

Pennington, a San Rafael police officer, had testified DeMartini on three occasions refused to obey his orders to disperse, and said DeMartini struck him on the head with the truncheon. Pennington also said DeMartini struck him with a knee and an elbow during the struggle.

Under questioning by his attorney, Carl B. Shapiro, DeMartini said he was prodded with police batons as he was attempting to follow orders to leave the scene of the Julia Street melee. The union official claimed he was "pretty well bruised up all over" and went to Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Rafael for treatment.

DeMartini said he snapped a picture of several offic ers as they moved toward him before the arrest. The policemen, he said, came at him ith "their hands over their heads carrying billy clubs."

DeMartini, who was forced to the ground, said theofficers were kicking him and hitting him with their batons.

He testified the film in his camera was destroyed by jailers after he was booked at the Marin County Hall of Justice.

Thomas probed DeMartini's and his union's role in the Feb. 14 demonstration, which erupted into violence. Windows were smashed, a delivery truck was set afire and seventeen persons were hurt when police and pickets clashed on Julia Street.

DeMartini said that despite being an official of the union in whose behalf the demonstration was conducted, neither he nor his union helped prepare the rally nor did he seek to find out how it would be conducted.

"Isn't it possible that you didn't want to be responsible for the actions that day and that you and your union could disclaim responsibility for anything that happened?" Thomas asked.

"We're only responsible for our own actions," DeMartini said, adding members of his union were advised they could attend the rally if they wished.

The union official said he had "every expectation it would be peaceful."

DeMartini described picketing during most of the morning as being "as peaceful as a Sunday picnic" and said he didn't regard the window smashing and vandalism as "violence."

"Did you observe anyone come in or out of the Independent-Journal building that day?" Thomas asked.

"No," DeMartini said.

The defendant disclaimed knowledge of a plan to prevent the I-J from doing business Feb. 14.

Nursing Homes Threat To Reject Medi-Cal Patients

Marin convalescent hospitals today threatened to turn away Medi-Cal patients after Feb. 1 if proposed new rates are approved.

Furthermore, the local nursing homes, at that time, will begin billing the state at the higher rate it charges private patients, said Timothy J. egan, president of the Marin Nursing Home Association.

Egan appeared today on KTIM's "Marin Sounding Board" with William Slocum, administrator of the Marin Convalescent and Rehabilitation Hospital; Dr. Frederick J. Hass, general practitioner; and D. Jerome Hansen, nursing home specialist for the state Department of Health Care Services.

Hansen reported that the state arrived at the new rate from data supplied by nursing homes.

The state is collecting a list of homes that will continue to care for Medi-Cal patients should some refuse to take them.

Hansen's department has proposed a cutback from $14 a day per Medi-Cal patient to $13.54 effective Feb. 1 and cuts ranging from 46 cents to $1.46 retroactive to 1966. Egan said the state will want back $3,800 a bed.

Slocum said an additional across-the-board cutback of 10 per cent recently announced would leave nursing homes a maximum of $11.29 per day until Feb. 1 if the proposed rates are accepted after public hearings in Sacramento Dec. 15-16.

After Feb. 1, the rate would rise to $12.19. This, Slocum said, is 25 cents an hour less than a baby sitter is paid.

Report Of Union's Arbitration Pitch

A renewed demand for arbitration —accompanied by a list of proposed arbitrators — was furnished San Francisco news media today by San Francisco Typographical Union 21, on strike against the Idependent-Journal since Jan. 7.

Five of seven men suggested as arbitrators by the union knew nothing about the proposal.

I-J management said it had received no such variation on the union demand for arbitration instead of negotiation.

When informed by United Press International that the newxspaper knew nothing of the union's alleged new offer, Leon Olson, president of Local 21, insisted the proposal was in the mail to the I-J and that it was a "sincere and serious offer."

I-J Publisher Wishard A. Brown said, "I'm sure that if it were a serious offer, it would have been offered first to the Independent-Journal and not distributed like this as a general press release to all but the I-J."

The union press release sent to UPI said the union had offered to submit its dispute with the I-J to an arbitration panel of religious, political and business leaders.

The union proposed as arbitrators: Rev. Mark J. Hurley, Catholic Bishop of Santa Rosa; Right Rev. C. Kilmer Myers, Episcopal Bishop of California; Rabbi Joseph B. Glaser, director of the Northern California Council of the Union of the American Hebrew Congregation; J. Hart Clinton, retiring president of the California Press Association and publisher of the San Mateo Times; Cyril Magnin, San Francisco businessman; Joseph L. Alioto, mayor of San Francisco, and Sam Kagel, attorney and arbitrator.

Four of the men said today they had never heard of the proposed panel or the union's suggestion of it.

Clinton said that "if I was asked, I wouldn't serve on it even if paid."

Magnin also said he had not heard of the proposal and thathe didn't know if he would be able to serve even if he were asked. Kagel and Bishop Hurley said they knew nothing about the union proposal

Alioto's confidential secretary, Jerry Flamm, said he was not aware of the proposal and he assumed he would have been told if Alioto had accepted an offer to serve on an arbitration panel.

In October, Alioto, at the request of labor union leaders, urged San Rafael Mayor C. Paul Bettini to use his office to "initiate new negotiations for settlement" of the typographical union's strike.

At that time Alioto noted that 'criminal and civil actions against labor union members have been filed" and that San Francisco as well as other Northern California cities were the scene of mounting labor violence.

Rabbi Glaser and Bishop Myers could not be reached today for comment on the reported union suggestion of the arbitration panel

Go-Ahead On Service Area Plan

Sleepy Hollow residents last night won the go-ahead on the formation of a community services district by 3-to-2 vote of the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission.

Louis H. Baar, Michael Wornum and Hugh G. Marchant voted approval, while Roy Farrington Jones and J. Wayne Womack dissented.

Jones and Womack protested that the formation of a community services district would lessen the chance for Sleepy Hollow to annex to a city like San Anselmo.

The three-man majority said it wants to give the people of Sleepy Hollow, who petitioned for the district, a chance to vote on it. A majority vote is needed for passage.

The district, covering 1,574 acres, would provide recreation services with a tax rate of $1 per $100 assessed valuation, and a 15-cent over-ride tax for fire protection services.

The LAFC also approved annexations of a half-acre parcel, owned by Orland W. Bowen on the north side of Marion Avenue near Seventh Street and a two-acre parcel with three owners on Tamalpais Avenue at Orchard Way to the Novato Sanitary District.

Sausalito Raid Nets Six On Dope

Six persons were booked into Marin County Jail yesterday on suspicion of possessing marijuana for sale and possessing dangerous drugs and narcotics paraphernalia after police went to a Sausalito home to investigate a stolen auto.

Police said they found seven kilograms of a substance believed to be marijuana in the house at 195 Buchanan Street, as well as boxes and bags of assorted unidentified pills and 35 pipes containing residue thought to be marijuana.

Arrested in the accidental raid were: Virginia Teresa Culwell, 18, of 2244 Juniperberry Drive, Lucas Valley; Gene E. Nielsen, 26, of Columbus, Ohio and Carlos Jose Santacoloma, 18, Mark Steven Becker, 22, and Jeffrey Alan Olener, 22, all of 1214 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael.

Yesterday officers went to the house after receiving a report from Colorado police that a man living at the Buchanan Street address was believed to have a stolen car in his possession.

When detective Walter Potter knocked on the door, he said he heard the sound of running footsteps and a door or window opening in the rear of the building. He ran to the back of the house in time to see two women climb through a window and disappear around the corner of the residence.

After Potter noticed the smell of burning marijuana coming from the open window, he ana officer Gary Verdi entered the house and arrested its six occupants, then searched the residence. Most of the drugs were found in the kitchen and pantry area, although they were scattered, often in plain sight, throughout the house, police said.

Nielsen was also booked on suspicion of possessing stolen property after officers found an amplifier, tape recorder and miscellaneous tapes in the house.

Miss Culwell and Santacoloma were freed on $315 bail to appear tomorrow in Marin Municipal Court and Nielsen and Olener were being held in lieu of $1,250 bail to appear in court today. Becker and Bell were out on $1,250 bail each to appear tomorrow in Municipal Court.

State Toughens Pesticide Rule

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The State Department of Agriculture Wednesday asked for legislative permission to more than double its pesticide registration program.

Dr. Leland Bartelt, assistant director of inspection services, said the department has been unable to enforce fully its evaluation and monitoring of registered products.

He addressed a pesticide safety hearing being conducted by the Assembly Agriculture Committee.

Bartelt said the program needs another 21 persons added to its staff at an initial cost of $512,403 for personnel and equipment.

Report Of Union's Arbitration Pitch

A renewed demand for arbitration —accompanied by a list of proposed arbitrators — was furnished San Francisco news media today by San Francisco Typographical Union 21, on strike against the Idependent-Journal since Jan. 7.

Five of seven men suggested as arbitrators by the union knew nothing about the proposal.

I-J management said it had received no such variation on the union demand for arbitration instead of negotiation.

When informed by United Press International that the newxspaper knew nothing of the union's alleged new offer, Leon Olson, president of Local 21, insisted the proposal was in the mail to the I-J and that it was a "sincere and serious offer."

I-J Publisher Wishard A. Brown said, "I'm sure that if it were a serious offer, it would have been offered first to the Independent-Journal and not distributed like this as a general press release to all but the I-J."

The union press release sent to UPI said the union had offered to submit its dispute with the I-J to an arbitration panel of religious, political and business leaders.

The union proposed as arbitrators: Rev. Mark J. Hurley, Catholic Bishop of Santa Rosa; Right Rev. C. Kilmer Myers, Episcopal Bishop of California; Rabbi Joseph B. Glaser, director of the Northern California Council of the Union of the American Hebrew Congregation; J. Hart Clinton, retiring president of the California Press Association and publisher of the San Mateo Times; Cyril Magnin, San Francisco businessman; Joseph L. Alioto, mayor of San Francisco, and Sam Kagel, attorney and arbitrator.

Four of the men said today they had never heard of the proposed panel or the union's suggestion of it.

Clinton said that "if I was asked, I wouldn't serve on it even if paid."

Magnin also said he had not heard of the proposal and thathe didn't know if he would be able to serve even if he were asked. Kagel and Bishop Hurley said they knew nothing about the union proposal

Alioto's confidential secretary, Jerry Flamm, said he was not aware of the proposal and he assumed he would have been told if Alioto had accepted an offer to serve on an arbitration panel.

In October, Alioto, at the request of labor union leaders, urged San Rafael Mayor C. Paul Bettini to use his office to "initiate new negotiations for settlement" of the typographical union's strike.

At that time Alioto noted that 'criminal and civil actions against labor union members have been filed" and that San Francisco as well as other Northern California cities were the scene of mounting labor violence.

Rabbi Glaser and Bishop Myers could not be reached today for comment on the reported union suggestion of the arbitration panel

Sausalito Raid Nets Six On Dope

Six persons were booked into Marin County Jail yesterday on suspicion of possessing marijuana for sale and possessing dangerous drugs and narcotics paraphernalia after police went to a Sausalito home to investigate a stolen auto.

Police said they found seven kilograms of a substance believed to be marijuana in the house at 195 Buchanan Street. as well as boxes and bags of assorted unidentified pills and 35 pipes containing residue thought to be marijuana.

Arrested in the accidental raid were: Virginia Teresa Culwell, 18, of 2244 Juniperberry Drive, Lucas Valley; Gene E. Nielsen, 26, of Columbus, Ohio and Carlos Jose Santacoloma, 18, Mark Steven Becker, 22, and Jeffrey Alan Olener, 22, all of 1214 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael.

Yesterday officers went to the house after receiving a report from Colorado police that a man living at the Buchanan Street address was believed to have a stolen car in his possession.

When detective Walter Potter knocked on the door, he said he heard the sound of running footsteps and a door or window opening in the rear of the building. He ran to the back of the house in time to see two women climb through a window and disappear around the corner of the residence.

After Potter noticed the smell of burning marijuana coming from the open window, he ana officer Gary Verdi entered the house and arrested its six occupants, then searched the residence. Most of the drugs were found in the kitchen and pantry area, although they were scattered, often in plain sight, throughout the house, police said.

Nielsen was also booked on suspicion of possessing stolen property after officers found an amplifier, tape recorder and miscellaneous tapes in the house.

Miss Culwell and Santacoloma were freed on $315 bail to appear tomorrow in Marin Municipal Court and Nielsen and Olener were being held in lieu of $1,250 bail to appear in court today. Becker and Bell were out on $1,250 bail each to appear tomorrow in Municipal Court.

State Toughens Pesticide Rule

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The State Department of Agriculture Wednesday asked for legislative permission to more than double its pesticide registration program.

Dr. Leland Bartelt, assistant director of inspection services, said the department has been unable to enforce fully its evaluation and monitoring of registered products.

He addressed a pesticide safety hearing being conducted by the Assembly Agriculture Committee.

Bartelt said the program needs another 21 persons added to its staff at an initial cost of $512,403 for personnel and equipment.

Go-Ahead On Service Area Plan

Sleepy Hollow residents last night won the go-ahead on the formation of a community services district by 3-to-2 vote of the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission.

Louis H. Baar, Michael Wornum and Hugh G. Marchant voted approval, while Roy Farrington Jones and J. Wayne Womack dissented.

Jones and Womack protested that the formation of a community services district would lessen the chance for Sleepy Hollow to annex to a city like San Anselmo.

The three-man majority said it wants to give the people of Sleepy Hollow, who petitioned for the district, a chance to vote on it. A majority vote is needed for passage.

The district, covering 1,574 acres, would provide recreation services with a tax rate of $1 per $100 assessed valuation, and a 15-cent over-ride tax for fire protection services.

The LAFC also approved annexations of a half-acre parcel, owned by Orland W. Bowen on the north side of Marion Avenue near Seventh Street and a two-acre parcel with three owners on Tamalpais Avenue at Orchard Way to the Novato Sanitary District.

Rec Panel Asks For Open Space Change

The Larkspur Park and Recreation Commission last night recommended the city's general plan be changed to include developer dedication of open space.

In making the recommendation, the commission asked that the planning commission begin public hearings on the proposed dedication requirements, Harlan Barry, recreation director said.

Barry said the amount of land to be deeded the city would vary with the size of subdivisions, but a subdivision to house 1,000 people would be required to dedicate four acres for park use.

Changing of the general plan would be the first stap towards a subdivision ordinance requiring such dedications, he said.

The Larkspur Park and Recreation Commission also:

BICYCLE PATHS — Heard a report that negotiations are still in progress with the Tiscornia estate for an easement along Magnolia Avenue between Doherty Drive and Bon Air Road for a bicycle path. The commission asked its staff to check legal and safety questions concerning a bike path on Doherty Drive.

PLAQUE — Received a letter from Elizabeth Bray of Larkspur asking that a dedication plaque at Doliver Park be placed on a different stand. The plaque now rests on a concrete block. The commission directed its staff to find a more appropriate stand.

YOUTH — Set Jan.13 for interviewing applicants for two seats on the commission. The seats will be filled by persons between 15 and 22 years of age. Applications may still be submitted.

Gnoss Field Burglary Charge Out

A charge of burglary stemming from the $250,000 fire Oct. 12 at Gnoss Field against Wayne Armstrong, 19, of Santa Rosa, was dismissed yesterday inMarin Municipal Court.

Deputy Dist. Atty. John R. Thomas said there was no evidence to link Armstrong with the arson and insufficient evidence to charge him with burglary.

The youth was turned over to Sonoma County officials where he is serving a one-year jail term on another charge.

Still facing trial the week of Feb. 8 in superior court on charges of arson and burglary is William Phillip nance, 20, of Santa Rosa.

Officers have said that Nance and other youths went to the airport to steal gasoline. Upon discovering they had to go inside a building to release a lock on a gas pump, they reportedly stole a tape recorder and radio and then set the building on fire to cover fingerprints.

Two other youths suspected of taking part are still being held in Sonoma County on other charges.

Arrest Made In Pot Probe

Blake Hall Bowen, 25, of 923 Church Street, San Francisco, was arrested by Novato police today on suspicion of possession of marijuana after an officer spotted him driving without tail lights.

Police said Bowen's car was stopped along northbound Highway 101, north of Olive Street at 3:23 a.m. and a cellophane bag containing what appeared to be marijuana was sighted in a car door pocket. A search revealed that Bowen had three hand-rolled cigarettes, apparently marijuana, in his coat pocket, police reported.

Bowen was booked at Marin County Jail and on order of Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. held without bail until his appearance in municipal court today.

Kidnapped Envoy Says He's Safe

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI)— Swiss Ambassador Giovanni Enrio Bucher, 57, sent word Wednesday he is alive and well in the hands of kidnapers who seized him and shot his bodyguard on the way to work Monday.

"I am in good condition and well treated," Bucher said in a letter to the Swiss Embassy.

The letter arrived a few hours after Brazil asked the kidnapers to provide a list of terrorists they want released in exchange for Bucher's safe return and prove he is alive by providing a statement in his own writing.

Cheaper Quarantine Signs Due

The Bolinas Community Public Utility District board last night decided to replace 11 signs warning of a quarantine of Bolinas Lagoon with less expensive signs.

Clerk Jane Boyer said all but one of the original waterproof signs, which cost about $50 each, have been damaged or destroyed by vandals.

They will be replaced by new signs of a less expensive material, she said. The signs warn that the lagoon and part of Bolinas Beach are hazardous because of recent outbreaks of hepatitis.

The Bolinas Community Public Utility District board also:

MAINTENANCE — Hired Stephen C. DuVall, of Cherry Drive, Bolinas, as part-time maintenance man for the district at $4 an hour. DuVall replaces Edward Genazzi, who succumbed to a heart attack last week.

SPRINKLERS — Voted to call for bids for a sprinkling system to fireproof the building which houses the utility district office at 270 Elm Road.

RAIN GEAR proved the purchase of $60 worth of foul weather clothing, including boots, trousers and slickers, for the district's two outdoor maintenance men.

Incorrect Figure In Land Story

Alfred W. Berney of 8 Lillian Lane said yesterday that he told the San Rafael City Council the parcel of land it accepted at its Monday meeting was appraised at about $360,000.

The Independent-Journal reported Tuesday that he placed the land's value at $306,000 while the property in question is actually appraised at $358,000.

Drug Raid Nets Six; Court Hearing Set

Drug agents who raided a communal type residence last night in Santa Venetia near the Civic Center arrested six young persons and confiscated material suspected to be peyote, LSD, hashish and marijuana.

Those booked into Marin County Jail, their charges and bail are:

Kevin Sumner Orr, 20, of Lagunitas Road, Ross, possession of LSD, possession of petyote and marijuana for sale, $2,000; Karen Louise Davey, 20, of 330 Los Cerros Drive, Greenbrae, possession of marijuana, $1,000; Sharman Linda McCanish, 20, of 1 Sierra Court, Tiburon, possession of marijuana, $1,000; John Russell Warne, 23, of 26 Madera Boulevard, Corte Madera, possession of peyote and marijuana for sale, $2,000; James Steven Preston, 20, of 88 Wellington Avenue, San Anselmo, possession of marijuana and peyote for sale, $2,000, and Timothy Patrick Yarish, 20, of 205 Scenic Road, Fairfax, possession of marijuana, $1,000.

Drug agents said they obtained a search warrant for the house at 293 San Pedro Road after an informant told them he had seen drugs there.

The agents said they found a peyote plant in the freezer, $2,000 worth of hashish, three or four kilos of pot, 12 tabs of LSD and 19 lids of pot. In addition, they seized $2,000 which Orr had in his pocket.

Although none of those arrested claimed the San Pedro Road address, the agents said they believed all lived there.

Bail was posted by all six and they are to appear in Marin Municipal Court tomorrow.

61-Year-Old Booked On Pot

A 61-year-old San Anselmo man was arrested yesterday on suspicion of possesion of marijuana on a tip to police that he was lounging in his living room smoking what appeared to be pot.

Officers said John Edward Windrick of 235 Butterfield Road was arrested at about 8 p.m. when officers observed a bag of green vegetable matter protruding from a coat pocket.

Windrick was booked into Marin County Jail and later released on his own recognizance to appear today in Marin-Municipal Court.

Just 'Too Busy'

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Mrs. Richard Nixon says the first family decided to spend the Christmas holidays in the White House, instead of going to California, because they were "too busy" with business and social functions.

Two More Firemen Are Hired

Novato Fire Protection District directors last night hired two additional firemen, giving the department the manpower to start a shorter work week Jan. 1.

Fire Chief James Kidder explained the board previously had reduced the work week for firemen from 73 to 70 hours, effective Jan. 1, and this required two more men.

John Williams of San Anselmo and Curtis Richardson of Novato were hired at $690 a month, effective Tuesday. This will bring the department's manpower to 35, Kidder said.

District directors also contributed $400 to the Trash Bash cleanup campaign, authorized purchase of a resuscitator at a cost of about $400 and payment of $937 to Pacific Gas and Electric Co. for a chain link fence.

Giant Dividends

Bogus Bills In Corte Madera

Bogus $20 bills have been passed at four Corte Madera Center stores, police said today.

The counterfeit bills, which police judged to be of high quality have so far turned up at Grants, Woolworth's, Toy World and J.C. Penney's, officers said.

The bills are believed to be the product of a Miami, Fla., counterfeit ring which was raided in October by federal agents. The printing plates confiscated then appear to match the bills being passed in Corte Madera, police reported.

DeMartini Claims Arrest Because Of Union Status

I-J Special Report

FAIRFIELD — John J. DeMartini, vice president of San Francisco Typographical Union 21, testified today that he was arrested outside the Independent-Journal during the Valentine's Day riot because he was a union official, and not because he had disobeyed police orders to disperse.

DeMartini, one of seven defendants on trial in solano County Superior Court as a result of the Feb. 14 violence, said under cross-examination he was being stalked by several police officers because he was an officer of the union which has been on strike against the I-J since Jan. 7. DeMartini, who took the witness stand for the third day, was asked by Marin Deputy Dist. Atty. Joshua W. Thomas:

"Isn't it true that none of the other people in that area (in which DeMartini was standing) were arrested that day?"

"I was the only one who was an officer of the typographical union," DeMartini replied.

"Did you know Officer (Harold) Pennington (the arresting officer)?" Thomas asked.

"No. But Officer Pennington is now an inspector."

"Is it your testimony that it wasn't because you refused to leave that you were arrested, but because you were John DeMartini?"

"I don't see any other reason," DeMartini said.

The union official is charged with felony assault on a police officer, participating in a riot and with unlawful assembly growing out of a confrontation between demonstrators and police on Julia Street.

DeMartini, the firstdefense witness in the seven-week-old trial, disputed a policeman's claim earlier in the trial that he struck the officer during a struggle over a riot baton.

Pennington, a San Rafael police officer, had testified DeMartini on three occasions refused to obey his orders to disperse, and said DeMartini struck him on the head with the truncheon. Pennington also said DeMartini struck him with a knee and an elbow during the struggle.

Under questioning by his attorney, Carl B. Shapiro, DeMartini said he was prodded with police batons as he was attempting to follow orders to leave the scene of the Julia Street melee. The union official claimed he was "pretty well bruised up all over" and went to Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Rafael for treatment.

DeMartini said he snapped a picture of several offic ers as they moved toward him before the arrest. The policemen, he said, came at him ith "their hands over their heads carrying billy clubs."

DeMartini, who was forced to the ground, said theofficers were kicking him and hitting him with their batons.

He testified the film in his camera was destroyed by jailers after he was booked at the Marin County Hall of Justice.

Thomas probed DeMartini's and his union's role in the Feb. 14 demonstration, which erupted into violence. Windows were smashed, a delivery truck was set afire and seventeen persons were hurt when police and pickets clashed on Julia Street.

DeMartini said that despite being an official of the union in whose behalf the demonstration was conducted, neither he nor his union helped prepare the rally nor did he seek to find out how it would be conducted.

"Isn't it possible that you didn't want to be responsible for the actions that day and that you and your union could disclaim responsibility for anything that happened?" Thomas asked.

"We're only responsible for our own actions," DeMartini said, adding members of his union were advised they could attend the rally if they wished.

The union official said he had "every expectation it would be peaceful."

DeMartini described picketing during most of the morning as being "as peaceful as a Sunday picnic" and said he didn't regard the window smashing and vandalism as "violence."

"Did you observe anyone come in or out of the Independent-Journal building that day?" Thomas asked.

"No," DeMartini said.

The defendant disclaimed knowledge of a plan to prevent the I-J from doing business Feb. 14.

Nursing Homes Threat To Reject Medi-Cal Patients

Marin convalescent hospitals today threatened to turn away Medi-Cal patients after Feb. 1 if proposed new rates are approved.

Furthermore, the local nursing homes, at that time, will begin billing the state at the higher rate it charges private patients, said Timothy J. egan, president of the Marin Nursing Home Association.

Egan appeared today on KTIM's "Marin Sounding Board" with William Slocum, administrator of the Marin Convalescent and Rehabilitation Hospital; Dr. Frederick J. Hass, general practitioner; and D. Jerome Hansen, nursing home specialist for the state Department of Health Care Services.

Hansen reported that the state arrived at the new rate from data supplied by nursing homes.

The state is collecting a list of homes that will continue to care for Medi-Cal patients should some refuse to take them.

Hansen's department has proposed a cutback from $14 a day per Medi-Cal patient to $13.54 effective Feb. 1 and cuts ranging from 46 cents to $1.46 retroactive to 1966. Egan said the state will want back $3,800 a bed.

Slocum said an additional across-the-board cutback of 10 per cent recently announced would leave nursing homes a maximum of $11.29 per day until Feb. 1 if the proposed rates are accepted after public hearings in Sacramento Dec. 15-16.

After Feb. 1, the rate would rise to $12.19. This, Slocum said, is 25 cents an hour less than a baby sitter is paid.

Gnoss Field Burglary Charge Out

A charge of burglary stemming from the $250,000 fire Oct. 12 at Gnoss Field against Wayne Armstrong, 19, of Santa Rosa, was dismissed yesterday inMarin Municipal Court.

Deputy Dist. Atty. John R. Thomas said there was no evidence to link Armstrong with the arson and insufficient evidence to charge him with burglary.

The youth was turned over to Sonoma County officials where he is serving a one-year jail term on another charge.

Officers have said that Nance and other youths went to the airport to steal gasoline. Upon discovering they had to go inside a building to release a lock on a gas pump, they reportedly stole a tape recorder and radio and then set the building on fire to cover fingerprints.

Two other youths suspected of taking part are still being held in Sonoma County on other charges.

Arrest Made In Pot Probe

Blake Hall Bowen, 25, of 923 Church Street, San Francisco, was arrested by Novato police today on suspicion of possession of marijuana after an officer spotted him driving without tail lights.

Police said Bowen's car was stopped along northbound Highway 101, north of Olive Street at 3:23 a.m. and a cellophane bag containing what appeared to be marijuana was sighted in a car door pocket. A search revealed that Bowen had three hand-rolled cigarettes, apparently marijuana, in his coat pocket, police reported.

Bowen was booked at Marin County Jail and on order of Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. held without bail until his appearance in municipal court today.

Kidnapped Envoy Says He's Safe

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI)—Swiss Ambassador Giovanni Enrio Bucher, 57, sent word Wednesday he is alive and well in the hands of kidnapers who seized him and shot his bodyguard on the way to work Monday.

"I am in good condition and well treated," Bucher said in a letter to the Swiss Embassy.

The letter arrived a few hours after Brazil asked the kidnapers to provide a list of terrorists they want released in exchange for Bucher's safe return and prove he is alive by providing a statement in his own writing.

Cheaper Quarantine Signs Due

The Bolinas Community Public Utility District board last night decided to replace 11 signs warning of a quarantine of Bolinas Lagoon with less expensive signs.

Clerk Jane Boyer said all but one of the original waterproof signs, which cost about $50 each, have been damaged or destroyed by vandals.

They will be replaced by new signs of a less expensive material, she said. The signs warn that the lagoon and part of Bolinas Beach are hazardous because of recent outbreaks of hepatitis.

The Bolinas Community Public Utility District board also:

MAINTENANCE — Hired Stephen C. DuVall, of Cherry Drive, Bolinas, as part-time maintenance man for the district at $4 an hour. DuVall replaces Edward Genazzi, who succumbed to a heart attack last week.

SPRINKLERS — Voted to call for bids for a sprinkling system to fireproof the building which houses the utility district office at 270 Elm Road.

RAIN GEAR proved the purchase of $60 worth of foul weather clothing, including boots, trousers and slickers, for the district's two outdoor maintenance men.

Drug Raid Nets Six; Court Hearing Set

Drug agents who raided a communal type residence last night in Santa Venetia near the Civic Center arrested six young persons and confiscated material suspected to be peyote, LSD, hashish and marijuana.

Those booked into Marin County Jail, their charges and bail are:

Kevin Sumner Orr, 20, of Lagunitas Road, Ross, possession of LSD, possession of petyote and marijuana for sale, $2,000; Karen Louise Davey, 20, of 330 Los Cerros Drive, Greenbrae, possession of marijuana, $1,000; Sharman Linda McCanish, 20, of 1 Sierra Court, Tiburon, possession of marijuana, $1,000; John Russell Warne, 23, of 26 Madera Boulevard, Corte Madera, possession of peyote and marijuana for sale, $2,000; James Steven Preston, 20, of 88 Wellington Avenue, San Anselmo, possession of marijuana and peyote for sale, $2,000, and Timothy Patrick Yarish, 20, of 205 Scenic Road, Fairfax, possession of marijuana, $1,000.

Drug agents said they obtained a search warrant for the house at 293 San Pedro Road after an informant told them he had seen drugs there.

The agents said they found a peyote plant in the freezer, $2,000 worth of hashish, three or four kilos of pot, 12 tabs of LSD and 19 lids of pot. In addition, they seized $2,000 which Orr had in his pocket.

Although none of those arrested claimed the San Pedro Road address, the agents said they believed all lived there.

Bail was posted by all six and they are to appear in Marin Municipal Court tomorrow.

61-Year-Old Booked On Pot

A 61-year-old San Anselmo man was arrested yesterday on suspicion of possesion of marijuana on a tip to police that he was lounging in his living room smoking what appeared to be pot.

Officers said John Edward Windrick of 235 Butterfield Road was arrested at about 8 p.m. when officers observed a bag of green vegetable matter protruding from a coat pocket.

Windrick was booked into Marin County Jail and later released on his own recognizance to appear today in Marin-Municipal Court.

Two More Firemen Are Hired

Novato Fire Protection District directors last night hired two additional firemen, giving the department the manpower to start a shorter work week Jan. 1.

Fire Chief James Kidder explained the board previously had reduced the work week for firemen from 73 to 70 hours, effective Jan. 1, and this required two more men.

John Williams of San Anselmo and Curtis Richardson of Novato were hired at $690 a month, effective Tuesday. This will bring the department's manpower to 35, Kidder said.

District directors also contributed $400 to the Trash Bash cleanup campaign, authorized purchase of a resuscitator at a cost of about $400 and payment of $937 to Pacific Gas and Electric Co. for a chain link fence.

Bogus Bills In Corte Madera

Bogus $20 bills have been passed at four Corte Madera Center stores, police said today.

The counterfeit bills, which police judged to be of high quality have so far turned up at Grants, Woolworth's, Toy World and J.C. Penney's, officers said.

The bills are believed to be the product of a Miami, Fla., counterfeit ring which was raided in October by federal agents. The printing plates confiscated then appear to match the bills being passed in Corte Madera, police reported.

Attorney Pleads Innocent To Four Felony Charges

By MARY LEYDECKER

Sausalito attorney Michael Henry Metzger, 33, former federal prosecutor in San Francisco, entered innocent pleas in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to four felony charges and one misdemeanor stemming from a raid on his home Sunday night.

Earlier in the day, Metzger claimed through his attorney, Patrick Hallinan, that the charges resulted from his demand in a San Mateo County case that a state narcotics officer be required to undergo a lie detector case.

He has accused agent Gerrit Van Raam of being "blatantly perjurious" in a case which involves Gerald John Lepinski, 26, of Sausalito, and a San Diego woman.

Metzger said that after he wrote a letter to the State Bureau of Narcotic Enforcement asking that agent Van Raam subject himself to a polygraph examination, "the state responded. . .by entering my house, searching the same and placing me under arrest. . ."

Police and agents who went to Metzger's luxurious three-story house which featured a top-level swimming pool and a sauna bath, said they found a safe hidden under lumber in the garage.

In the safe they said they found LSD, cocaine, marijuana, hashish and $5,440 in cash.

They also confiscated a tear gas cannister found in a bedroom drawer.

The agents said they found no possessions indicating that anyone other than Metzger lives in the house.

Metzger also claimed yesterday that he is being harrassed by narcotics agents because he has "handled a large num- of narcotics cases" in an "aggressive" and ,'imaginative manner."

Metzger left the U.S. attorney's staff in 1969 after he unsuccessfully prosecuted entertainment tycoon and restaurant owner Frank N. Werber on a charge of conspiring to import marijuana.

Upon his resignation he went into law practice in San Francisco with Werber's defense attorney, Daniel Weinstein.

Before joining the U.S. attorney's staff, Metzger had been on the staff of New York Dist. Atty. Frank Hogan, where he was assigned tc the rackets bureau.

Yesterday in court a preliminary hearing was set for 2 p.m. Dec. 22.

A representative of the district attorney's office, which has been plagued in recent weeks with lack of a chemist to analyze drugs, said that the contraband seized at Metzger's house has already been analyzed and "is the real stuff.."

ATTORNEY IN TROUBLE — Michael Henry Metzger of Sausalito awaits his moment in court. A former deputy U.S. Attorney, accustomed to prosecuting narcotics law violators, he was in Marin Hall of Justice yesterday to face charges himself.

He is charged with felony possession of LSD, marijuana, cocaine and a tear gas weapon as well as a misdemeanor count of having a device for smoking pot.

It was also indicated that the informant who led to the search warrant being issued is willing to testify in the case. The unnamed informant, who also led to the confiscation of a barge-load of marijuana in Southern California, had said that he had seen Metzger use marijuana on three occasions and offer it and other drugs to guests.

Prison Beating Testimony Given

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — An art museum curator has told a federal court jury he was held and beaten with clubs by guards at the Santa Rita Prison farm when he told them he was a diabetic.

Wurster said the alleged beating occurred after he had been arrested during the People's Park demonstrations in Berkeley May 22, 1969.

Wurster said he was saved from his tormentors by a doctor who recognized he was a diabetic.

Peripheral Canal Hit By Biologist

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A marine biologist spoke out Wednesday against the California Water Project's plan to construct a peripheral canal to divert Sacramento River water around Northern California's Delta Area and send it to Southern California.

Dr. Joel W. Hedgpeth, Oregon State University professor of oceanography, was speaking on an American Geophysical Union panel when he made his objections.

Such a canal would damage the ecology of San Francisco Bay and the Delta Area by altering the area's chemical balance, its marine life and its salinith.

Only an unimpeded flow of water into the bay will reduce pollution, he declared, although state officials have said tidal action would do that work.

Hedgpeth was formerly director of the University of the Pacific's marine station at Dillon Beach in Marin County.

Successor To Bing At Met Announced

NEW YORK (UPI)—Goeran Gentele says he doesn't wants a life of peace. "You won't have it," promised Rudolph Bing, retiring general manager of New York's Metropolitan Opera.

Gentele, manager of the Royal Opera House in Stockholm, was picked Wednesday to succeed Bing in June, 1972. The Met had asked Bing to stay on after that but Bing, 68, declined and cited age as his reason.

"I like fighting. I don't like to have a life of peace," the 53-year-old Gentele told a news conference.

"Mr. Bing has given the Metropolitan Opera Association the most glorious successes in its history and set difficult standards for any successor to match," said George S. Moore, president of the Met's board of directors.

He said Gentele was picked from among 35 to 50 candidates for the post and "had been on the list from the start."

Moore noted the Stockholm opera is about the same size as the Met and said Gentele had shown he was capable of helping the Met. "reconcile the demands of its public, the critics, its artists and staff within the framework of its financial capabilities and potentialities."

Gentele, a tall blond accompanied by his attractive blonde wife, Marit Bergson, promised to complete the opera's Wagner cycle initiated by Bing and said he also hoped to present experimental opera at some of the smaller theaters in the Lincoln Center complex. "You have everything in these surroundings," he said.

"I think that opera is theater performance and that the theater point of view is as important as the musical point of view," Gentele said. "I am both administrator and director, but of course I look on myself as the artistical point of view which is the most important in my life."

Under Bing, the opera season was expanded from 18 weeks to a full year with 31 weeks at Lincoln Center, six weeks on tour and performances in parks for students.

Bing is noted for his impatience with temperamental singers. He has said he wanted "stars, not comets," and once canceled MariaCallas's contract when she failed to fulfill its terms.

Pollster's Views On Tunney Win

SAN FRANCISCO)—The California Poll today said voters in the November election apparently chose Senator-elect John Tunney over the incumbent George Murphy because of a "youth vs. age" charismatic difference between the two candidates.

Pollster Mervin D. Field said Tunney, who is 36, was seen as "a younger man with more youthful ideas." In a survey of factors behind voters' choices, Field said 41 per cent of those polled replied that youth was the difference in the U.S. Senate race. Murphy is 68.

Other reasons why voters supported Tunney, a Democrat, the poll indicated, were that he appeared to be "honest and sincere, they "liked his ideas," and the belief that "he was for the working people, not big business.

In the gubernatorial race, Field said the poll results indicated that Gov. Ronald Reagan, like every other successful Republican in recent California elections, was compelled to adopt a strategy appealin to a broad spectrum of voters. The Republican party is the minority party in the state.

When asked why they chose Reagan, most voters cited what they judged to be his qualifications, such as "he has done a good job", or "he is more capable and qualified." Field said many voters admired what they called Reagan's "honesty and sincerity."

Field said Reagan's appeal seemed to be what is defined as charismatic leadership, but Democratic candidate Jess Unruh's appeal was the antithesis of a charismatic leader.

The poll indicated that Unruh's appeal lay primarily in the positions and interests he represented.

Rec Panel Asks For Open Space Change

The Larkspur Park and Recreation Commission last night recommended the city's general plan be changed to include developer dedication of open space.

In making the recommendation, the commission asked that the planning commission begin public hearings on the proposed dedication requirements, Harlan Barry, recreation director said.

Barry said the amount of land to be deeded the city would vary with the size of subdivisions, but a subdivision to house 1,000 people would be required to dedicate four acres for park use.

Changing of the general plan would be the first stap towards a subdivision ordinance requiring such dedications, he said.

The Larkspur Park and Recreation Commission also:

BICYCLE PATHS — Heard a report that negotiations are still in progress with the Tiscornia estate for an easement along Magnolia Avenue between Doherty Drive and Bon Air Road for a bicycle path. The commission asked its staff to check legal and safety questions concerning a bike path on Doherty Drive.

Attorney Pleads Innocent To Four Felony Charges

By MARY LEYDECKER

Sausalito attorney Michael Henry Metzger, 33, former federal prosecutor in San Francisco, entered innocent pleas in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to four felony charges and one misdemeanor stemming from a raid on his home Sunday night.

Earlier in the day, Metzger claimed through his attorney, Patrick Hallinan, that the charges resulted from his demand in a San Mateo County case that a state narcotics officer be required to undergo a lie detector case.

He has accused agent Gerrit Van Raam of being "blatantly perjurious" in a case which involves Gerald John Lepinski, 26, of Sausalito, and a San Diego woman.

Metzger said that after he wrote a letter to the State Bureau of Narcotic Enforcement asking that agent Van Raam subject himself to a polygraph examination, "the state responded. . .by entering my house, searching the same and placing me under arrest. . ."

Police and agents who went to Metzger's luxurious three-story house which featured a top-level swimming pool and a sauna bath, said they found a safe hidden under lumber in the garage.

In the safe they said they found LSD, cocaine, marijuana, hashish and $5,440 in cash.

They also confiscated a tear gas cannister found in a bedroom drawer.

The agents said they found no possessions indicating that anyone other than Metzger lives in the house.

Metzger also claimed yesterday that he is being harrassed by narcotics agents because he has "handled a large num- of narcotics cases" in an "aggressive" and ,'imaginative manner."

Metzger left the U.S. attorney's staff in 1969 after he unsuccessfully prosecuted entertainment tycoon and restaurant owner Frank N. Werber on a charge of conspiring to import marijuana.

Upon his resignation he went into law practice in San Francisco with Werber's defense attorney, Daniel Weinstein.

Before joining the U.S. attorney's staff, Metzger had been on the staff of New York Dist. Atty. Frank Hogan, where he was assigned to the rackets bureau.

Yesterday in court a preliminary hearing was set for 2 p.m. Dec. 22.

A representative of the district attorney's office, which has been plagued in recent weeks with lack of a chemist to analyze drugs, said that the contraband seized at Metzger's house has already been analyzed and "is the real stuff..'

He is charged with felony possession of LSD, marijuana, cocaine and a tear gas weapon as well as a misdemeanor count of having a device for smoking pot.

It was also indicated that the informant who led to the search warrant being issued is willing to testify in the case. The unnamed informant, who also led to the confiscation of a bargeload of marijuana in Southern California, had said that he had seen Metzger use marijuana on three occasions and offer it and other drugs to guests.

Prison Beating Testimony Given

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — An art museum curator has told a federal court jury he was held and beaten with clubs by guards at the Santa Rita Prison farm when he told them he was a diabetic.

Wurster said the alleged beating occurred after he had been arrested during the People's Park demonstrations in Berkeley May 22, 1969.

Wurster said he was saved from his tormentors by a doctor who recognized he was a diabetic.

Twice nice.

But before you succumb to the charm of our Holiday decanter and bright gift wraps, we'd like to introduce the gallant white oak barrels that make it all possible.

These barrels, charred on the inside to precisely ⅛th of an inch, take our newly distilled "Young" Fitzgerald and school it in the art of greatness. Years later "Old" Fitzgerald emerges triumphant from its white oak school room—ready for the most discriminating consumers of fine Bourbon.

We tell you about our barrels, which are used (gulp!) just once*, for without them there would be no twice nice story to tell.

Peripheral Canal Hit By Biologist

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A marine biologist spoke out Wednesday against the California Water Project's plan to construct a peripheral canal to divert Sacramento River water around Northern California's Delta Area and send it to Southern California.

Dr. Joel W. Hedgpeth, Oregon State University professor of oceanography, was speaking on an American Geophysical Union panel when he made his objections.

Such a canal would damage the ecology of San Francisco Bay and the Delta Area by altering the area's chemical balance, its marine life and its salinith.

Only an unimpeded flow of water into the bay will reduce pollution, he declared, although state officials have said tidal action would do that work.

Hedgpeth was formerly director of the University of the Pacific's marine station at Dillon Beach in Marin County.

Successor To Bing At Met Announced

NEW YORK (UPI)—Goeran Gentele says he doesn't wants a life of peace. "You won't have it," promised Rudolph Bing, retiring general manager of New York's Metropolitan Opera.

Gentele, manager of the Royal Opera House in Stockholm, was picked Wednesday to succeed Bing in June, 1972. The Met had asked Bing to stay on after that but Bing, 68, declined and cited age as his reason.

"I like fighting. I don't like to have a life of peace," the 53-year-old Gentele told a news conference.

"Mr. Bing has given the Metropolitan Opera Association the most glorious successes in its history and set difficult standards for any successor to match," said George S. Moore, president of the Met's board of directors.

He said Gentele was picked from among 35 to 50 candidates for the post and "had been on the list from the start."

Moore noted the Stockholm opera is about the same size as the Met and said Gentele had shown he was capable of helping the Met. "reconcile the demands of its public, the critics, its artists and staff within the framework of its financial capabilities and potentialities."

Gentele, a tall blond accompanied by his attractive blonde wife, Marit Bergson, promised to complete the opera's Wagner cycle initiated by Bing and said he also hoped to present experimental opera at some of the smaller theaters in the Lincoln Center complex. "You have everything in these surroundings," he said.

"I think that opera is theater performance and that the theater point of view is as important as the musical point of view," Gentele said. "I am both administrator and director, but of course I look on myself as the artistical point of view which is the most important in my life."

Under Bing, the opera season was expanded from 18 weeks to a full year with 31 weeks at Lincoln Center, six weeks on tour and performances in parks for students.

Bing is noted for his impatience with temperamental singers. He has said he wanted "stars, not comets," and once canceled MariaCallas's contract when she failed to fulfill its terms.

Pollster's Views On Tunney Win

SAN FRANCISCO)—The California Poll today said voters in the November election apparently chose Senator-elect John Tunney over the incumbent George Murphy because of a "youth vs. age" charismatic difference between the two candidates.

Pollster Mervin D. Field said Tunney, who is 36, was seen as "a younger man with more youthful ideas." In a survey of factors behind voters' choices, Field said 41 per cent of those polled replied that youth was the difference in the U.S. Senate race. Murphy is 68.

Other reasons why voters supported Tunney, a Democrat, the poll indicated, were that he appeared to be "honest and sincere, they "liked his ideas," and the belief that "he was for the working people, not big business.

In the gubernatorial race, Field said the poll results indicated that Gov. Ronald Reagan, like every other successful Republican in recent California elections, was compelled to adopt a strategy appealin to a broad spectrum of voters. The Republican party is the minority party in the state.

When asked why they chose Reagan, most voters cited what they judged to be his qualifications, such as "he has done a good job", or "he is more capable and qualified." Field said many voters admired what they called Reagan's "honesty and sincerity."

Field said Reagan's appeal seemed to be what is defined as charismatic leadership, but Democratic candidate Jess Unruh's appeal was the antithesis of a charismatic leader.

The poll indicated that Unruh's appeal lay primarily in the positions and interests he represented.

Larkspur Uses Creek Building Rule

A newly drafted and controversial policy to limit construction along Corte Madera Creek has been used for the first time by the Larkspur Planning Commission.

First to feel the bite of the new policy was developer Neil Schultz Jr., who on Tuesday failed to receive architectural approval for a 20-unit apartment building at 1005 to 1025 South Eliseo Drive.

Ironically, an apartment project which spurred drafting of the controversial policy in September, received approval of its modified plan and was promptly challenged by Schultz.

Schultz would stretch a three-story building across two lots adjacent to the creek and block out the view of wooded slopes behind it, according to John W. Appleton, planning director.

Robert H. Lee, commission chairman, said yesterday Schultz's proposed building on consolidated lots would set a precedent which could leave the city with a "wall of buildings" along the creek.

"It is a question of open space along the creek," Lee said. Such buildings "would be inconsistent with the general design of the neighborhood."

The commission, shortly thereafter, approved developer John Moran's applications for architectural modification of his proposed apartment building and for boat docking facilities. However, the commission left open the number of docks Moran would be permitted pending further study by the commission's staff.

It was Moran's original request for architectural approval which brought a call from conservationists that building along the creek be carefully controlled if not prohibited.

Appleton said Moran was advised last night by Schultz to check his deed convenants after Moran's modifications won commission approval.

Moran purchased the land from Schultz and, presumably, modifications approved Tuesday will also have to be approved by the Shultz Building Co., since they may not conform to deed restrictions.

Warning Issued On Mugs: Contain Dangerous Lead

Some mugs sold by a San Rafael importer have been found to contain a dangerous amount of lead and should be returned, according to David Dom of Marin County Environmental Health.

The mugs should be returned to the retail store from which they were purchased or to Holt Howard Associates at 15 Lovell Avenue.

Irvine Duffin of the firm said that all the mugs have been picked up from stores, and the warning is to those who may have purchased them.

The mugs are smooth and red on the inside and have red, black and green flowers painted on the white outside surface. The bottom of the mugs are inscribed "HH Italy," Hom said.

Duffin said that only eight of the mugs tested had a dangerous amount of lead in them, but that all should be returned.

The state Department of Health is investigating the case further, Hom said. The mugs were distributed all over California, but apparently none of them to Marin County stores, Hom said.

FIREARM INJURIES

Last year about 1,100 people died from accidental firearm injuries outside the home, a 10 per cent increase over the previous year.

Soviets Reject Indochina Bid

LONDON (UPI) —Britain asked the Soviet Union to join it in reconvening the 1954 Indochina peace conference but the Soviets refused, Foreign Secretary Sir Alec Douglas-Home said Wednesday.

Douglas-Home told Parliament he made the proposal to Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko on his recent visit to London. He said Gromyko turned down the suggestion.

Britain and the Soviet Union are cochairmen of the 1954 Geneva Conference and could jointly recall it.

Tabby Will Be Well Provided

The Mill Valley Library Assocition has decided to pick up the tab for tabby.

The group's board voted last week to pay food and medical bills for Flower Bower Gower Champion, the library's famed cat-in-residence.

Flower appeared about three years ago and since has become a respected member of the staff. The last person to leave the library at night puts him out, and he's usually waiting at the door the next norming to be let in.

He isn't saying where he spends the nights, though.

Flower's living expenses used to be paid by the staff — everyone contributed to the kitty, so to speak.

But the library association — a group of private citizens and not a city agency — decided this was unfair and voted to pick up the tab, according to president Agnes Oman.

Twice nice.

Once nice: a beautiful bottle.
Twice nice: a magnificent Bourbon.
But before you succumb to the charm of our Holiday decanter and bright gift wraps, we'd like to introduce the gallant white oak barrels that make it all possible.

These barrels, charred on the inside to precisely 1/8th of an inch, take our newly distilled "Young" Fitzgerald and school it in the art of greatness. Years later "Old" Fitzgerald emerges triumphant from its white oak school room—ready for the most discriminating consumers of fine Bourbon.

We tell you about our barrels, which are used (gulp!) just once*, for without them there would be no twice nice story to tell.

Old Fitzgerald

*About our used barrels: we ship most of them to Scotland.

Larkspur Uses Creek Building Rule

A newly drafted and controversial policy to limit construction along Corte Madera Creek has been used for the first time by the Larkspur Planning Commission.

First to feel the bite of the new policy was developer Neil Schultz Jr., who on Tuesday failed to receive architectural approval for a 20-unit apartment building at 1005 to 1025 South Eliseo Drive.

Ironically, an apartment project which spurred drafting of the controversial policy in September, received approval of its modified plan and was promptly challenged by Schultz.

Schultz would stretch a three-story building across two lots adjacent to the creek and block out the view of wooded slopes behind it, according to John W. Appleton, planning director.

Robert H. Lee, commission chairman, said yesterday Schultz's proposed building on consolidated lots would set a precedent which could leave the city with a "wall of buildings" along the creek.

"It is a question of open space along the creek," Lee said. Such buildings "would be inconsistent with the general design of the neighborhood."

The commission, shortly thereafter, approved developer John Moran's applications for architectural modification of his proposed apartment building and for boat docking facilities. However, the commission left open the number of docks Moran would be permitted pending further study by the commission's staff.

It was Moran's original request for architectural approval which brought a call from conservationists that building along the creek be carefully controlled if not prohibited.

Appleton said Moran was advised last night by Schultz to check his deed convenants after Moran's modifications won commission approval.

Moran purchased the land from Schultz and, presumably, modifications approved Tuesday will also have to be approved by the Shultz Building Co., since they may not conform to deed restrictions.

Warning Issued On Mugs: Contain Dangerous Lead

Some mugs sold by a San Rafael importer have been found to contain a dangerous amount of lead and should be returned, according to David Dom of Marin County Environmental Health.

The mugs should be returned to the retail store from which they were purchased or to Holt Howard Associates at 15 Lovell Avenue.

Irvine Duffin of the firm said that all the mugs have been picked up from stores, and the warning is to those who may have purchased them.

The mugs are smooth and red on the inside and have red, black and green flowers painted on the white outside surface. The bottom of the mugs are inscribed "HH Italy," Hom said.

Duffin said that only eight of the mugs tested had a dangerous amount of lead in them, but that all should be returned.

The state Department of Health is investigating the case further, Hom said. The mugs were distributed all over California, but apparently none of them to Marin County stores, Hom said.

FIREARM INJURIES

Last year about 1,100 people died from accidental firearm injuries outside the home, a 10 per cent increase over the previous year.

Soviets Reject Indochina Bid

LONDON (UPI) —Britain asked the Soviet Union to join it in reconvening the 1954 Indochina peace conference but the Soviets refused, Foreign Secretary Sir Alec Douglas-Home said Wednesday.

Douglas-Home told Parliament he made the proposal to Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko on his recent visit to London. He said Gromyko turned down the suggestion.

Britain and the Soviet Union are cochairmen of the 1954 Geneva Conference and could jointly recall it.

Man To Appear In Burglary

A 22-year-old San Anselmo man, wanted in connection with the burglary of a San Rafael home, was arrested at 7 p.m. yesterday on Fourth Street, San Rafael.

William Fredrick O'Bayley of 1520 San Anselmo Avenue, was booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of burglary. He was released on $1,000 bail to appear tomorrow in Marin Municipal Court.

He was wanted in connection with the burglary Nov. 11 of $200 in jewelry from the home of Marion Francis Clark of 117 Rafael Drive, police reported.

Speakers' List For Courthouse Future

Ten speakers will discuss how to use San Rafael's Courthouse Square to revitalize the downtown business district, in a public meeting at 9 a.m. tomorrow in the council chambers of San Rafael City Hall.

A city official, property owners, merchants, an architect and San Rafael Chamber of Commerce officials will speak. The meeting is sponsored by the chamber.

James McCown, city manager, will discuss current plans for additional parking, and "the business climate in downtown San Fafael."

Merchant Stanley Goldsmith will talk on "types of quality business firms that should be encouraged to locate here."

Other speakers will include:

Property owner Sigfried K. Herzog Jr. on "the part of the property owner in rebuilding donton;" Larry P. Biancalana of Pacific Gas and Electric Co. and outgoing chamber president, on the chamber's role in rebuilding downtown; Clifford S. Lund of the Blue Ribbon Courthouse Committee on "the importance of a healthy downtown to citizens of San Rafael;"

Architect Robert F. Severin on "how to make downtown San Rafael attractive to the woman shopper;" Paul R. Ciampi chamber president-elect, on "the county's obligation in helping to get 'Mission Square' started;" Merchant Irving D. Chapman on "the merchant's part in rebuilding downtown;" George T. Lawrence, manager of Bros, on "future plans of Lachman Brothers and Woolworth's," and Steven Leonesio, manager of Macy's on "Macy's plans for their downtown San Rafael store."

Robert A. Roumiguiere will preside at the meeting. He said persons with other ideas for development of the square would be encouraged to give their views.

Marin College Concert On Tap

The College of Marin Community Orchestra ill present its first concert Sunday at 8 p.m. at the college's Fine Arts Theater.

Sophomore Robert B. Smith will be the soloist in Mozart's "Piano Concerto No. 14 in E Flat Major."

The orchestra under the direction of John H. Myers is also scheduled to perform Brahms' "Symphony No. 2 in D Major," Rossini's "Il Bruschino Overture" and "Suite Provencale" by Darius Milhaud.

Tabby Will Be Well Provided

The group's board voted last week to pay food and medical bills for Flower Bower Gower Champion, the library's famed cat-in-residence.

Flower appeared about three years ago and since has become a respected member of the staff. The last person to leave the library at night puts him out, and he's usually waiting at the door the next norming to be let in.

He isn't saying where he spends the nights, though.

Flower's living expenses used to be paid by the staff — everyone contributed to the kitty, so to speak.

But the library association — a group of private citizens and not a city agency — decided this was unfair and voted to pick up the tab, according to president Agnes Oman.

Bids Called For Highway 101 Widening At Richardson Bay

The California Division of Highways has called for bids for a project to widen about one mile of Highway 101 on and near the Richardson Bay Bridge.

The highway will be widened from six to eight lanes. A total of $4.3 million is available for the project, the division of highways reported, and bids will be opened Jan. 27 in Sacramento.

A two-mile segment between the Richardson Bay Bridge project and Spencer Avenue in Sausalito will be widened from six to eight lanes in the near future, the division said.

Other Marin highway projects being worked on by the division of highways include installation of guardrail at various locations in and near Novato between 2.5 miles south and 6.4 east of the junction of highways 101 and 37. Bids should be called for early next year, according to the division of highways, and cost of the project is estimated at $44,000.

Design is nearing completion for a project to remove slide material and restore cut slope on a fifth-of-amile long section of Highway 101 immediately north of the Corte Madera Creek Bridge. Cost of the project is estimated at $204,000.

Another $110,000 has been budgeted for a project three-tenths of a mile north of Corte Madera Creek Bridge. Bids will be called for in early 1971 for the project to correct slide and slipout, restore the slope and build a retaining wall.

Another 1971 project will be the construction of a ramp and frontage road on the west side of Highway 101 between San Pedro Road and the Forbes overpass near San Rafael. Estimated cost of the project is nearly $100,000.

On Shoreline Highway, the division said, bids should be called for early next year for a $66,000 slide repair project three-tenths of a mile south of Stinson Beach and another $200,000 slide repair project on a mile-long section near Marshall.

Employees Pick New Officers

Henry W. Ingwersen of the San Rafael police department, has been elected president of the San Rafael City Employees Association.

Others new officers are: Donald L. Woford of the fire department, vice president; Jane D. Hansen of the city treasurer department, secretary and Vivian C. Byers of the finance department, treasurer.

The officers will be installed at a dinner on Jan. 23, the time and place to be announced later.

Youth Asks $10 For Lost Knife

A $10 claim has been filed against Marin County by a Redwood High School student, who said his pocket knife was taken from him at the entrance to the Marin Civic Center and never returned.

Robert Heirle, 17, of 20 Monte Vista Avenue, Larkspur, said he came to the Civic Center on Nov. 23 to return some library books. A Swiss army knife which he carried was held at the entrance desk. When he returned to claim the knife, it was gone.

"The deputy reported to me that he had earlier given my knife to a person whom I do not kno.,' said the youth. The knife was sent to him from Switzerland by his brother.

ties at the entrances have been issuing claim checks to owners of knives and other weapons held at the entrance desk.

Meeting Changed

The regular meeting of the Marin Economic Opportunity Council's Southern Marin Target Area board, originally scheduled for Dec. 21, has been changed to Dec. 14 because of the holidays, according to Chairman Frank Phillips Sr.

Bids Called For Highway 101 Widening At Richardson Bay

The California Division of Highways has called for bids for a project to widen about one mile of Highway 101 on and near the Richardson Bay Bridge.

The highway will be widened from six to eight lanes. A total of $4.3 million is available for the project, the division of highways reported, and bids will be opened Jan. 27 in Sacramento.

A two-mile segment between the Richardson Bay Bridge project and Spencer Avenue in Sausalito will be widened from six to eight lanes in the near future, the division said.

Other Marin highway projects being worked on by the division of highways include installation of guardrail at various locations in and near Novato between 2.5 miles south and 6.4 east of the junction of highways 101 and 37. Bids should be called for early next year, according to the division of highways, and cost of the project is estimated at $44.000.

Design is nearing completion for a project to remove slide material and restore cut slope on a fifth-of-amile long section of Highway 101 immediately north of the Corte Madera Creek Bridge. Cost of the project is estimated at $204,000.

Another $110,000 has been budgeted for a project three-tenths of a mile north of Corte Madera Creek Bridge. Bids will be called for in early 1971 for the project to correct slide and slipout, restore the slope and build a retaining wall.

Another 1971 project will be the construction of a ramp and frontage road on the west side of Highway 101 between San Pedro Road and the Forbes overpass near San Rafael. Estimated cost of the project is nearly $100,000.

On Shoreline Highway, the division said, bids should be called for early next year for a $66,000 slide repair project three-tenths of a mile south of Stinson Beach and another $200,000 slide repair project on a mile-long section near Marshall.

The officers will be installed at a dinner on Jan. 23, the time and place to be announced later.

Youth Asks $10 For Lost Knife

A $10 claim has been filed against Marin County by a Redwood High School student, who said his pocket knife was taken from him at the entrance to the Marin Civic Center and never returned.

Robert Heirle, 17, of 20 Monte Vista Avenue, Larkspur, said he came to the Civic Center on Nov. 23 to return some library books. A Swiss army knife which he carried was held at the entrance desk. When he returned to claim the knife, it was gone.

"The deputy reported to me that he had earlier given my knife to a person whom I do not kno.,' said the youth. The knife was sent to him from Switzerland by his brother.

ties at the entrances have been issuing claim checks to owners of knives and other weapons held at the entrance desk.

History Of Drugs Book For Laymen

By HELEN THOMAS

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Helen of Troy's formula for spiking cocktails with ancient drugs and the story of tranquilizers are told in a book by a new Washington woman author.

She is Viennese-born Dr. Anne E. Cauldwell of the National Library of Medicine at Bethesda, Md., whose opus "Origins of Psychopharmacology from CPZ (chloropromazine) to LSD" has just hit the stands.

It's medical non-fiction that the layman can understand and traces the history of drugs back to the time of Homer.

DR. CALDWELL said she wrote the book "because it was necessary."

She was inspired when her private research at the library showed that French surgeon Henri Laborit created CPZ—the starter of all the tranquilizer drugs so widely used in the 50's and 60's—while other medical colleagues were given the credit.

She says she learned a lot about "medical politics" and became deeply intrigued by the fact that Laborit synthesized the original drug by design in December, 1950, at Val de Grace Hospital because it was needed to alleviate anxiety, agitation and stress.

Since then the drug has revolutionized the care and treatment of psychiatric patients in mental hospitals.

DR. CAULDWELL, a tall, attractive brunette, said she tried for three years "to get someone else" to write the book.

"I also lost three boyfriends," she added with a smile. "But maybe they were not worth it. They could not understand the time it took and my commitment."

She found also that the life of an author is not easy. "I learned my friends could live without me," she said ruefully.

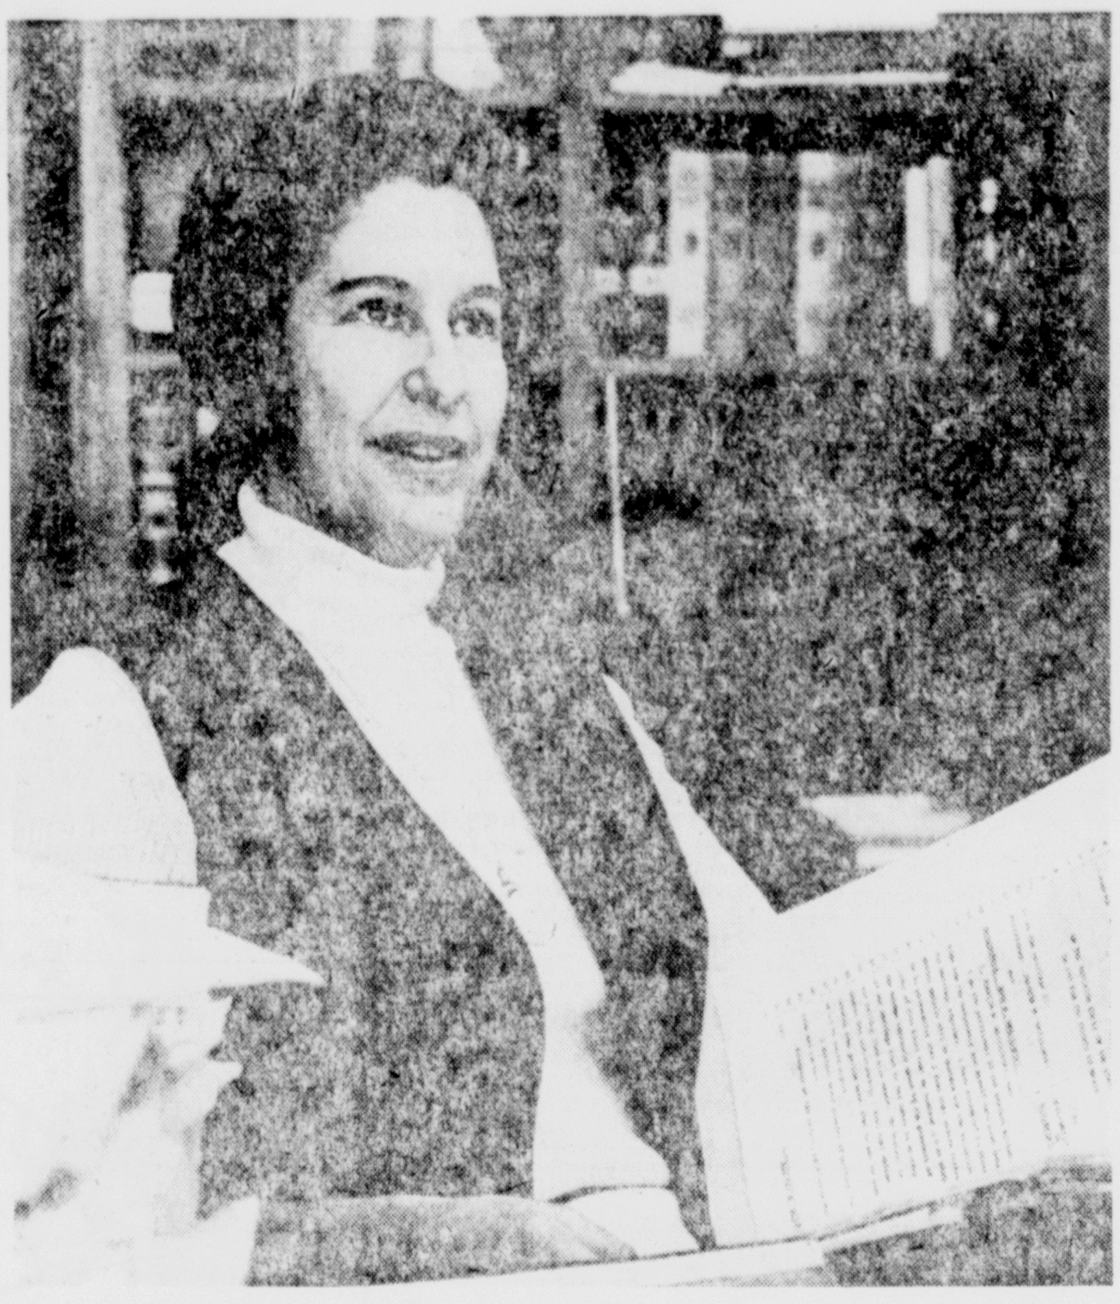
She admits her first love is playing the cello. Like many Austrians, Dr. Cauldwell's background is rich in medicine and music. She received her medical degree at the University of Berlin in those days that were portrayed in "I am a Camera."

SHE EMIGRATED to the United States in the late 1930s and became assistant principal celist in the Dallas Symphony Orchestra.

Her talented daughter, Gisela Cauldwell, in her early 20's, is an aspiring actress who has performed in plays off Broadway, in summer stock and in Montreal where she studied at the National Theatre School. She is now in the theater in New York.

Dr. Cauldwell has always made her way in a man's world but she is all for the women's liberation movement—and believes equality should be achieved without a loss of femininity.

Now, she says, her writing days are over. But her medical friends who have heralded her work are telling her that it should be just beginning.



DOROTHY YOUNG, Novato's only woman attorney, was an ice skater appearing with the Sonja Henie Ice Revue when she decided to become a legal secretary. Then while working as a legal secretary she decided she wanted to be an attorney. Specializing in probate, divorce and accident cases, ..she recently defended her husband, who is in the land investment business, in a real estate case. Although she won the case, she says. "Never again."

Ex-Professional Ice Skater Practices Law In Novato

By DOROTHY NEWELL

A former professional ice skater, Dorothy P. Young, is Novato's only woman attorney.

Mrs. Raymond Young was a professional ice skater with the Sonja Henie Ice Revue when she decided to become a legal secretary — working in law offices during the day and skating at night as she toured the country.

It was while she was working as a legal secretary "for a tall, handsome attorney," who she thought was making a great deal of money, that she decided she wanted to become an attorney.

"I gave myself a year and a half to either get married or go to law school," she said.

She had received an A. A. degree at Long Beach City College and had attended the University of California at Los Angeles for one and one-half years.

"It took me a long time to get my law degree (five years) as I worked during the day and went to night school," she said. She attended Loyola College in Los Angeles three years and Lincoln Law School in San Francisco two years.

Sitting in her Novato law office, wearing a mini skirt and a midi vest, she talked about meeting her husband, who is in land investment at Copper Cove near Sonora, and about her daughter, Tiffany Rae, 7 years old, who she calls "the love of my life."

WHILE ATTENDING law school, she occasionally went to Sutro's Ice Skating Rink in San Francisco. On one occasion she met her husband.

Laughingly she said, "The old maid met the bachelor" and within the year they were married.

They have been married 11 years and she said."Our daughter was born on our fourth anniversary and our cat, now 10 years old, was born on our first anniversary."

More seriously, she said, "I like to keep my daughter busy. I believe in a full year of school, not such a long vacation." And she keeps her daughter busy with piano lessons, Girl Scouts, dancing, horse back riding and ice skating. Tiffany was 15 months old when she first ice skated.

THE YOUNG'S moved to Novato two years ago, and Dorothy said when she first saw Novato she wanted to stay here forever.

They live in Domingo Canyon where there are many youngsters for her daughter to be with and the Youngs have become involved with the Domingo Canyon Homeowners Association, which Mrs. Young is serving as president.

She is also a member of the Novato Business and Professional Women's Club, Marin Federation Republican Women, Novato Newcomers Club, Women's Association of Marin Country Club, North Marin Federated Homeowners Association, Novato Chamber of Commerce, is a room mother for her daughter's class at Loma Verde School and is a member of the Queen's Bench, an organization for women lawyers.

This active woman's hobbies include golf, skiing, sewing, bridge, tennis, ice skating and body surfing.

SHE SAID body-surfing at Stinson Beach usually causes quite a bit of curiosity.

"In my old age," she said, "I use a huge muslin pillow case that I dampen, fill with air and tie at the ends, then ride in on the breakers."

One year ago, following 10 years of practice in San Francisco, Dorothy Young opened her law office in Novato specializing in probate, divorces and accident cases.

She finds that as many men come to her because she is a woman attorney as not, particularly in domestic relations cases.

"With the new divorce laws, there has been many more dissolutions of marriage, "she said. "The new law is particularly hard on the woman who has been married for perhaps 25 to 30 years, is 55 years old, had no profession or career and must stillwait 10 years to receive social security."

Three weeks ago, Mrs. Young had one of her most difficult cases. She defended her husband in a two-day trial in a real estate case. She said, "never again" referring to defending her husband against three other attorneys on the case. She agreed it compared to a wife taking driving lessons from her husband — too many suggestions. She added, with pride, however, that she won the case.

Musician To Wed In Vienna Following Tour Of Europe

By Molly Marin

Mrs. Beatrice L. Duke of Marin City has received news that her son, George M. Duke, and Corine Ann Salango, both of San Francisco, will be married next Thursday in Vienna, Austria.

George, whose father is Thaddeus K. Duke of Los Angeles, was graduated from Tamalpais High School and the San Francisco Conservatory of Music with a bachelor of music degree and holds a master's degree in composition from San Francisco State College. He is a part-time instructor at the conservatory and has his own studio in San Francisco.

A member of the American Society of Authors, Lecturers, Composers and Recording Artists, he is conductor and composer for the Third Wave and has his own music publishing company, "Micenea."

At present George is on a tour in Europe with top rock musicians Frank Zappa and Jean Luc Ponty. It will end on Monday in Vienna.

Corine, who is the daughter of Mrs. Pauline Macale of San Francisco and Valentino Salango of Oakland, was graduated from St. Vincent's School in San Francisco. She is now in Europe for some sight-seeing before the couple's marriage.

They expect to return later this month to a home George has built in San Francisco, and his mother is planning a reception for the newlyweds to be held on Jan. 10 at the Manzanita Center in Marin City.

NEW ZEALAND'S first full-time female zoo keeper, Susan Senser, was wed to Gerald M. Wier on Nov. 14 at St. Joachim's Church in Wellington, New Zealand.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lisle Senser of San Rafael, Susan met Gerald in August of 1969 aboard ship on her way to run the children's zoo in Wellington. He is the son of Mrs. Robert Wier of Denver, Colo., and the late Mr. Wier.

Following a wedding trip on New Zealand's South Island, the couple will go to South Africa.

Susan also ran the zoo's hospital in Wellington and participated in conservation projects. She will study the "big cats" in Africa, according to Mrs. Wier.

Susan was graduated from the University of California at Davis, and Gerald is a graduate of Western State College in Gunnison, Colo.

COCKTAIL PARTIES preceding the Sausalito Yacht Club's dinner-dance Saturday night will be held in the homes of Messr. and Mmes. Carl Lischeske, Van Sargent, Mark Egan and retiring commodore Barry C. Hibben. He will be host to his outgoing officers and directors and incoming officers and directors for 1971.

MRS. E. W. Crane of Novato celebrated her 90th birthday on Monday. Her daughter, Mrs. John Carter Jr., invited a number of her mother's friends in for fruit punch in the late afternoon.

Earlier in the day, at the Novato Senior Citizens meeting, the group sang "Happy Birthday" to her. At the Dec. 21 senior citizens Christmas party a birthday cake will be served honoring Mrs. Crane, John Sinclair, who will be 90 on Christmas Eve, and Mrs. Katherine Griffin who is 91, Mrs. George Hinnekamp, president of the Novato chapter, said.

Last Friday, at the Novato Chapter, PEO meeting, Mrs. Crane, a member, was honored when members had a birthday cake for her with 90 candles on it. She was also given a PEO recognition pin.

IT WAS a family reunion at the Royal Hawaiian Hotel in Honolulu for Mrs. Anita Strom and her family over Thanksgiving. Her daughter, Wendy Strom, who is a stewardess with Pan American based in New York, arrived to join Mrs. Strom and another daughter, Mrs. James Sullivan, who is living in Hawaii while her husband is stationed in Vietnam. Also joining them was Lieutenant Sullivan from Saigon and Mrs. Strom's son, Peter, from Reno. He attends the University of Nevada.

Women Should Leave Football To The Men

NEW YORK (UPI) — There's more than meets the eye on the television tube or the actual playing field in the national popularity of the athlete-hero. Particularly, the football hero.

A veteran researcher into what makes people tick mentally and emotionally says popularity of football in particular reveals something more than mere relaxation. The implications are deeper. At the same time, he calls it a game women should leave strictly to the men.

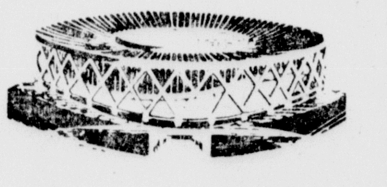
DR. ERNEST Dichter, head of the Institute for Motivational Research, Inc., Croton-on-Hudson, N. Y., says that in the "context of our current society, football's particular popularity reflects a number of newer frustrations, goals and ambitions of the typical spectator.

Dichter, consultant to numbers of ousinesses and industries, estimates that 50 to 75 million persons watch on the home screen or atttend football games each given fall weekend.

Why? In his current newsletter, he breaks reasons down into four major categories.

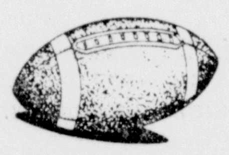
—One. The violence in today's society. Dichter says the riots, the student uprisings, the bombings and revolutionary deeds, the crime in the streets are highly frustrating to the typical citizen. They represent chaos without control . . . flaunting of law and rules.

BY CONTRAST, the clean hard violence of football is refreshing and reassuring . . . done according to rules. The referee's whistle is obeyed. The penalties for infractions are promptly and resolutely stepped off against the offenders. Everything is "neatly and firmly controlled."



—Two. "Encounter group" therapy. Dichter says that "even in the isolation of the television in the living room, there is a strong in-group feeling on the part of the spectator. He is a member of the fan group and as a result, "his response to the progress of the game takes on an unconscious crowd behavior."

In the real crowd, however, he goes much further than his television reaction of talking out loud, slapping his thighs, swearing, cheering. In the stadium, there is actual "encounter" with the spectators near him, perhaps even to slapping the spectator on the back when "our" team scores. Dichter calls this group encounter therapy which cleanses and purges pent-up emotions.



—Three. 5he reassurance of masculinity. Dichter says that in today's society the ordinary male has fewer opportunities to "prove" he is a man. Identification with football, even as a living room watcher, helps revive the basic drives of the strong, assertive male animal.

THE MOTIVATIONAL researcher says women should stay away from football (fie on thee, Dr. Dichter) for the sport is exclusively masculine and men resent women horning in on "their" program. To bolster this special right, men alone become the "experts", knowing the fine points of the game, the special abilities of certain key players.

—Four. The Spartan syndrome. This is especially important to spectators today who see a world gone soft and fat with affluence, populated by young men who wear hair "like girls" and who scoff at athletes as "tools" of professionalism.

The true football fan sees his heroes as "respected, clean living, fair-minded, team-spirited young men who typify the way they feel men should live and behave."

Don't Force Drinks On Drivers

NEW YORK (UPI) —Holiday hospitality and social drinking are part of the Christmas season. Not coincidentally, so is more than the usual number of traffic accidents and fatalities.

What can a party host or hostess do who does not want to contribute to an accident caused by the slowed reflexes, blurred vision or impaired judgment of one of his guests?

"First a friend, then a host" is the slogan offered by Dr. Frederick J. Newirth, medical director of Fireman's Fund American Life Insurance Co. And the accent is on: "First a friend."

For the host who wants to be a friend, Newirth has these suggestions:

—Use the one-for-one plan.

Giving is a gift

. . . and with clothes it's also an art. Which is why we go to unusual lengths to make a gift a Christmas adventure for your special "her." First, our selection of suits, pants, blouses, sweaters, negligees, even handbags, is chosen for someone with taste and a very keen eye for style and quality. That's very apparent. But we add something not on the racks or in the price: our very personal attention and sixth sense for knowing what is "right" for her in size, color and style. It makes a world of difference. It makes your gift something she'll adore . . . from someone she'll remember. Tied with a Christmas bow.

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Helen of Troy's formula for spiking cocktails with ancient drugs and the story of tranquilizers are told in a book by a new Washington woman author.

She is Viennese-born Dr. Anne E. Cauldwell of the National Library of Medicine at Bethesda, Md., whose opus "Origins of Psychopharmacology from CPZ (chloropromazine) to LSD" has just hit the stands.

It's medical non-fiction that the layman can understand and traces the history of drugs back to the time of Homer.

DR. CALDWELL said she wrote the book "because it was necessary."

She was inspired when her private research at the library showed that French surgeon Henri Laborit created CPZ—the starter of all the tranquilizer drugs so widely used in the 50's and 60's—while other medical colleagues were given the credit.

She says she learned a lot about "medical politics" and became deeply intrigued by the fact that Laborit synthesized the original drug by design in December, 1950, at Val de Grace Hospital because it was needed to alleviate anxiety, agitation and stress.

Since then the drug has revolutionized the care and treatment of psychiatric patients in mental hospitals.

DR. CAULDWELL, a tall, attractive brunette, said she tried for three years "to get someone else" to write the book.

"I also lost three boyfriends," she added with a smile. "But maybe they were not worth it. They could not understand the time it took and my commitment."

She found also that the life of an author is not easy. "I learned my friends could live without me," she said ruefully.

She admits her first love is playing the cello. Like many Austrians, Dr. Cauldwell's background is rich in medicine and music. She received her medical degree at the University of Berlin in those days that were portrayed in "I am a Camera."

SHE EMIGRATED to the United States in the late 1930s and became assistant principal celist in the Dallas Symphony Orchestra.

Her talented daughter, Gisela Cauldwell, in her early 20's, is an aspiring actress who has performed in plays off Broadway, in summer stock and in Montreal where she studied at the National Theatre School. She is now in the theater in New York.

Dr. Cauldwell has always made her way in a man's world but she is all for the women's liberation movement—and believes equality should be achieved without a loss of femininity.

Now, she says, her writing days are over. But her medical friends who have heralded her work are telling her that it should be just beginning.

Ex-Professional Ice Skater Practices Law In Novato

By DOROTHY NEWELL

A former professional ice skater, Dorothy P. Young, is Novato's only woman attorney.

Mrs. Raymond Young was a professional ice skater with the Sonja Henie Ice Revue when she decided to become a legal secretary — working in law offices during the day and skating at night as she toured the country.

It was while she was working as a legal secretary "for a tall, handsome attorney," who she thought was making a great deal of money, that she decided she wanted to become an attorney.

"I gave myself a year and a half to either get married or go to law school," she said.

She had received an A. A. degree at Long Beach City College and had attended the University of California at Los Angeles for one and one-half years.

"It took me a long time to get my law degree (five years) as I worked during the day and went to night school," she said. She attended Loyola College in Los Angeles three years and Lincoln Law School in San Francisco two years.

Sitting in her Novato law office, wearing a mini skirt and a midi vest, she talked about meeting her husband, who is in land investment at Copper Cove near Sonora, and about her daughter, Tiffany Rae, 7 years old, who she calls "the love of my life."

WHILE ATTENDING law school, she occasionally went to Sutro's Ice Skating Rink in San Francisco. On one occasion she met her husband.

Laughingly she said, "The old maid met the bachelor" and within the year they were married.

They have been married 11 years and she said."Our daughter was born on our fourth anniversary and our cat, now 10 years old, was born on our first anniversary."

More seriously, she said, "I like to keep my daughter busy. I believe in a full year of school, not such a long vacation." And she keeps her daughter busy with piano lessons, Girl Scouts, dancing, horse back riding and ice skating. Tiffany was 15 months old when she first ice skated.

THE YOUNG'S moved to Novato two years ago, and Dorothy said when she first saw Novato she wanted to stay here forever.

They live in Domingo Canyon where there are many youngsters for her daughter to be with and the Youngs have become involved with the Domingo Canyon Homeowners Association, which Mrs. Young is serving as president.

She is also a member of the Novato Business and Professional Women's Club, Marin Federation Republican Women, Novato Newcomers Club, Women's Association of Marin Country Club, North Marin Federated Homeowners Association, Novato Chamber of Commerce, is a room mother for her daughter's class at Loma Verde School and is a member of the Queen's Bench, an organization for women lawyers.

This active woman's hobbies include golf, skiing, sewing, bridge, tennis, ice skating and body surfing.

SHE SAID body-surfing at Stinson Beach usually causes quite a bit of curiosity.

"In my old age," she said, "I use a huge muslin pillow case that I dampen, fill with air and tie at the ends, then ride in on the breakers."

One year ago, following 10 years of practice in San Francisco, Dorothy Young opened her law office in Novato specializing in probate, divorces and accident cases.

She finds that as many men come to her because she is a woman attorney as not, particularly in domestic relations cases.

"With the new divorce laws, there has been many more dissolutions of marriage, "she said. "The new law is particularly hard on the woman who has been married for perhaps 25 to 30 years, is 55 years old, had no profession or career and must stillwait 10 years to receive social security."

Three weeks ago, Mrs. Young had one of her most difficult cases. She defended her husband in a two-day trial in a real estate case. She said, "never again" referring to defending her husband against three other attorneys on the case. She agreed it compared to a wife taking driving lessons from her husband — too many suggestions. She added, with pride, however, that she won the case.

Musician To Wed In Vienna Following Tour Of Europe

By Molly Marin

Mrs. Beatrice L. Duke of Marin City has received news that her son, George M. Duke, and Corine Ann Salango, both of San Francisco, will be married next Thursday in Vienna, Austria.

George, whose father is Thaddeus K. Duke of Los Angeles, was graduated from Tamalpais High School and the San Francisco Conservatory of Music with a bachelor of music degree and holds a master's degree in composition from San Francisco State College. He is a part-time instructor at the conservatory and has his own studio in San Francisco.

A member of the American Society of Authors, Lecturers, Composers and Recording Artists, he is conductor and composer for the Third Wave and has his own music publishing company, "Micenea."

At present George is on a tour in Europe with top rock musicians Frank Zappa and Jean Luc Ponty. It will end on Monday in Vienna.

Corine, who is the daughter of Mrs. Pauline Macale of San Francisco and Valentino Salango of Oakland, was graduated from St. Vincent's School in San Francisco. She is now in Europe for some sight-seeing before the couple's marriage.

They expect to return later this month to a home George has built in San Francisco, and his mother is planning a reception for the newlyweds to be held on Jan. 10 at the Manzanita Center in Marin City.

NEW ZEALAND'S first full-time female zoo keeper, Susan Senser, was wed to Gerald M. Wier on Nov. 14 at St. Joachim's Church in Wellington, New Zealand.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lisle Senser of San Rafael, Susan met Gerald in August of 1969 aboard ship on her way to run the children's zoo in Wellington. He is the son of Mrs. Robert Wier of Denver, Colo., and the late Mr. Wier.

Following a wedding trip on New Zealand's South Island, the couple will go to South Africa.

Susan also ran the zoo's hospital in Wellington and participated in conservation projects. She will study the "big cats" in Africa, according to Mrs. Wier.

Susan was graduated from the University of California at Davis, and Gerald is a graduate of Western State College in Gunnison, Colo.

COCKTAIL PARTIES preceding the Sausalito Yacht Club's dinner-dance Saturday night will be held in the homes of Messr. and Mmes. Carl Lischeske, Van Sargent, Mark Egan and retiring commodore Barry C. Hibben. He will be host to his outgoing officers and directors and incoming officers and directors for 1971.

MRS. E. W. Crane of Novato celebrated her 90th birthday on Monday. Her daughter, Mrs. John Carter Jr., invited a number of her mother's friends in for fruit punch in the late afternoon.

Earlier in the day, at the Novato Senior Citizens meeting, the group sang "Happy Birthday" to her. At the Dec. 21 senior citizens Christmas party a birthday cake will be served honoring Mrs. Crane, John Sinclair, who will be 90 on Christmas Eve, and Mrs. Katherine Griffin who is 91, Mrs. George Hinnekamp, president of the Novato chapter, said.

Last Friday, at the Novato Chapter, PEO meeting, Mrs. Crane, a member, was honored when members had a birthday cake for her with 90 candles on it. She was also given a PEO recognition pin.

IT WAS a family reunion at the Royal Hawaiian Hotel in Honolulu for Mrs. Anita Strom and her family over Thanksgiving. Her daughter, Wendy Strom, who is a stewardess with Pan American based in New York, arrived to join Mrs. Strom and another daughter, Mrs. James Sullivan, who is living in Hawaii while her husband is stationed in Vietnam. Also joining them was Lieutenant Sullivan from Saigon and Mrs. Strom's son, Peter, from Reno. He attends the University of Nevada.

Don't Force Drinks On Drivers

NEW YORK (UPI) —Holiday hospitality and social drinking are part of the Christmas season. Not coincidentally, so is more than the usual number of traffic accidents and fatalities.

What can a party host or hostess do who does not want to contribute to an accident caused by the slowed reflexes, blurred vision or impaired judgment of one of his guests?

"First a friend, then a host" is the slogan offered by Dr. Frederick J. Newirth, medical director of Fireman's Fund American Life Insurance Co. And the accent is on: "First a friend."

For the host who wants to be a friend, Newirth has these suggestions:

—Use the one-for-one plan.

Women Should Leave Football To The Men

NEW YORK (UPI) — There's more than meets the eye on the television tube or the actual playing field in the national popularity of the athlete-hero. Particularly, the football hero.

A veteran researcher into what makes people tick mentally and emotionally says popularity of football in particular reveals something more than mere relaxation. The implications are deeper. At the same time, he calls it a game women should leave strictly to the men.

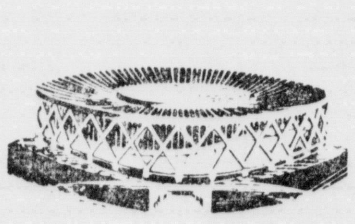
DR. ERNEST Dichter, head of the Institute for Motivational Research, Inc., Croton-on-Hudson, N. Y., says that in the "context of our current society, football's particular popularity reflects a number of newer frustrations, goals and ambitions of the typical spectator.

Dichter, consultant to numbers of businesses and industries, estimates that 50 to 75 million persons watch on the home screen or atttend football games each given fall weekend.

Why? In his current newsletter, he breaks reasons down into four major categories.

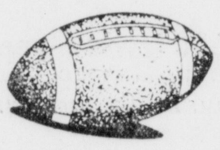
—One. The violence in today's society. Dichter says the riots, the student uprisings, the bombings and revolutionary deeds, the crime in the streets are highly frustrating to the typical citizen. They represent chaos without control . . . flaunting of law and rules.

BY CONTRAST, the clean hard violence of football is refreshing and reassuring . . . done according to rules. The referee's whistle is obeyed. The penalties for infractions are promptly and resolutely stepped off against the offenders. Everything is "neatly and firmly controlled."



—Two. "Encounter group" therapy. Dichter says that "even in the isolation of the television in the living room, there is a strong in-group feeling on the part of the spectator. He is a member of the fan group and as a result, "his response to the progress of the game takes on an unconscious crowd behavior."

In the real crowd, however, he goes much further than his television reaction of talking out loud, slapping his thighs, swearing, cheering. In the stadium, there is actual "encounter" with the spectators near him, perhaps even to slapping the spectator on the back when "our" team scores. Dichter calls this group encounter therapy which cleanses and purges pent-up emotions.



—Three. 5he reassurance of masculinity. Dichter says that in today's society the ordinary male has fewer opportunities to "prove" he is a man. Identification with football, even as a living room watcher, helps revive the basic drives of the strong, assertive male animal.

THE MOTIVATIONAL researcher says women should stay away from football (fie on thee, Dr. Dichter) for the sport is exclusively masculine and men resent women horning in on "their" program. To bolster this special right, men alone become the "experts", knowing the fine points of the game, the special abilities of certain key players.

—Four. The Spartan syndrome. This is especially important to spectators today who see a world gone soft and fat with affluence, populated by young men who wear hair "like girls" and who scoff at athletes as "tools" of professionalism.

The true football fan sees his heroes as "respected, clean living, fair-minded, team-spirited young men who typify the way they feel men should live and behave."

Giving is a gift

. . . and with clothes it's also an art. Which is why we go to unusual lengths to make a gift a Christmas adventure for your special "her." First, our selection of suits, pants, blouses, sweaters, negligees, even handbags, is chosen for someone with taste and a very keen eye for style and quality. That's very apparent. But we add something not on the racks or in the price: our very personal attention and sixth sense for knowing what is "right" for her in size, color and style. It makes a world of difference. It makes your gift something she'll adore . . . from someone she'll remember. Tied with a Christmas bow.

Our Mania For Cleanliness May Be What Is Clogging Up Waters

DEAR HELEN:

It appears that some misguided people think that tidying up our beaches and cities (as with trash collections, etc.) is an answer to world pollution. This is too little, and almost too late.

Perhaps our mania for external cleanliness has been a contributing factor in choking our rivers and waterw s with chemicals. Maybe we need to rethink our idea of what is clean, what is contaminated, and what is just plain healthy but tolerable dirt.

The media has done much to make us feel we simply must have a bath every day or perish — and spray our underarms, deodorize our bodies, keep our clothes spotless with many washings. The odor of human sweat may be offensive but a world killed off by an exaggerated use of chemicals and detergents in an insane race to insure that we do not look, smell or taste like human beings might possibly be the alternative.

I think we must examine our attitudes, or any " do good" project (like picking up cans and debris), will simply be wasted energy. Is it possible that our ideas of work, cleanliness, sex, may re radically changed in the future? I think so. This thought throws people into deep depression, but if we optimistically consider Socrates' remark, "No man is willingly deprived of the good," then perhaps we can all trust each other enough to feel no matter how drastic things change, it can all work out. — JOAN

DEAR JOAN:

Thanks for the thoughtful letter — but I don't think we need give up personal cleanliness to save our world from extermination via pollution. Surely there's an alternate way — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Here's another for the collection: What Is A Summer Love? (When Winter Comes)

It's the magic of a full moon, the romance of the beach at night, the fun of building sand castles together, the security of holding his hand, the tenderness of your smiles . . .

It's finally knowing how precious time is — now that every minute counts.

It's collecting all the little momentos you can find that remind you of him; so you can paste them in your scrapbook when you get back home.

It's where tomorrow is a bad word.

It's a special kind of love where there are no strings to bind you, where time is against you; and where memories are so important, since they are all you have to take home with you.

It's the last kiss, the last goodbye, and an end to your summer.

It's fighting back the tears on the way home; sitting in your old room wishing you weren't, and dreaming about each minute he gave you.

So if your summer love lasted for only a few days or even just one night, you still belong with all those girls who found that one special guy. And when the leaves fall and the cold winds blow, then you'll be like the rest of us who cry because summer was just a yesterday ago. — SEASIDE '70

Spice Containers

Adequately filled spice containers not only look better. They also keep the contents better. Clear glass shows off the spice colors best, but should be kept away from strong sunlight, which bleaches the colors and reduces the spices' pungency

Spices

When you try a new idea with spices, start with ¼ teaspoon of most spices to 1 pint of sauce, soup or vegetable or 1 pound of meat, fish or fowl. Use considerably less of the red pepper spices to start with.

Mrs. George Riis Heads Golf Club

Any woman whose husband is a member or has her own membership is invited to participate in this section.

A native of Los Angeles, the new president attended the University of California at Los Angeles and Sonoma State College. Her other organizations include the Hillcrest Hospital Auxiliary, Red Cross Volunteers and the Petaluma Woman's Club. Golf, study and travel are her hobbies. She and her husband own several retail drug and grocery stores in both Sonoma and Marin Counties. Their children are Carole, Nancy and Larry Riis. Serving with Mrs. Riis this year are Mmes. DRIVERS

—Never force liquor on a guest who will be driving. Take him at his word when he says, "No thanks."

—For that "one for the road," offer your guests soft drinks or coffee. But remember coffee does not sober. It does gain time.

—If necessary, turn on the charm and persuade your drinking guest to let someone else drive him home. Maybe he'd find it more comfortable to go home by cab.

Grilling Cheese

Pan-grilling a cheese sandwich in bacon drippings is more than a food economy. If the drippings are from sugar-cured bacon, its flavor is pronounced and browning is richer due to caramelization of the sugar content that was added for curing the bacon.

History Of Drugs Book For Laymen

By HELEN THOMAS

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Helen of Troy's formula for spiking cocktails with ancient drugs and the story of tranquilizers are told in a book by a new Washington woman author.

She is Viennese-born Dr. Anne E. Cauldwell of the National Library of Medicine at Bethesda, Md., whose opus "Origins of Psychopharmacology from CPZ (chloropromazine) to LSD" has just hit the stands.

It's medical non-fiction that the layman can understand and traces the history of drugs back to the time of Homer.

DR. CALDWELL said she wrote the book "because it was necessary."

She was inspired when her private research at the library showed that French surgeon Henri Laborit created CPZ—the starter of all the tranquilizer drugs so widely used in the 50's and 60's—while other medical colleagues were given the credit.

She says she learned a lot about "medical politics" and became deeply intrigued by the fact that Laborit synthesized the original drug by design in December, 1950, at Val de Grace Hospital because it was needed to alleviate anxiety, agitation and stress.

Since then the drug has revolutionized the care and treatment of psychiatric patients in mental hospitals.

DR. CAULDWELL, a tall, attractive brunette, said she tried for three years "to get someone else" to write the book.

"I also lost three boyfriends," she added with a smile. "But maybe they were not worth it. They could not understand the time it took and my commitment."

She found also that the life of an author is not easy. "I learned my friends could live without me," she said ruefully.

She admits her first love is playing the cello. Like many Austrians, Dr. Cauldwell's background is rich in medicine and music. She received her medical degree at the University of Berlin in those days that were portrayed in "I am a Camera."

SHE EMIGRATED to the United States in the late 1930s and became assistant principal celist in the Dallas Symphony Orchestra.

Her talented daughter, Gisela Cauldwell, in her early 20's, is an aspiring actress who has performed in plays off Broadway, in summer stock and in Montreal where she studied at the National Theatre School. She is now in the theater in New York.

Dr. Cauldwell has always made her way in a man's world but she is all for the women's liberation movement—and believes equality should be achieved without a loss of femininity.

Now, she says, her writing days are over. But her medical friends who have heralded her work are telling her that it should be just beginning.

Ex-Professional Ice Skater Practices Law In Novato

Marin Women

By DOROTHY NEWELL

A former professional ice skater, Dorothy P. Young, is Novato's only woman attorney.

Mrs. Raymond Young was a professional ice skater with the Sonja Henie Ice Revue when she decided to become a legal secretary — working in law offices during the day and skating at night as she toured the country.

It was while she was working as a legal secretary "for a tall, handsome attorney," who she thought was making a great deal of money, that she decided she wanted to become an attorney.

"I gave myself a year and a half to either get married or go to law school," she said.

She had received an A. A. degree at Long Beach City College and had attended the University of California at Los Angeles for one and one-half years.

"It took me a long time to get my law degree (five years) as I worked during the day and went to night school," she said. She attended Loyola College in Los Angeles three years and Lincoln Law School in San Francisco two years.

Sitting in her Novato law office, wearing a mini skirt and a midi vest, she talked about meeting her husband, who is in land investment at Copper Cove near Sonora, and about her daughter, Tiffany Rae, 7 years old, who she calls "the love of my life."

WHILE ATTENDING law school, she occasionally went to Sutro's Ice Skating Rink in San Francisco. On one occasion she met her husband.

Laughingly she said, "The old maid met the bachelor" and within the year they were married.

They have been married 11 years and she said."Our daughter was born on our fourth anniversary and our cat, now 10 years old, was born on our first anniversary."

More seriously, she said, "I like to keep my daughter busy. I believe in a full year of school, not such a long vacation." And she keeps her daughter busy with piano lessons, Girl Scouts, dancing, horse back riding and ice skating. Tiffany was 15 months old when she first ice skated.

THE YOUNG'S moved to Novato two years ago, and Dorothy said when she first saw Novato she wanted to stay here forever.

They live in Domingo Canyon where there are many youngsters for her daughter to be with and the Youngs have become involved with the Domingo Canyon Homeowners Association, which Mrs. Young is serving as president.

She is also a member of the Novato Business and Professional Women's Club, Marin Federation Republican Women, Novato Newcomers Club, Women's Association of Marin Country Club, North Marin Federated Homeowners Association, Novato Chamber of Commerce, is a room mother for her daughter's class at Loma Verde School and is a member of the Queen's Bench, an organization for women lawyers.

This active woman's hobbies include golf, skiing, sewing, bridge, tennis, ice skating and body surfing.

SHE SAID body-surfing at Stinson Beach usually causes quite a bit of curiosity.

"In my old age," she said, "I use a huge muslin pillow case that I dampen, fill with air and tie at the ends, then ride in on the breakers."

One year ago, following 10 years of practice in San Francisco, Dorothy Young opened her law office in Novato specializing in probate, divorces and accident cases.

She finds that as many men come to her because she is a woman attorney as not, particularly in domestic relations cases.

"With the new divorce laws, there has been many more dissolutions of marriage, "she said. "The new law is particularly hard on the woman who has been married for perhaps 25 to 30 years, is 55 years old, had no profession or career and must stillwait 10 years to receive social security."

Three weeks ago, Mrs. Young had one of her most difficult cases. She defended her husband in a two-day trial in a real estate case. She said, "never again" referring to defending her husband against three other attorneys on the case. She agreed it compared to a wife taking driving lessons from her husband — too many suggestions. She added, with pride, however, that she won the case.

Musician To Wed In Vienna Following Tour Of Europe

By Molly Marin

Mrs. Beatrice L. Duke of Marin City has received news that her son, George M. Duke, and Corine Ann Salango, both of San Francisco, will be married next Thursday in Vienna, Austria.

George, whose father is Thaddeus K. Duke of Los Angeles, was graduated from Tamalpais High School and the San Francisco Conservatory of Music with a bachelor of music degree and holds a master's degree in composition from San Francisco State College. He is a part-time instructor at the conservatory and has his own studio in San Francisco.

A member of the American Society of Authors, Lecturers, Composers and Recording Artists, he is conductor and composer for the Third Wave and has his own music publishing company, "Micenea."

At present George is on a tour in Europe with top rock musicians Frank Zappa and Jean Luc Ponty. It will end on Monday in Vienna.

Corine, who is the daughter of Mrs. Pauline Macale of San Francisco and Valentino Salango of Oakland, was graduated from St. Vincent's School in San Francisco. She is now in Europe for some sight-seeing before the couple's marriage.

They expect to return later this month to a home George has built in San Francisco, and his mother is planning a reception for the newlyweds to be held on Jan. 10 at the Manzanita Center in Marin City.

NEW ZEALAND'S first full-time female zoo keeper, Susan Senser, was wed to Gerald M. Wier on Nov. 14 at St. Joachim's Church in Wellington, New Zealand.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lisle Senser of San Rafael, Susan met Gerald in August of 1969 aboard ship on her way to run the children's zoo in Wellington. He is the son of Mrs. Robert Wier of Denver, Colo., and the late Mr. Wier.

Following a wedding trip on New Zealand's South Island, the couple will go to South Africa.

Susan also ran the zoo's hospital in Wellington and participated in conservation projects. She will study the "big cats" in Africa, according to Mrs. Wier.

Susan was graduated from the University of California at Davis, and Gerald is a graduate of Western State College in Gunnison, Colo.

COCKTAIL PARTIES preceding the Sausalito Yacht Club's dinner-dance Saturday night will be held in the homes of Messr. and Mmes. Carl Lischeske, Van Sargent, Mark Egan and retiring commodore Barry C. Hibben. He will be host to his outgoing officers and directors and incoming officers and directors for 1971.

MRS. E. W. Crane of Novato celebrated her 90th birthday on Monday. Her daughter, Mrs. John Carter Jr., invited a number of her mother's friends in for fruit punch in the late afternoon.

Earlier in the day, at the Novato Senior Citizens meeting, the group sang "Happy Birthday" to her. At the Dec. 21 senior citizens Christmas party a birthday cake will be served honoring Mrs. Crane, John Sinclair, who will be 90 on Christmas Eve, and Mrs. Katherine Griffin who is 91, Mrs. George Hinnekamp, president of the Novato chapter, said.

Last Friday, at the Novato Chapter, PEO meeting, Mrs. Crane, a member, was honored when members had a birthday cake for her with 90 candles on it. She was also given a PEO recognition pin.

IT WAS a family reunion at the Royal Hawaiian Hotel in Honolulu for Mrs. Anita Strom and her family over Thanksgiving. Her daughter, Wendy Strom, who is a stewardess with Pan American based in New York, arrived to join Mrs. Strom and another daughter, Mrs. James Sullivan, who is living in Hawaii while her husband is stationed in Vietnam. Also joining them was Lieutenant Sullivan from Saigon and Mrs. Strom's son, Peter, from Reno. He attends the University of Nevada.

Women Should Leave Football To The Men

NEW YORK (UPI) — There's more than meets the eye on the television tube or the actual playing field in the national popularity of the athlete-hero. Particularly, the football hero.

A veteran researcher into what makes people tick mentally and emotionally says popularity of football in particular reveals something more than mere relaxation. The implications are deeper. At the same time, he calls it a game women should leave strictly to the men.

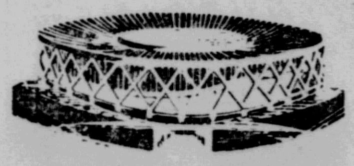
DR. ERNEST Dichter, head of the Institute for Motivational Research, Inc., Croton-on-Hudson, N. Y., says that in the "context of our current society, football's particular popularity reflects a number of newer frustrations, goals and ambitions of the typical spectator.

Dichter, consultant to numbers of businesses and industries, estimates that 50 to 75 million persons watch on the home screen or atttend football games each given fall weekend.

Why? In his current newsletter, he breaks reasons down into four major categories.

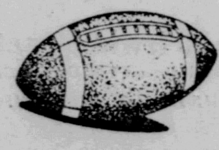
—One. The violence in today's society. Dichter says the riots, the student uprisings, the bombings and revolutionary deeds, the crime in the streets are highly frustrating to the typical citizen. They represent chaos without control . . . flaunting of law and rules.

BY CONTRAST, the clean hard violence of football is refreshing and reassuring . . . done according to rules. The referee's whistle is obeyed. The penalties for infractions are promptly and resolutely stepped off against the offenders. Everything is "neatly and firmly controlled."



—Two. "Encounter group" therapy. Dichter says that "even in the isolation of the television in the living room, there is a strong in-group feeling on the part of the spectator. He is a member of the fan group and as a result, "his response to the progress of the game takes on an unconscious crowd behavior."

In the real crowd, however, he goes much further than his television reaction of talking out loud, slapping his thighs, swearing, cheering. In the stadium, there is actual "encounter" with the spectators near him, perhaps even to slapping the spectator on the back when "our" team scores. Dichter calls this group encounter therapy which cleanses and purges pent-up emotions.



—Three. 5he reassurance of masculinity. Dichter says that in today's society the ordinary male has fewer opportunities to "prove" he is a man. Identification with football, even as a living room watcher, helps revive the basic drives of the strong, assertive male animal.

THE MOTIVATIONAL researcher says women should stay away from football (fie on thee, Dr. Dichter) for the sport is exclusively masculine and men resent women horning in on "their" program. To bolster this special right, men alone become the "experts", knowing the fine points of the game, the special abilities of certain key players.

—Four. The Spartan syndrome. This is especially important to spectators today who see a world gone soft and fat with affluence, populated by young men who wear hair "like girls" and who scoff at athletes as "tools" of professionalism.

The true football fan sees his heroes as "respected, clean living, fair-minded, team-spirited young men who typify the way they feel men should live and behave."

Don't Force Drinks On Drivers

NEW YORK (UPI) —Holiday hospitality and social drinking are part of the Christmas season. Not coincidentally, so is more than the usual number of traffic accidents and fatalities.

What can a party host or hostess do who does not want to contribute to an accident caused by the slowed reflexes, blurred vision or impaired judgment of one of his guests?

"First a friend, then a host" is the slogan offered by Dr. Frederick J. Newirth, medical director of Fireman's Fund American Life Insurance Co. And the accent is on: "First a friend."

For the host who wants to be a friend, Newirth has these suggestions:

—Use the one-for-one plan.

Giving is a gift

. . . and with clothes it's also an art. Which is why we go to unusual lengths to make a gift a Christmas adventure for your special "her." First, our selection of suits, pants, blouses, sweaters, negligees, even handbags, is chosen for someone with taste and a very keen eye for style and quality. That's very apparent. But we add something not on the racks or in the price: our very personal attention and sixth sense for knowing what is "right" for her in size, color and style. It makes a world of difference. It makes your gift something she'll adore . . . from someone she'll remember. Tied with a Christmas bow.

Our Mania For Cleanliness May Be What Is Clogging Up Waters

DEAR HELEN:

It appears that some misguided people think that tidying up our beaches and cities (as with trash collections, etc.) is an answer to world pollution. This is too little, and almost too late.

Perhaps our mania for external cleanliness has been a contributing factor in choking our rivers and waterw s with chemicals. Maybe we need to rethink our idea of what is clean, what is contaminated, and what is just plain healthy but tolerable dirt.

The media has done much to make us feel we simply must have a bath every day or perish — and spray our underarms, deodorize our bodies, keep our clothes spotless with many washings. The odor of human sweat may be offensive but a world killed off by an exaggerated use of chemicals and detergents in an insane race to insure that we do not look, smell or taste like human beings might possibly be the alternative.

I think we must examine our attitudes, or any " do good" project (like picking up cans and debris), will simply be wasted energy. Is it possible that our ideas of work, cleanliness, sex, may re radically changed in the future? I think so. This thought throws people into deep depression, but if we optimistically consider Socrates' remark, "No man is willingly deprived of the good," then perhaps we can all trust each other enough to feel no matter how drastic things change, it can all work out. — JOAN

DEAR JOAN:

Thanks for the thoughtful letter — but I don't think we need give up personal cleanliness to save our world from extermination via pollution. Surely there's an alternate way — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Here's another for the collection: What Is A Summer Love? (When Winter Comes)

It's the magic of a full moon, the romance of the beach at night, the fun of building sand castles together, the security of holding his hand, the tenderness of your smiles . . .

It's finally knowing how precious time is — now that every minute counts.

It's collecting all the little momentos you can find that remind you of him; so you can paste them in your scrapbook when you get back home.

It's where tomorrow is a bad word.

It's a special kind of love where there are no strings to bind you, where time is against you; and where memories are so important, since they are all you have to take home with you.

It's the last kiss, the last goodbye, and an end to your summer.

It's fighting back the tears on the way home; sitting in your old room wishing you weren't, and dreaming about each minute he gave you.

So if your summer love lasted for only a few days or even just one night, you still belong with all those girls who found that one special guy. And when the leaves fall and the cold winds blow, then you'll be like the rest of us who cry because summer was just a yesterday ago. — SEASIDE '70

Spice Containers

Adequately filled spice containers not only look better. They also keep the contents better. Clear glass shows off the spice colors best, but should be kept away from strong sunlight, which bleaches the colors and reduces the spices' pungency

Spices

When you try a new idea with spices, start with ¼ teaspoon of most spices to 1 pint of sauce, soup or vegetable or 1 pound of meat, fish or fowl. Use considerably less of the red pepper spices to start with.

DRIVERS

—Never force liquor on a guest who will be driving. Take him at his word when he says, "No thanks."

—For that "one for the road," offer your guests soft drinks or coffee. But remember coffee does not sober. It does gain time.

—If necessary, turn on the charm and persuade your drinking guest to let someone else drive him home. Maybe he'd find it more comfortable to go home by cab.

Grilling Cheese

Pan-grilling a cheese sandwich in bacon drippings is more than a food economy. If the drippings are from sugar-cured bacon, its flavor is pronounced and browning is richer due to caramelization of the sugar content that was added for curing the bacon.

Swashbuckling Fashions For Men

By JANE ROGERS
London Express Service

Robin Hood is alive and well - and living in London; that's the fashion message for men at the moment. There's a sudden spate of lace-up looks around that seem to have come straight out of Sherwood Forest.

It took a long time for the idea to get through, but now, at last, the menswear shops have tuned in to the thonged leather theme. Just as the girls are becoming tired of the idea, men are beginning to flock in for fringed waistcoats and suede trousers to match and the most popular color is forest green.

Worn over a swashbuckling white shirt with wide bishop sleeves at parties, this little out fit may make the man in your life look like a fugitive from the Sheriff of Nottingham, but at least it's a change from the caftan, the knot-dyed shirt and the hippie tunic.

THOUGH THE average man is not likely to want to rush into hunting green, the lace-up look (an essential part of any Robin Hood kit), is catching on fast in an unexpected field - knitwear. Suddenly it's difficult to find a plain ordinary sports shirt or sweater for men; they've all got peepshow front fastenings. And the new look in evening shirts is no longer lace but laced-up front with a colorful silk scarf tucked in at the neck in place of the traditional black tie.

And for underneath it all one chain of menswear shops is making lace-up underpants in honeycomb mesh with a matching short-sleeved singlet for the man who likes to feel trendy all over.

Two sweaters I've spotted recently that women will love, too, both have lace-up fastenings and short sleeves and go well with anything, from knot-dyed jeans to ordinary sports slacks. They're made by a well-known knitwear firm in easy-to-look-after yarns like cotton and Courtelle and they come in large sizes for men, as well as small and medium. There's a choice of four colors ranging from honey to blue, but the best by far is an ordinary honest string color.

BOYS COME DEAR

NEW YORK (UPI) —Teenage girls showered their boyfriends with more expensive Christmas gifts than they gave anyone else last year, reports a magazine survey. The study, by Seventeen, showed that teen girls spent over $72 million on the young men in their lives, spending a median of $10.86 for each present. The girls spent an average $10.19 for mother's gift and $8.46 for dad's.

CHRISTMAS BANNED

NEW YORK (UPI) —Observance of Christmas once was banned by law in both England and America. Sally Hopkins, a researcher for Hallmark Cards, reported that in 1648, the Puritans in England prohibited the celebration of Christmas, even in churches, by act of Parliament, because they felt the celebration desecrated the true meaning of the day.

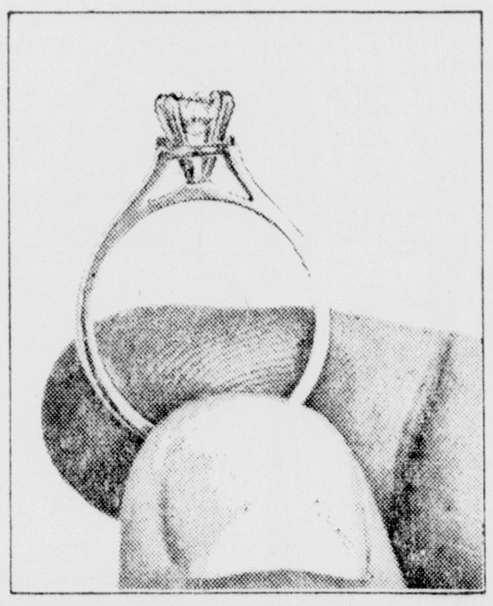
Why should we sell a better diamond for less money?
We have our reasons.



For one thing, most other jewelers buy finished diamonds. We buy diamonds in the rough. We cut, polish and mount them ourselves. The savings are considerable.
To us. To you.
Of course, you don't have to spend less money. You can always buy a larger diamond from us for the same amount you might pay someplace else.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Our Mania For Cleanliness May Be What Is Clogging Up Waters

DEAR HELEN:

It appears that some misguided people think that tidying up our beaches and cities (as with trash collections, etc.) is an answer to world pollution. This is too little, and almost too late.

Perhaps our mania for external cleanliness has been a contributing factor in choking our rivers and waterw s with chemicals. Maybe we need to rethink our idea of what is clean, what is contaminated, and what is just plain healthy but tolerable dirt.

The media has done much to make us feel we simply must have a bath every day or perish — and spray our underarms, deodorize our bodies, keep our clothes spotless with many washings. The odor of human sweat may be offensive but a world killed off by an exaggerated use of chemicals and detergents in an insane race to insure that we do not look, smell or taste like human beings might possibly be the alternative.

I think we must examine our attitudes, or any " do good" project (like picking up cans and debris), will simply be wasted energy. Is it possible that our ideas of work, cleanliness, sex, may re radically changed in the future? I think so. This thought throws people into deep depression, but if we optimistically consider Socrates' remark, "No man is willingly deprived of the good," then perhaps we can all trust each other enough to feel no matter how drastic things change, it can all work out. — JOAN

DEAR JOAN:

Thanks for the thoughtful letter — but I don't think we need give up personal cleanliness to save our world from extermination via pollution. Surely there's an alternate way — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Here's another for the collection: What Is A Summer Love? (When Winter Comes)

It's the magic of a full moon, the romance of the beach at night, the fun of building sand castles together, the security of holding his hand, the tenderness of your smiles . . .

It's finally knowing how precious time is — now that every minute counts.

It's collecting all the little momentos you can find that remind you of him; so you can paste them in your scrapbook when you get back home.

It's where tomorrow is a bad word.

It's a special kind of love where there are no strings to bind you, where time is against you; and where memories are so important, since they are all you have to take home with you.

It's the last kiss, the last goodbye, and an end to your summer.

It's fighting back the tears on the way home; sitting in your old room wishing you weren't, and dreaming about each minute he gave you.

So if your summer love lasted for only a few days or even just one night, you still belong with all those girls who found that one special guy. And when the leaves fall and the cold winds blow, then you'll be like the rest of us who cry because summer was just a yesterday ago. — SEASIDE '70

Spice Containers

Adequately filled spice containers not only look better. They also keep the contents better. Clear glass shows off the spice colors best, but should be kept away from strong sunlight, which bleaches the colors and reduces the spices' pungency

Spices

When you try a new idea with spices, start with ¼ teaspoon of most spices to 1 pint of sauce, soup or vegetable or 1 pound of meat, fish or fowl. Use considerably less of the red pepper spices to start with.

—Never force liquor on a guest who will be driving. Take him at his word when he says, "No thanks."

—For that "one for the road," offer your guests soft drinks or coffee. But remember coffee does not sober. It does gain time.

—If necessary, turn on the charm and persuade your drinking guest to let someone else drive him home. Maybe he'd find it more comfortable to go home by cab.

Grilling Cheese

Pan-grilling a cheese sandwich in bacon drippings is more than a food economy. If the drippings are from sugar-cured bacon, its flavor is pronounced and browning is richer due to caramelization of the sugar content that was added for curing the bacon.

Swashbuckling Fashions For Men

By JANE ROGERS
London Express Service

Robin Hood is alive and well - and living in London; that's the fashion message for men at the moment. There's a sudden spate of lace-up looks around that seem to have come straight out of Sherwood Forest.

It took a long time for the idea to get through, but now, at last, the menswear shops have tuned in to the thonged leather theme. Just as the girls are becoming tired of the idea, men are beginning to flock in for fringed waistcoats and suede trousers to match and the most popular color is forest green.

Worn over a swashbuckling white shirt with wide bishop sleeves at parties, this little out fit may make the man in your life look like a fugitive from the Sheriff of Nottingham, but at least it's a change from the caftan, the knot-dyed shirt and the hippie tunic.

THOUGH THE average man is not likely to want to rush into hunting green, the lace-up look (an essential part of any Robin Hood kit), is catching on fast in an unexpected field - knitwear. MUSIC REVIEW

Ozawa Makes It With Neck Brace

By JAMES E. WILLIAMS

SAN FRANCISCO — Evidently unhampered by a high collar bracing his neck against the pain of pinched nerves, conductor Seiji Ozawa, the diminutive musical dynamo, led the San Francisco Symphony to an early season high last night.

As was evidenced last season in his guest appearances and the symphony's opener last week, the orchestra responded to every nuance of the young maestro in Tschaikowsky's Symphony No. 1 in G Minor, Opus 13 (Winter Dreams).

Especially pleasing was the third movement, the scherzo: allergo scherzando gioocoso in which the melody flows between the oboe, flute and bassoon. Also the final movement was well-structured in tonal buildup with Ozawa's magic baton gaining superb contrasting shades between strings, big brass and percussion sections.

Soprano Jane Marsh, who is making her debut with the symphony in this week's concert series, fashioned a dynamic presentation in the last scene from the opera "Daphne" by Richard Strauss. While lacking in certain vocal agility and big tone in the first part of the work, the stunning Miss Marsh finished with clear intonation and phrasing — especially in the echo finale with oboe — of the difficult German libretto.

It was a nice change to hear her in something more than sweet-maiden type operatic roles in which she was cast this past San Francisco Opera season. While her voice does show power, it probably comes across better in the smaller opera houses of Germany where she is establishing her operatic repertoire.

Though not her fault, she was bathed in a rather unflattering pink light. If it was intended to emphasize the dramatic quality of the score and her voice, it came off a poor second.

The 34-year-old Ozawa, who has been forced to wear the neck rigging because of pinched nerves, opened the concert with Arcangelo Corelli's Concerto Grosso, Opus 6, Number 8 (Christmas Concerto). As in the towering Tschaikowsky, he fashioned the reading without score.

The concerto's velvet finish — the pastoral — gave some of the symphony's principals — Stuart Canin, concertmaster; Robert Sayre, cellist, and Rolf Persinger, violist — a chance to create melodious lulling hues.

Rearrangement of the lower string section has greatly improved the tonal quality. However, there were at times strained shades from the brass sections. No doubt by mid-season, Ozawa will have all this worked out with the entire ensemble honed to razor sharpness.

an afternoon performance today and can be heard again tomorrow night.

Russian's Absence Mars Nobel Prize Ceremonies

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — An empty chair on the laureates' podium represented Soviet writer Alexander I. Solzhenitsyn at today's awarding of the 1970 Nobel prizes by King Gustav VI Adolf.

The colorful Soviet author, controversial winner of the Nobel Prize for Literature, accepted the award in October but decided against coming to Stockholm for fear he would not be allowed to return home.

The 52-year-old novelist has been under attack in the Soviet Union ever since his prize was announced.

The winners of the awards for medicine, physics, chemistry and economics also received the Nobel insignia from the king of Sweden.

A similar ceremony was being held in Oslo, where American agriculturist Dr. Norman Ernest Borlaug was receiving the 1970 Nobel Prize for Peace.

The 1970 winners who received their prizes in Stockholm and Oslo today were:

—Medicine prize winners: Prof. Julius Axelrod, 48, of the U.S. National Institute of Mental Health at Bethesda, Md.; Prof. Sir Bernard Katz, 59, of University College, London, and Prof. Ulf Von Euler, 65, of the Caroline Institute, Stockholm. They received the award for their research into the nerve cell.

—Economy Prize winner: Prof. Paul A. Samuelson, 55, of he Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT), awarded for his development of methods for economic analysis.

—Physics laureates: Prof. Louis Neel, 65, of the University of Grenoble, France, and Prof. Hannes Alfven, 62, of the Stockholm University of Technology and the University of California. Ruling Against Officer-Mother

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The Air Force legally can discharge an unmarried officer who becomes pregnant, the Ninth U.S.K Circuit Court of Appeals ruled Wednesday in the case of Capt. Susan Struck.

An Air Force regulation forbidding a "female officer who is pregnant or gives birth" from continuing in service "long antedates" Captain Struck's enlistment and was "not a surprise ex facto regulation," the three-judge panel declared

It also noted that the nurse had not exhausted her "administrative remedies" in her efforts to stay in service as a nurse.

Richard Locke, an assistant U.S. attorney, said one administrative remedy would be for Captain Struck to petition the Air Force board for a correction of military records, which would set aside a discharge.

What Were Pharaohs Covering Up?

CAIRO (UPI)—A four-man team of scientists from the University of Michigan was due here today to try to find out some of the ways the ancient Egyptian pharaohs "changed history to suit themselves."

The same team in 1968 discovered in the Cairo museum that what for centuries was believed to be the mummified daughter of Queen Maerke was actually a mummified, adolescent baboon. Now, through a series of studies, they hope to reveal some other facts about ancient Egypt.

The University of Michigan researchers, who left Ann Arbor, Mich., Tuesday, will be making X-rays of 40 Egyptian mummies, each about 3,000 years old. They hope to finish their work before Christmas.

The team is headed by Dr. James E. Harris, an orthodontist, and it includes Dr. Paul V Ponitz, another orthodontist; Dr. Walter Whitehouse, chairman of the U-M department of radiology; and William Russell, chief X-ray technician at the U-M Medical Center. Egyptian and other American scientists were to join them.

They will examine the mummies by X-raying them in three dimensions from head to toe.

Of the 1968 discovery of the mummified baboon in place of what historians had thought was the body of the child of Queen Maerke, Harris said it was "quite startling."

"It adds an aura of mystery," he said. "Was the baby really alive and the baboon put in its place to throw off rival relatives?"

Studies of ancient Egyptian history have shown that, quite frequently, Pharaohs changed history to suit themselves by revising hieroglyphics — the pictorial writings of the ancient Egyptians.

"Once a pharaoh died, it was not uncommon practice for his successor to try to erase all trace of the old pharaoh by tearing down his temples and statues or placing his seal on his predecessor's monuments," Harris said.

Canada Denies Kidnapper Deal

OTTAWA (UPI) —External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp said Wednesday "no deal" existed with the Cuban government to prevent James Cross' kidnapers from leaving that country, but said the men faced certain prosecution if they ever returned to Canada.

Sharp told reporters Cuba agreed to accept the kidnapers on Canada's request for "humanitarian reasons" alone. "We said only that we expected they would not be permitted to engage in acts hostile to Canada," he stated.

Swashbuckling Fashions For Men

By JANE ROGERS
London Express Service

Robin Hood is alive and well - and living in London; that's the fashion message for men at the moment. There's a sudden spate of lace-up looks around that seem to have come straight out of Sherwood Forest.

It took a long time for the idea to get through, but now, at last, the menswear shops have tuned in to the thonged leather theme. Just as the girls are becoming tired of the idea, men are beginning to flock in for fringed waistcoats and suede trousers to match and the most popular color is forest green.

Worn over a swashbuckling white shirt with wide bishop sleeves at parties, this little out fit may make the man in your life look like a fugitive from the Sheriff of Nottingham, but at least it's a change from the caftan, the knot-dyed shirt and the hippie tunic.

THOUGH THE average man is not likely to want to rush into hunting green, the lace-up look (an essential part of any Robin Hood kit), is catching on fast in an unexpected field - knitwear. Suddenly it's difficult to find a plain ordinary sports shirt or sweater for men; they've all got peepshow front fastenings. And the new look in evening shirts is no longer lace but laced-up front with a colorful silk scarf tucked in at the neck in place of the traditional black tie.

And for underneath it all one chain of menswear shops is making lace-up underpants in honeycomb mesh with a matching short-sleeved singlet for the man who likes to feel trendy all over.

Two sweaters I've spotted recently that women will love, too, both have lace-up fastenings and short sleeves and go well with anything, from knot-dyed jeans to ordinary sports slacks. They're made by a well-known knitwear firm in easy-to-look-after yarns like cotton and Courtelle and they come in large sizes for men, as well as small and medium. There's a choice of four colors ranging from honey to blue, but the best by far is an ordinary honest string color.

Why should we sell a better diamond for less money?
We have our reasons.

For one thing, most other jewelers buy finished diamonds. We buy diamonds in the rough. We cut, polish and mount them ourselves. The savings are considerable.
To us. To you.
Of course, you don't have to spend less money. You can always buy a larger diamond from us for the same amount you might pay someplace else.
Think it over.

BOYS COME DEAR

NEW YORK (UPI) —Teenage girls showered their boyfriends with more expensive Christmas gifts than they gave anyone else last year, reports a magazine survey. The study, by Seventeen, showed that teen girls spent over $72 million on the young men in their lives, spending a median of $10.86 for each present. The girls spent an average $10.19 for mother's gift and $8.46 for dad's.

CHRISTMAS BANNED

NEW YORK (UPI) —Observance of Christmas once was banned by law in both England and America. Sally Hopkins, a researcher for Hallmark Cards, reported that in 1648, the Puritans in England prohibited the celebration of Christmas, even in churches, by act of Parliament, because they felt the celebration desecrated the true meaning of the day.

SMALL WORKS SHOW — A kind of holiday bazaar featuring arts and crafts by a large portion of its membership is the current show at the Marin Society of Artists' Ross Art and Garden Center Gallery.

ART REVIEW

Generosity Key To Society Show

By LAURA DEVENDORF

From the looks of it, every single member of the Marin Society of Artists, some 600 or so of them, must have contributed something to the small Works show. Wall-to-wall art is no exaggeration in this holiday bazaar which lasts through Dec. 27 in the society's Ross Art and Garden Center gallery.

As might be expected from its unjuried, everything - welcome - as-it's-small content, the show has things in it which are excellent and others which are painfully bad. A miniature blue, green and red painting which is a pleasant op puzzle of forms hangs right next to an awkward pen drawing on a bileous green background. And so it goes, floor to ceiling all around the gallery.

Discovering the nice surprises is part of the game, such as finding those controlled explosions of non-objective form by painters including Phoebe Deignan and Lizk Anderson, or the wintery-feeling abstract by Bernard Healey in grainy textures of grays, white, wet rust and lavendar.

For those who hunger for realism there are many examples. Some simple still lifes look very antique in their velvet and gilt frames as do others reminiscent of early California landscape paintings in their portrayal of romantic country afternoons.

There are also a few clean lined realistic works which are styled more for today. One such painting is Jean Allen's "Clouding Up," with only its lower strip of ochre grasses and brief twist of fence imposing on a blue, cloud-traced expanse of sky. And finally, there are many, many more less happy attempts which make the reasons clear why realism is so often rejected from juried shows.

Even the crafts are questionable when they bend to include cut out doll plaques, note paper and such. But as with the paintings there are some great finds such as rigns with spines of silver clutching semi-precious stones, some attractive stitchery, or decorative pots. There are even happy ideas in the Christmas tree decorations, especially the doves, stars and suns cut from cookie dough.

The things one person hates, another will cherish. And since this non-juried affair makes no attempt to dictate taste or maintain any sort of level, everyone is free to adore what another despises. It's the sort of Christmas time generosity which makes it possible for this bizarre bazaar to offer everyone, no matter what his liking, some pleasant moments.

Housing Agency Cool Hearings

The staff of the Marin County Housing Authority should work closely with the community to insure that authority meetings are conducted in an orderly fashion, commissioners of the housing authority decided Tuesday night.

Recent meetings have included heated verbal confrontations between commissioners and members of the community, according to Wallace K. Shepherd, executive director of the housing organization.

The commission agreed to meet both in Marin City and at other housing projects throughout the county.

Innocent Plea

James Kardis Jr., 21, of 180 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley, has pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of burglarizing a Sausalito residence on Nov. 24. A preliminary hearing is set for Dec. 21.

Railroad Layoff

NEWARK (UPI) — The Jersey Central Railroad said it will have to lay off about 450 workers or about 15 per cent of its working force because of severe financial problems in the next few weeks.

Judge Refuses To Halt Seale Trial

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UPI)— The second motion in a week to dismiss charges against Black Panther chairman Bobby G. Seale was denied today by Superior Court Judge Harold M. Mulvey.

The motion was made by defense attorney Charles R. Garry on the grounds a Dec. 14 article in Time magazine has prejudiced Jewish people from contributing to the Panther defense fund.

Hepatitis Epidemic Rumors 'Unfounded'

Rumors that a hepatitis epidemic is sweeping Homestead School in Mill Valley appear to be unfounded.

Several cases — most sources say seven — have been reported in the past three weeks, but Dr. Marilyn F. Hicks, assistant Marin County health officer, said yesterday that they seem to have been caused by one youngster who contracted the disease and not by contaminated water.

The boy apparently was exposed during a Boy Scout outing and infected four others. No other case was reported until last week, when two other boys became ill. One of them has been hospitalized.

But even the latest two cases could have resulted from the initial exposure, according to Homestead Principal Logan Miles, since the incubation period ranges up to six months.

When the first three cases were reported, Miles said, the school sent home with the students a fact sheet on hepatitis.

It described symptoms (similar to influenza), told how the disease is transmitted (oral-fecal contact) and advised innoculation only in the immediate families of infected children.

But with the outbreak of the latest two cases, Dr. Hicks is advising parents of children whose classmates have become ill to have the youngsters innoculated with gamma globulin. The drug is available free at the Marin County Health Department for these exposed children.

The school in the meantime has canceled the last three weekly hot dog days before Christmas vacation because of the possibility of spreading the virus disease through food preparation.

In addition, Miles said, teachers are stressing personal hygiene and the older students are discussing hepatitis at student council meetings

Cohn To Seek New Trial For Thurber

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Attorney Nathan Cohn said yesterday he will seek a new trial for Frank J. Thurber, convicted of the murder of Independent-Journal employee Allan W. Daly.

Thurber, 45-year-old Mailer Union member from San Bruno, was sentenced by a jury of eight women and four men yesterday to life imprisonment.

Visiting Judge Edmund M. Moor of Alpine County recessed the trial yesterday until 10 a.m. Jan. 7 for hearing of a presentencing report by the probation department, formal sentencing and hearing of motions.

POW Letters Getting Through

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Defense Department says there has been some improvement in the number of letters and postcards the North Vietnamese are allowing their American war prisoners to send home; but it said the amount is still far short of what the Geneva Convention calls for.

A spokesman said only 3,000 cards and letters have been received since the first man was captured six years ago. Under the convention, he said, the 331 prisoners the communists now claim to hold should have been allowed to send 23,832 cards and letters in the past year alone

To Participate

LONDON (UPI) — Bernadette Devlin, 22-year-old member of parliament, will sing at an Islington Hall concert Thursday night in aid of the Irish political detainees defense fund. The militant Roman Catholic member of parliament from Northern Ireland said she has not decided on her repertoire.

Chavez' Workers Claim Success In Seven Cities

SALINAS (UPI) — Cesar Chavez' farm union claimed success in seven cities and a state Wednesday for a boycott aimed at forcing a lettuce grower to sign a labor contract.

"Our people report no Antle produce of any kind in New York, the State of New Jersey, Chicago, Los Angeles, San Francisco, San Jose and no chain stores in Boston or Denver, said Marshall Ganz, an AFL-CIO United Farm Workers Organizing Committee field organizer.

His assertion came as Chavez was in jail for contempt of court—failure to call off the boycott against Bud Antle, Inc., which refuses to scrap its 10-year labor pact with the Teamsters Union in favor of the Chavez organization.

Monterey County Superior Court ruled that because of Antle's long-term pact with the Teamsters, Chavez is engaged in an illegal jurisdictional dispute, with Antle the victim.

Left-handed garden equipment is now available.

SMALL WORKS SHOW — A kind of holiday bazaar featuring arts and crafts by a large portion of its membership is the current show at the Marin Society of Artists' Ross Art and Garden Center Gallery.

ART REVIEW

Generosity Key To Society Show

By LAURA DEVENDORF

From the looks of it, every single member of the Marin Society of Artists, some 600 or so of them, must have contributed something to the small Works show. Wall-to-wall art is no exaggeration in this holiday bazaar which lasts through Dec. 27 in the society's Ross Art and Garden Center gallery.

As might be expected from its unjuried, everything - welcome - as-it's-small content, the show has things in it which are excellent and others which are painfully bad. A miniature blue, green and red painting which is a pleasant op puzzle of forms hangs right next to an awkward pen drawing on a bileous green background. And so it goes, floor to ceiling all around the gallery.

Discovering the nice surprises is part of the game, such as finding those controlled explosions of non-objective form by painters including Phoebe Deignan and Lizk Anderson, or the wintery-feeling abstract by Bernard Healey in grainy textures of grays, white, wet rust and lavendar.

For those who hunger for realism there are many examples. Some simple still lifes look very antique in their velvet and gilt frames as do others reminiscent of early California landscape paintings in their portrayal of romantic country afternoons.

There are also a few clean lined realistic works which are styled more for today. One such painting is Jean Allen's "Clouding Up," with only its lower strip of ochre grasses and brief twist of fence imposing on a blue, cloud-traced expanse of sky. And finally, there are many, many more less happy attempts which make the reasons clear why realism is so often rejected from juried shows.

Even the crafts are questionable when they bend to include cut out doll plaques, note paper and such. But as with the paintings there are some great finds such as rigns with spines of silver clutching semi-precious stones, some attractive stitchery, or decorative pots. There are even happy ideas in the Christmas tree decorations, especially the doves, stars and suns cut from cookie dough.

The things one person hates, another will cherish. And since this non-juried affair makes no attempt to dictate taste or maintain any sort of level, everyone is free to adore what another despises. It's the sort of Christmas time generosity which makes it possible for this bizarre bazaar to offer everyone, no matter what his liking, some pleasant moments.

Housing Agency Cool Hearings

The staff of the Marin County Housing Authority should work closely with the community to insure that authority meetings are conducted in an orderly fashion, commissioners of the housing authority decided Tuesday night.

Recent meetings have included heated verbal confrontations between commissioners and members of the community, according to Wallace K. Shepherd, executive director of the housing organization.

The commission agreed to meet both in Marin City and at other housing projects throughout the county.

Innocent Plea

James Kardis Jr., 21, of 180 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley, has pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of burglarizing a Sausalito residence on Nov. 24. A preliminary hearing is set for Dec. 21.

Ozawa Makes It With Neck Brace

By JAMES E. WILLIAMS

SAN FRANCISCO — Evidently unhampered by a high collar bracing his neck against the pain of pinched nerves, conductor Seiji Ozawa, the diminutive musical dynamo, led the San Francisco Symphony to an early season high last night.

As was evidenced last season in his guest appearances and the symphony's opener last week, the orchestra responded to every nuance of the young maestro in Tschaikowsky's Symphony No. 1 in G Minor, Opus 13 (Winter Dreams).

Especially pleasing was the third movement, the scherzo: allergo scherzando giocoso in which the melody flows between the oboe, flute and bassoon. Also the final movement was well-structured in tonal buildup with Ozawa's magic baton gaining superb contrasting shades between strings, big brass and percussion sections.

Soprano Jane Marsh, who is making her debut with the symphony in this week's concert series, fashioned a dynamic presentation in the last scene from the opera "Daphne" by Richard Strauss. While lacking in certain vocal agility and big tone in the first part of the work, the stunning Miss Marsh finished with clear intonation and phrasing — especially in the echo finale with oboe — of the difficult German libretto.

It was a nice change to hear her in something more than sweet-maiden type operatic roles in which she was cast this past San Francisco Opera season. While her voice does show power, it probably comes across better in the smaller opera houses of Germany where she is establishing her operatic repertoire.

Though not her fault, she was bathed in a rather unflattering pink light. If it was intended to emphasize the dramatic quality of the score and her voice, it came off a poor second.

The 34-year-old Ozawa, who has been forced to wear the neck rigging because of pinched nerves, opened the concert with Arcangelo Corelli's Concerto Grosso, Opus 6, Number 8 (Christmas Concerto). As in the towering Tschaikowsky, he fashioned the reading without score.

The concerto's velvet finish — the pastoral — gave some of the symphony's principals — Stuart Canin, concertmaster; Robert Sayre, cellist, and Rolf Persinger, violist — a chance to create melodious lulling hues.

Rearrangement of the lower string section has greatly improved the tonal quality However, there were at times strained shades from the brass sections. No doubt by mid-season, Ozawa will have all this worked out with the entire ensemble honed to razor sharpness.

an afternoon performance today and can be heard again tomorrow night.

Russian's Absence Mars Nobel Prize Ceremonies

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — An empty chair on the laureates' podium represented Soviet writer Alexander I. Solzhenitsyn at today's awarding of the 1970 Nobel prizes by King Gustav VI Adolf.

The colorful Soviet author, controversial winner of the Nobel Prize for Literature, accepted the award in October but decided against coming to Stockholm for fear he would not be allowed to return home.

The 52-year-old novelist has been under attack in the Soviet Union ever since his prize was announced.

The winners of the awards for medicine, physics, chemistry and economics also received the Nobel insignia from the king of Sweden.

A similar ceremony was being held in Oslo, where American agriculturist Dr. Norman Ernest Borlaug was receiving the 1970 Nobel Prize for Peace.

The 1970 winners who received their prizes in Stockholm and Oslo today were:

—Medicine prize winners: Prof. Julius Axelrod, 48, of the U.S. National Institute of Mental Health at Bethesda, Md.; Prof. Sir Bernard Katz, 59, of University College, London, and Prof. Ulf Von Euler, 65, of the Caroline Institute, Stockholm. They received the award for their research into the nerve cell.

—Economy Prize winner: Prof. Paul A. Samuelson, 55, of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT), awarded for his development of methods for economic analysis.

—Physics laureates: Prof. Louis Neel, 65, of the University of Grenoble, France, and Prof. Hannes Alfven, 62, of the Stockholm University of Technology and the University of California. Neel won half of the prize for his work on magnetism and Alfven was awarded it for his discoveries in the field of plasma physics.

—Chemistry prize winner: Prof. Luis F. Leloir, 64, of the University of Buenos Aires, awarded for his discovery of the sugar nucleotides.

—Dr. Borlaug, who won the peace prize for his development of high-yield seeds which have doubled and tripled agricultural production in some developing countries.

The awards are traditionally presented on Dec. 10, the anniversary of the death of Alfred Nobel, the Swedish inventor of dynamite and industrialist who created the awards.

Ruling Against Officer-Mother

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Air Force legally can discharge an unmarried officer who becomes pregnant, the Ninth U.S.K Circuit Court of Appeals ruled Wednesday in the case of Capt. Susan Struck.

An Air Force regulation forbidding a "female officer who is pregnant or gives birth" from continuing in service "long antedates" Captain Struck's enlistment and was "not a surprise ex facto regulation," the three-judge panel declared

It also noted that the nurse had not exhausted her "administrative remedies" in her efforts to stay in service as a nurse.

Richard Locke, an assistant U.S. attorney, said one administrative remedy would be for Captain Struck to petition the Air Force board for a correction of military records, which would set aside a discharge.

What Were Pharaohs Covering Up?

CAIRO (UPI)—A four-man team of scientists from the University of Michigan was due here today to try to find out some of the ways the ancient Egyptian pharaohs "changed history to suit themselves."

The same team in 1968 discovered in the Cairo museum that what for centuries was believed to be the mummified daughter of Queen Maerke was actually a mummified, adolescent baboon. Now, through a series of studies, they hope to reveal some other facts about ancient Egypt.

The University of Michigan researchers, who left Ann Arbor, Mich., Tuesday, will be making X-rays of 40 Egyptian mummies, each about 3,000 years old. They hope to finish their work before Christmas.

The team is headed by Dr. James E. Harris, an orthodontist, and it includes Dr. Paul V Ponitz, another orthodontist; Dr. Walter Whitehouse, chairman of the U-M department of radiology; and William Russell, chief X-ray technician at the U-M Medical Center. Egyptian and other American scientists were to join them.

They will examine the mummies by X-raying them in three dimensions from head to toe.

Of the 1968 discovery of the mummified baboon in place of what historians had thought was the body of the child of Queen Maerke, Harris said it was "quite startling."

"It adds an aura of mystery," he said. "Was the baby really alive and the baboon put in its place to throw off rival relatives?"

Studies of ancient Egyptian history have shown that, quite frequently, Pharaohs changed history to suit themselves by revising hieroglyphics — the pictorial writings of the ancient Egyptians.

"Once a pharaoh died, it was not uncommon practice for his successor to try to erase all trace of the old pharaoh by tearing down his temples and statues or placing his seal on his predecessor's monuments," Harris said.

Canada Denies Kidnapper Deal

OTTAWA (UPI) —External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp said Wednesday "no deal" existed with the Cuban government to prevent James Cross' kidnapers from leaving that country, but said the men faced certain prosecution if they ever returned to Canada.

Sharp told reporters Cuba agreed to accept the kidnapers on Canada's request for "humanitarian reasons" alone. "We said only that we expected they would not be permitted to engage in acts hostile to Canada," he stated.

PELICAN PERIL? — Though the target of this hunter's blind on Radeo Lagoon at Fort Cronkite is the duck, a few persons fear its ultimate victim may be the brown pelican, rapidly vanishing from the skies and waters of California. The Army's shooting preserve, maintained for public recreation has come under fire for that reason.

CRONKHITE'S BROWN PELICANS

Duck Shooting Ignites Attack

By PAT ANGLE

Duck shooting at Fort Cronkhite has come under fire itself, the incidental target of conservationists concerned about the brown pelican, end victim of a food chain poisoned by pesticides.

A group of Marin and San Francisco conservationists is preparing to do battle with the U.S. Army to force the military to ban all hunting around the Rodeo Lagoon at Fort Cronkhite.

The brackish lagoon is a visiting place for the brown pelican, one of the state's endangered species, and conservationists fear rifle fire in the area will drive the birds further along the road to extinction.

The Sixth Army, whose recent renovation of four duck blinds on the lagoon apparently touched off the controversy, contends all hunting in the area is strictly controlled and in accordance with state laws.

Roderic A. Ireland, public information officer for the Army (which owns the fort) said the military at present does not intend to halt the shooting. "The Army likes to open its lands to the public for all kinds of recreation, including hunting, when it can," Ireland explained.

He went on to say the Army works for the protection and preservation of wildlife and indicated he has no reason to believe the conservationist's charges are true.

Ireland said the Army consults with such persons knowledgeable in the fish and game field in matters such as endangered species, then follows the suggestions of the experts.

James Schroeder, chairman of the San Francisco Wildlife Council and the man spearheading the drive to silence the rifles, disagreed strongly with the Army's stand. "To fire into the habitat of an endangered species is absolute foolishness, absolute folly," he said, adding the state can afford to take no chances with its endangered animals and birds "because extinction is an irreversible process."

Bruce Keegan, chairman of the Sierra Club's wildlife subcommittee, said his group "opposes the shooting that is going on out there (Fort Kronkhite)," but emphasized he was not in a position to speak for the entire club.

But William Thomson, wildlife manager for the California State Department of Fish and Game, sided with the Army. Thomson said the lagoon, while it is used by the pelicans, is not a "critical habitat" or area the birds must have to survive.

Thomson said he did not feel continued hunting in the area — even though it would disturb the pelicans — would decrease the state's pelican population "unless, of course, the hunters shoot them. They have other places to use."

Schroeder, who became concerned when he noticed the rebuilt duck blinds (which the Army says are not to encourage hunting but to limit it to certain areas) said other conservation groups, including the Animal Lovers of Marin and Animal Welfare Association of San Francisco, have promised to join him in the fight.

Additional support came from San Francisco Supervisor Ronald Pelosi. In a recent letter to Col. Guy De Young Jr., commanding officer of the Presidio, Pelosi asked for an end to the shooting. "The brown pelican should be encouraged to use the existing lagoons, rather than frightened away by regular firing of guns," he wrote.

Although the Army claims the blinds and the hunting have existed since the turn of the century, Schroeder argued that the pelican has only recently become endangered and that new action is needed to preserve the fowl.

Commission Approves Bowl Plan

A learn-to-bowl program financed by Brunswick Corp. won approval last night from the Petaluma Recreation, Music and Parks Commission.

Recreation director Richard W. Shollenberger said Brunswick Corp. will provide free lessons, lanes, shoes, balls and babysitting for women and senior citizens. He said the five-week session to be held at the Boulevard Bowl would begin in mid-January.

The commission welcomed the program, saying more recreational activities are needed for women and senior citizens. Shollenberger said a small fee may be charged to cover department paper work.

The Petaluma Recreation, Music and Parks Commission also:

STUDENT — Welcomed Gary Ramatici, a student at St. Vincent's HighSchool, as an advisor, and said a student representative of Petaluma Senior High School will join him in January

FENCE — Heard a report that a fence is being installed around the parking lot between the Sonoma-Marin Fairgrounds and the city swimming pool to keep cars out of the mud during the rainy season. The $565 cost for materials will be shared by the fair board.

LA TERCERA — Heard a report that 2.5 acres of turf has been installed at La Tercera School. The Old Adobe School District provided materials for the irrigation system and installation was done by parks department employees.

MEETING — Tentatively set a study session for Jan. 6 at 7:30 p.m. at city hall to discuss the proposed program of service for the 1971-72 year.

Sides Square Off Over Pay Demands

Dixie School District trustees and teachers were no closer to resolving a salary increase demand by the teachers after a tense board meeting last night.

Supt. Clifford W. Campbell said teachers' representatives asked the board to state formally its position on their request for 11.8 per cent salary hikes.

The board, which informally rejected the request at its last meeting, said it will do so at its next meeting, Jan. 13.

Last night four members of the teachers' council presented the board with a statement expressing the teachers' disappointment and unhappiness with the board's informal decision.

Board members indicated they felt the teachers were not being fair to them, Campbell said.

The Dixie School District Board Also: DIRECTIONS — Received a letter from Virgil S. Hollis, county superintendent of schools, that election of trustees will be April 20, 1971. The terms of two board members — Earl H. Koehler and Melvin R. Stidham — are expiring.

LEAVES — Granted sabbaticals to three employees for the 1971-72 school year: a half year at three-fourths salary to Barbara Murphy, foreign language teacher, to study in France; full year at half pay to director of music Joseph Curatilo to write music reading text book for use in the district, and two days a week at full pay to district psychologist All Carr to do graduate study.

CLASSROOM — Granted use of a classroom at Lucas Valley School for Sunday school classes by Congregation Kol Shofar at the rate of $5 per use for the balance of the school year.

GRANT — Approved an application for a $5,518 federal grant for purchase of library materials. $364 of the grant will be for private schools within the district.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted resignations of Norma L. Kuroiwa, Mary E. Silveira School teacher, and Donald Etheridge, custodian at Vallecito School, both of whom are moving from the area, and Joan Cane, parttime clerical assistant at Santa Margarita School, who has accepted full-time employment elsewhere.

COMMITTEE — Appointed Dr. John P. Clark of 711 Las Colindas Road and Calvin Purvis of 616 Appleberry Drive to the district's Citizens Finance Advisory Committee.

PERSONNEL — Employed two teachers effective next Monday for the balance of the school year. Wilma Goss will receive $8,785 and Janice Nelson $4776.

PARK — Discussed suggestions for joint projects with Andrew J. Snyder Jr., San Rafael director of parks and recreation. Snyder suggested a tennis court on the Don Timoteo School, but the board thought it might be better at Vallecito School. No decisions were made.

Stereo Stolen

Richard M. Swartz, 1720 Alhambra Court, Petaluma, has told police that a stereo tape deck and 15 tapes valued at $269 were stolen Tuesday from his car while parked at Petaluma Senior High School.

Civic Center Pot Arrest Hearing Set

A Mill Valley man who apparently tried to stash a bag of suspected marijuana before being searched upon entering the Hall of Justice at the Civic Center has been arraigned on a charge of possessing pot.

A deputy said he saw Robert Costello Lakin, 20, of 44 Creek Road put an object behind a concrete wall outside the entrance on Tuesday at 1:20 p.m.

The deputy said after discovering that the object was a plastic bag of what appeared to be pot, he arrested Lakin, who was on his way to court on another matter.

Lakin pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to the charge, and a preliminary hearing was set for Dec. 22.

6 Pct. On Welfare

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Health, Education and Welfare Department said today six of every 100 Americans were on welfare as of last June, compared to four of every 100 a decade ago.

Marinite Is First Under Flood Aid

A Larkspur woman yesterday became the first person in Northern California to receive federal aid under a new flood-insurance program subsidized by theU.S. government.

Betsy Michaelson received a check for $3,110.50 to cover 90 per cent of the flood loss 10 days ago.

Mrs. Michaelson of 6 College Court, took out her insurance policy Oct. 23, the day that Larkspur became eligible for the program. She had suffered $20,000 uninsured flood losses in four previous floods, she reported.

Cities and counties that want their homeowners insured under the program, must apply to Washington and show that they have, or will enact, effective flood control measures.

In California, the servicing company for flood and mudslide insurance is the Fireman's Fund American Insurance Companies.

Ross Man Indicted — Loss Of $25,000

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A Ross man was indicted yesterday by a Federal Grand Jury on charges of embezzling more than $25,000 from an account at the bank where he worked.

Thomas Michael Murphy, 61, of 1 Camino Bueno is charged with withdrawing funds in 1967 and 1969 from a savings account of Norva Boas, San Francisco.

The indictment said that Murphy, an assistant cashier at a San Francisco branch of Wells Fargo Bank, withdrew $20,023 from Mrs. Boas's account in 1967 to buy his home and transferred $6,465 from Mrs. Boas's account to his own in 1969.

Upon learning of the indictment, Mrs. Boas said she had not noticed the missing funds because her account "stands in the millions."

Murphy, who has 42 years of service with the bank, faces a maximum penalty on each of the two charges of five years in prison and a $5,000 fine.

Tiburon Fire Board Says No To Consolidation Plan

Secretary Wellman H. Topham said the board voted last night to take that message to a consolidation meeting tonight in Mill Valley.

"The board did not think it (the merger) would be advantageous to our taxpayers at this time," Topham said. "We have a lot of plans of our own to carry out before we think of consolidation."

The board also decided to drop weed abatement proceedings against Knowles L. Hall, of 2200 Vistazo East Street, Tiburon, after hearing a report that weeds on his vacant lot have been cleared away.

Directors voted to purchase a new chief's car for $3,034 and put $250 worth of accessories on it. Chief Franklin J. Buscher has been using an old pickup truck

Marin May Get Parcel For Park

Marin County should apply for the 5.3-acre parcel of hillside above the Tiburon Oceanographic Center, which the federal government will convey at no cost if it is used as a public park.

The Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission yesterday unanimously recommended that action to the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

The parcel was declared surplus in 1967 and put on the open market, but Tiburon city officials last week succeeded in having the federal government take it off the market and offer it to the county without cost.

Pierre W. Joske, director of the county parks and recreation department, said the property would provide access to an adjacent 18 acres of county park, called the Tiburon Uplands Preserve. The 18 acres is almost inaccesssible at present.

Marin County Parks and Recreation Commissioners also:

WALKER CREEK — Asked Joske to encourage the state wildlife conservation board to acquire seven acres of land along Walker Creek, south of Tomales, as a roadside stop and fishing area. The property, owned by Wilbur Parks, lies betweenShoreline Highway and the creek, just south of Walker Creek Bridge.

BLACK CANYON — Commended the City of San Rafael for accepting the 539 acres in Black Canyon from a partnership headed by Frank Sinatra, for $170,000.

SYMPOSIUM — Set Saturday, March 20, 1971, as the date for a countywide symposium to acquaint the public with Marin's park and recreation facilities. A slide show and panel discussions are planned for the one-day conference. The location and speakers are not lined up as yet.

German Christmas Program Slated

A traditional Christmas program of the German Language School of Marin is slated for Dec. 19 at 11 a.m. in the auditorium of the Santa Venetia Middle School.

A play entitled "The Pied Piper of Hamlin" will be presented by some classes and the rest will recite poems and sing German Christmas Songs, according to Joseph Augustin, president of the school.

MUSIC REVIEW

Ozawa Makes It With Neck Brace

By JAMES E. WILLIAMS

SAN FRANCISCO — Evidently unhampered by a high collar bracing his neck against the pain of pinched nerves, conductor Seiji Ozawa, the diminutive musical dynamo, led the San Francisco Symphony to an early season high last night.

As was evidenced last season in his guest appearances and the symphony's opener last week, the orchestra responded to every nuance of the young maestro in Tschaikowsky's Symphony No. 1 in G Minor, Opus 13 (Winter Dreams).

Especially pleasing was the third movement, the scherzo: allergo scherzando gioocoso in which the melody flows between the oboe, flute and bassoon. Also the final movement was well-structured in tonal buildup with Ozawa's magic baton gaining superb contrasting shades between strings, big brass and percussion sections.

Soprano Jane Marsh, who is making her debut with the symphony in this week's concert series, fashioned a dynamic presentation in the last scene from the opera "Daphne" by Richard Strauss. While lacking in certain vocal agility and big tone in the first part of the work, the stunning Miss Marsh finished with clear intonation and phrasing — especially in the echo finale with oboe — of the difficult German libretto.

It was a nice change to hear her in something more than sweet-maiden type operatic roles in which she was cast this past San Francisco Opera season. While her voice does show power, it probably comes across better in the smaller opera houses of Germany where she is establishing her operatic repertoire.

Though not her fault, she was bathed in a rather unflattering pink light. If it was intended to emphasize the dramatic quality of the score and her voice, it came off a poor second.

The 34-year-old Ozawa, who has been forced to wear the neck rigging because of pinched nerves, opened the concert with Arcangelo Corelli's Concerto Grosso, Opus 6, Number 8 (Christmas Concerto). As in the towering Tschaikowsky, he fashioned the reading without score.

The concerto's velvet finish — the pastoral — gave some of the symphony's principals — Stuart Canin, concertmaster; Robert Sayre, cellist, and Rolf Persinger, violist — a chance to create melodious lulling hues.

Rearrangement of the lower string section has greatly improved the tonal quality. However, there were at times strained shades from the brass sections. No doubt by mid-season, Ozawa will have all this worked out with the entire ensemble honed to razor sharpness.

an afternoon performance today and can be heard again tomorrow night.

What Were Pharaohs Covering Up?

CAIRO (UPI)—A four-man team of scientists from the University of Michigan was due here today to try to find out some of the ways the ancient Egyptian pharaohs "changed history to suit themselves."

The same team in 1968 discovered in the Cairo museum that what for centuries was believed to be the mummified daughter of Queen Maerke was actually a mummified, adolescent baboon. Now, through a series of studies, they hope to reveal some other facts about ancient Egypt.

The University of Michigan researchers, who left Ann Arbor, Mich., Tuesday, will be making X-rays of 40 Egyptian mummies, each about 3,000 years old. They hope to finish their work before Christmas.

The team is headed by Dr. James E. Harris, an orthodontist, and it includes Dr. Paul V Ponitz, another orthodontist; Dr. Walter Whitehouse, chairman of the U-M department of radiology; and William Russell, chief X-ray technician at the U-M Medical Center. Egyptian and other American scientists were to join them.

They will examine the mummies by X-raying them in three dimensions from head to toe.

Of the 1968 discovery of the mummified baboon in place of what historians had thought was the body of the child of Queen Maerke, Harris said it was "quite startling."

"It adds an aura of mystery," he said. "Was the baby really alive and the baboon put in its place to throw off rival relatives?"

Studies of ancient Egyptian history have shown that, quite frequently, Pharaohs changed history to suit themselves by revising hieroglyphics — the pictorial writings of the ancient Egyptians.

"Once a pharaoh died, it was not uncommon practice for his successor to try to erase all trace of the old pharaoh by tearing down his temples and statues or placing his seal on his predecessor's monuments," Harris said.

Canada Denies Kidnapper Deal

OTTAWA (UPI) —External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp said Wednesday "no deal" existed with the Cuban government to prevent James Cross' kidnapers from leaving that country, but said the men faced certain prosecution if they ever returned to Canada.

Sharp told reporters Cuba agreed to accept the kidnapers on Canada's request for "humanitarian reasons" alone. "We said only that we expected they would not be permitted to engage in acts hostile to Canada," he stated.

Russian's Absence Mars Nobel Prize Ceremonies

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — An empty chair on the laureates' podium represented Soviet writer Alexander I. Solzhenitsyn at today's awarding of the 1970 Nobel prizes by King Gustav VI Adolf.

The colorful Soviet author, controversial winner of the Nobel Prize for Literature, accepted the award in October but decided against coming to Stockholm for fear he would not be allowed to return home.

The 52-year-old novelist has been under attack in the Soviet Union ever since his prize was announced.

The winners of the awards for medicine, physics, chemistry and economics also received the Nobel insignia from the king of Sweden.

A similar ceremony was being held in Oslo, where American agriculturist Dr. Norman Ernest Borlaug was receiving the 1970 Nobel Prize for Peace.

The 1970 winners who received their prizes in Stockholm and Oslo today were:

—Medicine prize winners: Prof. Julius Axelrod, 48, of the U.S. National Institute of Mental Health at Bethesda, Md.; Prof. Sir Bernard Katz, 59, of University College, London, and Prof. Ulf Von Euler, 65, of the Caroline Institute, Stockholm. They received the award for their research into the nerve cell.

—Physics laureates: Prof. Louis Neel, 65, of the University of Grenoble, France, and Prof. Hannes Alfven, 62, of the Stockholm University of Technology and the University of California. Neel won half of the prize for his work on magnetism and Alfven was awarded it for his discoveries in the field of plasma physics.

—Chemistry prize winner: Prof. Luis F. Leloir, 64, of the University of Buenos Aires, awarded for his discovery of the sugar nucleotides.

—Dr. Borlaug, who won the peace prize for his development of high-yield seeds which have doubled and tripled agricultural production in some developing countries.

The awards are traditionally presented on Dec. 10, the anniversary of the death of Alfred Nobel, the Swedish inventor of dynamite and industrialist who created the awards.

Ruling Against Officer-Mother

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Air Force legally can discharge an unmarried officer who becomes pregnant, the Ninth U.S.K Circuit Court of Appeals ruled Wednesday in the case of Capt. Susan Struck.

An Air Force regulation forbidding a "female officer who is pregnant or gives birth" from continuing in service "long antedates" Captain Struck's enlistment and was "not a surprise ex facto regulation," the three-judge panel declared

It also noted that the nurse had not exhausted her "administrative remedies" in her efforts to stay in service as a nurse.

Richard Locke, an assistant U.S. attorney, said one administrative remedy would be for Captain Struck to petition the Air Force board for a correction of military records, which would set aside a discharge.

Hepatitis Epidemic Rumors 'Unfounded'

Rumors that a hepatitis epidemic is sweeping Homestead School in Mill Valley appear to be unfounded.

Several cases — most sources say seven — have been reported in the past three weeks, but Dr. Marilyn F. Hicks, assistant Marin County health officer, said yesterday that they seem to have been caused by one youngster who contracted the disease and not by contaminated water.

The boy apparently was exposed during a Boy Scout outing and infected four others. No other case was reported until last week, when two other boys became ill. One of them has been hospitalized.

But even the latest two cases could have resulted from the initial exposure, according to Homestead Principal Logan Miles, since the incubation period ranges up to six months.

When the first three cases were reported, Miles said, the school sent home with the students a fact sheet on hepatitis.

It described symptoms (similar to influenza), told how the disease is transmitted (oral-fecal contact) and advised innoculation only in the immediate families of infected children.

But with the outbreak of the latest two cases, Dr. Hicks is advising parents of children whose classmates have become ill to have the youngsters innoculated with gamma globulin. The drug is available free at the Marin County Health Department for these exposed children.

The school in the meantime has canceled the last three weekly hot dog days before Christmas vacation because of the possibility of spreading the virus disease through food preparation.

In addition, Miles said, teachers are stressing personal hygiene and the older students are discussing hepatitis at student council meetings

Cohn To Seek New Trial For Thurber

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Attorney Nathan Cohn said yesterday he will seek a new trial for Frank J. Thurber, convicted of the murder of Independent-Journal employee Allan W. Daly.

Thurber, 45-year-old Mailer Union member from San Bruno, was sentenced by a jury of eight women and four men yesterday to life imprisonment.

Visiting Judge Edmund M. Moor of Alpine County recessed the trial yesterday until 10 a.m. Jan. 7 for hearing of a presentencing report by the probation department, formal sentencing and hearing of motions.

POW Letters Getting Through

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Defense Department says there has been some improvement in the number of letters and postcards the North Vietnamese are allowing their American war prisoners to send home; but it said the amount is still far short of what the Geneva Convention calls for.

A spokesman said only 3,000 cards and letters have been received since the first man was captured six years ago. Under the convention, he said, the 331 prisoners the communists now claim to hold should have been allowed to send 23,832 cards and letters in the past year alone

Chavez' Workers Claim Success In Seven Cities

SALINAS (UPI) — Cesar Chavez' farm union claimed success in seven cities and a state Wednesday for a boycott aimed at forcing a lettuce grower to sign a labor contract.

"Our people report no Antle produce of any kind in New York, the State of New Jersey, Chicago, Los Angeles, San Francisco, San Jose and no chain stores in Boston or Denver, said Marshall Ganz, an AFL-CIO United Farm Workers Organizing Committee field organizer.

His assertion came as Chavez was in jail for contempt of court—failure to call off the boycott against Bud Antle, Inc., which refuses to scrap its 10-year labor pact with the Teamsters Union in favor of the Chavez organization.

Monterey County Superior Court ruled that because of Antle's long-term pact with the Teamsters, Chavez is engaged in an illegal jurisdictional dispute, with Antle the victim.

Left-handed garden equipment is now available.

Pair Of Sensible Ideas For Reducing The Dole

A couple of sensible ideas have emerged from the hand-wringing and oratory over the state and nation's twin problems of spiraling welfare costs and increasing unemployment.

Gov. Ronald Reagan said Monday that he will propose a "public works force" to absorb those on welfare who are able-bodied.

The following day, House and Senate conferees in Washington agreed on manpower legislation that would provide $7 billion to fund 500,000 public service jobs in the next three years, and would turn control of the program over to the states.

Governor Reagan's proposal can go a long way toward getting rid of the demeaning dole. It can help make welfare recipients acquire self-respect and confidence, and it can fit them to take jobs in private employment as these appear.

Too long, the dole system has made idlers out of people who initially wished to work. It has put a premium on laziness by penalizing those who took part-time jobs. It has put welfare recipients in the position of weighing whether they would be better off to take a low-paying job or remain in idleness at public expense.

Up to now, the federal government, under President Johnson's "Great Society" programs and their continuation by the Nixon administration, has spent a great deal of money on job training without producing much in the way of jobs.

The compromise bill agreed on by the House-Senate negotiators, if it becomes law, will enable the states to employ on public works at least a portion of those trained at public expense. Further, it will place control of the program at the state level rather than through the far-flung bureaucracy, which all too often is disgracefully out of touch with local needs and local employment situations.

Both Governor Reagan's proposal and the new federal bill return to an approach to the unemployment problem that was tried with some success a generation back as one of the first features of President Franklin D. Roosevelt's "New Deal."

The Civil Works Administration of 1933 and its successor, the Works Progress Administration, provided jobs on public projects for those thrown out of work by the private sector. Only those unable to work were placed on the dole, which midway in the "New Deal" was turned over to the states.

When World War II brought full employment, the federal government phased out its works program. The dole remained, as a state responsibility with federal assistance. And in recent years, it has been expanded into the welfare program that threatens to bankrupt state governments and costs the federal government more than any function except defense.

There were a lot of jokes about "shovel leaners" and "leaf rakers" in the days of WPA. But there are a lot of dams, bridges, streets and sidewalks still in use that it made possible.

We hope Governor Reagan will have the support of the California Legislature in trying to put welfare recipients who are able to work into employment of public benefit. And we hope the House and Senate will accept the compromise bill's provisions giving the states control over job training and public jobs for as many as possible of those trained.

The Tip Of The Iceberg

That man is changing his environment in ways which are often bad is obvious to anyone with eyes and a mind. But the thing which worries most students of the earth sciences is not what we can see or be made aware of now. Rather it is the gnawing fear that what we know now is only the tip of the iceberg.

The discovery of possibly toxic levels of mercury in bay fish, and the findings that solar radiation in the nation's capital has been reduced by 16 per cent in the last 50 years due to man-made particulates in the atmosphere were just two surprises this year.

Without being alarmists, we can ask: What other things is man doing to our earth that are harmful, but not yet understood to be so? We suspect mankind will survive by becoming more aware and taking action when the occasion demands. To do this, he must seek out the hidden dimensions of the iceberg.

Tulare County Hopes For Tax Relief Through Mineral King

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Consider the plight of Tulare County, an economically depressed area, which is on the verge of increasing its tax base to the point where citizens can get some respite, but finds a private organization is making every effort it can to thwart the increase.

Calvin E. Baldwin, Tulare County counsel, makes substantially this contention in appearing as a "friend of the court" in the Mineral King case, now on appeal to the United States Supreme Court after having been shot down by the Circuit Court of Appeals.

Baldwin and his associate attorneys have filed a comprehensive argument against the petition of the Sierra Club to halt development of Mineral King as a public recreation and ski resort by Walt Disney Enterprises

AMONG OTHER arguments, Baldwin contends that further delay of the project woudl "postpone realization of the economic benefits which will accrue to Tulare County residents from its completion."

The brief calls attention to the role Mineral King will play in stimulating the county's lagging economy and strenghtening its tax base

"The brief," Baldwin says, "emphasizes the growing demand for tax-financed services to which the county is subjected, and the pressing need for rapid utilization of the $1.5 million in county tax revenues alone which Mineral King is expected to generate annually."

THE BALDWIN brief points out that the Sierra Club is no more injured by the issuance of permits to develop Mineral King than by scores of other federal land management decisions of the court with which the club may disagree.

There have been, the brief points out, some 84 permits granted for developments of this type in various parts of the United States.

This is in line with the government policy of developing forest lands for the maximum benefit, use and enjoyment of the people.

In any event, virtually everyone involved appears to want the Mineral King developments except the Sierra Club.

Incensed Over Denial of Fence

How narrow minded, non-sympathetic, pseudo-bureaucratic idiots — that for some mysterious reason are members of the so-called City Council of Larkspur — can deny a man such as Dr. R. Ceniceros his right to erect a seemingly esthetic fence on his property is totally beyond me.

Is the City of Larkspur running so smoothly in all other areas that they have nothing better to discuss in order to justify their jobs?

The Jews In Russia —A Sad Dilemma

LONDON (Toronto Telegram News Service) — Two Jews met in a Moscow square. The first one said: "Did you hear? One of our Russian jet-fighters has been shot down over the Suez Canal."

"Who shot it down?" asked the second Jew.

"We did," replied the first.

Most certainly the two men would have looked around furtively as they made their little "joke". For there is an ironic sadness in the dilemma of the three million or so Jews who lead an uneasy existence in the Soviet Union.

Nobody knows just how many tens or maybe hundreds of thousands wish to emigrate to Israel. Now and again when a group of Jews is reported to have tried to hijack a plane in order to escape to the West, or when a Jew is arrested on the pavement outside the American Embassy in Moscow trying to get a visa, the "Jewish" problem rises to the surface through the tight veil of censorship and the threatening menace of the Russian secret police.

Now, thanks to several years of painstaking research and the smuggling out of material from Russia, the Institute of Jewish Affairs in London has compiled a book called "The Jews in Soviet Russia — since 1917". This well-documented work, edited by Lionel Kochan, paints the most complete picture yet of the Jews in the Soviet Union.

With the Kremlin so deeply committed to the Arab cause, it is perhaps easy to understand why powerful anti-Israeli and anti-Semitic impulses stream from Moscow — impulses so dramatically underlined by the last Russian pilot shot down by an Israeli just before the Suez canal ceasefire came into operation. As he prepared to bale out of his blazing MiG Jet, he was heard by Israeli radio-men to shout out in Russian: "The bloody Jews. They will pay for this."

In Russia, the Jews have always been paying. Before the 1917 revolution, anti-Semitism was rife and deeply embedded in traditional attitudes. True, it was "merely" a primitive peasant anti-Semitism with the occasional officially encouraged pogrom.

These massacres acted as a safety valve for the authorities to deflect the misery of the people into venting their anger against the convenient Jewish scapegoats. There were none of the Nazi-style "concentration camps" to be found in pre-1917 Russia.

General Finally Learns, But How About President?

(Reprinted from John S. Knight's "Notebook" in Detroit Free Press)

As Grandma used to say, "I never thought I'd live to see it."

For here is Marine Corps Gen. Lewis W. Walt admitting that he was naive about the war in Vietnam. The four-star general, who first arrived in Vietnam in 1965, says it took him six months to learn what the war was all about.

"We didn't appreciate the importance of the guerilla," concedes Walt. "When I got out there, I didn't understand. You just can't go in and wipe out guerillas."

General Walt had a lot of company in those days. To mention a few, the uninformed included President Johnson, Defense Secretary McNamara, Sec. of State Dean Rusk, Gen. Maxwell Taylor, and the military brass who came and went without ever grasping the nature of the conflict or its historical significance.

The useless slaughter at Con Thien and more than 2,300 Marine casulties in a 77-day siege at Khe Sanh prompted this personal observation at the time: "All of which raises serious questions about the effectiveness of our military strategy. The brave men who died at Khe Sanh, an American base later abandoned, can never answer. They gave their lives, but for what purpose?"

Bring our men home.

IN PRESIDENT Nixon's new foreign aid package, there is an item of $250 million in additional military aid and economic assistance for Cambodia.

Yet only last April, the President's "limited assistance" program was to cost about $40 million for small arms and equipment which he said the Lon Nol government urgently needed.

This sharp rise in aid to Cambodia — the U.S. gave nothing to Lon Nol's predecessor, Prince Sihanouk — indicates a more permanent form of involvement than we had been led to believe.

We are already paying more than $100 million a year to South Korea, 19 years after the Panmunjo armistice. Now another $150 million is being proposed to support "modernization of South korea's defense."

A billion dollars has gone to pay for the services of 50,000 South Korean soldiers in South Vietnam. Another billion dollars has been spent in Thailand.

Most of these transactions were made by executive order and without congressional approval or notice to the public.

If, as some contend, we are turning back communism in the Far East, are we not also doing the communists work by exhausting our resources at home?

Moscow could not have planned it better.

Plight Of Prisoners Overhangs Disinvolvement From Vietnam

PARIS — The record is scratched, cracked in places, yet it grinds on with no letup in sight. The Vietnam peace talks have become propaganda charade that seems increasingly irrelevant to the gradual falling off of the war itself.

Among those who have spent years in the Vietnamese quagmire, the belief is that the war is dropping out of sight. The number of American troops will have been reduced by next April or May to 280,000. President Nixon will announce another big slice of at least a hundred thousand for the following six months.

By mid-1972 only small cadres will remain to carry out the final tasks of disengagement.

THERE IS, however, one deeply emotional element that clouds this otherwise glowing horizon. The prisoners of war, Americans missing — some of them five or six years — stir the most intense feelings, spreading far beyond the personal tragedy of the individuals involved. If there is to be a backlash in American opinion over the seeming futility of nearly 50,000 American dead, the plight of the prisoners will weigh heavily in the emotional scales.

Hardly a day goes by that America's chief delegate at the talks, Ambassador David K. E. Bruce, does not meet with one or more of the wives and parents of men missing in Vietnam or Laos.

These women go to the headquarters of Xuan Thuy of the North Vietnamese delegation to present petitions signed by thousands of sympathizers. They are never admitted. Nor is there much that Bruce or any other American can do to help.

OF THE 1,552 men missing or captured beginning in 1964, half are believed to be dead. Many are thought to have lost their lives in air combat. According to figures given out here, 17 known prisoners have been murdered or have died in Vietcong captivity.

Reports of increasing numbers of deaths from malnutrition and disease led to the commando raid on the Sontay prison camp.

Bruce feels strongly that another such raid could have a serious adverse effect on the plight of Americans still alive. At the same time he has repeated the President's warning that the United States would try any and all means to bring the prisoners out alive.

The issue of the prisoners has cost the Communists dearly in world opinion. Repeatedly in the negotiating sessions and in public declamations, it has been shown how they have violated every rule of the Geneva Convention covering prisoners of war. The United States has offered to turn over 36,000 Vietcong and North Vietnamese prisoners in return for Americans still in Communist camps. The invariable answer in which the fiery Vietcong delegate, Mrs. Nguyen Thi Binh specializes in an angry no.

CRITICS WOULD equate the plight of the prisoners with that of the thousands upon thousands of Vietnam civilian casualties resulting from American bombing. The hatreds go so deep. That is one reason for doubt that merely running down the American war can bring stability to South Vietnam.

The Americans here say that the South Vietnamese delegates on their side of the table have expressed their willingness to talk with the North Vietnamese about a political settlement. The belief on the Communist side is that if they cannot win the war militarily they will win it politically. And, given all the uncertainties of Saigon, they could be proved right.

NORTH POLE INTERVIEW

Pressure Groups Take Fun Out Of Being Santa

By GEORGE BARKER

His wife met us at the door and told us he was waiting in his shop. "Do be gentle with him," she begged. "He's not himself this year. All the pressure groups are getting him down."

"Trouble, trouble!" he muttered. "Nothing but complaints! Not like the simple old days. Between the consumer protection people, the ecologists, the safety nuts and the nutritionists — you have no idea of my problems!

"TAKE MY CANDY. Children love it. Most grownups, too. It is made of the finest ingredients in my own factory, which is supervised by the Sugar Plum Fairy. For generations my candy has been famous. But the complaints nowadays! Consumer's Union rated the chocolate cherries 'unacceptable' because they contain a minute amount of a preservative which when injected in massive doses into a group of Australian wallabies caused three out of four to suffer dehydration of the big toenail. The ecologists complain that every five-pound paper box and wrapping of my candy takes seven-fiftieths of a Mississippi Delta scrub pine. I suppose they want me to go down a warm chimney, carrying unwrapped chocolates in my mittens. A safety-minded group suggested I quit my line of nut candies because of the danger of choking. And the nutritionists accuse me of encouraging poor eating habits, of making my candy with refined sugar and peddling empty calories. That's just my candy!

"Ralph Nader has found defective wheel-alignment in my wagons and tricycles. Ecology Action doesn't want me to give anything in non-returnable bottles. The Underwriters' Laboratory says some of my electric toys can give a nasty shock and shouldn't be used in the bathtub.

"THIS USED to be a fun job. Everybody liked me and being Santa felt good. But times are changing. The kids don't trust me because I'm over 30. The authorities say my reflexes are slowing down and threaten not to renew my reindeer driver's license."

A strange smile flickered over Santa's face and his eyes lighted up. "Tell the world Santa's coming, despite everything. And that he plans to put coal in little Ralphie Nader's stocking."

Hepatitis Epidemic Rumors 'Unfounded'

Rumors that a hepatitis epidemic is sweeping Homestead School in Mill Valley appear to be unfounded.

Several cases — most sources say seven — have been reported in the past three weeks, but Dr. Marilyn F. Hicks, assistant Marin County health officer, said yesterday that they seem to have been caused by one youngster who contracted the disease and not by contaminated water.

The boy apparently was exposed during a Boy Scout outing and infected four others. No other case was reported until last week, when two other boys became ill. One of them has been hospitalized.

But even the latest two cases could have resulted from the initial exposure, according to Homestead Principal Logan Miles, since the incubation period ranges up to six months.

When the first three cases were reported, Miles said, the school sent home with the students a fact sheet on hepatitis.

It described symptoms (similar to influenza), told how the disease is transmitted (oral-fecal contact) and advised innoculation only in the immediate families of infected children.

But with the outbreak of the latest two cases, Dr. Hicks is advising parents of children whose classmates have become ill to have the youngsters innoculated with gamma globulin. The drug is available free at the Marin County Health Department for these exposed children.

The school in the meantime has canceled the last three weekly hot dog days before Christmas vacation because of the possibility of spreading the virus disease through food preparation.

In addition, Miles said, teachers are stressing personal hygiene and the older students are discussing hepatitis at student council meetings

Cohn To Seek New Trial For Thurber

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Attorney Nathan Cohn said yesterday he will seek a new trial for Frank J. Thurber, convicted of the murder of Independent-Journal employee Allan W. Daly.

Thurber, 45-year-old Mailer Union member from San Bruno, was sentenced by a jury of eight women and four men yesterday to life imprisonment.

Visiting Judge Edmund M. Moor of Alpine County recessed the trial yesterday until 10 a.m. Jan. 7 for hearing of a presentencing report by the probation department, formal sentencing and hearing of motions.

POW Letters Getting Through

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Defense Department says there has been some improvement in the number of letters and postcards the North Vietnamese are allowing their American war prisoners to send home; but it said the amount is still far short of what the Geneva Convention calls for.

A spokesman said only 3,000 cards and letters have been received since the first man was captured six years ago. Under the convention, he said, the 331 prisoners the communists now claim to hold should have been allowed to send 23,832 cards and letters in the past year alone

LONDON (UPI) — Bernadette Devlin, 22-year-old member of parliament, will sing at an Islington Hall concert Thursday night in aid of the Irish political detainees defense fund. The militant Roman Catholic member of parliament from Northern Ireland said she has not decided on her repertoire.

Chavez' Workers Claim Success In Seven Cities

SALINAS (UPI) — Cesar Chavez' farm union claimed success in seven cities and a state Wednesday for a boycott aimed at forcing a lettuce grower to sign a labor contract.

"Our people report no Antle produce of any kind in New York, the State of New Jersey, Chicago, Los Angeles, San Francisco, San Jose and no chain stores in Boston or Denver, said Marshall Ganz, an AFL-CIO United Farm Workers Organizing Committee field organizer.

His assertion came as Chavez was in jail for contempt of court—failure to call off the boycott against Bud Antle, Inc., which refuses to scrap its 10-year labor pact with the Teamsters Union in favor of the Chavez organization.

Monterey County Superior Court ruled that because of Antle's long-term pact with the Teamsters, Chavez is engaged in an illegal jurisdictional dispute, with Antle the victim.

Left-handed garden equipment is now available.

PELICAN PERIL? — Though the target of this hunter's blind on Radeo Lagoon at Fort Cronkite is the duck, a few persons fear its ultimate victim may be the brown pelican, rapidly vanishing from the skies and waters of California. The Army's shooting preserve, maintained for public recreation has come under fire for that reason.

CRONKHITE'S BROWN PELICANS

Duck Shooting Ignites Attack

By PAT ANGLE

Duck shooting at Fort Cronkhite has come under fire itself, the incidental target of conservationists concerned about the brown pelican, end victim of a food chain poisoned by pesticides.

A group of Marin and San Francisco conservationists is preparing to do battle with the U.S. Army to force the military to ban all hunting around the Rodeo Lagoon at Fort Cronkhite.

The brackish lagoon is a visiting place for the brown pelican, one of the state's endangered species, and conservationists fear rifle fire in the area will drive the birds further along the road to extinction.

The Sixth Army, whose recent renovation of four duck blinds on the lagoon apparently touched off the controversy, contends all hunting in the area is strictly controlled and in accordance with state laws.

Roderic A. Ireland, public information officer for the Army (which owns the fort) said the military at present does not intend to halt the shooting. "The Army likes to open its lands to the public for all kinds of recreation, including hunting, when it can," Ireland explained.

He went on to say the Army works for the protection and preservation of wildlife and indicated he has no reason to believe the conservationist's charges are true.

Ireland said the Army consults with such persons knowledgeable in the fish and game field in matters such as endangered species, then follows the suggestions of the experts.

James Schroeder, chairman of the San Francisco Wildlife Council and the man spearheading the drive to silence the rifles, disagreed strongly with the Army's stand. "To fire into the habitat of an endangered species is absolute foolishness, absolute folly," he said, adding the state can afford to take no chances with its endangered animals and birds "because extinction is an irreversible process."

Bruce Keegan, chairman of the Sierra Club's wildlife subcommittee, said his group "opposes the shooting that is going on out there (Fort Kronkhite)," but emphasized he was not in a position to speak for the entire club.

But William Thomson, wildlife manager for the California State Department of Fish and Game, sided with the Army. Thomson said the lagoon, while it is used by the pelicans, is not a "critical habitat" or area the birds must have to survive.

Thomson said he did not feel continued hunting in the area — even though it would disturb the pelicans — would decrease the state's pelican population "unless, of course, the hunters shoot them. They have other places to use."

Schroeder, who became concerned when he noticed the rebuilt duck blinds (which the Army says are not to encourage hunting but to limit it to certain areas) said other conservation groups, including the Animal Lovers of Marin and Animal Welfare Association of San Francisco, have promised to join him in the fight.

Additional support came from San Francisco Supervisor Ronald Pelosi. In a recent letter to Col. Guy De Young Jr., commanding officer of the Presidio, Pelosi asked for an end to the shooting. "The brown pelican should be encouraged to use the existing lagoons, rather than frightened away by regular firing of guns," he wrote.

Although the Army claims the blinds and the hunting have existed since the turn of the century, Schroeder argued that the pelican has only recently become endangered and that new action is needed to preserve the fowl.

Commission Approves Bowl Plan

A learn-to-bowl program financed by Brunswick Corp. won approval last night from the Petaluma Recreation, Music and Parks Commission.

Recreation director Richard W. Shollenberger said Brunswick Corp. will provide free lessons, lanes, shoes, balls and babysitting for women and senior citizens. He said the five-week session to be held at the Boulevard Bowl would begin in mid-January.

The commission welcomed the program, saying more recreational activities are needed for women and senior citizens. Shollenberger said a small fee may be charged to cover department paper work.

The Petaluma Recreation, Music and Parks Commission also:

STUDENT — Welcomed Gary Ramatici, a student at St. Vincent's HighSchool, as an advisor, and said a student representative of Petaluma Senior High School will join him in January

FENCE — Heard a report that a fence is being installed around the parking lot between the Sonoma-Marin Fairgrounds and the city swimming pool to keep cars out of the mud during the rainy season. The $565 cost for materials will be shared by the fair board.

LA TERCERA — Heard a report that 2.5 acres of turf has been installed at La Tercera School. The Old Adobe School District provided materials for the irrigation system and installation was done by parks department employees.

MEETING — Tentatively set a study session for Jan. 6 at 7:30 p.m. at city hall to discuss the proposed program of service for the 1971-72 year.

Sides Square Off Over Pay Demands

Dixie School District trustees and teachers were no closer to resolving a salary increase demand by the teachers after a tense board meeting last night.

Supt. Clifford W. Campbell said teachers' representatives asked the board to state formally its position on their request for 11.8 per cent salary hikes.

The board, which informally rejected the request at its last meeting, said it will do so at its next meeting, Jan. 13.

Last night four members of the teachers' council presented the board with a statement expressing the teachers' disappointment and unhappiness with the board's informal decision.

Board members indicated they felt the teachers were not being fair to them, Campbell said.

The Dixie School District Board Also:

DIRECTIONS — Received a letter from Virgil S. Hollis, county superintendent of schools, that election of trustees will be April 20, 1971. The terms of two board members — Earl H. Koehler and Melvin R. Stidham — are expiring.

LEAVES — Granted sabbaticals to three employees for the 1971-72 school year: a half year at three-fourths salary to Barbara Murphy, foreign language teacher, to study in France; full year at half pay to director of music Joseph Curatilo to write music reading text book for use in the district, and two days a week at full pay to district psychologist All Carr to do graduate study.

CLASSROOM — Granted use of a classroom at Lucas Valley School for Sunday school classes by Congregation Kol Shofar at the rate of $5 per use for the balance of the school year.

GRANT — Approved an application for a $5,518 federal grant for purchase of library materials. $364 of the grant will be for private schools within the district.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted resignations of Norma L. Kuroiwa, Mary E. Silveira School teacher, and Donald Etheridge, custodian at Vallecito School, both of whom are moving from the area, and Joan Cane, parttime clerical assistant at Santa Margarita School, who has accepted full-time employment elsewhere.

COMMITTEE — Appointed Dr. John P. Clark of 711 Las Colindas Road and Calvin Purvis of 616 Appleberry Drive to the district's Citizens Finance Advisory Committee.

PERSONNEL — Employed two teachers effective next Monday for the balance of the school year. Wilma Goss will receive $8,785 and Janice Nelson $4776.

PARK — Discussed suggestions for joint projects with Andrew J. Snyder Jr., San Rafael director of parks and recreation. Snyder suggested a tennis court on the Don Timoteo School, but the board thought it might be better at Vallecito School. No decisions were made.

Stereo Stolen

Richard M. Swartz, 1720 Alhambra Court, Petaluma, has told police that a stereo tape deck and 15 tapes valued at $269 were stolen Tuesday from his car while parked at Petaluma Senior High School.

Civic Center Pot Arrest Hearing Set

A Mill Valley man who apparently tried to stash a bag of suspected marijuana before being searched upon entering the Hall of Justice at the Civic Center has been arraigned on a charge of possessing pot.

A deputy said he saw Robert Costello Lakin, 20, of 44 Creek Road put an object behind a concrete wall outside the entrance on Tuesday at 1:20 p.m.

The deputy said after discovering that the object was a plastic bag of what appeared to be pot, he arrested Lakin, who was on his way to court on another matter.

Lakin pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to the charge, and a preliminary hearing was set for Dec. 22.

6 Pct. On Welfare

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Health, Education and Welfare Department said today six of every 100 Americans were on welfare as of last June, compared to four of every 100 a decade ago.

Marinite Is First Under Flood Aid

A Larkspur woman yesterday became the first person in Northern California to receive federal aid under a new flood-insurance program subsidized by theU.S. government.

Betsy Michaelson received a check for $3,110.50 to cover 90 per cent of the flood loss 10 days ago.

Mrs. Michaelson of 6 College Court, took out her insurance policy Oct. 23, the day that Larkspur became eligible for the program. She had suffered $20,000 uninsured flood losses in four previous floods, she reported.

Cities and counties that want their homeowners insured under the program, must apply to Washington and show that they have, or will enact, effective flood control measures.

In California, the servicing company for flood and mudslide insurance is the Fireman's Fund American Insurance Companies.

Ross Man Indicted — Loss Of $25,000

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A Ross man was indicted yesterday by a Federal Grand Jury on charges of embezzling more than $25,000 from an account at the bank where he worked.

Thomas Michael Murphy, 61, of 1 Camino Bueno is charged with withdrawing funds in 1967 and 1969 from a savings account of Norva Boas, San Francisco.

The indictment said that Murphy, an assistant cashier at a San Francisco branch of Wells Fargo Bank, withdrew $20,023 from Mrs. Boas's account in 1967 to buy his home and transferred $6,465 from Mrs. Boas's account to his own in 1969.

Upon learning of the indictment, Mrs. Boas said she had not noticed the missing funds because her account "stands in the millions."

Murphy, who has 42 years of service with the bank, faces a maximum penalty on each of the two charges of five years in prison and a $5,000 fine.

Tiburon Fire Board Says No To Consolidation Plan

Secretary Wellman H. Topham said the board voted last night to take that message to a consolidation meeting tonight in Mill Valley.

"The board did not think it (the merger) would be advantageous to our taxpayers at this time," Topham said. "We have a lot of plans of our own to carry out before we think of consolidation."

The board also decided to drop weed abatement proceedings against Knowles L. Hall, of 2200 Vistazo East Street, Tiburon, after hearing a report that weeds on his vacant lot have been cleared away.

Marin May Get Parcel For Park

Marin County should apply for the 5.3-acre parcel of hillside above the Tiburon Oceanographic Center, which the federal government will convey at no cost if it is used as a public park.

The Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission yesterday unanimously recommended that action to the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

The parcel was declared surplus in 1967 and put on the open market, but Tiburon city officials last week succeeded in having the federal government take it off the market and offer it to the county without cost.

Pierre W. Joske, director of the county parks and recreation department, said the property would provide access to an adjacent 18 acres of county park, called the Tiburon Uplands Preserve. The 18 acres is almost inaccesssible at present.

Marin County Parks and Recreation Commissioners also:

WALKER CREEK — Asked Joske to encourage the state wildlife conservation board to acquire seven acres of land along Walker Creek, south of Tomales, as a roadside stop and fishing area. The property, owned by Wilbur Parks, lies betweenShoreline Highway and the creek, just south of Walker Creek Bridge.

BLACK CANYON — Commended the City of San Rafael for accepting the 539 acres in Black Canyon from a partnership headed by Frank Sinatra, for $170,000.

SYMPOSIUM — Set Saturday, March 20, 1971, as the date for a countywide symposium to acquaint the public with Marin's park and recreation facilities. A slide show and panel discussions are planned for the one-day conference. The location and speakers are not lined up as yet.

A play entitled "The Pied Piper of Hamlin" will be presented by some classes and the rest will recite poems and sing German Christmas Songs, according to Joseph Augustin, president of the school.

Contrast In Planning Approach Between San Rafael, Novato

Recently I have been able to compare the workings of the San Rafael Planning Commission with that of Novato, second to San Rafael as largest city in the county.

It is obvious that San Rafael has gone through some growing pains, because the planners are trying to correct some earlier mistakes regarding businesses. But this shows that they had allowed the businesses to come into the city in the first place.

I do not know what prompted earlier commissions to allow some businesses to locate where they did, or in structures as they did, but it meant income for the city at the time.

Now that the city has grown, it is encouraging shopping centers and retail business in industrial zones.

At a recent meeting, it took the commission less than 45 minutes to approve plans for five major buildings of 234,000 square feet at Northgate Shopping Center. These stores will draw business from all over Marin County and southern Sonoma County.

Novato, on the other hand, has made it extremely hard for new businesses to come into the city. It takes months and months of fighting city hall to get something as simple as a pizza restaurant into Novato.

Not only does a new merchant have to fight city hall, he sometimes has to fight other merchants and special interests. If he doesn't run into that, he runs into the people. There are those in Novato who do not want any more grocery stores, restaurants, service stations, etc. However, those that are there seem to be prospering.

Banks and savings and loan companies have never had any trouble. Generally speaking, there are always more grocery stores than banks in any city. Novato just barely comes in that category. It has eight grocery stores, including both neighborhood stores and supermarkets. It has seven banks and savings institutions.

Novato just spent $41,000 for a downtown study, hoping to revitalize the retail businesses on Grant Avenue, but a quick trip down the street would show that there are very few retail stores on the street. Most business is done in shopping centers.

Rather than allow these shopping centers to merge together, as four of them could at Diablo, Center and South Novato boulevards, the Novato downtown study plan proposes another shopping center out of the present business district.

I was reminded that several weeks ago I was talking to a former Novato businessman who had sold out and bought a business elsewhere in the county. He said that Novato could plan itself out of business. I asked him what he meant.

He said that with Northgate drawing as much business as it does from Novato, and Novato being so unwilling to let business into the city, the next regional shopping center might be across the line in southern Sonoma County, or even Petaluma. That is why he sold out, he said.

It seems as though somewhere there is a lesson here for Novato that is, unless its residents want merely a bedroom community.

Cabinet Officers Now Fighting To Keep From Seeing President

WASHINGTON — There was a time when every cabinet member of the Nixon administration was fighting to get in to see the President at the White House.

But after Walter Hickel was granted an audience with Mr. Nixon and fired on the spot, other cabinet officers have decided there is no need to see the President after all.

Six months ago there were three or four cabinet officers waiting in line by the White House gate, hoping to get a glimpse of the President, just so they could go back to their departments and say they saw him.

But all this has changed.

THE OTHER DAY a cabinet officer I know received a telephone call from the White House. His wife answered.

It's John Ehrlichman. He says you asked a year ago to see the President, and he thinks he can squeeze you in on Thursday between 4 and 5.''

'.Oh, no,'' the cabinet officer cried. ''Tell him I changed my mind.''

His wife transmitted the message and then told her husband, ''He says even if you don't want to see the President, the President ants to see you.''

''Tell him I've got to address a chamber of commerce meeting in Oklahoma on Thursday between 4 and 5.''

THE IFE DID this and listened. ''Yes, all right, we'll be there.'' And she hung up.

''Where will we be?'' The cabinet officer asked in fear.

''We've been invited to church services at the White House on Sunday,'' his wife said.

''Call back and tell him we don't believe in God,'' the cabinet officer implored.

''Now stop being ridiculous. Surely if the President was going to fire you, he wouldn't do it at church services on Sunday morning.''

''You don't know how those people operate over there at the White House. Two weeks ago they canned six poverty lawyers while the choir was singing ''Nearer My God to Thee,''

''Well, you can,t very well refuse an invitation to go to church services at the White House. Besides, if we sit in the back maybe the President won't see us.''

''ALL RIGHT, but let's pack and put our stuff in the trunk of the car just in case,'' he said.

The cabinet officer and his wife showed up at the White House the next Sunday. Billy Graham was reading from the Book of Job.

''Why then then did you bring me forth from the womb?

''I should have died and no eye have seen me.

''I should be as though I never lived;

''I should have been taken from the womb to the grave.''

The cabinet officer whispered, ''There, what did I tell you!''

''THE MESSAGE could be for the secretary of the treasry,'' his wife whispered back.

Are not the days of my life few?

''Let me alone that I might recover a little

'PBefore I go from whence I shall not return, to the

''Land of darkness and gloom,

''The black disordered land

⅛'Where darkness is the only light.''

The cabinet officer said, . ''It's either Romney or me.''

ATTY. GEN. John Mitchell started passing the collection plate. As he handed the basket to the cabinet officer, he said quietly, ''Sit tight until you hear from me.',

But as the choir sang ''Glorious Things of Thee Are Spoken,'' a task force from the White House had already taken over the cabinet member's office and changed all the locks on the doors.

Eye Tests Due Pre-Schoolers

Eye tests for all the preschoolers in Marin child centers are to be provided Jan. 12 to 15.

The tests to be made by doctors from Contra Costa and Alameda county optemetric societies will be offered at Manzanita Pre-School Center in Marin City Jan. 12-14, from 9:30 a.m. to noon according to Margo Schmitz, coordinator for health care services for children's centers.

Coleman Resigns As Cotati Schools Head

Cotati Schools Supt. Duncan A. Coleman submitted his resignation Tuesday night, but gave no explanation for his action.

Coleman told the Cotati School District board he would leave his post on June 30. The board accepted his resignation, but made no immediate plans to seek a successor.

Coleman is in his fifth year as district superintendent. He said he planned to stay in the field of education, but had no new job in mind.

Board member Bart C. Mitchell said the resignation came as a complete surprise to the board. He said applications will probably not be sought until early next year.

The Cotati School District Board also:

MOBILE HOMES — Rejected the suggestion of the Petaluma Board of Education for a moratorium on mobile home parks until possible tax inequities are solved. The board said it felt that mobile homes are an asset to the community.

GRADUATION — Rejected a plan to do away with sixth grade graduation ceremonies

RESIGNATION — Accepted the resignation of teacher Helen Mills, who will do graduate work

Hearing Set For Marijuana Count

Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. of Marin Municipal Court has denied a motion to suppress the evidence in the case of Robert Morrison Gould, 19, of Novato, who is charged with possessing marijuana for sale.

A preliminary hearing was set for next Tuesday.

Gould was arrested in October by the California Highway Patrol.

Crash Causes Whiplash Injury

A 19-year-old Petaluma woman was injured Tuesday at 3:10 p.m. in a two-car accident on northbound Highway 101 on California Park Hill in San Rafael, according to the California Highway Patrol.

The patrol said her car stopped in heavy traffic and was struck from behind by a vehicle driven by William P. De Lorey, 26, of Santa Maria. De Lorey told officers he would see his owr. doctor for pain in both knees.

PELICAN PERIL? — Though the target of this hunter's blind on Radeo Lagoon at Fort Cronkite is the duck, a few persons fear its ultimate victim may be the brown pelican, rapidly vanishing from the skies and waters of California. The Army's shooting preserve, maintained for public recreation has come under fire for that reason.

CRONKHITE'S BROWN PELICANS

Duck Shooting Ignites Attack

By PAT ANGLE

Duck shooting at Fort Cronkhite has come under fire itself, the incidental target of conservationists concerned about the brown pelican, end victim of a food chain poisoned by pesticides.

A group of Marin and San Francisco conservationists is preparing to do battle with the U.S. Army to force the military to ban all hunting around the Rodeo Lagoon at Fort Cronkhite.

The brackish lagoon is a visiting place for the brown pelican, one of the state's endangered species, and conservationists fear rifle fire in the area will drive the birds further along the road to extinction.

The Sixth Army, whose recent renovation of four duck blinds on the lagoon apparently touched off the controversy, contends all hunting in the area is strictly controlled and in accordance with state laws.

Roderic A. Ireland, public information officer for the Army (which owns the fort) said the military at present does not intend to halt the shooting. "The Army likes to open its lands to the public for all kinds of recreation, including hunting, when it can," Ireland explained.

He went on to say the Army works for the protection and preservation of wildlife and indicated he has no reason to believe the conservationist's charges are true.

Ireland said the Army consults with such persons knowledgeable in the fish and game field in matters such as endangered species, then follows the suggestions of the experts.

James Schroeder, chairman of the San Francisco Wildlife Council and the man spearheading the drive to silence the rifles, disagreed strongly with the Army's stand. "To fire into the habitat of an endangered species is absolute foolishness, absolute folly," he said, adding the state can afford to take no chances with its endangered animals and birds "because extinction is an irreversible process."

Bruce Keegan, chairman of the Sierra Club's wildlife subcommittee, said his group "opposes the shooting that is going on out there (Fort Kronkhite)," but emphasized he was not in a position to speak for the entire club.

But William Thomson, wildlife manager for the California State Department of Fish and Game, sided with the Army. Thomson said the lagoon, while it is used by the pelicans, is not a "critical habitat" or area the birds must have to survive.

Thomson said he did not feel continued hunting in the area — even though it would disturb the pelicans — would decrease the state's pelican population "unless, of course, the hunters shoot them. They have other places to use."

Schroeder, who became concerned when he noticed the rebuilt duck blinds (which the Army says are not to encourage hunting but to limit it to certain areas) said other conservation groups, including the Animal Lovers of Marin and Animal Welfare Association of San Francisco, have promised to join him in the fight.

Additional support came from San Francisco Supervisor Ronald Pelosi. In a recent letter to Col. Guy De Young Jr., commanding officer of the Presidio, Pelosi asked for an end to the shooting. "The brown pelican should be encouraged to use the existing lagoons, rather than frightened away by regular firing of guns," he wrote.

Although the Army claims the blinds and the hunting have existed since the turn of the century, Schroeder argued that the pelican has only recently become endangered and that new action is needed to preserve the fowl.

Commission Approves Bowl Plan

A learn-to-bowl program financed by Brunswick Corp. won approval last night from the Petaluma Recreation, Music and Parks Commission.

Recreation director Richard W. Shollenberger said Brunswick Corp. will provide free lessons, lanes, shoes, balls and babysitting for women and senior citizens. He said the five-week session to be held at the Boulevard Bowl would begin in mid-January.

The commission welcomed the program, saying more recreational activities are needed for women and senior citizens. Shollenberger said a small fee may be charged to cover department paper work.

The Petaluma Recreation, Music and Parks Commission also:

STUDENT — Welcomed Gary Ramatici, a student at St. Vincent's HighSchool, as an advisor, and said a student representative of Petaluma Senior High School will join him in January

FENCE — Heard a report that a fence is being installed around the parking lot between the Sonoma-Marin Fairgrounds and the city swimming pool to keep cars out of the mud during the rainy season. The $565 cost for materials will be shared by the fair board.

LA TERCERA — Heard a report that 2.5 acres of turf has been installed at La Tercera School. The Old Adobe School District provided materials for the irrigation system and installation was done by parks department employees.

MEETING — Tentatively set a study session for Jan. 6 at 7:30 p.m. at city hall to discuss the proposed program of service for the 1971-72 year.

Sides Square Off Over Pay Demands

Dixie School District trustees and teachers were no closer to resolving a salary increase demand by the teachers after a tense board meeting last night.

Supt. Clifford W. Campbell said teachers' representatives asked the board to state formally its position on their request for 11.8 per cent salary hikes.

The board, which informally rejected the request at its last meeting, said it will do so at its next meeting, Jan. 13.

Last night four members of the teachers' council presented the board with a statement expressing the teachers' disappointment and unhappiness with the board's informal decision.

Board members indicated they felt the teachers were not being fair to them, Campbell said.

The Dixie School District Board Also:

DIRECTIONS — Received a letter from Virgil S. Hollis, county superintendent of schools, that election of trustees will be April 20, 1971. The terms of two board members — Earl H. Koehler and Melvin R. Stidham — are expiring.

LEAVES — Granted sabbaticals to three employees for the 1971-72 school year: a half year at three-fourths salary to Barbara Murphy, foreign language teacher, to study in France; full year at half pay to director of music Joseph Curatilo to write music reading text book for use in the district, and two days a week at full pay to district psychologist All Carr to do graduate study.

CLASSROOM — Granted use of a classroom at Lucas Valley School for Sunday school classes by Congregation Kol Shofar at the rate of $5 per use for the balance of the school year.

GRANT — Approved an application for a $5,518 federal grant for purchase of library materials. $364 of the grant will be for private schools within the district.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted resignations of Norma L. Kuroiwa, Mary E. Silveira School teacher, and Donald Etheridge, custodian at Vallecito School, both of whom are moving from the area, and Joan Cane, parttime clerical assistant at Santa Margarita School, who has accepted full-time employment elsewhere.

COMMITTEE — Appointed Dr. John P. Clark of 711 Las Colindas Road and Calvin Purvis of 616 Appleberry Drive to the district's Citizens Finance Advisory Committee.

PERSONNEL — Employed two teachers effective next Monday for the balance of the school year. Wilma Goss will receive $8,785 and Janice Nelson $4776.

PARK — Discussed suggestions for joint projects with Andrew J. Snyder Jr., San Rafael director of parks and recreation. Snyder suggested a tennis court on the Don Timoteo School, but the board thought it might be better at Vallecito School. No decisions were made.

Stereo Stolen

Richard M. Swartz, 1720 Alhambra Court, Petaluma, has told police that a stereo tape deck and 15 tapes valued at $269 were stolen Tuesday from his car while parked at Petaluma Senior High School.

Civic Center Pot Arrest Hearing Set

A Mill Valley man who apparently tried to stash a bag of suspected marijuana before being searched upon entering the Hall of Justice at the Civic Center has been arraigned on a charge of possessing pot.

A deputy said he saw Robert Costello Lakin, 20, of 44 Creek Road put an object behind a concrete wall outside the entrance on Tuesday at 1:20 p.m.

The deputy said after discovering that the object was a plastic bag of what appeared to be pot, he arrested Lakin, who was on his way to court on another matter.

Lakin pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to the charge, and a preliminary hearing was set for Dec. 22.

6 Pct. On Welfare

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Health, Education and Welfare Department said today six of every 100 Americans were on welfare as of last June, compared to four of every 100 a decade ago.

Marinite Is First Under Flood Aid

A Larkspur woman yesterday became the first person in Northern California to receive federal aid under a new flood-insurance program subsidized by theU.S. government.

Betsy Michaelson received a check for $3,110.50 to cover 90 per cent of the flood loss 10 days ago.

Mrs. Michaelson of 6 College Court, took out her insurance policy Oct. 23, the day that Larkspur became eligible for the program. She had suffered $20,000 uninsured flood losses in four previous floods, she reported.

Cities and counties that want their homeowners insured under the program, must apply to Washington and show that they have, or will enact, effective flood control measures.

In California, the servicing company for flood and mudslide insurance is the Fireman's Fund American Insurance Companies.

Ross Man Indicted — Loss Of $25,000

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A Ross man was indicted yesterday by a Federal Grand Jury on charges of embezzling more than $25,000 from an account at the bank where he worked.

Thomas Michael Murphy, 61, of 1 Camino Bueno is charged with withdrawing funds in 1967 and 1969 from a savings account of Norva Boas, San Francisco.

The indictment said that Murphy, an assistant cashier at a San Francisco branch of Wells Fargo Bank, withdrew $20,023 from Mrs. Boas's account in 1967 to buy his home and transferred $6,465 from Mrs. Boas's account to his own in 1969.

Upon learning of the indictment, Mrs. Boas said she had not noticed the missing funds because her account "stands in the millions."

Murphy, who has 42 years of service with the bank, faces a maximum penalty on each of the two charges of five years in prison and a $5,000 fine.

Tiburon Fire Board Says No To Consolidation Plan

Secretary Wellman H. Topham said the board voted last night to take that message to a consolidation meeting tonight in Mill Valley.

"The board did not think it (the merger) would be advantageous to our taxpayers at this time," Topham said. "We have a lot of plans of our own to carry out before we think of consolidation."

The board also decided to drop weed abatement proceedings against Knowles L. Hall, of 2200 Vistazo East Street, Tiburon, after hearing a report that weeds on his vacant lot have been cleared away.

Pair Of Sensible Ideas For Reducing The Dole

A couple of sensible ideas have emerged from the hand-wringing and oratory over the state and nation's twin problems of spiraling welfare costs and increasing unemployment.

Gov. Ronald Reagan said Monday that he will propose a "public works force" to absorb those on welfare who are able-bodied.

The following day, House and Senate conferees in Washington agreed on manpower legislation that would provide $7 billion to fund 500,000 public service jobs in the next three years, and would turn control of the program over to the states.

Governor Reagan's proposal can go a long way toward getting rid of the demeaning dole. It can help make welfare recipients acquire self-respect and confidence, and it can fit them to take jobs in private employment as these appear.

Too long, the dole system has made idlers out of people who initially wished to work. It has put a premium on laziness by penalizing those who took part-time jobs. It has put welfare recipients in the position of weighing whether they would be better off to take a low-paying job or remain in idleness at public expense.

Up to now, the federal government, under President Johnson's "Great Society" programs and their continuation by the Nixon administration, has spent a great deal of money on job training without producing much in the way of jobs.

The compromise bill agreed on by the House-Senate negotiators, if it becomes law, will enable the states to employ on public works at least a portion of those trained at public expense. Further, it will place control of the program at the state level rather than through the far-flung bureaucracy, which all too often is disgracefully out of touch with local needs and local employment situations.

Both Governor Reagan's proposal and the new federal bill return to an approach to the unemployment problem that was tried with some success a generation back as one of the first features of President Franklin D. Roosevelt's "New Deal."

The Civil Works Administration of 1933 and its successor, the Works Progress Administration, provided jobs on public projects for those thrown out of work by the private sector. Only those unable to work were placed on the dole, which midway in the "New Deal" was turned over to the states.

When World War II brought full employment, the federal government phased out its works program. The dole remained, as a state responsibility with federal assistance. And in recent years, it has been expanded into the welfare program that threatens to bankrupt state governments and costs the federal government more than any function except defense.

There were a lot of jokes about "shovel leaners" and "leaf rakers" in the days of WPA. But there are a lot of dams, bridges, streets and sidewalks still in use that it made possible.

We hope Governor Reagan will have the support of the California Legislature in trying to put welfare recipients who are able to work into employment of public benefit. And we hope the House and Senate will accept the compromise bill's provisions giving the states control over job training and public jobs for as many as possible of those trained.

The Tip Of The Iceberg

That man is changing his environment in ways which are often bad is obvious to anyone with eyes and a mind But the thing which worries most students of the earth sciences is not what we can see or be made aware of now. Rather it is the gnawing fear that what we know now is only the tip of the iceberg.

The discovery of possibly toxic levels of mercury in bay fish, and the findings that solar radiation in the nation's capital has been reduced by 16 per cent in the last 50 years due to man-made particulates in the atmosphere were just two surprises this year.

Without being alarmists, we can ask: What other things is man doing to our earth that are harmful, but not yet understood to be so? We suspect mankind will survive by becoming more aware and taking action when the occasion demands. To do this, he must seek out the hidden dimensions of the iceberg.

Tulare County Hopes For Tax Relief Through Mineral King

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Consider the plight of Tulare County, an economically depressed area, which is on the verge of increasing its tax base to the point where citizens can get some respite, but finds a private organization is making every effort it can to thwart the increase.

Calvin E. Baldwin, Tulare County counsel, makes substantially this contention in appearing as a "friend of the court" in the Mineral King case, now on appeal to the United States Supreme Court after having been shot down by the Circuit Court of Appeals.

Baldwin and his associate attorneys have filed a comprehensive argument against the petition of the Sierra Club to halt development of Mineral King as a public recreation and ski resort by Walt Disney Enterprises

AMONG OTHER arguments, Baldwin contends that further delay of the project woudl "postpone realization of the economic benefits which will accrue to Tulare County residents from its completion."

The brief calls attention to the role Mineral King will play in stimulating the county's lagging economy and strenghtening its tax base

"The brief," Baldwin says, "emphasizes the growing demand for tax-financed services to which the county is subjected, and the pressing need for rapid utilization of the $1.5 million in county tax revenues alone which Mineral King is expected to generate annually."

THE BALDWIN brief points out that the Sierra Club is no more injured by the issuance of permits to develop Mineral King than by scores of other federal land management decisions of the court with which the club may disagree.

There have been, the brief points out, some 84 permits granted for developments of this type in various parts of the United States.

This is in line with the government policy of developing forest lands for the maximum benefit, use and enjoyment of the people.

In any event, virtually everyone involved appears to want the Mineral King developments except the Sierra Club.

Incensed Over Denial of Fence

How narrow minded, non-sympathetic, pseudo-bureaucratic idiots — that for some mysterious reason are members of the so-called City Council of Larkspur — can deny a man such as Dr. R. Ceniceros his right to erect a seemingly esthetic fence on his property is totally beyond me.

Is the City of Larkspur running so smoothly in all other areas that they have nothing better to discuss in order to justify their jobs?

The Jews In Russia —A Sad Dilemma

LONDON (Toronto Telegram News Service) — Two Jews met in a Moscow square. The first one said: "Did you hear? One of our Russian jet-fighters has been shot down over the Suez Canal."

"Who shot it down?" asked the second Jew.

"We did," replied the first.

Most certainly the two men would have looked around furtively as they made their little "joke". For there is an ironic sadness in the dilemma of the three million or so Jews who lead an uneasy existence in the Soviet Union.

Nobody knows just how many tens or maybe hundreds of thousands wish to emigrate to Israel. Now and again when a group of Jews is reported to have tried to hijack a plane in order to escape to the West, or when a Jew is arrested on the pavement outside the American Embassy in Moscow trying to get a visa, the "Jewish" problem rises to the surface through the tight veil of censorship and the threatening menace of the Russian secret police.

Now, thanks to several years of painstaking research and the smuggling out of material from Russia, the Institute of Jewish Affairs in London has compiled a book called "The Jews in Soviet Russia — since 1917". This well-documented work, edited by Lionel Kochan, paints the most complete picture yet of the Jews in the Soviet Union.

With the Kremlin so deeply committed to the Arab cause, it is perhaps easy to understand why powerful anti-Israeli and anti-Semitic impulses stream from Moscow — impulses so dramatically underlined by the last Russian pilot shot down by an Israeli just before the Suez canal ceasefire came into operation. As he prepared to bale out of his blazing MiG Jet, he was heard by Israeli radio-men to shout out in Russian: "The bloody Jews. They will pay for this."

In Russia, the Jews have always been paying. Before the 1917 revolution, anti-Semitism was rife and deeply embedded in traditional attitudes. True, it was "merely" a primitive peasant anti-Semitism with the occasional officially encouraged pogrom.

These massacres acted as a safety valve for the authorities to deflect the misery of the people into venting their anger against the convenient Jewish scapegoats. There were none of the Nazi-style "concentration camps" to be found in pre-1917 Russia.

General Finally Learns, But How About President?

(Reprinted from John S. Knight's "Notebook" in Detroit Free Press)

As Grandma used to say, "I never thought I'd live to see it."

For here is Marine Corps Gen. Lewis W. Walt admitting that he was naive about the war in Vietnam. The four-star general, who first arrived in Vietnam in 1965, says it took him six months to learn what the war was all about.

"We didn't appreciate the importance of the guerilla," concedes Walt. "When I got out there, I didn't understand. You just can't go in and wipe out guerillas."

General Walt had a lot of company in those days. To mention a few, the uninformed included President Johnson, Defense Secretary McNamara, Sec. of State Dean Rusk, Gen. Maxwell Taylor, and the military brass who came and went without ever grasping the nature of the conflict or its historical significance.

The useless slaughter at Con Thien and more than 2,300 Marine casulties in a 77-day siege at Khe Sanh prompted this personal observation at the time: "All of which raises serious questions about the effectiveness of our military strategy. The brave men who died at Khe Sanh, an American base later abandoned, can never answer. They gave their lives, but for what purpose?"

Bring our men home.

IN PRESIDENT Nixon's new foreign aid package, there is an item of $250 million in additional military aid and economic assistance for Cambodia.

Yet only last April, the President's "limited assistance" program was to cost about $40 million for small arms and equipment which he said the Lon Nol government urgently needed.

This sharp rise in aid to Cambodia — the U.S. gave nothing to Lon Nol's predecessor, Prince Sihanouk — indicates a more permanent form of involvement than we had been led to believe.

We are already paying more than $100 million a year to South Korea, 19 years after the Panmunjo armistice. Now another $150 million is being proposed to support "modernization of South korea's defense."

A billion dollars has gone to pay for the services of 50,000 South Korean soldiers in South Vietnam. Another billion dollars has been spent in Thailand.

Most of these transactions were made by executive order and without congressional approval or notice to the public.

If, as some contend, we are turning back communism in the Far East, are we not also doing the communists' work by exhausting our resources at home?

Moscow could not have planned it better.

Plight Of Prisoners Overhangs Disinvolvement From Vietnam

PARIS — The record is scratched, cracked in places, yet it grinds on with no letup in sight. The Vietnam peace talks have become propaganda charade that seems increasingly irrelevant to the gradual falling off of the war itself.

Among those who have spent years in the Vietnamese quagmire, the belief is that the war is dropping out of sight. The number of American troops will have been reduced by next April or May to 280,000. President Nixon will announce another big slice of at least a hundred thousand for the following six months.

By mid-1972 only small cadres will remain to carry out the final tasks of disengagement.

THERE IS, however, one deeply emotional element that clouds this otherwise glowing horizon. The prisoners of war, Americans missing — some of them five or six years — stir the most intense feelings, spreading far beyond the personal tragedy of the individuals involved. If there is to be a backlash in American opinion over the seeming futility of nearly 50,000 American dead, the plight of the prisoners will weigh heavily in the emotional scales.

Hardly a day goes by that America's chief delegate at the talks, Ambassador David K. E. Bruce, does not meet with one or more of the wives and parents of men missing in Vietnam or Laos.

These women go to the headquarters of Xuan Thuy of the North Vietnamese delegation to present petitions signed by thousands of sympathizers. They are never admitted. Nor is there much that Bruce or any other American can do to help.

OF THE 1,552 men missing or captured beginning in 1964, half are believed to be dead. Many are thought to have lost their lives in air combat. According to figures given out here, 17 known prisoners have been murdered or have died in Vietcong captivity.

Reports of increasing numbers of deaths from malnutrition and disease led to the commando raid on the Sontay prison camp.

Bruce feels strongly that another such raid could have a serious adverse effect on the plight of Americans still alive. At the same time he has repeated the President's warning that the United States would try any and all means to bring the prisoners out alive.

The issue of the prisoners has cost the Communists dearly in world opinion. Repeatedly in the negotiating sessions and in public declamations, it has been shown how they have violated every rule of the Geneva Convention covering prisoners of war. The United States has offered to turn over 36,000 Vietcong and North Vietnamese prisoners in return for Americans still in Communist camps. The invariable answer in which the fiery Vietcong delegate, Mrs. Nguyen Thi Binh specializes in an angry no.

CRITICS WOULD equate the plight of the prisoners with that of the thousands upon thousands of Vietnam civilian casualties resulting from American bombing. The hatreds go so deep. That is one reason for doubt that merely running down the American war can bring stability to South Vietnam.

The Americans here say that the South Vietnamese delegates on their side of the table have expressed their willingness to talk with the North Vietnamese about a political settlement. The belief on the Communist side is that if they cannot win the war militarily they will win it politically. And, given all the uncertainties of Saigon, they could be proved right.

NORTH POLE INTERVIEW

Pressure Groups Take Fun Out Of Being Santa

By GEORGE BARKER

His wife met us at the door and told us he was waiting in his shop. "Do be gentle with him," she begged. "He's not himself this year. All the pressure groups are getting him down."

"Trouble, trouble!" he muttered. "Nothing but complaints! Not like the simple old days. Between the consumer protection people, the ecologists, the safety nuts and the nutritionists — you have no idea of my problems!

"TAKE MY CANDY. Children love it. Most grownups, too. It is made of the finest ingredients in my own factory, which is supervised by the Sugar Plum Fairy. For generations my candy has been famous. But the complaints nowadays! Consumer's Union rated the chocolate cherries 'unacceptable' because they contain a minute amount of a preservative which when injected in massive doses into a group of Australian wallabies caused three out of four to suffer dehydration of the big toenail. The ecologists complain that every five-pound paper box and wrapping of my candy takes seven-fiftieths of a Mississippi Delta scrub pine. I suppose they want me to go down a warm chimney, carrying unwrapped chocolates in my mittens. A safety-minded group suggested I quit my line of nut candies because of the danger of choking. And the nutritionists accuse me of encouraging poor eating habits, of making my candy with refined sugar and peddling empty calories. That's just my candy!

"Ralph Nader has found defective wheel-alignment in my wagons and tricycles. Ecology Action doesn't want me to give anything in non-returnable bottles. The Underwriters' Laboratory says some of my electric toys can give a nasty shock and shouldn't be used in the bathtub.

"THIS USED to be a fun job. Everybody liked me and being Santa felt good. But times are changing. The kids don't trust me because I'm over 30. The authorities say my reflexes are slowing down and threaten not to renew my reindeer driver's license."

A strange smile flickered over Santa's face and his eyes lighted up. "Tell the world Santa's coming, despite everything. And that he plans to put coal in little Ralphie Nader's stocking."

Pair Of Sensible Ideas For Reducing The Dole

A couple of sensible ideas have emerged from the hand-wringing and oratory over the state and nation's twin problems of spiraling welfare costs and increasing unemployment.

Gov. Ronald Reagan said Monday that he will propose a "public works force" to absorb those on welfare who are able-bodied.

The following day, House and Senate conferees in Washington agreed on manpower legislation that would provide $7 billion to fund 500,000 public service jobs in the next three years, and would turn control of the program over to the states.

Governor Reagan's proposal can go a long way toward getting rid of the demeaning dole. It can help make welfare recipients acquire self-respect and confidence, and it can fit them to take jobs in private employment as these appear.

Too long, the dole system has made idlers out of people who initially wished to work. It has put a premium on laziness by penalizing those who took part-time jobs. It has put welfare recipients in the position of weighing whether they would be better off to take a low-paying job or remain in idleness at public expense.

Up to now, the federal government, under President Johnson's "Great Society" programs and their continuation by the Nixon administration, has spent a great deal of money on job training without producing much in the way of jobs.

The compromise bill agreed on by the House-Senate negotiators, if it becomes law, will enable the states to employ on public works at least a portion of those trained at public expense. Further, it will place control of the program at the state level rather than through the far-flung bureaucracy, which all too often is disgracefully out of touch with local needs and local employment situations.

Both Governor Reagan's proposal and the new federal bill return to an approach to the unemployment problem that was tried with some success a generation back as one of the first features of President Franklin D. Roosevelt's "New Deal."

The Civil Works Administration of 1933 and its successor, the Works Progress Administration, provided jobs on public projects for those thrown out of work by the private sector. Only those unable to work were placed on the dole, which midway in the "New Deal" was turned over to the states.

When World War II brought full employment, the federal government phased out its works program. The dole remained, as a state responsibility with federal assistance. And in recent years, it has been expanded into the welfare program that threatens to bankrupt state governments and costs the federal government more than any function except defense.

There were a lot of jokes about "shovel leaners" and "leaf rakers" in the days of WPA. But there are a lot of dams, bridges, streets and sidewalks still in use that it made possible.

We hope Governor Reagan will have the support of the California Legislature in trying to put welfare recipients who are able to work into employment of public benefit. And we hope the House and Senate will accept the compromise bill's provisions giving the states control over job training and public jobs for as many as possible of those trained.

The Tip Of The Iceberg

That man is changing his environment in ways which are often bad is obvious to anyone with eyes and a mind But the thing which worries most students of the earth sciences is not what we can see or be made aware of now. Rather it is the gnawing fear that what we know now is only the tip of the iceberg.

The discovery of possibly toxic levels of mercury in bay fish, and the findings that solar radiation in the nation's capital has been reduced by 16 per cent in the last 50 years due to man-made particulates in the atmosphere were just two surprises this year.

Without being alarmists, we can ask: What other things is man doing to our earth that are harmful, but not yet understood to be so? We suspect mankind will survive by becoming more aware and taking action when the occasion demands. To do this, he must seek out the hidden dimensions of the iceberg.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Tulare County Hopes For Tax Relief Through Mineral King

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Consider the plight of Tulare County, an economically depressed area, which is on the verge of increasing its tax base to the point where citizens can get some respite, but finds a private organization is making every effort it can to thwart the increase.

Calvin E. Baldwin, Tulare County counsel, makes substantially this contention in appearing as a "friend of the court" in the Mineral King case, now on appeal to the United States Supreme Court after having been shot down by the Circuit Court of Appeals.

Baldwin and his associate attorneys have filed a comprehensive argument against the petition of the Sierra Club to halt development of Mineral King as a public recreation and ski resort by Walt Disney Enterprises

AMONG OTHER arguments, Baldwin contends that further delay of the project woudl "postpone realization of the economic benefits which will accrue to Tulare County residents from its completion."

The brief calls attention to the role Mineral King will play in stimulating the county's lagging economy and strenghtening its tax base

"The brief," Baldwin says, "emphasizes the growing demand for tax-financed services to which the county is subjected, and the pressing need for rapid utilization of the $1.5 million in county tax revenues alone which Mineral King is expected to generate annually."

THE BALDWIN brief points out that the Sierra Club is no more injured by the issuance of permits to develop Mineral King than by scores of other federal land management decisions of the court with which the club may disagree.

There have been, the brief points out, some 84 permits granted for developments of this type in various parts of the United States.

This is in line with the government policy of developing forest lands for the maximum benefit, use and enjoyment of the people.

In any event, virtually everyone involved appears to want the Mineral King developments except the Sierra Club.

Incensed Over Denial of Fence

How narrow minded, non-sympathetic, pseudo-bureaucratic idiots — that for some mysterious reason are members of the so-called City Council of Larkspur — can deny a man such as Dr. R. Ceniceros his right to erect a seemingly esthetic fence on his property is totally beyond me.

Is the City of Larkspur running so smoothly in all other areas that they have nothing better to discuss in order to justify their jobs?

The Jews In Russia —A Sad Dilemma

LONDON (Toronto Telegram News Service) — Two Jews met in a Moscow square. The first one said: "Did you hear? One of our Russian jet-fighters has been shot down over the Suez Canal."

"Who shot it down?" asked the second Jew.

"We did," replied the first.

Most certainly the two men would have looked around furtively as they made their little "joke". For there is an ironic sadness in the dilemma of the three million or so Jews who lead an uneasy existence in the Soviet Union.

Nobody knows just how many tens or maybe hundreds of thousands wish to emigrate to Israel. Now and again when a group of Jews is reported to have tried to hijack a plane in order to escape to the West, or when a Jew is arrested on the pavement outside the American Embassy in Moscow trying to get a visa, the "Jewish" problem rises to the surface through the tight veil of censorship and the threatening menace of the Russian secret police.

Now, thanks to several years of painstaking research and the smuggling out of material from Russia, the Institute of Jewish Affairs in London has compiled a book called "The Jews in Soviet Russia — since 1917". This well-documented work, edited by Lionel Kochan, paints the most complete picture yet of the Jews in the Soviet Union.

With the Kremlin so deeply committed to the Arab cause, it is perhaps easy to understand why powerful anti-Israeli and anti-Semitic impulses stream from Moscow — impulses so dramatically underlined by the last Russian pilot shot down by an Israeli just before the Suez canal ceasefire came into operation. As he prepared to bale out of his blazing MiG Jet, he was heard by Israeli radio-men to shout out in Russian: "The bloody Jews. They will pay for this."

In Russia, the Jews have always been paying. Before the 1917 revolution, anti-Semitism was rife and deeply embedded in traditional attitudes. True, it was "merely" a primitive peasant anti-Semitism with the occasional officially encouraged pogrom.

These massacres acted as a safety valve for the authorities to deflect the misery of the people into venting their anger against the convenient Jewish scapegoats. There were none of the Nazi-style "concentration camps" to be found in pre-1917 Russia.

General Finally Learns, But How About President?

(Reprinted from John S. Knight's "Notebook" in Detroit Free Press)

As Grandma used to say, "I never thought I'd live to see it."

For here is Marine Corps Gen. Lewis W. Walt admitting that he was naive about the war in Vietnam. The four-star general, who first arrived in Vietnam in 1965, says it took him six months to learn what the war was all about.

"We didn't appreciate the importance of the guerilla," concedes Walt. "When I got out there, I didn't understand. You just can't go in and wipe out guerillas."

General Walt had a lot of company in those days. To mention a few, the uninformed included President Johnson, Defense Secretary McNamara, Sec. of State Dean Rusk, Gen. Maxwell Taylor, and the military brass who came and went without ever grasping the nature of the conflict or its historical significance.

The useless slaughter at Con Thien and more than 2,300 Marine casulties in a 77-day siege at Khe Sanh prompted this personal observation at the time: "All of which raises serious questions about the effectiveness of our military strategy. The brave men who died at Khe Sanh, an American base later abandoned, can never answer. They gave their lives, but for what purpose?"

Bring our men home.

IN PRESIDENT Nixon's new foreign aid package, there is an item of $250 million in additional military aid and economic assistance for Cambodia.

Yet only last April, the President's "limited assistance" program was to cost about $40 million for small arms and equipment which he said the Lon Nol government urgently needed.

This sharp rise in aid to Cambodia — the U.S. gave nothing to Lon Nol's predecessor, Prince Sihanouk — indicates a more permanent form of involvement than we had been led to believe.

We are already paying more than $100 million a year to South Korea, 19 years after the Panmunjo armistice. Now another $150 million is being proposed to support "modernization of South korea's defense."

A billion dollars has gone to pay for the services of 50,000 South Korean soldiers in South Vietnam. Another billion dollars has been spent in Thailand.

Most of these transactions were made by executive order and without congressional approval or notice to the public.

If, as some contend, we are turning back communism in the Far East, are we not also doing the communists work by exhausting our resources at home? Moscow could not have planned it better.

Plight Of Prisoners Overhangs Disinvolvement From Vietnam

PARIS — The record is scratched, cracked in places, yet it grinds on with no letup in sight. The Vietnam peace talks have become propaganda charade that seems increasingly irrelevant to the gradual falling off of the war itself.

Among those who have spent years in the Vietnamese quagmire, the belief is that the war is dropping out of sight. The number of American troops will have been reduced by next April or May to 280,000. President Nixon will announce another big slice of at least a hundred thousand for the following six months.

By mid-1972 only small cadres will remain to carry out the final tasks of disengagement.

THERE IS, however, one deeply emotional element that clouds this otherwise glowing horizon. The prisoners of war, Americans missing — some of them five or six years — stir the most intense feelings, spreading far beyond the personal tragedy of the individuals involved. If there is to be a backlash in American opinion over the seeming futility of nearly 50,000 American dead, the plight of the prisoners will weigh heavily in the emotional scales.

Hardly a day goes by that America's chief delegate at the talks, Ambassador David K. E. Bruce, does not meet with one or more of the wives and parents of men missing in Vietnam or Laos.

These women go to the headquarters of Xuan Thuy of the North Vietnamese delegation to present petitions signed by thousands of sympathizers. They are never admitted. Nor is there much that Bruce or any other American can do to help.

OF THE 1,552 men missing or captured beginning in 1964, half are believed to be dead. Many are thought to have lost their lives in air combat. According to figures given out here, 17 known prisoners have been murdered or have died in Vietcong captivity.

Reports of increasing numbers of deaths from malnutrition and disease led to the commando raid on the Sontay prison camp.

Bruce feels strongly that another such raid could have a serious adverse effect on the plight of Americans still alive. At the same time he has repeated the President's warning that the United States would try any and all means to bring the prisoners out alive.

The issue of the prisoners has cost the Communists dearly in world opinion. Repeatedly in the negotiating sessions and in public declamations, it has been shown how they have violated every rule of the Geneva Convention covering prisoners of war. The United States has offered to turn over 36,000 Vietcong and North Vietnamese prisoners in return for Americans still in Communist camps. The invariable answer in which the fiery Vietcong delegate, Mrs. Nguyen Thi Binh specializes in an angry no.

CRITICS WOULD equate the plight of the prisoners with that of the thousands upon thousands of Vietnam civilian casualties resulting from American bombing. The hatreds go so deep. That is one reason for doubt that merely running down the American war can bring stability to South Vietnam.

The Americans here say that the South Vietnamese delegates on their side of the table have expressed their willingness to talk with the North Vietnamese about a political settlement. The belief on the Communist side is that if they cannot win the war militarily they will win it politically. And, given all the uncertainties of Saigon, they could be proved right.

NORTH POLE INTERVIEW

Pressure Groups Take Fun Out Of Being Santa

By GEORGE BARKER

His wife met us at the door and told us he was waiting in his shop. "Do be gentle with him," she begged. "He's not himself this year. All the pressure groups are getting him down."

"Trouble, trouble!" he muttered. "Nothing but complaints! Not like the simple old days. Between the consumer protection people, the ecologists, the safety nuts and the nutritionists — you have no idea of my problems!

"TAKE MY CANDY. Children love it. Most grownups, too. It is made of the finest ingredients in my own factory, which is supervised by the Sugar Plum Fairy. For generations my candy has been famous. But the complaints nowadays! Consumer's Union rated the chocolate cherries 'unacceptable' because they contain a minute amount of a preservative which when injected in massive doses into a group of Australian wallabies caused three out of four to suffer dehydration of the big toenail. The ecologists complain that every five-pound paper box and wrapping of my candy takes seven-fiftieths of a Mississippi Delta scrub pine. I suppose they want me to go down a warm chimney, carrying unwrapped chocolates in my mittens. A safety-minded group suggested I quit my line of nut candies because of the danger of choking. And the nutritionists accuse me of encouraging poor eating habits, of making my candy with refined sugar and peddling empty calories. That's just my candy!

"Ralph Nader has found defective wheel-alignment in my wagons and tricycles. Ecology Action doesn't want me to give anything in non-returnable bottles. The Underwriters' Laboratory says some of my electric toys can give a nasty shock and shouldn't be used in the bathtub.

"THIS USED to be a fun job. Everybody liked me and being Santa felt good. But times are changing. The kids don't trust me because I'm over 30. The authorities say my reflexes are slowing down and threaten not to renew my reindeer driver's license."

A strange smile flickered over Santa's face and his eyes lighted up. "Tell the world Santa's coming, despite everything. And that he plans to put coal in little Ralphie Nader's stocking."

Contrast In Planning Approach Between San Rafael, Novato

Recently I have been able to compare the workings of the San Rafael Planning Commission with that of Novato, second to San Rafael as largest city in the county.

It is obvious that San Rafael has gone through some growing pains, because the planners are trying to correct some earlier mistakes regarding businesses. But this shows that they had allowed the businesses to come into the city in the first place.

I do not know what prompted earlier commissions to allow some businesses to locate where they did, or in structures as they did, but it meant income for the city at the time.

Now that the city has grown, it is encouraging shopping centers and retail business in industrial zones.

At a recent meeting, it took the commission less than 45 minutes to approve plans for five major buildings of 234,000 square feet at Northgate Shopping Center. These stores will draw business from all over Marin County and southern Sonoma County.

Novato, on the other hand, has made it extremely hard for new businesses to come into the city. It takes months and months of fighting city hall to get something as simple as a pizza restaurant into Novato.

Not only does a new merchant have to fight city hall, he sometimes has to fight other merchants and special interests. If he doesn't run into that, he runs into the people. There are those in Novato who do not want any more grocery stores, restaurants, service stations, etc. However, those that are there seem to be prospering.

Banks and savings and loan companies have never had any trouble. Generally speaking, there are always more grocery stores than banks in any city. Novato just barely comes in that category. It has eight grocery stores, including both neighborhood stores and supermarkets. It has seven banks and savings institutions.

Novato just spent $41,000 for a downtown study, hoping to revitalize the retail businesses on Grant Avenue, but a quick trip down the street would show that there are very few retail stores on the street. Most business is done in shopping centers.

Rather than allow these shopping centers to merge together, as four of them could at Diablo, Center and South Novato boulevards, the Novato downtown study plan proposes another shopping center out of the present business district.

I was reminded that several weeks ago I was talking to a former Novato businessman who had sold out and bought a business elsewhere in the county. He said that Novato could plan itself out of business. I asked him what he meant.

He said that with Northgate drawing as much business as it does from Novato, and Novato being so unwilling to let business into the city, the next regional shopping center might be across the line in southern Sonoma County, or even Petaluma. That is why he sold out, he said.

It seems as though somewhere there is a lesson here for Novato that is, unless its residents want merely a bedroom community.

Cabinet Officers Now Fighting To Keep From Seeing President

WASHINGTON — There was a time when every cabinet member of the Nixon administration was fighting to get in to see the President at the White House.

But after Walter Hickel was granted an audience with Mr. Nixon and fired on the spot, other cabinet officers have decided there is no need to see the President after all.

Six months ago there were three or four cabinet officers waiting in line by the White House gate, hoping to get a glimpse of the President, just so they could go back to their departments and say they saw him.

But all this has changed.

THE OTHER DAY a cabinet officer I know received a telephone call from the White House. His wife answered.

It's John Ehrlichman. He says you asked a year ago to see the President, and he thinks he can squeeze you in on Thursday between 4 and 5."

'.Oh, no," the cabinet officer cried. "Tell him I changed my mind."

His wife transmitted the message and then told her husband, "He says even if you don't want to see the President, the President ants to see you."

"Tell him I've got to address a chamber of commerce meeting in Oklahoma on Thursday between 4 and 5."

THE IFE DID this and listened. "Yes, all right, we'll be there." And she hung up.

"Where will we be?" The cabinet officer asked in fear.

"We've been invited to church services at the White House on Sunday," his wife said.

"Call back and tell him we don't believe in God," the cabinet officer implored.

"Now stop being ridiculous. Surely if the President was going to fire you, he wouldn't do it at church services on Sunday morning."

"You don't know how those people operate over there at the White House. Two weeks ago they canned six poverty lawyers while the choir was singing "Nearer My God to Thee,"

"Well, you can,t very well refuse an invitation to go to church services at the White House. Besides, if we sit in the back maybe the President won't see us."

"ALL RIGHT, but let's pack and put our stuff in the trunk of the car just in case," he said.

The cabinet officer and his wife showed up at the White House the next Sunday. Billy Graham was reading from the Book of Job.

"Why then then did you bring me forth from the womb?

"I should have died and no eye have seen me.

"I should be as though I never lived;

The cabinet officer whispered, "There, what did I tell you!"

"THE MESSAGE could be for the secretary of the treasry," his wife whispered back.

Are not the days of my life few?

"Let me alone that I might recover a little

'PBefore I go from whence I shall not return, to the

"Land of darkness and gloom,

"The black disordered land

⅛'Where darkness is the only light."

The cabinet officer said, "It's either Romney or me."

ATTY. GEN. John Mitchell started passing the collection plate. As he handed the basket to the cabinet officer, he said quietly, "Sit tight until you hear from me.',

But as the choir sang "Glorious Things of Thee Are Spoken," a task force from the White House had already taken over the cabinet member's office and changed all the locks on the doors.

Eye Tests Due Pre-Schoolers

Eye tests for all the pre-schoolers in Marin child centers are to be provided Jan. 12 to 15.

The tests to be made by doctors from Contra Costa and Alameda county optemetric societies will be offered at Manzanita Pre-School Center in Marin City Jan. 12-14, from 9:30 a.m. to noon according to Margo Schmitz, coordinator for health care services for children's centers.

Coleman Resigns As Cotati Schools Head

Cotati Schools Supt. Duncan A. Coleman submitted his resignation Tuesday night, but gave no explanation for his action.

Coleman told the Cotati School District board he would leave his post on June 30. The board accepted his resignation, but made no immediate plans to seek a successor.

Coleman is in his fifth year as district superintendent. He said he planned to stay in the field of education, but had no new job in mind.

Board member Bart C. Mitchell said the resignation came as a complete surprise to the board. He said applications will probably not be sought until early next year.

The Cotati School District Board also:

MOBILE HOMES — Rejected the suggestion of the Petaluma Board of Education for a moratorium on mobile home parks until possible tax inequities are solved. The board said it felt that mobile homes are an asset to the community.

GRADUATION — Rejected a plan to do away with sixth grade graduation ceremonies

RESIGNATION — Accepted the resignation of teacher Helen Mills, who will do graduate work

Hearing Set For Marijuana Count

Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. of Marin Municipal Court has denied a motion to suppress the evidence in the case of Robert Morrison Gould, 19, of Novato, who is charged with possessing marijuana for sale.

A preliminary hearing was set for next Tuesday.

Gould was arrested in October by the California Highway Patrol.

Crash Causes Whiplash Injury

A 19-year-old Petaluma woman was injured Tuesday at 3:10 p.m. in a two-car accident on northbound Highway 101 on California Park Hill in San Rafael, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Debra C. Jewell, of 322 Post Street, was treated at Marin General Hospital for whiplash.

The patrol said her car stopped in heavy traffic and was struck from behind by a vehicle driven by William P. De Lorey, 26, of Santa Maria. De Lorey told officers he would see his own doctor for pain in both knees.

Contrast In Planning Approach Between San Rafael, Novato

Recently I have been able to compare the workings of the San Rafael Planning Commission with that of Novato, second to San Rafael as largest city in the county.

It is obvious that San Rafael has gone through some growing pains, because the planners are trying to correct some earlier mistakes regarding businesses. But this shows that they had allowed the businesses to come into the city in the first place.

I do not know what prompted earlier commissions to allow some businesses to locate where they did, or in structures as they did, but it meant income for the city at the time.

Now that the city has grown, it is encouraging shopping centers and retail business in industrial zones.

At a recent meeting, it took the commission less than 45 minutes to approve plans for five major buildings of 234,000 square feet at Northgate Shopping Center. These stores will draw business from all over Marin County and southern Sonoma County.

Novato, on the other hand, has made it extremely hard for new businesses to come into the city. It takes months and months of fighting city hall to get something as simple as a pizza restaurant into Novato.

Not only does a new merchant have to fight city hall, he sometimes has to fight other merchants and special interests. If he doesn't run into that, he runs into the people. There are those in Novato who do not want any more grocery stores, restaurants, service stations, etc. However, those that are there seem to be prospering.

Banks and savings and loan companies have never had any trouble. Generally speaking, there are always more grocery stores than banks in any city. Novato just barely comes in that category. It has eight grocery stores, including both neighborhood stores and supermarkets. It has seven banks and savings institutions.

Novato just spent $41,000 for a downtown study, hoping to revitalize the retail businesses on Grant Avenue, but a quick trip down the street would show that there are very few retail stores on the street. Most business is done in shopping centers.

Rather than allow these shopping centers to merge together, as four of them could at Diablo, Center and South Novato boulevards, the Novato downtown study plan proposes another shopping center out of the present business district.

I was reminded that several weeks ago I was talking to a former Novato businessman who had sold out and bought a business elsewhere in the county. He said that Novato could plan itself out of business. I asked him what he meant.

He said that with Northgate drawing as much business as it does from Novato, and Novato being so unwilling to let business into the city, the next regional shopping center might be across the line in southern Sonoma County, or even Petaluma. That is why he sold out, he said.

It seems as though somewhere there is a lesson here for Novato that is, unless its residents want merely a bedroom community.

Coleman Resigns As Cotati Schools Head

Cotati Schools Supt. Duncan A. Coleman submitted his resignation Tuesday night, but gave no explanation for his action.

Coleman told the Cotati School District board he would leave his post on June 30. The board accepted his resignation, but made no immediate plans to seek a successor.

Coleman is in his fifth year as district superintendent. He said he planned to stay in the field of education, but had no new job in mind.

Board member Bart C. Mitchell said the resignation came as a complete surprise to the board. He said applications will probably not be sought until early next year.

The Cotati School District Board also:

MOBILE HOMES — Rejected the suggestion of the Petaluma Board of Education for a moratorium on mobile home parks until possible tax inequities are solved. The board said it felt that mobile homes are an asset to the community.

GRADUATION — Rejected a plan to do away with sixth grade graduation ceremonies

RESIGNATION — Accepted the resignation of teacher Helen Mills, who will do graduate work

Hearing Set For Marijuana Count

Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. of Marin Municipal Court has denied a motion to suppress the evidence in the case of Robert Morrison Gould, 19, of Novato, who is charged with possessing marijuana for sale.

A preliminary hearing was set for next Tuesday.

Gould was arrested in October by the California Highway Patrol.

Crash Causes Whiplash Injury

A 19-year-old Petaluma woman was injured Tuesday at 3:10 p.m. in a two-car accident on northbound Highway 101 on California Park Hill in San Rafael, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Debra C. Jewell, of 322 Post Street, was treated at Marin General Hospital for whiplash.

The patrol said her car stopped in heavy traffic and was struck from behind by a vehicle driven by William P. De Lorey, 26, of Santa Maria. De Lorey told officers he would see his owr. doctor for pain in both knees.

Cabinet Officers Now Fighting To Keep From Seeing President

WASHINGTON — There was a time when every cabinet member of the Nixon administration was fighting to get in to see the President at the White House.

But after Walter Hickel was granted an audience with Mr. Nixon and fired on the spot, other cabinet officers have decided there is no need to see the President after all.

Six months ago there were three or four cabinet officers waiting in line by the White House gate, hoping to get a glimpse of the President, just so they could go back to their departments and say they saw him.

But all this has changed.

THE OTHER DAY a cabinet officer I know received a telephone call from the White House. His wife answered.

It's John Ehrlichman. He says you asked a year ago to see the President, and he thinks he can squeeze you in on Thursday between 4 and 5."

'.Oh, no," the cabinet officer cried. "Tell him I changed my mind."

His wife transmitted the message and then told her husband, "He says even if you don't want to see the President, the President ants to see you."

"Tell him I've got to address a chamber of commerce meeting in Oklahoma on Thursday between 4 and 5."

THE IFE DID this and listened. "Yes, all right, we'll be there." And she hung up.

"Where will we be?" The cabinet officer asked in fear.

''We've been invited to church services at the White House on Sunday," his wife said.

"Call back and tell him we don't believe in God," the cabinet officer implored.

''Now stop being ridiculous. Surely if the President was going to fire you, he wouldn't do it at church services on Sunday morning."

''You don't know how those people operate over there at the White House. Two weeks ago they canned six poverty lawyers while the choir was singing "Nearer My God to Thee,"

"Well, you can,t very well refuse an invitation to go to church services at the White House. Besides, if we sit in the back maybe the President won't see us."

"ALL RIGHT, but let's pack and put our stuff in the trunk of the car just in case," he said.

The cabinet officer and his wife showed up at the White House the next Sunday. Billy Graham was reading from the Book of Job.

"Why then then did you bring me forth from the womb?

"I should have died and no eye have seen me.

"I should be as though I never lived;

The cabinet officer whispered, "There, what did I tell you!"

"THE MESSAGE could be for the secretary of the treasry," his wife whispered back.

Are not the days of my life few?

''Let me alone that I might recover a little

'PBefore I go from whence I shall not return, to the

"Land of darkness and gloom,

"The black disordered land

⅛'Where darkness is the only light."

The cabinet officer said, . "It's either Romney or me."

ATTY. GEN. John Mitchell started passing the collection plate. As he handed the basket to the cabinet officer, he said quietly, "Sit tight until you hear from me.',

But as the choir sang "Glorious Things of Thee Are Spoken," a task force from the White House had already taken over the cabinet member's office and changed all the locks on the doors.

Eye Tests Due Pre-Schoolers

Eye tests for all the preschoolers in Marin child centers are to be provided Jan. 12 to 15.

The tests to be made by doctors from Contra Costa and Alameda county optemetric societies will be offered at Manzanita Pre-School Center in Marin City Jan. 12-14, from 9:30 a.m. to noon according to Margo Schmitz, coordinator for health care services for children's centers.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Amenorrhea Can Stem From Fear Of Pregnancy In Some Women

Van Dellen

When a young married woman who wants a baby misses a period, she usually is pregnant, unless proved otherwise. She may also mention having nausea, loss of appetite, lethargy, tenderness of the breasts and urinary frequency. A laboratory test for pregnancy may or may not be done unless there is doubt about the diagnosis.

When nausea and vomiting are severe, the physician usually recommends a pregnancy test rather than gastrointestinal X-rays. Thus the developing fetus is not exposed to radiation. Now and then the doctor is misled when the woman places too much emphasis on nausea and vomiting and neglects to mention the fact that she has failed to menstruate (amenorrhea).

PREGNANCY may be missed when her lethargy is blamed on a sluggish thyroid or too little sugar in the blood. Unless pregnancy is suspected, the woman is subjected to needless tests, including radiosotopes that could cause fetal damage.

We realize that conditions that conditions other than pregnancy cause amenorrhea. Failure to menstruate may occur when the woman is afraid she might be pregnant and hopes she is not. In such instances, the amenorrhea may be of psychogenic origin. Now and then the woman also develops other symptoms of early pregnancy even though she has not conceived. "Doing nothing" for two weeks may solve the problem if the menstrual flow begins. Pregnancy tests and cervical cellular studies can be done to confirm the diagnosis. And these measures are always recommended before the woman contemplates anything so drastic as abortion.

AMENORRHEA and anxiety concerning pregnancy are more common in the meno pausal woman. In these ladies, pregnancy testing seldom is necessary especially when there have been delayed or missed periods.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

HIDING FRECKLES

J. S. writes: I am a young girl who has hundreds of freckles on her arms. When someone looks at them, I become terribly embarrassed. Is there any way to get rid of these spots or at least camouflafe them?

REPLY

Surely you realize the best way to avoid freckles is to stay out of the sun. Many types of liquid makeup are effective for covering these spots. You could also wear a dress or sweater with long sleeves.

COLDS-FREE COUPLE

J. W. S. writes: I have been told that a husband and wife went for 15 years without getting a cold by eating so-called health foods. These foods have no additives or preservatives in them. Is this possible?

REPLY

I doubt if the so-called health foods played a role. In all probability, this man and woman were not exposed to people with colds or both had a natural immunity.

SUPPLEMENTS

M. T. writes: What do you mean by a food supplement?

REPLY

A mineral or vitamin that supplies a need or adds to the daily diet. Supplements are not necessary when meals are well balanced and contain all the basic foods. These products help when improper diet, illness or increased demand for vitamins or minerals, because of alcoholism or pregnancy has brought on a deficiency.

Inventor Unveils New Gas Turbine Engine

SAN JOSE (UPI)—A Santa Clara inventor today unveiled a car with a patented turbine engine which he says will cost about the same as the old piston-driven type but puts out 90-95 per cent less pollutants.

Hector A. Dauvergne, 33-year-old electrical engineer who was born in Chile, said his "gas accelerator" turbine spins at a maximum of 3,000 revolutions per minute, as compared to the 50,000 to 60,000 rpm of conventional turbine engines.

Dauvergne said turbine engines have been impractical previously because of their high cost. He said because conventional turbines spin at such great speeds, they require critical engineering and balance, and ultra-high quality materials—making them very expensive.

"I designed this unit which can work between 250 and 3,000 rpm," he said, "It's possible because of new materials.

"The heart of the thing is the gas accelerator, a very unique device. What it basically does is to produce a turbine which is extremely inexpensive and reliable."

Dauvergne said his turbine offers "comparable" mileage to a piston-driven engine of similar horsepower. His prototype developes 100 horsepower, which he says is more than enough for small cars.

The engine uses regular, nonleaded gasoline, and burns fuel at a rate comparable to piston-driven engines without most of the pollution.

"Any turbine engine is far cleaner than an internal combustion engine," he said. "All the hydrocarbons are completely burned."

Dauvergne said he calls his turbine the gas-accelerator because it has been developed to accelerate and declerate like regular automotive engines—something turbines in the past haven't been able to do.

The inventor said the turbine is suitable for mass production because of its simplicity and the materials commonly used in engines now produced.

The engine uses a regular cooling system and has no high-pressure steam boiler which could be dangerous in a crash. Its tailpipe exhaust temperatures are comparable to those of an internal combustion engine.

Dauvergne said he will not let anyone buy out his invention. He plans to offer the design on an option with a total purchase price of $50,000, with a five dollar royalty on each power plant the buyer produces.

He plans to have the sales package ready by January 15, 1971.

Search Halted For Attorney

OJAI (UPI) —Another rainstorm again brought a halt to the search for missing Tate trial defense attorney Ronald Hughes Wednesday.

Hughes, who represents defendant Leslie Van Houten, disappeared during a storm in the Sespe Hot Springs wilderness area Nov. 28 and authorities at first believed he might have been stranded there. However, his prolonged disappearance has led authorities to fear he may be dead.

The search was halted after another storm hit the area Tuesday night and deputies said road and weather conditions were "too poor" to continue.

Anguilla Quits British Talks

LONDON (UPI) —Talks on the future of the Caribbean island of Anguilla have broken down and there are no immediate plans for their resumption, according to British officials.

The discussions collapsed Tuesday night when Robert Bradshaw, Prime Minister of the Associated state of St. Kittys-Nevis-Anguilla, walked out of a meeting at the British Foreign Office with Minister of State Joseph Godber.

The Foreign Office said they failed to reach agreement and the British government now is considering what further action can be taken.

Anguilla broke away from the three-island federation and proclaimed itself an independent republic in February, 1969.

Funds Backed To Chase Out Hippies

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Appropriation of an extra $550,000 to hire 40 more U. S. park police to help chase pot-smoking hippies in the national parks was recommended today by the House Appropriations Committee.

The money was included in a catch-all $1.5 billion supplementary money bill approved by the committee and sent to the House floor for a vote.

Council Approves Landscape Plan

Working drawings for landscaping and beautification of the San Rafael Avenue entrance to Belvedere have been approved by the city's parks and recreation commission.

Member Wendy Buchen said the commission on Tuesday recommended that the drawings, prepared by the San Francisco landscape architect firm of Berridge, Becker and Julin, be approved by the city council.

The plans call for a pathway and benches along Richardson Bay parallel to San Rafael Avenue, and surveying, grading, planting of ground cover and trees and construction of irrigation and lighting systems.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Amenorrhea Can Stem From Fear Of Pregnancy In Some Women

Van Dellen

When a young married woman who wants a baby misses a period, she usually is pregnant, unless proved otherwise. She may also mention having nausea, loss of appetite, lethargy, tenderness of the breasts and urinary frequency. A laboratory test for pregnancy may or may not be done unless there is doubt about the diagnosis.

When nausea and vomiting are severe, the physician usually recommends a pregnancy test rather than gastrointestinal X-rays. Thus the developing fetus is not exposed to radiation. Now and then the doctor is misled when the woman places too much emphasis on nausea and vomiting and neglects to mention the fact that she has failed to menstruate (amenorrhea).

PREGNANCY may be missed when her lethargy is blamed on a sluggish thyroid or too little sugar in the blood. Unless pregnancy is suspected, the woman is subjected to needless tests, including radiosotopes that could cause fetal damage.

We realize that conditions that conditions other than pregnancy cause amenorrhea. Failure to menstruate may occur when the woman is afraid she might be pregnant and hopes she is not. In such instances, the amenorrhea may be of psychogenic origin. Now and then the woman also develops other symptoms of early pregnancy even though she has not conceived. "Doing nothing" for two weeks may solve the problem if the menstrual flow begins. Pregnancy tests and cervical cellular studies can be done to confirm the diagnosis. And these measures are always recommended before the woman contemplates anything so drastic as abortion.

AMENORRHEA and anxiety concerning pregnancy are more common in the meno pausal woman. In these ladies, pregnancy testing seldom is necessary especially when there have been delayed or missed periods.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

HIDING FRECKLES

J. S. writes: I am a young girl who has hundreds of freckles on her arms. When someone looks at them, I become terribly embarrassed. Is there any way to get rid of these spots or at least camouflafe them?

REPLY

Surely you realize the best way to avoid freckles is to stay out of the sun. Many types of liquid makeup are effective for covering these spots. You could also wear a dress or sweater with long sleeves.

COLDS-FREE COUPLE

J. W. S. writes: I have been told that a husband and wife went for 15 years without getting a cold by eating so-called health foods. These foods have no additives or preservatives in them. Is this possible?

REPLY

I doubt if the so-called health foods played a role. In all probability, this man and woman were not exposed to people with colds or both had a natural immunity.

SUPPLEMENTS

M. T. writes: What do you mean by a food supplement?

REPLY

A mineral or vitamin that supplies a need or adds to the daily diet. Supplements are not necessary when meals are well balanced and contain all the basic foods. These products help when improper diet, illness or increased demand for vitamins or minerals, because of alcoholism or pregnancy has brought on a deficiency.

Machine Will Show Plans For Nicasio

I-J Special Report

BERKELEY — A new machine that will show a people-eye view of possible future uses for the Nicasio area is to be unveiled at the University of California today.

The elaborate system of models and television will produce a dynamic picture of hypothetical uses allowing the visual study of various land uses, according to Professor Donald Appleyard, chairman of the Department of Landscape Architecture.

The model is to be used in preparation of a general plan for the Nicasio area and for other tests of effects on the environment of various projects, Appleyard said.

The machine, which is 16 by 40 feet in size, will be used for the Nicasio study within the next year, he said.

Education, Veterans Bonds Sold

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — State higher education and veterans bonds amounting to more than $75 million have been sold by State Treasurer Ivy Baker Priest.

Interest rate for the bonds, which will mature through 1991, netted 4.3002 per cent — more than one per cent below the prevailing national index for 20-year municipal bonds.

The winning bid was submitted by a syndicate including United California Bank, First National City Bank of New York, Morgan Guaranty Trust of New York, and Salomon Bros. of New York.

A premium of $9,508 was included in the bid, and net interest cost was figured at $35,143,612.

According to Mrs. Priest, the veterans bonds will finance about 2,650 loans for the purchase of farms and homes.

Last of a $230 million bond issue authorized in 1966, the higher education bonds are earmarked primarily for construction of college instructional facilities.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Amenorrhea Can Stem From Fear Of Pregnancy In Some Women

Van Dellen

When a young married woman who wants a baby misses a period, she usually is pregnant, unless proved otherwise. She may also mention having nausea, loss of appetite, lethargy, tenderness of the breasts and urinary frequency. A laboratory test for pregnancy may or may not be done unless there is doubt about the diagnosis.

When nausea and vomiting are severe, the physician usually recommends a pregnancy test rather than gastrointestinal X-rays. Thus the developing fetus is not exposed to radiation. Now and then the doctor is misled when the woman places too much emphasis on nausea and vomiting and neglects to mention the fact that she has failed to menstruate (amenorrhea).

PREGNANCY may be missed when her lethargy is blamed on a sluggish thyroid or too little sugar in the blood. Unless pregnancy is suspected, the woman is subjected to needless tests, including radiosotopes that could cause fetal damage.

We realize that conditions that conditions other than pregnancy cause amenorrhea. Failure to menstruate may occur when the woman is afraid she might be pregnant and hopes she is not. In such instances, the amenorrhea may be of psychogenic origin. Now and then the woman also develops other symptoms of early pregnancy even though she has not conceived. "Doing nothing" for two weeks may solve the problem if the menstrual flow begins. Pregnancy tests and cervical cellular studies can be done to confirm the diagnosis. And these measures are always recommended before the woman contemplates anything so drastic as abortion.

AMENORRHEA and anxiety concerning pregnancy are more common in the meno pausal woman. In these ladies, pregnancy testing seldom is necessary especially when there have been delayed or missed periods.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

HIDING FRECKLES

J. S. writes: I am a young girl who has hundreds of freckles on her arms. When someone looks at them, I become terribly embarrassed. Is there any way to get rid of these spots or at least camouflafe them?

REPLY

Surely you realize the best way to avoid freckles is to stay out of the sun. Many types of liquid makeup are effective for covering these spots. You could also wear a dress or sweater with long sleeves.

COLDS-FREE COUPLE

J. W. S. writes: I have been told that a husband and wife went for 15 years without getting a cold by eating so-called health foods. These foods have no additives or preservatives in them. Is this possible?

REPLY

I doubt if the so-called health foods played a role. In all probability, this man and woman were not exposed to people with colds or both had a natural immunity.

SUPPLEMENTS

M. T. writes: What do you mean by a food supplement?

REPLY

A mineral or vitamin that supplies a need or adds to the daily diet. Supplements are not necessary when meals are well balanced and contain all the basic foods. These products help when improper diet, illness or increased demand for vitamins or minerals, because of alcoholism or pregnancy has brought on a deficiency.

Inventor Unveils New Gas Turbine Engine

SAN JOSE (UPI)—A Santa Clara inventor today unveiled a car with a patented turbine engine which he says will cost about the same as the old piston-driven type but puts out 90-95 per cent less pollutants.

Hector A. Dauvergne, 33-year-old electrical engineer who was born in Chile, said his "gas accelerator" turbine spins at a maximum of 3,000 revolutions per minute, as compared to the 50,000 to 60,000 rpm of conventional turbine engines.

Dauvergne said turbine engines have been impractical previously because of their high cost. He said because conventional turbines spin at such great speeds, they require critical engineering and balance, and ultra-high quality materials—making them very expensive.

"I designed this unit which can work between 250 and 3,000 rpm," he said, "It's possible because of new materials.

"The heart of the thing is the gas accelerator, a very unique device. What it basically does is to produce a turbine which is extremely inexpensive and reliable."

Dauvergne said his turbine offers "comparable" mileage to a piston-driven engine of similar horsepower. His prototype developes 100 horsepower, which he says is more than enough for small cars.

The engine uses regular, non-leaded gasoline, and burns fuel at a rate comparable to piston-driven engines without most of the pollution.

"Any turbine engine is far cleaner than an internal combustion engine," he said. "All the hydrocarbons are completely burned."

Dauvergne said he calls his turbine the gas-accelerator because it has been developed to accelerate and declerate like regular automotive engines—something turbines in the past haven't been able to do.

The inventor said the turbine is suitable for mass production because of its simplicity and the materials commonly used in engines now produced.

The engine uses a regular cooling system and has no high-pressure steam boiler which could be dangerous in a crash. Its tailpipe exhaust temperatures are comparable to those of an internal combustion engine.

Dauvergne said he will not let anyone buy out his invention. He plans to offer the design on an option with a total purchase price of $50,000, with a five dollar royalty on each power plant the buyer produces.

He plans to have the sales package ready by January 15, 1971.

Search Halted For Attorney

OJAI (UPI) —Another rainstorm again brought a halt to the search for missing Tate trial defense attorney Ronald Hughes Wednesday.

Hughes, who represents defendant Leslie Van Houten, disappeared during a storm in the Sespe Hot Springs wilderness area Nov. 28 and authorities at first believed he might have been stranded there. However, his prolonged disappearance has led authorities to fear he may be dead.

The search was halted after another storm hit the area Tuesday night and deputies said road and weather conditions were "too poor" to continue.

Anguilla Quits British Talks

LONDON (UPI) —Talks on the future of the Caribbean island of Anguilla have broken down and there are no immediate plans for their resumption, according to British officials.

The discussions collapsed Tuesday night when Robert Bradshaw, Prime Minister of the Associated state of St. Kittys-Nevis-Anguilla, walked out of a meeting at the British Foreign Office with Minister of State Joseph Godber.

The Foreign Office said they failed to reach agreement and the British government now is considering what further action can be taken.

Anguilla broke away from the three-island federation and proclaimed itself an independent republic in February, 1969.

Funds Backed To Chase Out Hippies

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Appropriation of an extra $550,000 to hire 40 more U. S. park police to help chase pot-smoking hippies in the national parks was recommended today by the House Appropriations Committee.

The money was included in a catch-all $1.5 billion supplementary money bill approved by the committee and sent to the House floor for a vote.

Council Approves Landscape Plan

Working drawings for landscaping and beautification of the San Rafael Avenue entrance to Belvedere have been approved by the city's parks and recreation commission.

Member Wendy Buchen said the commission on Tuesday recommended that the drawings, prepared by the San Francisco landscape architect firm of Berridge, Becker and Julin, be approved by the city council.

The plans call for a pathway and benches along Richardson Bay parallel to San Rafael Avenue, and surveying, grading, planting of ground cover and trees and construction of irrigation and lighting systems.

San Marin, Petaluma Cagers Win

San Marin and Petaluma high schools got off a big jump in the sixth annual Drake High School Invitational Basketball Tournament last night.

San Marin, the young Novato school, rode the shoulders of big Dana LaFerriere to a tough 56-49 victory over the host Drake Pirates after Petaluma smashed an ice-cold San Rafael squad, 74-52.

Action resumes today at the San Anselmo school with the completion of the first round; Balboa of San Francisco meets Montgomery of Santa Rosa in the 5 p.m. opener followed by Terra Linda-Napa at 6:30.

Tomorrow's schedule in the four-day festival calls for four games at 4, 5:30, 7 and 8:30.

Yesterday's first round action was witnessed by an estimated 1,500 persons.

Drake gave the favored San Marin quint all it could handle throughout the game. The victorious Mustangs held a slim 50-48 edge with only two minutes to play when All-League ace LaFerriere settled the issue with tw field goals and Brad O'Riley chipped in a pair of free throws to sink the Pirates.

The first game saw an incredible first quarter in which the classy Trojans from Petaluma roared off to a 17-0 lead.

San Rafael couldn't buy a basket and wound up with only six points for the quarter. Coach Mike Diaz substituted liberally in a search for a more prolific combination, but Petaluma was not to be denied. Joe Rodola with 17 points and Dave Thomas with 16 led the Trojans.

JIM GILMARTIN

He's Cheering For Neighbor

Here's a good local angle on the Camellia Bowl scheduled Saturday in Sacramento with University of Montana opposing North Dakota State:

Attorney Jasper C. DeDobbeleer, who played right halfback for Montana in 1927, will be in the stands cheering for his alma mater.

Stein, you will remember, is the All-Conference and record breaking defensive back for U. of Montana who will be one of the stars in the game, you can be assured.

Small world, eh, Karl and Jasper?

INCIDENTALLY, for those of you who won't be able to attend the Camellia Bowl to root for Stein, the former Drake High All-Leaguer, the game will be televised on Channel 11 starting at 1:30 p.m. Channels 7 and 13 will be blacked out in this area.

AND WHILE we're on the coaxial cable subject, those of you unfortunate ones who haven't tickets to the Oakland Raiders-San Francisco 49er classic on Dec. 20 are reminded that gaming houses in Nevada will set up special color television sets for its customers.

Lask week I noted Harold's Club in Reno was offering ridiculously lo-priced "fun packages" to lure football fans there for the telecast. It's blacked out locally.

Now I'm told by Dick Skuse of San Rafael that Harrah's Club at both Reno and South Shore Lake Tahoe also will have several TV receivers set up for the game. Added Skuse: "The South Shore Room and Headliner Room at Reno will include numerous strategically spaced TV locations. No special prices, though — first-come, first-served and drinks at regular prices."

The Marin 49er Goal Rushers Club is setting up a junket to Nevada for the telecast because many of its members can't get ducats to the Oakland Coliseum.

HAL FISCHER of Santa Rosa, internationally known basketball coach who coaches at the Presidio in San Francisco, treated Terra Linda High School and some eighth graders to a basketball clinic this afternoon.

A former resident of Marin, Fischer has toured the world as an assistant Olympic Games coach and also as head of the U.S. team in the Pan-American games and a touring college all-star team.

AND NOW I'd like to tell you about Don Collins, the San Rafael Buick Baron.

At Monday's meeting of the Marin Goal Rushers, Collins won an autographed football. And as Goal Rushers President Gil Medeiros made the presentation, Collins promptly dropped the ball.

Just like he dropped my perfect passes to him when we were teammates at San Rafael High School years and years ago. Dammit, Collins, get some glue!

At the same meeting, John Hodgen of Novato won a 49er parka. No, not a Candlestick parka, smart guys.

Mullins Sparks Warriors

DETROIT (UPI) —There's got to be only one reason for San Francisco's upset NBA win here Wednesday night and that is the return of Jeff Mullins.

They had lost Monday and Tuesday to sub .500 teams and were playing their third game in as many nights against the tough Pistons.

But the Warriors blasted Detroit 110-99 to stay above .500 and move into a tie with San Diego for second in the Pacific Division.

Mullins, returning to action after missing the first two games, and Jerry Lucas put on a super show as they led the team to its first win in five games.

Mullins, playing with a strange-looking mask to guard his broken cheek bone, hit 12 of 21 shots and Lucas was 11 of 15 with 20 rebounds and 8 assists as both hooped 27 points.

Lucas called it "without a doubt the best game we've played this year as far as ball movement is concerned. We were finding the open man, making layups, moving the ball in switching situations. Jeff had an outstanding game cutting through the middle, getting inside."

San Francisco hit 50.5 per cent of its shots.

The Warriors finally get the night off, but then have another rough row to hoe with games at Philadelphia Friday, Baltimore Saturday and at St. Luis Sunday where they have to play the New York Knicks.

Marin 'Cats Lose Opener

Marin Catholic High School ran hot and then cold in losing to St. Elizabeth's 57-50 in the opening round of the St. Elizabeth's Invitational Basketball Tournament last night in Oakland.

Reeling off 10 straight points at the end of the third and start of the fourth quarter, the Marin quintet took a four-point lead, only to lose it going down the homestretch. A costly turnover by the Wildcats helped St. Elizabeth's keep the lead.

Bill Donnellan with 17 points and Tin Stone with 10 were Marin's leading scorers.

Marin returns to the tourney to oppose Mission High of San Francisco at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the consolation bracket.

Crown Is Taken Away From Light Heavyweight Foster

Bill Brennan, president of the WBA and secretary of the Virginia Athletic Commission, said Foster's crown was being lifted because his manager reneged on an agreement for a title fight and Foster had not defended his 31-month old title against ranking contenders.

Brennan said Lou Viscusi, Foster's manager, agreed last Aug. 10 in Montreal to post a $5,000 forfeiture bond, guaranteeing his fighter would meet a top contender within 90 days of his heavyweight bout with Joe Frazier. That was 22 days ago.

Brennan said Viscusi never posted the bond, but the Michigan Atheletic Commission (MAC) was given permission to withhold $5,000 from Foster's purse for the Frazier fight. However, when the MAC presented the check for Viscusi's endorsement he refused to sign it, Brennan said.

Brennan also said that Viscusi promised him Foster would fight number one contender Jimmy Dupree next Feb. 17 in Houston. He said Dupree's manager, Al Braverman, told him there was no such fight scheduled.

Viscusi said Wednesday night he has "complied with every wish of the WBA." He said a copy of the fight contract was sent to Brennan.

Brennan said, "It doesn't make a bit of difference, not one bit. There is no change" in the situation.

Meanwhile, in Houston, promoter Earl Gilliam said he had Viscusi's signature on a contract for the Feb. 17 fight. He said the champion was offered $100,000 of the gate and a flat $2,500 would go to Dupree.

Gilliam said he sent copies of the contract to Braverman and Brennan, but "I have not heard a word from either one and I've been trying to reach them on the telephone for five days."

Brennan said "Foster won the title on May 23, 1968, and he has not defended it against the world's number one, or leading, contender, since that time. This has added strangulation to the light-heavyweight division and has deprived leading contenders of the opportunity to compete for the title."

Seals Whip Vancouver By 6-1 Score

Ferguson Wednesday night returned for the first time since Oct. 17 when he broke his right shoulder and contributed a goal during a 6-1 romp over Vancouver before 3,397 fans.

The Seals scored a 6-1 win over Buffalo Oct. 30 and an 8-4 triumph Nov. 6 over Toronto. Those two games and Wednesday's contest were the only times all season they have scored more than three goals in a contest.

It was 1-1 early in the second period when Ehman, Ingarfield and Ferguson broke things open with goals.

But there was bad news for the Seals, too. Defenseman Harry Howell's back muscle pains continued in the area where his spine had been fused in a pre-season operation. A doctor ordered him not to skate at all for a week and he will be sidelined indefinitely.

The Seals, now 7-17-2, host New York Friday.

Len Kristensen and Jim Grant each scored 13 points to lead Marin Catholic High School's freshman basketball team to a 55-35 victory over Healdsburg High yesterday at Marin.

Clay-Frazier Fight Probably In New York

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) —A spokesman for the Texas Boxing Commission said Wednesday it will not allow Cassius Clay to fight heavyweight champion Joe Frazier in Houston's Astrodome unless the courts order that Clay be licensed in the state.

Tommy V. Smith, commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, which is in charge of issuing boxing licenses, said it is legally impossible for him to issue Clay a license for the $10-million bout, the biggest attraction in boxing history.

Smith denied reports that he had said he would "see to it" that Clay got a license for the bout.

"I don't know where they got that information," Smith said. "I was in New York for the fight (Clay's 15-round TKO over Oscar Bonavena), but I sure didn't say anything about getting him a license. He's got me under suit, and I couldn't issue him a license if I wanted to. That's up to the court."

Clay filed an application last year for a Texas boxing license, and Smith denied the application. Clay went to court, but he has not pressed his suit to force Smith to grant the license. The suit is still pending in an Austin court.

Clay was stripped of the title and banned from boxing in 1967 for refusing to go into the Army, and his subsequent conviction for draft evasion is still pending before the U.S. Supreme Court. Earlier this year, he was granted permission for two fights.

He scored a three-round technical knockout over Jerry Quarry in Atlanta on Oct. 26 after receiving a license from the city, and only last Monday night he stopped Bonavena in 15 rounds.

Lamonica Is Fighting Off Bruises

OAKLAND (UPI) —"I'm really looking forward to the end of the season," says a bruised Daryle Lamonica, but then the Oakland quarterback adds "but the off season is still five games away."

That would mean he figures the Raiders to make it to the Super Bowl.

Lamonica has not been healthy since the first quarter of the Pittsburgh game.

"It's been frustrating," he admitted, "but at least I haven't had a broken bone that would keep me out. I've played. I just try to get as many points as I can up there and when I can't do it, George Blanda comes in and does it.

Lamonica said he felt better than he has since the Pittsburgh game against New York last Sunday—at least until he was knocked out of bounds in the third quarter and came up with a bruised hip.

But it's better and he figures that "we'll have a good game against Kansas City Saturday."

Oakland and Kansas City will bring 7-3-2 records into the Coliseum.

Heavyweight Boxer Has Gunshot Wound

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (UPI) —Mike Boswell, 24, Youngstown, a promising heavyweight, was shot and wounded late Wednesday night during an argument over a woman, police said today.

Changes In 49er Lineup

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — There will be some new faces in the San Francisco Forty Niners' starting lineup Sunday in their big battle of New Orleans.

Coach Dick Nolan indicated Wednesday that Bill Tucker would probably start for halfback Doug Cunningham, who is hurting, and Jim Sniadeckik would go for linebacker Skip Vanderbundt, who is hospitalized with a knee sprain.

But there could be a couple of other surprises, too.

Nolan was so full of praise for Earl Edwards and Stan Hindman's play against Atlanta last Sunday that it might indicate they could start in place of Roland Lakes and Tommy Hart respectively. However, Nolan always sees to it that all his defensive linemen see plenty of action each week under his unique rotating policy.

Nolan meanwhile also had praise for John Brodie, the oft-maligned San Francisco quarterback who has led the Prospectors to an 8-3-1 record. That's the team's best 12-game record since 1953, when they finished 9-3.

Nolan said he felt only Washington's Sonny Jurgenson was in a class with Brodie among National Division signal-callers.

When he took over the club before the season, Nolan got plenty of free advice about Brodie — most of it negative.

"I had played against Brodie and coached against him, and I knew he could do it," Nolan said.

Brodie, now 35 and in his 14th year, would not say this was his best year since he recalled that he passed for more yards and touchdowns in 1965. But he said "this is the best team I've ever played for. I'm talking about all 40 men and that's what it takes to win."

Has he resented the Kezar boos in other years?

"Nobody likes it," he admitted.

Inventor Unveils New Gas Turbine Engine

SAN JOSE (UPI)—A Santa Clara inventor today unveiled a car with a patented turbine engine which he says will cost about the same as the old piston-driven type but puts out 90-95 per cent less pollutants.

Hector A. Dauvergne, 33-year-old electrical engineer who was born in Chile, said his "gas accelerator" turbine spins at a maximum of 3,000 revolutions per minute, as compared to the 50,000 to 60,000 rpm of conventional turbine engines.

Dauvergne said turbine engines have been impractical previously because of their high cost. He said because conventional turbines spin at such great speeds, they require critical engineering and balance, and ultra-high quality materials—making them very expensive.

"I designed this unit which can work between 250 and 3,000 rpm," he said, "It's possible because of new materials.

"The heart of the thing is the gas accelerator, a very unique device. What it basically does is to produce a turbine which is extremely inexpensive and reliable."

Dauvergne said his turbine offers "comparable" mileage to a piston-driven engine of similar horsepower. His prototype developes 100 horsepower, which he says is more than enough for small cars.

The engine uses regular, nonleaded gasoline, and burns fuel at a rate comparable to piston-driven engines without most of the pollution.

"Any turbine engine is far cleaner than an internal combustion engine," he said. "All the hydrocarbons are completely burned."

Dauvergne said he calls his turbine the gas-accelerator because it has been developed to accelerate and declerate like regular automotive engines—something turbines in the past haven't been able to do.

The inventor said the turbine is suitable for mass production because of its simplicity and the materials commonly used in engines now produced.

The engine uses a regular cooling system and has no high-pressure steam boiler which could be dangerous in a crash. Its tailpipe exhaust temperatures are comparable to those of an internal combustion engine.

Dauvergne said he will not let anyone buy out his invention. He plans to offer the design on an option with a total purchase price of $50,000, with a five dollar royalty on each power plant the buyer produces.

He plans to have the sales package ready by January 15, 1971.

Search Halted For Attorney

OJAI (UPI) —Another rainstorm again brought a halt to the search for missing Tate trial defense attorney Ronald Hughes Wednesday.

Hughes, who represents defendant Leslie Van Houten, disappeared during a storm in the Sespe Hot Springs wilderness area Nov. 28 and authorities at first believed he might have been stranded there. However, his prolonged disappearance has led authorities to fear he may be dead.

The search was halted after another storm hit the area Tuesday night and deputies said road and weather conditions were "too poor" to continue.

Anguilla Quits British Talks

LONDON (UPI) —Talks on the future of the Caribbean island of Anguilla have broken down and there are no immediate plans for their resumption, according to British officials.

The discussions collapsed Tuesday night when Robert Bradshaw, Prime Minister of the Associated state of St. Kittys-Nevis-Anguilla, walked out of a meeting at the British Foreign Office with Minister of State Joseph Godber.

The Foreign Office said they failed to reach agreement and the British government now is considering what further action can be taken.

Anguilla broke away from the three-island federation and proclaimed itself an independent republic in February, 1969.

More than 70 tree species are native to Kentucky.

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Appropriation of an extra $550,000 to hire 40 more U. S. park police to help chase pot-smoking hippies in the national parks was recommended today by the House Appropriations Committee.

The money was included in a catch-all $1.5 billion supplementary money bill approved by the committee and sent to the House floor for a vote.

Council Approves Landscape Plan

Working drawings for landscaping and beautification of the San Rafael Avenue entrance to Belvedere have been approved by the city's parks and recreation commission.

Member Wendy Buchen said the commission on Tuesday recommended that the drawings, prepared by the San Francisco landscape architect firm of Berridge, Becker and Julin, be approved by the city council.

The plans call for a pathway and benches along Richardson Bay parallel to San Rafael Avenue, and surveying, grading, planting of ground cover and trees and construction of irrigation and lighting systems.

Machine Will Show Plans For Nicasio

I-J Special Report

BERKELEY — A new machine that will show a people-eye view of possible future uses for the Nicasio area is to be unveiled at the University of California today.

The elaborate system of models and television will produce a dynamic picture of hypothetical uses allowing the visual study of various land uses, according to Professor Donald Appleyard, chairman of the Department of Landscape Architecture.

The model is to be used in preparation of a general plan for the Nicasio area and for other tests of effects on the environment of various projects, Appleyard said.

The machine, which is 16 by 40 feet in size, will be used for the Nicasio study within the next year, he said.

Education, Veterans Bonds Sold

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — State higher education and veterans bonds amounting to more than $75 million have been sold by State Treasurer Ivy Baker Priest.

Interest rate for the bonds, which will mature through 1991, netted 4.3002 per cent — more than one per cent below the prevailing national index for 20-year municipal bonds.

The winning bid was submitted by a syndicate including United California Bank, First National City Bank of New York, Morgan Guaranty Trust of New York, and Salomon Bros. of New York.

A premium of $9,508 was included in the bid, and net interest cost was figured at $35,143,612.

According to Mrs. Priest, the veterans bonds will finance about 2,650 loans for the purchase of farms and homes.

Last of a $230 million bond issue authorized in 1966, the higher education bonds are earmarked primarily for construction of college instructional facilities.

There Is Racism At Syracuse U.

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UPI)—There is "real, chronic" racism in the Syracuse University athletic department, but it is unintentional and common to American athletics, a special student-faculty committee reported Wednesday.

The 12-member group was appointed by the SU administration in September to investigate charges of racism made during a dispute between eight black players and head football coach Floyd "Ben" Schwart-

The group recommended Chancellor John E. Corbally Jr. "use his power to eliminate all racist practices which either overtly or covertly threaten minority groups" and that the school "red shirt" the blacks to make them eligible to play another year.

The black athletes were suspended when they boycotted spring practice to back up their demands that a black assistant coach be hired. A black was eventually hired, but Schwartzwalder, with backing from the administration, asked the eight to sign a pledge to work to the best of their ability and admit that their suspensio that their suspensions were a direct result of missing practice.

Since the players refused to sign, they were not allowed in fall practice. Before the season began, they signed a modified pledge and Corbally announced their reinstatement to the team, but none went out for the squad.

Syracuse lost its first three games, but went on to a 6-4 record which led to Schwartzwalder being named United Press International eastern college football coach of the year.

The committee found there was some substance to black players' complaints of name-calling and harassment, but said it could not substantiate charges of discrimination in medical treatment, team positions, discipline, academic advisement or recruiting.

However, it criticized the athletic department for showing an "unwarranted insensitivity" and not acting promptly on the blacks' demand for an assistant coach.

NBA ROUNDUP

Bullets Gun Down Powerful Bucks

By United Press International

"We're running again, not walking," Jack Marin says to explain the resurgence of the Baltimore Bullets' sometimes awesome attack.

The Bullets gunned down Milwaukee, 127-97 Wednesday night, marking only the fourth time the Bucks have been beaten in 25 games this season.

"We should be getting 40 fast breaks a game," Marin explains," because Gus Johnson and Wes Unseld are good for 40 defensive rebounds. Boston is the only other team as fast as we are. But if we run, instead of jog, we can be the best."

Marin and Unseld each scored 25 points and Earl Monroe added 24 for Baltimore. Unseld outrebounded Lew Alcindor, 18-15. Big Lew led Milwaukee with 24 points.

The Bucks had a four-game winning string going into the contest after New York broke Milwaukee's earlier streak of 16 straight.

In other NBA action, Boston ripped Seattle, 136-121; San Francisco beat Detroit, 110-99; Cincinnati dropped Atlanta, 118-106, and Portland topped Cleveland, 109-102.

Boston closed to within 2 1-2 games of New York in the Atlantic Division by winning its tenth straight. John Havlicek, with 29 points, paced the Celtics' longest winning streak in three years. Dick Snyder led Seattle with 28 points.

Johnny Green celebrated his 37th birthday with 31 points and 18 rebounds against Atlanta. Green, the oldest player in the National Basketball Association, scored 19 in the second half. The bulk of Atlanta's scoring came from 32-point productions by Pete Maravich and Lou Hudson.

In a battle for expansion teams, Geoff Petrie and Jim Barnett snapped Portland's six-game losing streak with 25 points apiece against Cleveland, which lost its 28th game against a mere two victories.

ALWORTH IN A FOOTBALL SUIT

San Diego Charger Coach Charlie Waller appears to be telling flanker Lance Alworth to get out and Alworth appears to be saying, "Okay, I'll take my ball and go home." This wasn't the case, however, as the two were discussing strategy for the game at Denver next Sunday. Alworth this week filed a $5.6 million breach of contract suit against the Chargers and anti-trust charges against the National Football League.

Plunkett To Play In 25th Hula Bowl Game Jan. 9

HONOLULU (UPI)—Heisman Trophy winner Jim Plunkett will play in the 1971 Hula Bowl football game, which will be celebrating its 25th anniversary, it was announced Wednesday.

The contest is slated for Jan. 9 at Honolulu Stadium.

Plunkett, Stanford's record-setting quarterback, will head the North squad against a South team guided by Archie Manning, the pride of Ole Miss.

The 23-year-old, 6-3, 204-pound Plunkett becomes the sixth consecutive Heisman Trophy winner to appear in the post-season extravaganza and 16th in the 25-year history of the contest.

DURHAM, N.C. (UPI) — Tom Harp was fired as Duke University's head football coach Wednesday less than a month after the Blue Devils completed their first winning season in five years.

A recommendation by the university's athletic council that Harp's contract be terminated was accepted by Terry Sanford, the university's president.

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI)—Two black high school football stars say they will sign grant-in-aid scholarships Saturday to attend the University of Alabama.

If they sign, Ralph Stokes and Mike Washington will become the first Montgomery Negroes to sign grants with a Southeastern Conference school.

SPORTS SHORTS

Baseball

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—The Philadelphia Phillies announced Wednesday they have signed a five-year, $13.5 million tele)ision-radio contract with U. S. Communications Corp.

Golf

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (UPI)—Walter Bronson of Oak Brook, Ill., held a one-stroke lead going into today's third round of the American Senior Golf Association championship over the PGA national course.

Bronson fired an even par 72 Wednesday to go with his opening round 74 for a 146 total at the halfway point in the amateur tournament.

Auto Racing

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI)—The United States Auto Club (USAC) announced a $50,000 race in its new 1971 road racing series will be held on June 13 at Continental Divide Raceway at Castle Rock, Colo.

General

BOWLING GREEN, O. (UPI) — Robert G. Bell, 37, the assistant athletic director at UCLA, Wednesday was named athletic director at Bowling Green State University.

Golfer Retains Norcal Title

MONTEREY (UPI) —Ken Towns of Tracy fired a one-under par 71 Wednesday to defend his NorthernCalifornia PGA Medal play championship with a score of even par 216 over three different Monterey courses.

The Tracy pro's fine performance in rough weather earned him $500 and a $1,000 golf cart.

Towns Sunday was named PGA player of the year in Northern California in ceremonies held in conjunction with the tourney.

Palmer's Last Chance

FREEPORT, Bahamas (UPI)—It isn't the money, really, it's the principle of the thing that has Arnold Palmer here, shooting for the $26,000 first place money and the title in the $130,000 Bahamas Open golf tournament.

The event is the last official Professional Golfers Association test of the year, and to date Arnold, with and without his army, has been unable to capture a single crown. Should he fail to do so, it will be the first time since 1955 that Palmer will not have won at least one PGA championship on the tour.

The money, too, would come in handy for record book purposes. By winning, Arnold could also top the cash prize list. He has picked up $125,023 thus far for all those second, third and other placings, while Lee Trevino has $147,522, a shade ahead of Billy Casper's $147,372.

While Casper has passed up the challenge of the 7,005 yard King's Inn course, Trevino is on hand. He turned in a two under par 70 in Wednesday's pro-am. Trevino is in no mood to allow one of those famed late charges of Palmer to upset his own personal plans.

Palmer, in his pro-am warm up, carded a one over 73, managing to find five sand traps and also dunking a shot into a water hazard. But what annoyed Palmer was his putting. His tee shots were on the button.

"I feel pretty good," Palmer said. "I'm getting used to the course. I think I can win, but the putting will make the difference."

Chiefs Picked By 1 Over The Raiders

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Kansas City Chiefs Wednesday were made a one-point choice over the Oakland Raiders in their crucial American Football Conference Western Division clash Saturday.

The Raiders, who are tied with the Chiefs for the Western Division title, earned a 17-17 tie with the Chiefs on a 48-yard field goal by George Blanda with three seconds to play in an earlier meeting this year. The winner of Saturday's game will win the division crown.

The Dallas Cowboys have been installed as a two and one-half point pick over the Cleveland Browns in their Saturday contest.

In Sunday's action, St. Louis is a five-point pick over the Giants, Miami is five over the Jets, Baltimore is nine over Buffalo, Cincinnati is five over Houston, Chicago is one over Green Bay, Minnesota is 12 over Boston, Atlanta is six over Pittsburgh and San Francisco is 11 over New Orleans.

Christmas Tourneys For College Cagers

By United Press International

Santa Claus is not the only thing that arrives at Christmas. Tis also the season of basketball tournaments.

A couple of them bounce into action tonight with the Daffodil and the Long Beach State tournaments and on Friday, the Cable Car Classic in San Francisco presents Weber State, USF, Cal and Santa Clara.

Oregon, a team that has looked sensational in early season play, will be in Houston to participate in the Bluebonnet Bowl.

A couple of other big non-tourney tests Friday will find Brigham Young and UOP calling on USC and UCLA respectively. The visitors are on the fringe of high national ratings and will be going all out for the upset wins. In light action Wednesday, Seattle edged Arizona State 89-84 with Mike Collins of the winners meshing 26 and highly-touted Paul Stovall of the losers getting 23.

New Mexico State nipped Arizona 76-74.

Machine Will Show Plans For Nicasio

I-J Special Report

BERKELEY — A new machine that will show a people-eye view of possible future uses for the Nicasio area is to be unveiled at the University of California today.

The elaborate system of models and television will produce a dynamic picture of hypothetical uses allowing the visual study of various land uses, according to Professor Donald Appleyard, chairman of the Department of Landscape Architecture.

The model is to be used in preparation of a general plan for the Nicasio area and for other tests of effects on the environment of various projects, Appleyard said.

The machine, which is 16 by 40 feet in size, will be used for the Nicasio study within the next year, he said.

Education, Veterans Bonds Sold

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — State higher education and veterans bonds amounting to more than $75 million have been sold by State Treasurer Ivy Baker Priest.

Interest rate for the bonds, which will mature through 1991, netted 4.3002 per cent — more than one per cent below the prevailing national index for 20-year municipal bonds.

The winning bid was submitted by a syndicate including United California Bank, First National City Bank of New York, Morgan Guaranty Trust of New York, and Salomon Bros. of New York.

A premium of $9,508 was included in the bid, and net interest cost was figured at $35,143,612.

According to Mrs. Priest, the veterans bonds will finance about 2,650 loans for the purchase of farms and homes.

Last of a $230 million bond issue authorized in 1966, the higher education bonds are earmarked primarily for construction of college instructional facilities.

UP AND IN — San Marin's Hoza Wright goes up for a basket while Drake's Tom Carlisle (right) looks on helplessly. San Marin went on to beat Drake, 46-49.

San Marin, Petaluma Cagers Win

San Marin and Petaluma high schools got off a big jump in the sixth annual Drake High School Invitational Basketball Tournament last night.

San Marin, the young Novato school, rode the shoulders of big Dana LaFerriere to a tough 56-49 victory over the host Drake Pirates after Petaluma smashed an ice-cold San Rafael squad, 74-52.

Action resumes today at the San Anselmo school with the completion of the first round; Balboa of San Francisco meets Montgomery of Santa Rosa in the 5 p.m. opener followed by Terra Linda-Napa at 6:30.

Tomorrow's schedule in the four-day festival calls for four games at 4, 5:30, 7 and 8:30.

Yesterday's first round action was witnessed by an estimated 1,500 persons.

Drake gave the favored San Marin quint all it could handle throughout the game. The victorious Mustangs held a slim 50-48 edge with only two minutes to play when All-League ace LaFerriere settled the issue with tw field goals and Brad O'Riley chipped in a pair of free throws to sink the Pirates.

The first game saw an incredible first quarter in which the classy Trojans from Petaluma roared off to a 17-0 lead.

San Rafael couldn't buy a basket and wound up with only six points for the quarter. Coach Mike Diaz substituted liberally in a search for a more prolific combination, but Petaluma was not to be denied. Joe Rodola with 17 points and Dave Thomas with 16 led the Trojans.

He's Cheering For Neighbor

Here's a good local angle on the Camellia Bowl scheduled Saturday in Sacramento with University of Montana opposing North Dakota State:

Attorney Jasper C. DeDobbeleer, who played right halfback for Montana in 1927, will be in the stands cheering for his alma mater.

Stein, you will remember, is the All-Conference and record breaking defensive back for U. of Montana who will be one of the stars in the game, you can be assured.

Small world, eh, Karl and Jasper?

INCIDENTALLY, for those of you who won't be able to attend the Camellia Bowl to root for Stein, the former Drake High All-Leaguer, the game will be televised on Channel 11 starting at 1:30 p.m. Channels 7 and 13 will be blacked out in this area.

AND WHILE we're on the coaxial cable subject, those of you unfortunate ones who haven't tickets to the Oakland Raiders-San Francisco 49er classic on Dec. 20 are reminded that gaming houses in Nevada will set up special color television sets for its customers.

Lask week I noted Harold's Club in Reno was offering ridiculously lo-priced "fun packages" to lure football fans there for the telecast. It's blacked out locally.

Now I'm told by Dick Skuse of San Rafael that Harrah's Club at both Reno and South Shore Lake Tahoe also will have several TV receivers set up for the game. Added Skuse: "The South Shore Room and Headliner Room at Reno will include numerous strategically spaced TV locations. No special prices, though — first-come, first-served and drinks at regular prices."

The Marin 49er Goal Rushers Club is setting up a junket to Nevada for the telecast because many of its members can't get ducats to the Oakland Coliseum.

HAL FISCHER of Santa Rosa, internationally known basketball coach who coaches at the Presidio in San Francisco, treated Terra Linda High School and some eighth graders to a basketball clinic this afternoon.

A former resident of Marin, Fischer has toured the world as an assistant Olympic Games coach and also as head of the U.S. team in the Pan-American games and a touring college all-star team.

AND NOW I'd like to tell you about Don Collins, the San Rafael Buick Baron.

At Monday's meeting of the Marin Goal Rushers, Collins won an autographed football. And as Goal Rushers President Gil Medeiros made the presentation, Collins promptly dropped the ball.

Just like he dropped my perfect passes to him when we were teammates at San Rafael High School years and years ago. Dammit, Collins, get some glue!

At the same meeting, John Hodgen of Novato won a 49er parka. No, not a Candlestick parka, smart guys.

Mullins Sparks Warriors

DETROIT (UPI) —There's got to be only one reason for San Francisco's upset NBA win here Wednesday night and that is the return of Jeff Mullins.

They had lost Monday and Tuesday to sub .500 teams and were playing their third game in as many nights against the tough Pistons.

But the Warriors blasted Detroit 110-99 to stay above .500 and move into a tie with San Diego for second in the Pacific Division.

Mullins, returning to action after missing the first two games, and Jerry Lucas put on a super show as they led the team to its first win in five games.

Mullins, playing with a strange-looking mask to guard his broken cheek bone, hit 12 of 21 shots and Lucas was 11 of 15 with 20 rebounds and 8 assists as both hooped 27 points.

Lucas called it "without a doubt the best game we've played this year as far as ball movement is concerned. We were finding the open man, making layups, moving the ball in switching situations. Jeff had an outstanding game cutting through the middle, getting inside."

San Francisco hit 50.5 per cent of its shots.

The Warriors finally get the night off, but then have another rough row to hoe with games at Philadelphia Friday, Baltimore Saturday and at St. Luis Sunday where they have to play the New York Knicks.

Marin 'Cats Lose Opener

Marin Catholic High School ran hot and then cold in losing to St. Elizabeth's 57-50 in the opening round of the St. Elizabeth's Invitational Basketball Tournament last night in Oakland.

Reeling off 10 straight points at the end of the third and start of the fourth quarter, the Marin quintet took a four-point lead, only to lose it going down the homestretch. A costly turnover by the Wildcats helped St. Elizabeth's keep the lead.

Bill Donnellan with 17 points and Tin Stone with 10 were Marin's leading scorers.

Marin returns to the tourney to oppose Mission High of San Francisco at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the consolation bracket.

Crown Is Taken Away From Light Heavyweight Foster

Bill Brennan, president of the WBA and secretary of the Virginia Athletic Commission, said Foster's crown was being lifted because his manager reneged on an agreement for a title fight and Foster had not defended his 31-month old title against ranking contenders.

Brennan said Lou Viscusi, Foster's manager, agreed last Aug. 10 in Montreal to post a $5,000 forfeiture bond, guaranteeing his fighter would meet a top contender within 90 days of his heavyweight bout with Joe Frazier. That was 22 days ago.

Brennan said Viscusi never posted the bond, but the Michigan Atheletic Commission (MAC) was given permission to withhold $5,000 from Foster's purse for the Frazier fight. However, when the MAC presented the check for Viscusi's endorsement he refused to sign it, Brennan said.

Brennan also said that Viscusi promised him Foster would fight number one contender Jimmy Dupree next Feb. 17 in Houston. He said Dupree's manager, Al Braverman, told him there was no such fight scheduled.

Viscusi said Wednesday night he has "complied with every wish of the WBA." He said a copy of the fight contract was sent to Brennan.

Brennan said, "It doesn't make a bit of difference, not one bit. There is no change" in the situation.

Meanwhile, in Houston, promoter Earl Gilliam said he had Viscusi's signature on a contract for the Feb. 17 fight. He said the champion was offered $100,000 of the gate and a flat $2,500 would go to Dupree.

Gilliam said he sent copies of the contract to Braverman and Brennan, but "I have not heard a word from either one and I've been trying to reach them on the telephone for five days."

Brennan said "Foster won the title on May 23, 1968, and he has not defended it against the world's number one, or leading, contender, since that time. This has added strangulation to the light-heavyweight division and has deprived leading contenders of the opportunity to compete for the title."

Seals Whip Vancouver By 6-1 Score

Ferguson Wednesday night returned for the first time since Oct. 17 when he broke his right shoulder and contributed a goal during a 6-1 romp over Vancouver before 3,397 fans.

The Seals scored a 6-1 win over Buffalo Oct. 30 and an 8-4 triumph Nov. 6 over Toronto. Those two games and Wednesday's contest were the only times all season they have scored more than three goals in a contest.

It was 1-1 early in the second period when Ehman, Ingarfield and Ferguson broke things open with goals.

But there was bad news for the Seals, too. Defenseman Harry Howell's back muscle pains continued in the area where his spine had been fused in a pre-season operation. A doctor ordered him not to skate at all for a week and he will be sidelined indefinitely.

The Seals, now 7-17-2, host New York Friday.

Frosh Cage Victory

Len Kristensen and Jim Grant each scored 13 points to lead Marin Catholic High School's freshman basketball team to a 55-35 victory over Healdsburg High yesterday at Marin.

Clay-Frazier Fight Probably In New York

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) —A spokesman for the Texas Boxing Commission said Wednesday it will not allow Cassius Clay to fight heavyweight champion Joe Frazier in Houston's Astrodome unless the courts order that Clay be lpcensed in the state.

Tommy V. Smith, commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, which is in charge of issuing boxing licenses, said it is legally impossible for him to issue Clay a license for the $10-million bout, the biggest attraction in boxing history.

Smith denied reports that he had said he would "see to it" that Clay got a license for the bout.

"I don't know where they got that information," Smith said. "I was in New York for the fight (Clay's 15-round TKO over Oscar Bonavena), but I sure didn't say anything about getting him a license. He's got me under suit, and I couldn't issue him a license if I wanted to. That's up to the court."

Clay filed an application last year for a Texas boxing license, and Smith denied the application. Clay went to court, but he has not pressed his suit to force Smith to grant the license. The suit is still pending in an Austin court.

Clay was stripped of the title and banned from boxing in 1967 for refusing to go into the Army, and his subsequent conviction for draft evasion is still pending before the U.S. Supreme Court. Earlier this year, he was granted permission for two fights.

He scored a three-round technical knockout over Jerry Quarry in Atlanta on Oct. 26 after receiving a license from the city, and only last Monday night he stopped Bonavena in 15 rounds.

Lamonica Is Fighting Off Bruises

OAKLAND (UPI) —"I'm really looking forward to the end of the season," says a bruised Daryle Lamonica, but then the Oakland quarterback adds "but the off season is still five games away."

That would mean he figures the Raiders to make it to the Super Bowl.

Lamonica has not been healthy since the first quarter of the Pittsburgh game.

"It's been frustrating," he admitted, "but at least I haven't had a broken bone that would keep me out. I've played. I just try to get as many points as I can up there and when I can't do it, George Blanda comes in and does it.

Lamonica said he felt better than he has since the Pittsburgh game against New York last Sunday—at least until he was knocked out of bounds in the third quarter and came up with a bruised hip.

But it's better and he figures that "we'll have a good game against Kansas City Saturday."

Oakland and Kansas City will bring 7-3-2 records into the Coliseum.

Heavyweight Boxer Has Gunshot Wound

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (UPI) —Mike Boswell, 24, Youngstown, a promising heavyweight, was shot and wounded late Wednesday night during an argument over a woman, police said today.

Changes In 49er Lineup

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — There will be some new faces in the San Francisco Forty Niners' starting lineup Sunday in their big battle of New Orleans.

Coach Dick Nolan indicated Wednesday that Bill Tucker would probably start for halfback Doug Cunningham, who is hurting, and Jim Sniadeckik would go for linebacker Skip Vanderbundt, who is hospitalized with a knee sprain.

But there could be a couple of other surprises, too.

Nolan was so full of praise for Earl Edwards and Stan Hindman's play against Atlanta last Sunday that it might indicate they could start in place of Roland Lakes and Tommy Hart respectively. However, Nolan always sees to it that all his defensive linemen see plenty of action each week under his unique rotating policy.

Nolan meanwhile also had praise for John Brodie, the oft-maligned San Francisco quarterback who has led the Prospectors to an 8-3-1 record. That's the team's best 12-game record since 1953, when they finished 9-3.

Nolan said he felt only Washington's Sonny Jurgenson was in a class with Brodie among National Division signal-callers.

When he took over the club before the season, Nolan got plenty of free advice about Brodie — most of it negative.

"I had played against Brodie and coached against him, and I knew he could do it," Nolan said.

Brodie, now 35 and in his 14th year, would not say this was his best year since he recalled that he passed for more yards and touchdowns in 1965. But he said "this is the best team I've ever played for. I'm talking about all 40 men and that's what it takes to win."

Has he resented the Kezar boos in other years?

"Nobody likes it," he admitted.

Dempsey Has NFL's Deadliest Weapon

Actually, it's Tom Dempsey's right shoe

You would never dream it belonged to somebody 6 feet 1 inch tall, 268 pounds and 23 years old. You could carry it in your picket. You would expect anybody who could wear it would still be teething.

Most pro football players have a shoe big enough to have funnels and be barging coal down the Ohio River. Tom Dempsey's looks like something Shirley Temple would tap-dance down a set of prop stairs. You're sure that anyone who wears it hasn't had his curls cut yet.

TOM DEMPSEY gives a lie to the old football adage that placekickers are not born, they are made. Just as Gale Sayers was born to run, John Unitas was born to pass, Tom Dempsey was born to placekick.

Placekickers as a class fear things like ingrown toenails (or ingrown toes), or the gout. Some of them take care of their right foot the way a soldier would take care of his gun in war.

Seldom in sports history has a seeming catastrophic defect been turned into such an incalculable advantage that a rival general manager (Tex Schramm) was moved earlier this year to suggest that Tom Dempsey be outlawed because he had a congenital edge over the rest of the players in the game, an astonishing bit of frontoffice Scroogism when you consider Gale Sayers, Bob Hayes, Jim Brown, and probably even Jim Thorpe, should have been ruled out of the game for the same reason.

Schramm called Dempsey's right foot when shod, a "sledgehammer." The truth is, Tom's right shoe only weighs only a little over one pound, has a kicking surface of less than two inches, and, as a hammer, would be about as effective as a feather.

DEMPSEY'S STORY is more grit than gamesmanship. As a child, he used to have to stuff toilet paper in his right shoe. To give you some idea of his determination, he was a one-and-one-half legged defensive end in a junior college when the San Diego Chargers suited him up as a taxi-squadder. He used to practice placekicking, and the Chargers initially outfitted him with a fibre-glass shoe which rubbed his foot so raw, it was difficult for him to kick without screaming. "A piece of bone still protrudes where the front of my foot should be, and it got rubbed raw and bleeding, and I had to saok it and drain it," Tom explains.

He got his first pair of custom shoes at his own expense when he was 21. He went to a chiropodist and devised a soft-leather shoe which employed no aluminum bars, reenforcement or other gimmicks variously tried by other placekickers.

Nonetheless, the league dispatched Bill Granholm from the league headquarters to rule on the legality of the shoe. He ruled it as legal as going barefoot.

STILL, THE game's concern is understandable. Of the top 10 scorers in the history of the NFL and AFL, only one (Jim Brown) listed NO extra points or NO field goals. Even Don Hutson, who scored 105 touchdowns, kicked 172 extra points and seven field goals. The other eight are mainly kicking specialists.

This year, what God hath wrought in the case of Tom Dempsey may have decided the NFC representative in the Super Bowl. Three weeks ago, he defeated the tough and talented Detorit Lions with a SIXTY-THREE YARD field goal. A performance like that threatens to make the punt obsolete.

It shocked the league, and moved Schramm to his ill-advised outburst. But, I like the advice of the observer who pointed out to Schramm that, since football was notorious for copying innovations, Tex might just send his placekicker out to stick his foot in a mowing machine or otherwise amputate half of it. Only then might he find that Tom Dempsey is a great placekicker not because he lacks toes, but because he doesn't lack guts.

John Brodie Regains His Lead

NEW YORK (UPI) —San Francisco 49er quarterback John Brodie, who picked the Atlanta Falcons apart last Sunday with 20 completions in 30 attempts for 259 yards, has regained the passing lead in the National Football Conference.

Statistics released yesterday by the National Football League show Brodie, who dropped out of the top spot last week after leading most of the season, back in front over Sonny Jurgensen of Washington.

Another 49er, wide receiver Gene Washington, held on to the No. 2 spot among pass receivers in the conference He has 46 catches, nine behind the leader, Dick Gordon of Chicago.

Other leaders this week include Fred Cox of the Minnesota Vikings in scoring with 107 points, Larry Brown of Washington in rushing with 996 yards, and Dick LeBeau of Detroit in interceptions with seven.

Little Retains His Lead

Little, who held Syracuse's career rushing record until Csonka broke it three years ago, currently leads the American Football Conference in rushing with 843 yards, but the Denver Broncs' running back is being heavily pressured by Csonka.

Csonka set a Miami Dolphins' club record last week by rushing for 115 yards, and the 240-pound fullback has moved into third place in the rushing department with 723 yards. Squeezed in between Little and Csonka is Hewritt Dixon of the Oakland Raiders with 750 yards.

According to the AFC's weekly statistics released today there was only one change this week in the various offensive categories. That was in punting where Dave Lewis of Cincinnati, with a 46.2 average, has replaced Baltimore's David Lee.

Jan Stenerud of Kansas City became the first AFC player to score 100 points this year and leads the scoring with 103 points, Daryle Lamonica of Oakland tops the passers with 2,195 yards, 20 touchdown passes and 159 completions and Marlin Briscoe lead the pass receivers with 49 catches.

Johnny Robinson of Kansas City intercepted three passes last weekend and leads all pass defenders with 10 interceptions, Ed Podolak of Kansas City leads the punt returners with a 13.9 average and Jim Duncan of Baltimore tops the kickoff returners with a 36.4 average.

Ringside Tickets for Clay-Frazier: $250

NEW YORK (UPI) — What's a ringside ticket worth for the showdown battle between heavyweight champion Joe Frazier and Cassius Clay?

A spokesman at Madison Square Garden says it will probably cost $250. "At least for the first 10 rows" he said. "And they'll be the first tickets to go."

THE SKI SCENE

Quick Growth Of Bear Valley

By CHARLIE COANE

Nestled in the heart of the Sierra Mother Lode country is one of California's newest entries into the ski resort world, Bear Valley at Mt. Reba.

Bear Valley, located 52 miles above Angel's Camp on Highway 4, popped into the skiing business during the Christmas season of 1967, and has quickly developed into one of the country's major ski resorts.

Former University of Pacific football star Bruce Orvis has commanded the area since it began, and this year Olympic medalist Jimmie Huega has landed the job of director of winter sports. Primarily, Jimmie's there to help develop mid-week skiing through the "Jimmie Huega Ski Holidays" — a combo of special rates and accomodations in a 5 or 7-day package plan.

One new lift has been installed rising from the day-lodge to the top of Rodeo Run aimed mainly at advanced beginner and intermediate skiers. The new lift raises Bear's total to five chair lifts and one rope tow (due for replacement in the near future). Like other large resorts, Bear Valley boasts a variety of runs from very easy to very difficult. Expansion possibilities are outstanding and Orvis hopes to add a one-mile chair lift next season dropping down from the top of the mountain into Grouse Valley and eventually to Bear Valley Lodge. The vertical drop will be 1,400 feet. Right now an intermediate run leads down that route. A shuttle bus takes skiers from the Bear Valley Lodge and nearby Little Lodge some three miles to the day-lodge and the lifts. Accomodations at Bear are available at the lodge and Little Lodge, as well as condominiums and rental cabins.

Ski touring, growing in popularity across the country, is now available at Bear on a daily basis. For adventuresome souls, all day sno-cat tours will take you to untracked bowls.

One of the things that Bear is most proud of is its NASTAR (National Standard Race) program. Under the expert guidance of the area's well organized ski school director, Rich Carney, Bear's program had more participants than any area in the country except Waterville Valley in New Hampshire. NASTAR (to be explained in greater detail in a future column) is a system for recreational skiers to compare their racing performance on a modified giant slalom course with other skiers nationwide.

Bear Valley has another thing going for it: lots of snow.

Basketball Clinic For Youths

A youth basketball clinic for all Marin County boys in fifth through eighth grades will be held Saturday from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Fairfax Pavilion.

The clinic, sponsored by the Fairfax Recreation Department, will feature the College of Marin coaching staff in explaining fundamentals of the game.

Registration cost of $1 includes refreshments, and Marin head coach John Panagakis said youngsters who attend would also get free tickets to the Marin Tars' basketball tournament finals which will be held later that day.

The following Saturday, Dec. 19, the Fairfax Recreation Department will sponsor a similar clinic for girls, same ages, with the women's athletic staff from Marin Catholic High School putting on the show.

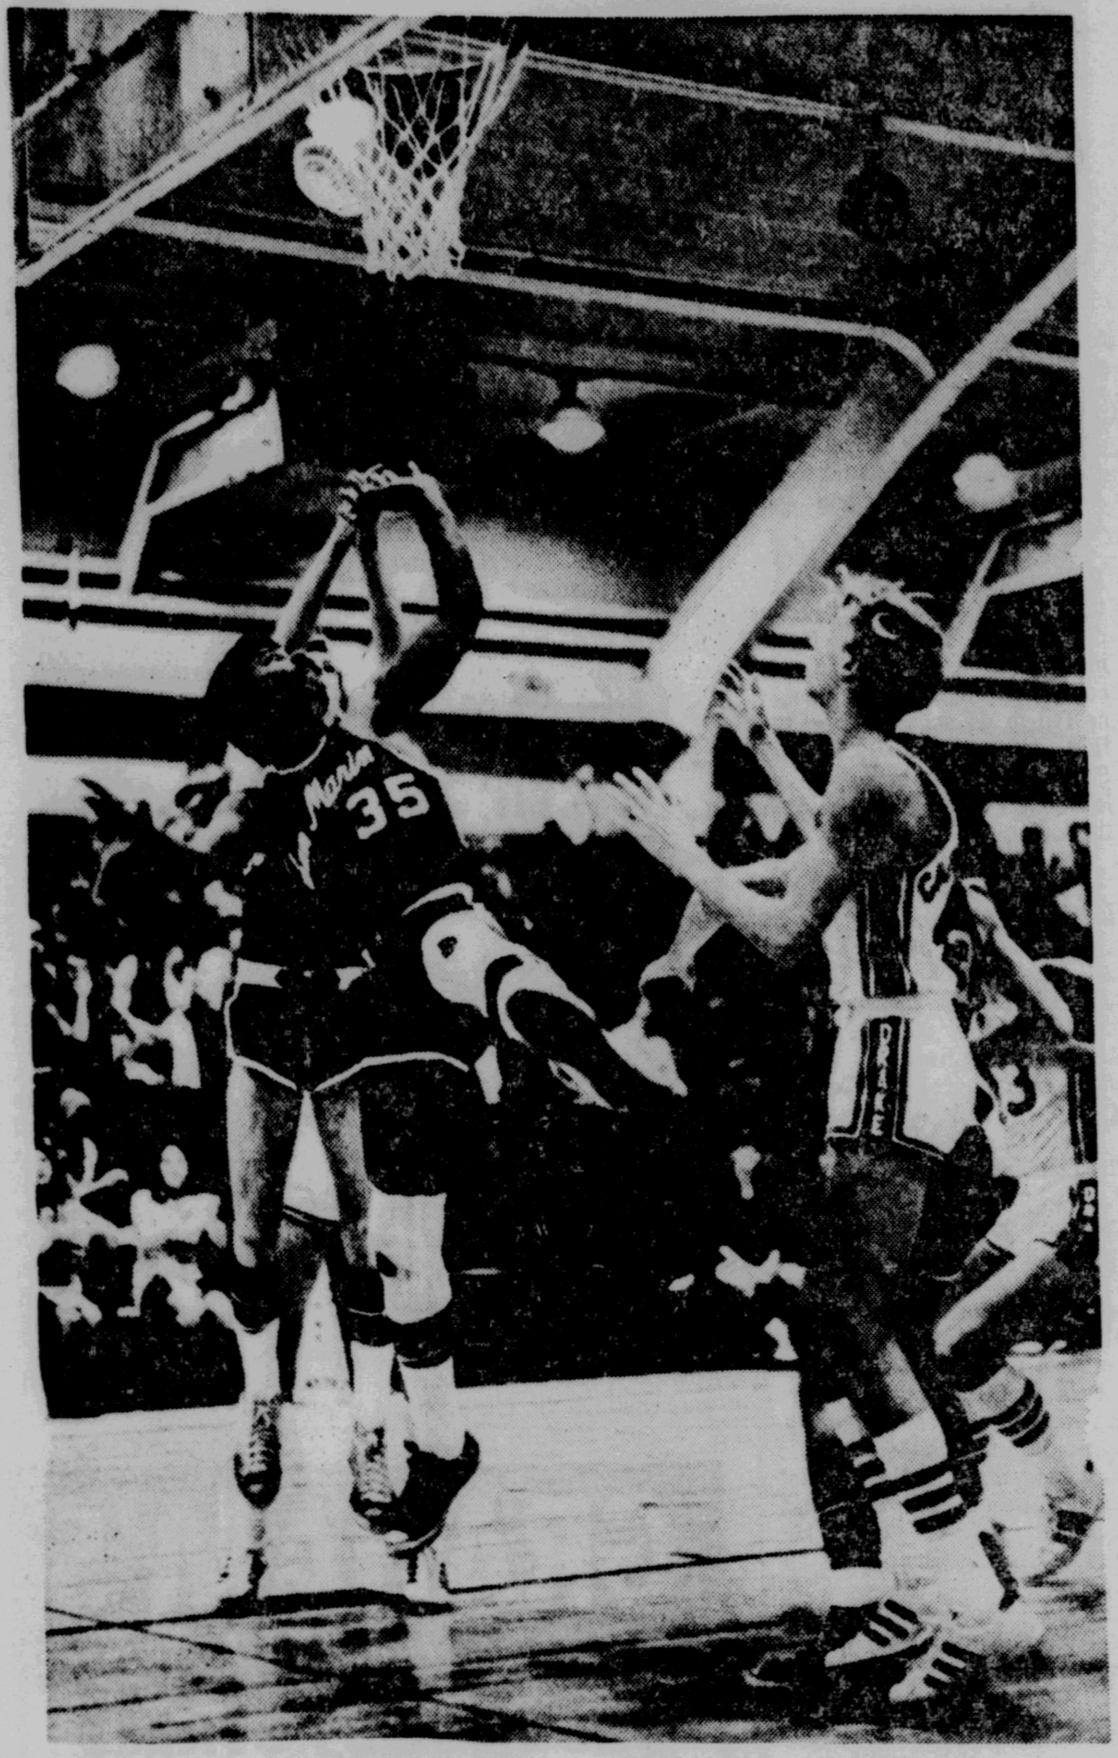
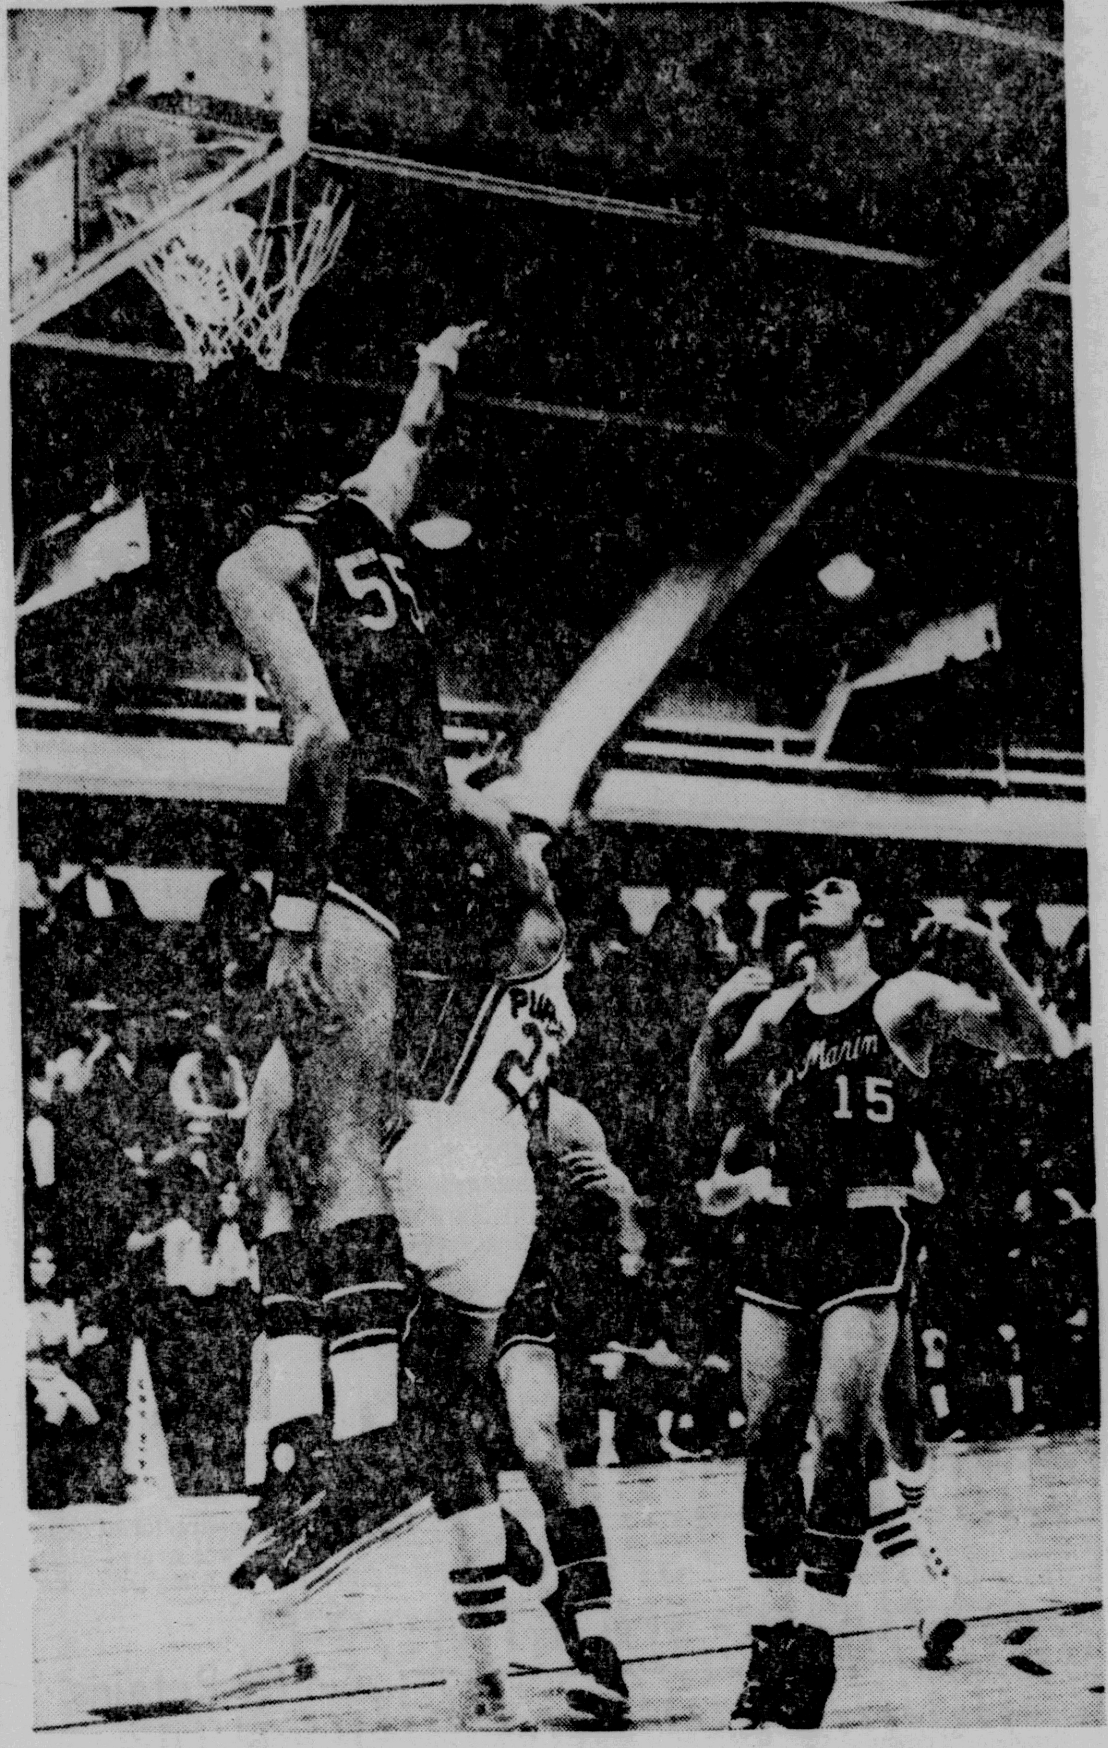
San Marin, Petaluma Cagers Win

San Marin and Petaluma high schools got off a big jump in the sixth annual Drake High School Invitational Basketball Tournament last night.

San Marin, the young Novato school, rode the shoulders of big Dana LaFerriere to a tough 56-49 victory over the host Drake Pirates after Petaluma smashed an ice-cold San Rafael squad, 74-52.



UP AND IN — San Marin's Hoza Wright goes up for a basket while Drake's Tom Carlisle (right) looks on helplessly. San Marin went on to beat Drake, 46-49.



BIG STOPPER — Dana LaFerriere (55) of San Marin blocked this shot by Drake's Craig Purcell as San Marin's Mike Kasci brook enjoyed the view.

Action resumes today at the San Anselmo school with the completion of the first round; Balboa of San Francisco meets Montgomery of Santa Rosa in the 5 p.m. opener followed by Terra Linda-Napa at 6:30.

Tomorrow's schedule in the four-day festival calls for four games at 4, 5:30, 7 and 8:30.

Yesterday's first round action was witnessed by an estimated 1,500 persons.

Drake gave the favored San Marin quint all it could handle throughout the game. The victorious Mustangs held a slim 50-48 edge with only two minutes to play when All-League ace LaFerriere settled the issue with tw field goals and Brad O'Riley chipped in a pair of free throws to sink the Pirates.

The first game saw an incredible first quarter in which the classy Trojans from Petaluma roared off to a 17-0 lead.

San Rafael couldn't buy a basket and wound up with only six points for the quarter. Coach Mike Diaz substituted liberally in a search for a more prolific combination, but Petaluma was not to be denied. Joe Rodola with 17 points and Dave Thomas with 16 led the Trojans.

Changes In 49er Lineup

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — There will be some new faces in the San Francisco Forty Niners' starting lineup Sunday in their big battle of New Orleans.

Coach Dick Nolan indicated Wednesday that Bill Tucker would probably start for halfback Doug Cunningham, who is hurting, and Jim Sniadeckik would go for linebacker Skip Vanderbundt, who is hospitalized with a knee sprain.

But there could be a couple of other surprises, too.

Nolan was so full of praise for Earl Edwards and Stan Hindman's play against Atlanta last Sunday that it might indicate they could start in place of Roland Lakes and Tommy Hart respectively. However, Nolan always sees to it that all his defensive linemen see plenty of action each week under his unique rotating policy.

Nolan meanwhile also had praise for John Brodie, the oft-maligned San Francisco quarterback who has led the Prospectors to an 8-3-1 record. That's the team's best 12-game record since 1953, when they finished 9-3.

Nolan said he felt only Washington's Sonny Jurgenson was in a class with Brodie among National Division signal-callers.

When he took over the club before the season, Nolan got plenty of free advice about Brodie — most of it negative.

"I had played against Brodie and coached against him, and I knew he could do it," Nolan said.

Brodie, now 35 and in his 14th year, would not say this was his best year since he recalled that he passed for more yards and touchdowns in 1965. But he said "this is the best team I've ever played for. I'm talking about all 40 men and that's what it takes to win."

Has he resented the Kezar boos in other years?

"Nobody likes it," he admitted.

JIM GILMARTIN

He's Cheering For Neighbor

Here's a good local angle on the Camellia Bowl scheduled Saturday in Sacramento with University of Montana opposing North Dakota State:

Attorney Jasper C. DeDobbeleer, who played right halfback for Montana in 1927, will be in the stands cheering for his alma mater.

Stein, you will remember, is the All-Conference and record breaking defensive back for U. of Montana who will be one of the stars in the game, you can be assured.

Small world, eh, Karl and Jasper?

INCIDENTALLY, for those of you who won't be able to attend the Camellia Bowl to root for Stein, the former Drake High All-Leaguer, the game will be televised on Channel 11 starting at 1:30 p.m. Channels 7 and 13 will be blacked out in this area.

AND WHILE we're on the coaxial cable subject, those of you unfortunate ones who haven't tickets to the Oakland Raiders-San Francisco 49er classic on Dec. 20 are reminded that gaming houses in Nevada will set up special color television sets for its customers.

Lask week I noted Harold's Club in Reno was offering ridiculously lo-priced "fun packages" to lure football fans there for the telecast. It's blacked out locally.

Now I'm told by Dick Skuse of San Rafael that Harrah's Club at both Reno and South Shore Lake Tahoe also will have several TV receivers set up for the game. Added Skuse: "The South Shore Room and Headliner Room at Reno will include numerous strategically spaced TV locations. No special prices, though — first-come, first-served and drinks at regular prices."

The Marin 49er Goal Rushers Club is setting up a junket to Nevada for the telecast because many of its members can't get ducats to the Oakland Coliseum.

HAL FISCHER of Santa Rosa, internationally known basketball coach who coaches at the Presidio in San Francisco, treated Terra Linda High School and some eighth graders to a basketball clinic this afternoon.

A former resident of Marin, Fischer has toured the world as an assistant Olympic Games coach and also as head of the U.S. team in the Pan-American games and a touring college all-star team.

AND NOW I'd like to tell you about Don Collins, the San Rafael Buick Baron.

At Monday's meeting of the Marin Goal Rushers, Collins won an autographed football. And as Goal Rushers President Gil Medeiros made the presentation, Collins promptly dropped the ball.

Just like he dropped my perfect passes to him when we were teammates at San Rafael High School years and years ago. Dammit, Collins, get some glue!

At the same meeting, John Hodgen of Novato won a 49er parka. No, not a Candlestick parka, smart guys.

Mullins Sparks Warriors

DETROIT (UPI) —There's got to be only one reason for San Francisco's upset NBA win here Wednesday night and that is the return of Jeff Mullins.

They had lost Monday and Tuesday to sub .500 teams and were playing their third game in as many nights against the tough Pistons.

But the Warriors blasted Detroit 110-99 to stay above .500 and move into a tie with San Diego for second in the Pacific Division.

Mullins, returning to action after missing the first two games, and Jerry Lucas put on a super show as they led the team to its first win in five games.

Mullins, playing with a strange-looking mask to guard his broken cheek bone, hit 12 of 21 shots and Lucas was 11 of 15 with 20 rebounds and 8 assists as both hooped 27 points.

Lucas called it "without a doubt the best game we've played this year as far as ball movement is concerned. We were finding the open man, making layups, moving the ball in switching situations. Jeff had an outstanding game cutting through the middle, getting inside."

San Francisco hit 50.5 per cent of its shots.

The Warriors finally get the night off, but then have another rough row to hoe with games at Philadelphia Friday, Baltimore Saturday and at St. Luis Sunday where they have to play the New York Knicks.

Marin 'Cats Lose Opener

Marin Catholic High School ran hot and then cold in losing to St. Elizabeth's 57-50 in the opening round of the St. Elizabeth's Invitational Basketball Tournament last night in Oakland.

Reeling off 10 straight points at the end of the third and start of the fourth quarter, the Marin quintet took a four-point lead, only to lose it going down the homestretch. A costly turnover by the Wildcats helped St. Elizabeth's keep the lead.

Bill Donnellan with 17 points and Tin Stone with 10 were Marin's leading scorers.

Marin returns to the tourney to oppose Mission High of San Francisco at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the consolation bracket.

Crown Is Taken Away From Light Heavyweight Foster

Bill Brennan, president of the WBA and secretary of the Virginia Athletic Commission, said Foster's crown was being lifted because his manager reneged on an agreement for a title fight and Foster had not defended his 31-month old title against ranking contenders.

Brennan said Lou Viscusi, Foster's manager, agreed last Aug. 10 in Montreal to post a $5,000 forfeiture bond, guaranteeing his fighter would meet a top contender within 90 days of his heavyweight bout with Joe Frazier. That was 22 days ago.

Brennan said Viscusi never posted the bond, but the Michigan Atheletic Commission (MAC) was given permission to withhold $5,000 from Foster's purse for the Frazier fight. However, when the MAC presented the check for Viscusi's endorsement he refused to sign it, Brennan said.

Brennan also said that Viscusi promised him Foster would fight number one contender Jimmy Dupree next Feb. 17 in Houston. He said Dupree's manager, Al Braverman, told him there was no such fight scheduled.

Viscusi said Wednesday night he has "complied with every wish of the WBA." He said a copy of the fight contract was sent to Brennan.

Brennan said, "It doesn't make a bit of difference, not one bit. There is no change" in the situation.

Meanwhile, in Houston, promoter Earl Gilliam said he had Viscusi's signature on a contract for the Feb. 17 fight. He said the champion was offered $100,000 of the gate and a flat $2,500 would go to Dupree.

Gilliam said he sent copies of the contract to Braverman and Brennan, but "I have not heard a word from either one and I've been trying to reach them on the telephone for five days."

Brennan said "Foster won the title on May 23, 1968, and he has not defended it against the world's number one, or leading, contender, since that time. This has added strangulation to the light-heavyweight division and has deprived leading contenders of the opportunity to compete for the title."

Seals Whip Vancouver By 6-1 Score

Ferguson Wednesday night returned for the first time since Oct. 17 when he broke his right shoulder and contributed a goal during a 6-1 romp over Vancouver before 3,397 fans.

The Seals scored a 6-1 win over Buffalo Oct. 30 and an 8-4 triumph Nov. 6 over Toronto. Those two games and Wednesday's contest were the only times all season they have scored more than three goals in a contest.

It was 1-1 early in the second period when Ehman, Ingarfield and Ferguson broke things open with goals.

But there was bad news for the Seals, too. Defenseman Harry Howell's back muscle pains continued in the area where his spine had been fused in a pre-season operation. A doctor ordered him not to skate at all for a week and he will be sidelined indefinitely.

The Seals, now 7-17-2, host New York Friday.

Frosh Cage Victory

Len Kristensen and Jim Grant each scored 13 points to lead Marin Catholic High School's freshman basketball team to a 55-35 victory over Healdsburg High yesterday at Marin.

Clay-Frazier Fight Probably In New York

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) —A spokesman for the Texas Boxing Commission said Wednesday it will not allow Cassius Clay to fight heavyweight champion Joe Frazier in Houston's Astrodome unless the courts order that Clay be lpcensed in the state.

Tommy V. Smith, commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, which is in charge of issuing boxing licenses, said it is legally impossible for him to issue Clay a license for the $10-million bout, the biggest attraction in boxing history.

Smith denied reports that he had said he would "see to it" that Clay got a license for the bout.

"I don't know where they got that information," Smith said. "I was in New York for the fight (Clay's 15-round TKO over Oscar Bonavena), but I sure didn't say anything about getting him a license. He's got me under suit, and I couldn't issue him a license if I wanted to. That's up to the court."

Clay filed an application last year for a Texas boxing license, and Smith denied the application. Clay went to court, but he has not pressed his suit to force Smith to grant the license. The suit is still pending in an Austin court.

Clay was stripped of the title and banned from boxing in 1967 for refusing to go into the Army, and his subsequent conviction for draft evasion is still pending before the U.S. Supreme Court. Earlier this year, he was granted permission for two fights.

He scored a three-round technical knockout over Jerry Quarry in Atlanta on Oct. 26 after receiving a license from the city, and only last Monday night he stopped Bonavena in 15 rounds.

Lamonica Is Fighting Off Bruises

OAKLAND (UPI) —"I'm really looking forward to the end of the season," says a bruised Daryle Lamonica, but then the Oakland quarterback adds "but the off season is still five games away."

That would mean he figures the Raiders to make it to the Super Bowl.

Lamonica has not been healthy since the first quarter of the Pittsburgh game.

"It's been frustrating," he admitted, "but at least I haven't had a broken bone that would keep me out. I've played. I just try to get as many points as I can up there and when I can't do it, George Blanda comes in and does it.

Lamonica said he felt better than he has since the Pittsburgh game against New York last Sunday—at least until he was knocked out of bounds in the third quarter and came up with a bruised hip.

But it's better and he figures that "we'll have a good game against Kansas City Saturday."

Oakland and Kansas City will bring 7-3-2 records into the Coliseum.

There Is Racism At Syracuse U.

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UPI)—There is "real, chronic" racism in the Syracuse University athletic department, but it is unintentional and common to American athletics, a special student-faculty committee reported Wednesday.

The 12-member group was appointed by the SU administration in September to investigate charges of racism made during a dispute between eight black players and head football coach Floyd "Ben" Schwart-

The group recommended Chancellor John E. Corbally Jr. "use his power to eliminate all racist practices which either overtly or covertly threaten minority groups" and that the school "red shirt" the blacks to make them eligible to play another year.

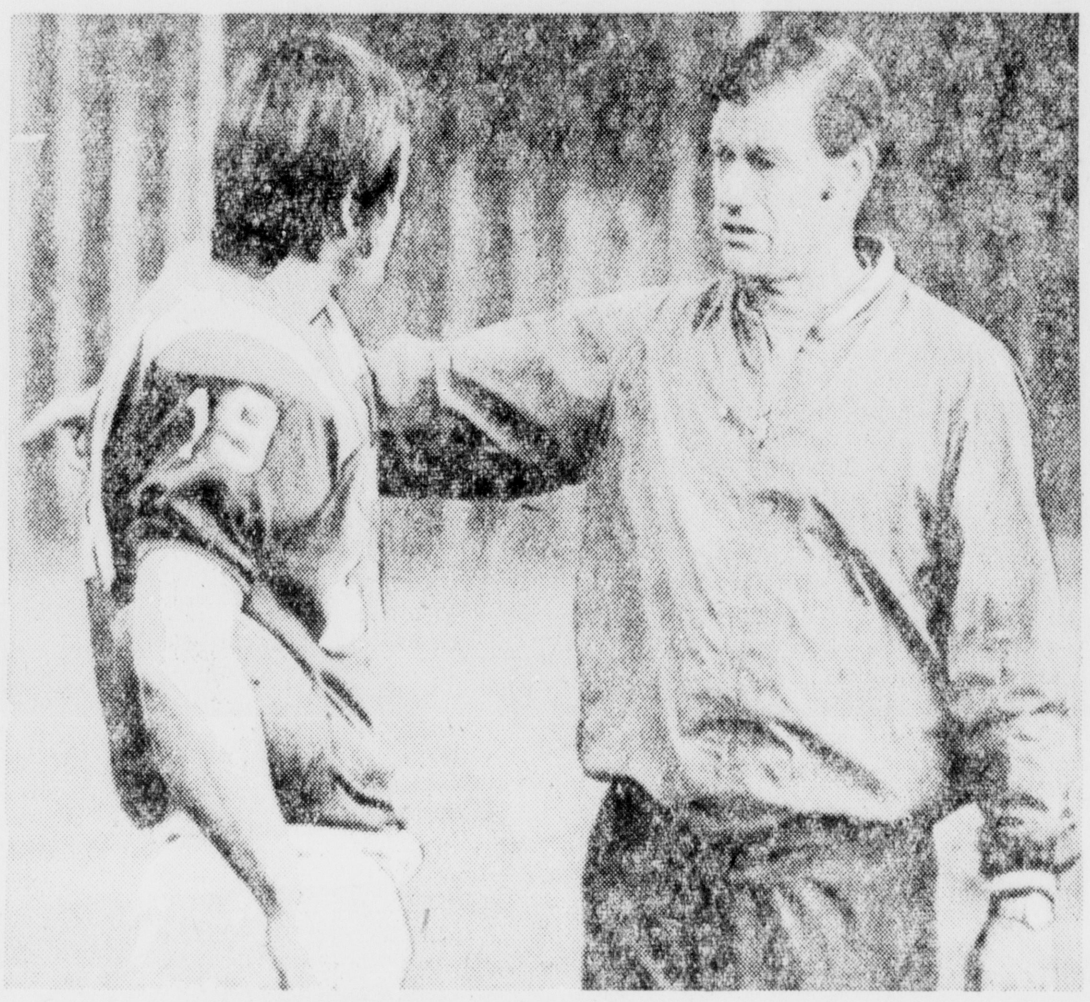
The black athletes were suspended when they boycotted spring practice to back up their demands that a black assistant coach be hired. A black was eventually hired, but Schwartzwalder, with backing from the administration, asked the eight to sign a pledge to work to the best of their ability and admit that their suspensio that their suspensions were a direct result of missing practice.

Since the players refused to sign, they were not allowed in fall practice. Before the season began, they signed a modified pledge and Corbally announced their reinstatement to the team, but none went out for the squad.

Syracuse lost its first three games, but went on to a 6-4 record which led to Schwartzwalder being named United Press International eastern college football coach of the year.

The committee found there was some substance to black players' complaints of name-calling and harassment, but said it could not substantiate charges of discrimination in medical treatment, team positions, discipline, academic advisement or recruiting.

However, it criticized the athletic department for showing an "unwarranted insensitivity" and not acting promptly on the blacks' demand for an assistant coach.



ALWORTH IN A FOOTBALL SUIT

San Diego Charger Coach Charlie Waller appears to be telling flanker Lance Alworth to get out and Alworth appears to be saying, "Okay, I'll take my ball and go home." This wasn't the case, however, as the two were discussing strategy for the game at Denver next Sunday. Alworth this week filed a $5.6 million breach of contract suit against the Chargers and anti-trust charges against the National Football League.

Palmer's Last Chance

FREEPORT, Bahamas (UPI)—It isn't the money, really, it's the principle of the thing that has Arnold Palmer here, shooting for the $26,000 first place money and the title in the $130,000 Bahamas Open golf tournament.

The event is the last official Professional Golfers Association test of the year, and to date Arnold, with and without his army, has been unable to capture a single crown. Should he fail to do so, it will be the first time since 1955 that Palmer will not have won at least one PGA championship on the tour.

The money, too, would come in handy for record book purposes. By winning, Arnold could also top the cash prize list. He has picked up $125,023 thus far for all those second, third and other placings, while Lee Trevino has $147,522, a shade ahead of Billy Casper's $147,372.

While Casper has passed up the challenge of the 7,005 yard King's Inn course, Trevino is on hand. He turned in a two under par 70 in Wednesday's pro-am. Trevino is in no mood to allow one of those famed late charges of Palmer to upset his own personal plans.

Palmer, in his pro-am warm up, carded a one over 73, managing to find five sand traps and also dunking a shot into a water hazard. But what annoyed Palmer was his putting. His tee shots were on the button.

"I feel pretty good," Palmer said. "I'm getting used to the course. I think I can win, but the putting will make the difference."

Chiefs Picked By 1 Over The Raiders

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Kansas City Chiefs Wednesday were made a one-point choice over the Oakland Raiders in their crucial American Football Conference Western Division clash Saturday.

The Raiders, who are tied with the Chiefs for the Western Division title, earned a 17-17 tie with the Chiefs on a 48-yard field goal by George Blanda with three seconds to play in an earlier meeting this year. The winner of Saturday's game will win the division crown.

The Dallas Cowboys have been installed as a two and one-half point pick over the Cleveland Browns in their Saturday contest.

In Sunday's action, St. Louis is a five-point pick over the Giants, Miami is five over the Jets, Baltimore is nine over Buffalo, Cincinnati is five over Houston, Chicago is one over Green Bay, Minnesota is 12 over Boston, Atlanta is six over Pittsburgh and San Francisco is 11 over New Orleans.

Christmas Tourneys For College Cagers

By United Press International

Santa Claus is not the only thing that arrives at Christmas. Tis also the season of basketball tournaments.

A couple of them bounce into action tonight with the Daffodil and the Long Beach State tournaments and on Friday, the Cable Car Classic in San Francisco presents Weber State, USF, Cal and Santa Clara.

Oregon, a team that has looked sensational in early season play, will be in Houston to participate in the Bluebonnet Bowl.

A couple of other big non-tourney tests Friday will find Brigham Young and UOP calling on USC and UCLA respectively. The visitors are on the fringe of high national ratings and will be going all out for the upset wins. In light action Wednesday, Seattle edged Arizona State 89-84 with Mike Collins of the winners meshing 26 and highly-touted Paul Stovall of the losers getting 23.

New Mexico State nipped Arizona 76-74.

NBA ROUNDUP

Bullets Gun Down Powerful Bucks

By United Press International

"We're running again, not walking," Jack Marin says to explain the resurgence of the Baltimore Bullets' sometimes awesome attack.

The Bullets gunned down Milwaukee, 127-97 Wednesday night, marking only the fourth time the Bucks have been beaten in 25 games this season.

"We should be getting 40 fast breaks a game," Marin explains," because Gus Johnson and Wes Unseld are good for 40 defensive rebounds. Boston is the only other team as fast as we are. But if we run, instead of jog, we can be the best."

Marin and Unseld each scored 25 points and Earl Monroe added 24 for Baltimore. Unseld outrebounded Lew Alcindor, 18-15. Big Lew led Milwaukee with 24 points.

The Bucks had a four-game winning string going into the contest after New York broke Milwaukee's earlier streak of 16 straight.

In other NBA action, Boston ripped Seattle, 136-121; San Francisco beat Detroit, 110-99; Cincinnati dropped Atlanta, 118-106, and Portland topped Cleveland, 109-102.

Boston closed to within 2 1-2 games of New York in the Atlantic Division by winning its tenth straight. John Havlicek, with 29 points, paced the Celtics' longest winning streak in three years. Dick Snyder led Seattle with 28 points.

Johnny Green celebrated his 37th birthday with 31 points and 18 rebounds against Atlanta. Green, the oldest player in the National Basketball Association, scored 19 in the second half. The bulk of Atlanta's scoring came from 32-point productions by Pete Maravich and Lou Hudson.

In a battle for expansion teams, Geoff Petrie and Jim Barnett snapped Portland's six-game losing streak with 25 points apiece against Cleveland, which lost its 28th game against a mere two victories.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Player Must Be Alert To Answer A Simple Question

When I'm lecturing to a defenseless class, I sometimes ask them the old riddle: "Why does a chicken cross the street?" Some eager student always supplies the answer: "To get to the other side." And then there's usually a stony silence: nobody wants to laugh at so old and corny a joke. That's when I make my point: A simple question deserves a simple answer. Bridge is a simple game, but you have to be alert enough to ask the simple questions.

D-9

When today's hand was played, South played a low diamond from the dummy at the first trick. East won with the king and returned the deuce of diamonds.

South won and led the king of hearts. West won with the ace of hearts and led a third diamond to dummy's ace. Declarer resumed the hearts by leading dummy's queen, and now he was in trouble. He needed three heart tricks for his contract, and his line of play would produce only two heart tricks. Down one.

North pointed out (as partners will) that South would have made his game if he had taken the second heart trick with the jack instead of with the queen. East's discard would reveal the situation, and South would be able to finesse through West's ten of hearts with the Q-8 of hearts still in the dummy.

TOO LATE

South defended himself by asking a simple question: "How could I tell which opponent had a singleton heart?" It was a good question, but South asked it too late.

He would have known the answer if he had asked another simple question: "Why does a player lead a short suit against notrump?" The obvious answer is: When he has no length except in a suit bid by the opponents.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with 1-no trump (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes.

You hold:

♠- K 6 2
♥- Q 8 3 2
♦- A 5 3
♣- 7 5 3.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two clubs, the Stayman Convention, asking partner to bid a major suit of four or more cards.

If he bids anything else, you will bid 2-no-trump or 3-no-trump (another borderline decision). Make the aggressive bid if your partner is a good player; be conservative if he is a doubtful player.

Men's Hearing Set On Grass

Steven Charles Barrett, 37, of no known address, and Charles Bobby Beyes, 24, of Gretena, La., pleaded innocent Tuesday in Marin Municipal Court to charges of possessing marijuana when arrested in Sausalito Sunday.

A preliminary hearing was set for next Tuesday.

The men were arrested after an officer said he saw Beyes throw a plastic bag out of a pickup truck window at 3:15 a.m.

Burglary Charge To Be Heard

Robert Louis Arnett Jr. of 121 Fairhills Drive, San Rafael, pleaded innocent Tuesday in Marin Municipal Court to charges of burglarizing the home of Marian F. Clark of 117 Rafael Drive, San Rafael on Nov. 11 and concealing stolen property on Nov. 16.

Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. refused to release Arnett on his own recognizance and set his bail at $1,000.

He also set a preliminary hearing for next Tuesday.

There Is Racism At Syracuse U.

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UPI)—There is "real, chronic" racism in the Syracuse University athletic department, but it is unintentional and common to American athletics, a special student-faculty committee reported Wednesday.

The 12-member group was appointed by the SU administration in September to investigate charges of racism made during a dispute between eight black players and head football coach Floyd "Ben" Schwart-

—The group recommended Chancellor John E. Corbally Jr. "use his power to eliminate all racist practices which either overtly or covertly threaten minority groups" and that the school "red shirt" the blacks to make them eligible to play another year.

The black athletes were suspended when they boycotted spring practice to back up their demands that a black assistant coach be hired. A black was eventually hired, but Schwartzwalder, with backing from the administration, asked the eight to sign a pledge to work to the best of their ability and admit that their suspensio that their suspensions were a direct result of missing practice.

Since the players refused to sign, they were not allowed in fall practice. Before the season began, they signed a modified pledge and Corbally announced their reinstatement to the team, but none went out for the squad.

Syracuse lost its first three games, but went on to a 6-4 record which led to Schwartzwalder being named United Press International eastern college football coach of the year.

The committee found there was some substance to black players' complaints of name-calling and harassment, but said it could not substantiate charges of discrimination in medical treatment, team positions, discipline, academic advisement or recruiting.

However, it criticized the athletic department for showing an "unwarranted insensitivity" and not acting promptly on the blacks' demand for an assistant coach.

NBA ROUNDUP

Bullets Gun Down Powerful Bucks

By United Press International

"We're running again, not walking," Jack Marin says to explain the resurgence of the Baltimore Bullets' sometimes awesome attack.

The Bullets gunned down Milwaukee, 127-97 Wednesday night, marking only the fourth time the Bucks have been beaten in 25 games this season.

"We should be getting 40 fast breaks a game," Marin explains," because Gus Johnson and Wes Unseld are good for 40 defensive rebounds. Boston is the only other team as fast as we are. But if we run, instead of jog, we can be the best."

Marin and Unseld each scored 25 points and Earl Monroe added 24 for Baltimore. Unseld outrebounded Lew Alcindor, 18-15. Big Lew led Milwaukee with 24 points.

The Bucks had a four-game winning string going into the contest after New York broke Milwaukee's earlier streak of 16 straight.

In other NBA action, Boston ripped Seattle, 136-121; San Francisco beat Detroit, 110-99; Cincinnati dropped Atlanta, 118-106, and Portland topped Cleveland, 109-102.

Boston closed to within 2 1-2 games of New York in the Atlantic Division by winning its tenth straight. John Havlicek, with 29 points, paced the Celtics' longest winning streak in three years. Dick Snyder led Seattle with 28 points.

Johnny Green celebrated his 37th birthday with 31 points and 18 rebounds against Atlanta. Green, the oldest player in the National Basketball Association, scored 19 in the second half. The bulk of Atlanta's scoring came from 32-point productions by Pete Maravich and Lou Hudson.

In a battle for expansion teams, Geoff Petrie and Jim Barnett snapped Portland's six-game losing streak with 25 points apiece against Cleveland, which lost its 28th game against a mere two victories.

ALWORTH IN A FOOTBALL SUIT

San Diego Charger Coach Charlie Waller appears to be telling flanker Lance Alworth to get out and Alworth appears to be saying, "Okay, I'll take my ball and go home." This wasn't the case, however, as the two were discussing strategy for the game at Denver next Sunday. Alworth this week filed a $5.6 million breach of contract suit against the Chargers and anti-trust charges against the National Football League.

Plunkett To Play In 25th Hula Bowl Game Jan. 9

HONOLULU (UPI)—Heisman Trophy winner Jim Plunkett will play in the 1971 Hula Bowl football game, which will be celebrating its 25th anniversary, it was announced Wednesday.

The contest is slated for Jan. 9 at Honolulu Stadium.

Plunkett, Stanford's record-setting quarterback, will head the North squad against a South team guided by Archie Manning, the pride of Ole Miss.

The 23-year-old, 6-3, 204-pound Plunkett becomes the sixth consecutive Heisman Trophy winner to appear in the post-season extravaganza and 16th in the 25-year history of the contest.

SPORTS SHORTS

DURHAM, N.C. (UPI) — Tom Harp was fired as Duke University's head football coach Wednesday less than a month after the Blue Devils completed their first winning season in five years.

A recommendation by the university's athletic council that Harp's contract be terminated was accepted by Terry Sanford, the university's president.

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI)—Two black high school football stars say they will sign grant-in-aid scholarships Saturday to attend the University of Alabama.

If they sign, Ralph Stokes and Mike Washington will become the first Montgomery Negroes to sign grants with a Southeastern Conference school.

Baseball

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—The Philadelphia Phillies announced Wednesday they have signed a five-year, $13.5 million television-radio contract with U. S. Communications Corp.

Golf

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (UPI)—Walter Bronson of Oak Brook, Ill., held a one-stroke lead going into today's third round of the American Senior Golf Association championship over the PGA national course.

Bronson fired an even par 72 Wednesday to go with his opening round 74 for a 146 total at the halfway point in the amateur tournament.

Auto Racing

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI)—The United States Auto Club (USAC) announced a $50,000 race in its new 1971 road racing series will be held on June 13 at Continental Divide Raceway at Castle Rock, Colo.

General

BOWLING GREEN, O. (UPI) — Robert G. Bell, 37, the assistant athletic director at UCLA, Wednesday was named athletic director at Bowling Green State University.

Golfer Retains Norcal Title

MONTEREY (UPI) —Ken Towns of Tracy fired a one-under par 71 Wednesday to defend his NorthernCalifornia PGA Medal play championship with a score of even par 216 over three different Monterey courses.

The Tracy pro's fine performance in rough weather earned him $500 and a $1,000 golf cart.

Towns Sunday was named PGA player of the year in Northern California in ceremonies held in conjunction with the tourney.

Palmer's Last Chance

FREEPORT, Bahamas (UPI)—It isn't the money, really, it's the principle of the thing that has Arnold Palmer here, shooting for the $26,000 first place money and the title in the $130,000 Bahamas Open golf tournament.

The event is the last official Professional Golfers Association test of the year, and to date Arnold, with and without his army, has been unable to capture a single crown. Should he fail to do so, it will be the first time since 1955 that Palmer will not have won at least one PGA championship on the tour.

The money, too, would come in handy for record book purposes. By winning, Arnold could also top the cash prize list. He has picked up $125,023 thus far for all those second, third and other placings, while Lee Trevino has $147,522, a shade ahead of Billy Casper's $147,372.

While Casper has passed up the challenge of the 7,005 yard King's Inn course, Trevino is on hand. He turned in a two under par 70 in Wednesday's pro-am. Trevino is in no mood to allow one of those famed late charges of Palmer to upset his own personal plans.

Palmer, in his pro-am warm up, carded a one over 73, managing to find five sand traps and also dunking a shot into a water hazard. But what annoyed Palmer was his putting. His tee shots were on the button.

"I feel pretty good," Palmer said. "I'm getting used to the course. I think I can win, but the putting will make the difference."

Chiefs Picked By 1 Over The Raiders

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Kansas City Chiefs Wednesday were made a one-point choice over the Oakland Raiders in their crucial American Football Conference Western Division clash Saturday.

The Raiders, who are tied with the Chiefs for the Western Division title, earned a 17-17 tie with the Chiefs on a 48-yard field goal by George Blanda with three seconds to play in an earlier meeting this year. The winner of Saturday's game will win the division crown.

The Dallas Cowboys have been installed as a two and one-half point pick over the Cleveland Browns in their Saturday contest.

In Sunday's action, St. Louis is a five-point pick over the Giants, Miami is five over the Jets, Baltimore is nine over Buffalo, Cincinnati is five over Houston, Chicago is one over Green Bay, Minnesota is 12 over Boston, Atlanta is six over Pittsburgh and San Francisco is 11 over New Orleans.

Christmas Tourneys For College Cagers

By United Press International

Santa Claus is not the only thing that arrives at Christmas. Tis also the season of basketball tournaments.

A couple of them bounce into action tonight with the Daffodil and the Long Beach State tournaments and on Friday, the Cable Car Classic in San Francisco presents Weber State, USF, Cal and Santa Clara.

Oregon, a team that has looked sensational in early season play, will be in Houston to participate in the Bluebonnet Bowl.

A couple of other big non-tourney tests Friday will find Brigham Young and UOP calling on USC and UCLA respectively. The visitors are on the fringe of high national ratings and will be going all out for the upset wins. In light action Wednesday, Seattle edged Arizona State 89-84 with Mike Collins of the winners meshing 26 and highly-touted Paul Stovall of the losers getting 23.

New Mexico State nipped Arizona 76-74.

Dempsey Has NFL's Deadliest Weapon

Actually, it's Tom Dempsey's right shoe

You would never dream it belonged to somebody 6 feet 1 inch tall, 268 pounds and 23 years old. You could carry it in your picket. You would expect anybody who could wear it would still be teething.

Most pro football players have a shoe big enough to have funnels and be barging coal down the Ohio River. Tom Dempsey's looks like something Shirley Temple would tap-dance down a set of prop stairs. You're sure that anyone who wears it hasn't had his curls cut yet.

TOM DEMPSEY gives a lie to the old football adage that placekickers are not born, they are made. Just as Gale Sayers was born to run, John Unitas was born to pass, Tom Dempsey was born to placekick.

Placekickers as a class fear things like ingrown toenails (or ingrown toes), or the gout. Some of them take care of their right foot the way a soldier would take care of his gun in war.

Seldom in sports history has a seeming catastrophic defect been turned into such an incalculable advantage that a rival general manager (Tex Schramm) was moved earlier this year to suggest that Tom Dempsey be outlawed because he had a congenital edge over the rest of the players in the game, an astonishing bit of frontoffice Scroogism when you consider Gale Sayers, Bob Hayes, Jim Brown, and probably even Jim Thorpe, should have been ruled out of the game for the same reason.

Schramm called Dempsey's right foot when shod, a "sledge-hammer." The truth is, Tom's right shoe only weighs only a little over one pound, has a kicking surface of less than two inches, and, as a hammer, would be about as effective as a feather.

DEMPSEY'S STORY is more grit than gamesmanship. As a child, he used to have to stuff toilet paper in his right shoe. To give you some idea of his determination, he was a one-and-one-half legged defensive end in a junior college when the San Diego Chargers suited him up as a taxi-squadder. He used to practice placekicking, and the Chargers initially outfitted him with a fibre-glass shoe which rubbed his foot so raw, it was difficult for him to kick without screaming. "A piece of bone still protrudes where the front of my foot should be, and it got rubbed raw and bleeding, and I had to saok it and drain it," Tom explains.

He got his first pair of custom shoes at his own expense when he was 21. He went to a chiropodist and devised a soft-leather shoe which employed no aluminum bars, reenforcement or other gimmicks variously tried by other placekickers.

Nonetheless, the league dispatched Bill Granholm from the league headquarters to rule on the legality of the shoe. He ruled it as legal as going barefoot.

STILL, THE game's concern is understandable. Of the top 10 scorers in the history of the NFL and AFL, only one (Jim Brown) listed NO extra points or NO field goals. Even Don Hutson, who scored 105 touchdowns, kicked 172 extra points and seven field goals. The other eight are mainly kicking specialists.

This year, what God hath wrought in the case of Tom Dempsey may have decided the NFC representative in the Super Bowl. Three weeks ago, he defeated the tough and talented Detorit Lions with a SIXTY-THREE YARD field goal. A performance like that threatens to make the punt obsolete.

It shocked the league, and moved Schramm to his ill-advised outburst. But, I like the advice of the observer who pointed out to Schramm that, since football was notorious for copying innovations, Tex might just send his placekicker out to stick his foot in a mowing machine or otherwise amputate half of it. Only then might he find that Tom Dempsey is a great placekicker not because he lacks toes, but because he doesn't lack guts.

John Brodie Regains His Lead

NEW YORK (UPI) —San Francisco 49er quarterback John Brodie, who picked the Atlanta Falcons apart last Sunday with 20 completions in 30 attempts for 259 yards, has regained the passing lead in the National Football Conference.

Statistics released yesterday by the National Football League show Brodie, who dropped out of the top spot last week after leading most of the season, back in front over Sonny Jurgensen of Washington.

Another 49er, wide receiver Gene Washington, held on to the No. 2 spot among pass receivers in the conference He has 46 catches, nine behind the leader, Dick Gordon of Chicago.

Other leaders this week include Fred Cox of the Minnesota Vikings in scoring with 107 points, Larry Brown of Washington in rushing with 996 yards, and Dick LeBeau of Detroit in interceptions with seven.

Judo Seminar In Sonoma

The seminar, purposes of which are to help judoists in the Sonoma area broaden their knowledge of the sport and to give the public an insight into judo's competitive side, will be open ree to the public. It will be held in the field house on the Sonoma State College campus.

Wins Split Decision

STOCKTON (UPI) —Jose Luis Pimentel got the split nod over Roger Boy Pedrano Wednesday night in a hard-fought 10-round featherweight go at Stockton Auditorium.

Little Retains His Lead

Little, who held Syracuse's career rushing record until Csonka broke it three years ago, currently leads the American Football Conference in rushing with 843 yards, but the Denver Broncs' running back is being heavily pressured by Csonka.

Csonka set a Miami Dolphins' club record last week by rushing for 115 yards, and the 240-pound fullback has moved into third place in the rushing department with 723 yards. Squeezed in between Little and Csonka is Hewritt Dixon of the Oakland Raiders with 750 yards.

According to the AFC's weekly statistics released today there was only one change this week in the various offensive categories. That was in punting where Dave Lewis of Cincinnati, with a 46.2 average, has replaced Baltimore's David Lee.

Jan Stenerud of Kansas City became the first AFC player to score 100 points this year and leads the scoring with 103 points, Daryle Lamonica of Oakland tops the passers with 2,195 yards, 20 touchdown passes and 159 completions and Marlin Briscoe lead the pass receivers with 49 catches.

Johnny Robinson of Kansas City intercepted three passes last weekend and leads all pass defenders with 10 interceptions, Ed Podolak of Kansas City leads the punt returners with a 13.9 average and Jim Duncan of Baltimore tops the kickoff returners with a 36.4 average.

Ringside Tickets for Clay-Frazier: $250

NEW YORK (UPI) — What's a ringside ticket worth for the showdown battle between heavyweight champion Joe Frazier and Cassius Clay?

A spokesman at Madison Square Garden says it will probably cost $250. "At least for the first 10 rows" he said. "And they'll be the first tickets to go."

THE SKI SCENE

Quick Growth Of Bear Valley

By CHARLIE COANE

Nestled in the heart of the Sierra Mother Lode country is one of California's newest entries into the ski resort world, Bear Valley at Mt. Reba.

Bear Valley, located 52 miles above Angel's Camp on Highway 4, popped into the skiing business during the Christmas season of 1967, and has quickly developed into one of the country's major ski resorts.

Former University of Pacific football star Bruce Orvis has commanded the area since it began, and this year Olympic medalist Jimmie Huega has landed the job of director of winter sports. Primarily, Jimmie's there to help develop mid-week skiing through the "Jimmie Huega Ski Holidays" — a combo of special rates and accomodations in a 5 or 7-day package plan.

One new lift has been installed rising from the day-lodge to the top of Rodeo Run aimed mainly at advanced beginner and intermediate skiers.

The new lift raises Bear's total to five chair lifts and one rope tow (due for replacement in the near future). Like other large resorts, Bear Valley boasts a variety of runs from very easy to very difficult. Expansion possibilities are outstanding and Orvis hopes to add a one-mile chair lift next season dropping down from the top of the mountain into Grouse Valley and eventually to Bear Valley Lodge. The vertical drop will be 1,400 feet. Right now an intermediate run leads down that route. A shuttle bus takes skiers from the Bear Valley Lodge and nearby Little Lodge some three miles to the day-lodge and the lifts. Accomodations at Bear are available at the lodge and Little Lodge, as well as condominiums and rental cabins.

Ski touring, growing in popularity across the country, is now available at Bear on a daily basis. For adventuresome souls, all day sno-cat tours will take you to untracked bowls.

One of the things that Bear is most proud of is its NASTAR (National Standard Race) program. Under the expert guidance of the area's well organized ski school director, Rich Carney, Bear's program had more participants than any area in the country except Waterville Valley in New Hampshire. NASTAR (to be explained in greater detail in a future column) is a system for recreational skiers to compare their racing performance on a modified giant slalom course with other skiers nationwide.

Bear Valley has another thing going for it: lots of snow.

Basketball Clinic For Youths

A youth basketball clinic for all Marin County boys in fifth through eighth grades will be held Saturday from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Fairfax Pavilion.

The clinic, sponsored by the Fairfax Recreation Department, will feature the College of Marin coaching staff in explaining fundamentals of the game.

Registration cost of $1 includes refreshments, and Marin head coach John Panagakis said youngsters who attend would also get free tickets to the Marin Tars' basketball tournament finals which will be held later that day.

The following Saturday, Dec. 19, the Fairfax Recreation Department will sponsor a similar clinic for girls, same ages, with the women's athletic staff from Marin Catholic High School putting on the show.

Reasonable Price For Swank Stocks

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. It seems that Swank is one of the only firms which makes jewelry and similar items for men. Because the whole area of men's fashion items is expanding and becoming popular, I wondered if Swank would be a good buy. — T.H.

A. Swank, a major factor in the men's jewelry field, has recorded good growth in both its "Swank" and "Prince Gardner" (leather accessories) lines. Sales of the former expanded 133 per cent from 1959-1969; and "Prince Gardner" sales increased 40 per cent from 1966-1969.

Although sales for "Jade East" toiletries have been declining, Swank should be able to retain volume on this line at the present level without increasing advertising expenditures, thereby allowing the growth of the other lines to become more apparent.

Earnings, which have been in a declining trend for three years, rose in the nine months ended September to 73 cents. It is expected that Swank will earn $1.50 for 1970. Thus, the stock which is selling at only 11x projected 1970 earnings appears reasonably priced for purchase.

Q. You have mentioned an organization for retired people. Can you give me the address and explain what it does? — D.J.

A. The organization, American Association of Retired Persons, is located at 1225 Connecticut Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036. Subscriptions to two AARP periodicals are included in the $2 annual membership cost. The association helps the retiree keep abreast of legislation which will directly affect him and also offers group rate benefits on insurance, travel and drugs.

Q. I hold 100 shares of King Resources. What are the chances for recovery0 — G.B.

A. Much improved, now that King has announced that interest due on their 5½ per cent debentures was paid within the 30 day grace period. Also announced was a similar 30-day postponement for payment of interest on a subsidiary's debenture. King has several irons in the fire which appear on the verge of breakthrough. Although very speculative, I would hold pending developments.

Class Suit Filed Against Chrysler

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — A class action lawsuit has been filed here against Chrysler Corp. and its major affiliated companies accusing the company of numerous violations of the anti-trust laws and a conspiracy to create a nationwide system of captive dealers.

The federal court suit was filed on behalf of James G. Dicostanzo, former Chrysler and Dodge dealer at Natick, Mass., and other dealers by Harold Brown, Boston lawyer who has been crusading against franchising abuses in many industries.

The complaint asked treble damages. It mentioned no specific sum but Brown said he expected to argue for damages of at least $50 million.

Utilities Expand

SINGAPORE (UPI) — The Public Utilities Board will spend $6 million for gas, $44 million for water and $187 million for electricity in an expansion program to cope with the expected growth of demand from the industrial and commercial sectors over the next five years.

Railways Lose

UTRECHT, Holland (UPI) — The Dutch state railways ended up $22.3 million in the red in 1969, despite the fact that the number of passengers carried increased for the first time since 1963.

Rail Halt Fails To Hurt Trade

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market was higher with less than an hour to go today despite confusion over whether the nationwide rail strike, which began at midnight, was actually breaking up. Turnover was fairly heavy.

The Dow Jones Industrial Average, the blue chip barometer was ahead more than 4½ points at 819.89 near 2:30 p.m.; Standard & Poor's 500 stock index gained 0.49 at 90.03, and advances topped declines, 788 to 501, on 1,597 issues crossing the tape.

A four-hour turnover of 10,680,000 shares compared with 9,910,000 shares traded at a comparable period yesterday.

Wall Street analysts generally attributed the market's better tone to overall improvement in market psychology stemming from recent reductions in interest rates — down to the consumer level — and expectations of a marked pickup in business next year.

Chase Manhattan Bank, in its bimonthly economic letter, said that just as restrictive policies of late 1968 and 1969 brought on a mild recession, "expansionary policies of 1970 will bring renewed growth in 1971."

David Rockefeller, chairman of Chase, told a news conference in Los Angeles, the economy has basic strength and that once consumers regain confidence they will begin buying again.

Among the big board's most active issues were Federal National Mortgage, Pan American World Airways, American Broadcasting Companies and Kinney National Service.

Prices were mixed on moderate turnover on the American Stock Exchange.

Ford, Korean Auto Venture

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ford Motor Co. announced agreement to form a joint venture with Hyundai Motor Co., South Korea, to produce automobiles in that country. The equally-owned venture will build an engine plant and foundry.

A Hyundai spokesman said the two companies have applied for South Korean government approval for the venture.

5 Billion Pounds Of Plastic Wrap

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) — More than 5 billion pounds a year of plastic wrapping film will be used by supermarkets to cover fresh meat, fruit and vegetables by 1975.

According to Goodyear, largest supplier to the food chains, this gain for soft plastic film packaging will come on top of a 400 per cent increase to 3.4 billion pounds in the 1959-69 decade.

Morris Plan Company To Open Novato Branch, 2nd For Marin

A new office of the Morris Plan Co. of California will be opened at 1518 Grant Avenue, Novato, on Monday.

It will be the company's 87th branch in the state and its second in Marin County. Another office is located in San Rafael.

The Novato office will be managed by M.D. (Max) Maxwell, an assistant secretary of the company. Office hours will be from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Mondays and from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesdays through Fridays. Customer parking is provided behind the building.

SOMETIME AFTER the first of the year, Wayne Temple will be moving his House of Kwan Yin farther west from 2130 Fourth Street on the San Rafael Miracle Mile, where he has been for the past 13 years.

He will move to the San Anselmo side — at 510 Red Hill Avenue, where a new building will be constructed for him. The beauty salon will have more space and more facilities than the present location.

CONSTRUCTION on the Seven-Eleven Food Store planned for 349 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley, should get under way sometime in January. Weather permitting, an opening should take place about the middle of January.

THE MARIN MEDICAL GROUP, since the fire at the building at 11 Professional Parkway, Terra Linda, has relocated temporarily at 750 Las Gallinas Avenue in the Northgate Medical Dental Building. Now working from here are Dr. William S. Neal, Dr. Edward C. Sargent Jr., Dr. Marvin L. Gerber, Dr. Christian Gronbeck Jr., Dr. Filmore S. Rodich, Dr. Stephen F. Keat, Dr. David S. Bloom, Dr. George J. Monteverdi, and Dr. Jack M. Bernstein. Phone number for the group remains the same.

JEAN OST of San Rafael, former owner of the Gift Horse in the Montecito Shopping Center, is now an independent distributor for the Amway Corp., makers of home and personal care products. She operates this business from her home at 3 Knight Drive.

CHARLES D. OWEN of San Rafael has been appointed assistant vice president of accounts receivable financing statewide at Crocker-Citizens National Bank's administrative headquarters in San Francisco. A native of Mill Valley, he joined the bank in 1964 following 15 years of business experience. Recently he has been an assistant vice president in the commercial loan administration.

IF YOU ARE a flying executive, a survey says, the odds are your baggage will be lost or damaged on one of your next five flights. And at least half of all your flights will leave late and probably arrive at your destination late, according to Dartnell Institute of Business Research.

The first Trans-Atlantic cable worked only a few days and then failed.

Dempsey Has NFL's Deadliest Weapon

Actually, it's Tom Dempsey's right shoe

You would never dream it belonged to somebody 6 feet 1 inch tall, 268 pounds and 23 years old. You could carry it in your picket. You would expect anybody who could wear it would still be teething.

Most pro football players have a shoe big enough to have funnels and be barging coal down the Ohio River. Tom Dempsey's looks like something Shirley Temple would tap-dance down a set of prop stairs. You're sure that anyone who wears it hasn't had his curls cut yet.

TOM DEMPSEY gives a lie to the old football adage that placekickers are not born, they are made. Just as Gale Sayers was born to run, John Unitas was born to pass, Tom Dempsey was born to placekick.

Placekickers as a class fear things like ingrown toenails (or ingrown toes), or the gout. Some of them take care of their right foot the way a soldier would take care of his gun in war.

Seldom in sports history has a seeming catastrophic defect been turned into such an incalculable advantage that a rival general manager (Tex Schramm) was moved earlier this year to suggest that Tom Dempsey be outlawed because he had a congenital edge over the rest of the players in the game, an astonishing bit of frontoffice Scroogism when you consider Gale Sayers, Bob Hayes, Jim Brown, and probably even Jim Thorpe, should have been ruled out of the game for the same reason.

Schramm called Dempsey's right foot when shod, a "sledgehammer." The truth is, Tom's right shoe only weighs only a little over one pound, has a kicking surface of less than two inches, and, as a hammer, would be about as effective as a feather.

DEMPSEY'S STORY is more grit than gamesmanship. As a child, he used to have to stuff toilet paper in his right shoe. To give you some idea of his determination, he was a one-and-one-half legged defensive end in a junior college when the San Diego Chargers suited him up as a taxi-squadder. He used to practice placekicking, and the Chargers initially outfitted him with a fibre-glass shoe which rubbed his foot so raw, it was difficult for him to kick without screaming. "A piece of bone still protrudes where the front of my foot should be, and it got rubbed raw and bleeding, and I had to saok it and drain it." Tom explains.

He got his first pair of custom shoes at his own expense when he was 21. He went to a chiropodist and devised a soft-leather shoe which employed no aluminum bars, reenforcement or other gimmicks variously tried by other placekickers.

Nonetheless, the league dispatched Bill Granholm from the league headquarters to rule on the legality of the shoe. He ruled it as legal as going barefoot.

STILL, THE game's concern is understandable. Of the top 10 scorers in the history of the NFL and AFL, only one (Jim Brown) listed NO extra points or NO field goals. Even Don Hutson, who scored 105 touchdowns, kicked 172 extra points and seven field goals. The other eight are mainly kicking specialists.

This year, what God hath wrought in the case of Tom Dempsey may have decided the NFC representative in the Super Bowl. Three weeks ago, he defeated the tough and talented Detorit Lions with a SIXTY-THREE YARD field goal. A performance like that threatens to make the punt obsolete.

It shocked the league, and moved Schramm to his ill-advised outburst. But, I like the advice of the observer who pointed out to Schramm that, since football was notorious for copying innovations, Tex might just send his placekicker out to stick his foot in a mowing machine or otherwise amputate half of it. Only then might he find that Tom Dempsey is a great placekicker not because he lacks toes, but because he doesn't lack guts.

John Brodie Regains His Lead

NEW YORK (UPI) —San Francisco 49er quarterback John Brodie, who picked the Atlanta Falcons apart last Sunday with 20 completions in 30 attempts for 259 yards, has regained the passing lead in the National Football Conference.

Statistics released yesterday by the National Football League show Brodie, who dropped out of the top spot last week after leading most of the season, back in front over Sonny Jurgensen of Washington.

Another 49er, wide receiver Gene Washington, held on to the No. 2 spot among pass receivers in the conference He has 46 catches, nine behind the leader, Dick Gordon of Chicago.

Other leaders this week include Fred Cox of the Minnesota Vikings in scoring with 107 points, Larry Brown of Washington in rushing with 996 yards, and Dick LeBeau of Detroit in interceptions with seven.

Little Retains His Lead

Little, who held Syracuse's career rushing record until Csonka broke it three years ago, currently leads the American Football Conference in rushing with 843 yards, but the Denver Broncs' running back is being heavily pressured by Csonka.

Csonka set a Miami Dolphins' club record last week by rushing for 115 yards, and the 240-pound fullback has moved into third place in the rushing department with 723 yards. Squeezed in between Little and Csonka is Hewritt Dixon of the Oakland Raiders with 750 yards.

According to the AFC's weekly statistics released today there was only one change this week in the various offensive categories. That was in punting where Dave Lewis of Cincinnati, with a 46.2 average, has replaced Baltimore's David Lee.

Jan Stenerud of Kansas City became the first AFC player to score 100 points this year and leads the scoring with 103 points, Daryle Lamonica of Oakland tops the passers with 2,195 yards, 20 touchdown passes and 159 completions and Marlin Briscoe lead the pass receivers with 49 catches.

Johnny Robinson of Kansas City intercepted three passes last weekend and leads all pass defenders with 10 interceptions, Ed Podolak of Kansas City leads the punt returners with a 13.9 average and Jim Duncan of Baltimore tops the kickoff returners with a 36.4 average.

Ringside Tickets for Clay-Frazier: $250

NEW YORK (UPI) — What's a ringside ticket worth for the showdown battle between heavyweight champion Joe Frazier and Cassius Clay?

A spokesman at Madison Square Garden says it will probably cost $250. "At least for the first 10 rows" he said. "And they'll be the first tickets to go."

Quick Growth Of Bear Valley

By CHARLIE COANE

Nestled in the heart of the Sierra Mother Lode country is one of California's newest entries into the ski resort world, Bear Valley at Mt. Reba.

Bear Valley, located 52 miles above Angel's Camp on Highway 4, popped into the skiing business during the Christmas season of 1967, and has quickly developed into one of the country's major ski resorts.

Former University of Pacific football star Bruce Orvis has commanded the area since it began, and this year Olympic medalist Jimmie Huega has landed the job of director of winter sports. Primarily, Jimmie's there to help develop mid-week skiing through the "Jimmie Huega Ski Holidays" — a combo of special rates and accomodations in a 5 or 7-day package plan.

One new lift has been installed rising from the day-lodge to the top of Rodeo Run aimed mainly at advanced beginner and intermediate skiers. The new lift raises Bear's total to five chair lifts and one rope tow (due for replacement in the near future). Like other large resorts, Bear Valley boasts a variety of runs from very easy to very difficult. Expansion possibilities are outstanding and Orvis hopes to add a one-mile chair lift next season dropping down from the top of the mountain into Grouse Valley and eventually to Bear Valley Lodge. The vertical drop will be 1,400 feet. Right now an intermediate run leads down that route. A shuttle bus takes skiers from the Bear Valley Lodge and nearby Little Lodge some three miles to the day-lodge and the lifts. Accomodations at Bear are available at the lodge and Little Lodge, as well as condominiums and rental cabins.

Ski touring, growing in popularity across the country, is now available at Bear on a daily basis. For adventuresome souls, all day sno-cat tours will take you to untracked bowls.

One of the things that Bear is most proud of is its NASTAR (National Standard Race) program. Under the expert guidance of the area's well organized ski school director, Rich Carney, Bear's program had more participants than any area in the country except Waterville Valley in New Hampshire. NASTAR (to be explained in greater detail in a future column) is a system for recreational skiers to compare their racing performance on a modified giant slalom course with other skiers nationwide.

Bear Valley has another thing going for it: lots of snow.

Basketball Clinic For Youths

A youth basketball clinic for all Marin County boys in fifth through eighth grades will be held Saturday from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Fairfax Pavilion.

The clinic, sponsored by the Fairfax Recreation Department, will feature the College of Marin coaching staff in explaining fundamentals of the game.

Registration cost of $1 includes refreshments, and Marin head coach John Panagakis said youngsters who attend would also get free tickets to the Marin Tars' basketball tournament finals which will be held later that day.

The following Saturday, Dec. 19, the Fairfax Recreation Department will sponsor a similar clinic for girls, same ages, with the women's athletic staff from Marin Catholic High School putting on the show.

ALMANAC

Today is Thursday, Dec. 10, the 344th day of 1970.

The moon is between its first quarter and full phase. The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mercury and Saturn.

Those born today are under the sign of Sagittarius.

American poet Emily Dickenson was born Dec. 10, 1830.

On this day in history:

In 1817 Mississippi was admitted to the union as the 20th state.

In 1898 Spain signed the treaty of Paris, officially ending the Spanish-American War. It gave Guam, Puerto Rico and the Philippines to the United States.

In 1941 Japanese troups landed on Northern Luzon in the Philippines.

A thought for today: Emily Dickinson said, "Success is counted sweetest by those who never succeed."

In 1901 distribution of the first Nobel prizes began on the anniversary of the death of Alfred Nobel.

Burglary Charge To Be Heard

Robert Louis Arnett Jr. of 121 Fairhills Drive, San Rafael, pleaded innocent Tuesday in Marin Municipal Court to charges of burglarizing the home of Marian F. Clark of 117 Rafael Drive, San Rafael on Nov. 11 and concealing stolen property on Nov. 16.

Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. refused to release Arnett on his own recognizance and set his bail at $1,000.

He also set a preliminary hearing for next Tuesday.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Player Must Be Alert To Answer A Simple Question

When I'm lecturing to a defenseless class, I sometimes ask them the old riddle: "Why does a chicken cross the street?" Some eager student always supplies the answer: "To get to the other side." And then there's usually a stony silence: nobody wants to laugh at so old and corny a joke. That's when I make my point: A simple question deserves a simple answer. Bridge is a simple game, but you have to be alert enough to ask the simple questions.

D-9

When today's hand was played, South played a low diamond from the dummy at the first trick. East won with the king and returned the deuce of diamonds.

South won and led the king of hearts. West won with the ace of hearts and led a third diamond to dummy's ace. Declarer resumed the hearts by leading dummy's queen, and now he was in trouble. He needed three heart tricks for his contract, and his line of play would produce only two heart tricks. Down one.

North pointed out (as partners will) that South would have made his game if he had taken the second heart trick with the jack instead of with the queen. East's discard would reveal the situation, and South would be able to finesse through West's ten of hearts with the Q-8 of hearts still in the dummy.

TOO LATE

South defended himself by asking a simple question: "How could I tell which opponent had a singleton heart?" It was a good question, but South asked it too late.

He would have known the answer if he had asked another simple question: "Why does a player lead a short suit against notrump?" The obvious answer is: When he has no length except in a suit bid by the opponents.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with 1-no trump (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes.

You hold:

♠- K 6 2
♥- Q 8 3 2
♦- A 5 3
♣- 7 5 3.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two clubs, the Stayman Convention, asking partner to bid a major suit of four or more cards.

If he bids anything else, you will bid 2-no-trump or 3-notrump (another borderline decision). Make the aggressive bid if your partner is a good player; be conservative if he is a doubtful player.

Benefit Fund For Accelerator

All proceeds from a buffet Monday at Sally Stanford's Valhalla restaurant in Sausalito will go to the campaign to raise $50,000 for a Linear Accelerator for Marin General Hospital.

An 11-piece Dixieland banjo band and Marin folksinger Betsy Chapman will furnish the entertainment. Miss Stanford is donating the profits from the bar as well as the food for the campaign. No-host cocktails will be at 6:30 p.m. and the buffet at 7:30 p.m.

Miss Chapman, a resident of San Anselmo, is now signing at the Sea Ranch in Sonoma County.

Ray K. Bollinger, administrator of Marin General Hospital said that the linear accelerator would be used in the radiotherapy room at the hospital.

It has proved to be one of the best treatments so far for cancer, he said. It is preferred because it can concentrate the beam and has less side effects on the patient, he added.

Prison Facilities Facing Shutdowns

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The state Department of Corrections disclosed today that it is considering the closing of more prison facilities if the convict ranks continue "on the downtrend."

The department last week announced the shutdown of the California Men's Colony-West, a minimum security facility housing 1,200 older and disabled inmates near San Luis Obispo.

Information Officer Phil Guthrie said the state's prison population dropped from 28,800 in January 1969 to 25,000 as of this month.

Guthrie said there would be additional closures probably if the total drops another 1,000. This, he said, would not be likely for at least another year.

The shutdowns would include minimum security facilities or parts of them, he said. He pointed out those under consideration would be units "built years ago" as temporary quarters.

Guthrie said the department's inmate population had been "on the downtrend" because of three reasons:

—The intake levels have been steadily decreasing due to the county probation subsidy program in which the state pays counties to keep convicted felons under supervision in their areas.

—A drop in the recidivism rate, that is, fewer parolees have been getting into trouble.

—And the California Adult Authority Parole Board has been releasing a slightly higher number of inmates than in past year.

The state official said fewer men were being sent to state prison for such property crimes as burglary and forgery.

"We are getting mainly violent men," he said.

Guthrie pointed out that it was not immediately known how many or which facilities would be closed. This, he added, would be determined at a later date.

About 40 per cent of the current population is locked up in minimum security facilities, he said.

Asked whether future closures would mean layoffs for correctional officers, he said that just about all would be reassigned to other institutions.

Three Injured In 2-Car Crash

Three persons received minor injuries Tuesday at 3:15 p.m. in a two-car collision on northbound Highway 101 north of the Francisco Boulevard exit in San Rafael.

The California Highway Patrol said a car driven by Denise G. Martin, 18, of 615 Spring Street, Sausalito, swerved to avoid two dogs on the roadway and collided with a vehicle driven by Michael A. Coyne, 16, of 360 Summit Avenue, San Rafael.

Miss Martin was to see her own doctor for neck and back pain, as was a passenger, identified by the highway patrol only as Mrs. Vandemark, 19, of 515 D Street, Apt. 31, San Rafael.

Jeanne Coyne, 13, a passenger in Coyne's car, received a bump on the head, officers said.

Pair Arrested In Car Burglary

Two youths have been arrested by San Anselmo police on suspicion of auto burglary.

Police said Robert Vernon Alderson, 17, of 21 Tarry Road was cited to juvenile authorities. His companion, Gary George Leucht, 18, of 21 Willow Avenue, Fairfax, was released pending a decision by the district attorney whether the youth should be charged as an adult or minor.

Officers said the youths are suspected of stealing two car seats Monday from an auto owned by Karl Spiller of 55 Longview Avenue, San Anselmo.

Leucht was stopped Tuesday at 8:45 a.m. as he drove into the Red Hill Shopping Center with an auto matching the description of that used in taking the car seats, police said. After questioning, Leucht and Alderson were arrested.

Sixth Graders Sell For Camp Trip Fund

Directors of the Tamalpais Community Services District have endorsed a plan by sixth grade students in the Mill Valley School District to sell reflecting house numbers to Valley residents.

According to Glenn Lambacher, Board president, the students are trying to raise $3,000 for a camping trip in the mountains. He said the district usually foots half the bill for the $6,000 annual trip, but has been unable to do so this year because of a financial squeeze.

The youngsters will sell a set of house numbers for $1 and a set mounted on a redwood plaque for $1.25, Lambacher said.

The Tamalpais Community Services District board also:

BUS SERVICE — At the request of about a dozen Valley Residents, agreed to ask the Marin County Board of Supervisors to do what it can to continue Marin Transit Bus service, now in jeopardy because of the transit company's financial problems.

CADET PROJECT — Accepted the services of the Tam Valley Cadets, a youth group, who have offered to plant approximately 30 trees along the Shoreline Highway during Christmas vacation if the county will pay the cost of the trees.

ASSISTANT DIRECTOR — Authorized the district manager to find and hire an assistant recreation director who will be paid $2 an hour.

MAINTENANCE MAN — Approved the hiring of a new maintenance man, August Belden, at a salary of $545 a month.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Player Must Be Alert To Answer A Simple Question

When I'm lecturing to a defenseless class, I sometimes ask them the old riddle: "Why does a chicken cross the street?" Some eager student always supplies the answer: "To get to the other side." And then there's usually a stony silence: nobody wants to laugh at so old and corny a joke. That's when I make my point: A simple question deserves a simple answer. Bridge is a simple game, but you have to be alert enough to ask the simple questions.

D-9

When today's hand was played, South played a low diamond from the dummy at the first trick. East won with the king and returned the deuce of diamonds.

South won and led the king of hearts. West won with the ace of hearts and led a third diamond to dummy's ace. Declarer resumed the hearts by leading dummy's queen, and now he was in trouble. He needed three heart tricks for his contract, and his line of play would produce only two heart tricks. Down one.

North pointed out (as partners will) that South would have made his game if he had taken the second heart trick with the jack instead of with the queen. East's discard would reveal the situation, and South would be able to finesse through West's ten of hearts with the Q-8 of hearts still in the dummy.

TOO LATE

South defended himself by asking a simple question: "How could I tell which opponent had a singleton heart?" It was a good question, but South asked it too late.

He would have known the answer if he had asked another simple question: "Why does a player lead a short suit against notrump?" The obvious answer is: When he has no length except in a suit bid by the opponents.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with 1-no trump (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes.

You hold:

♠- K 6 2
♥- Q 8 3 2
♦- A 5 3
♣- 7 5 3.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two clubs, the Stayman Convention, asking partner to bid a major suit of four or more cards.

If he bids anything else, you will bid 2-no-trump or 3-no-trump (another borderline decision). Make the aggressive bid if your partner is a good player; be conservative if he is a doubtful player.

Men's Hearing Set On Grass

Steven Charles Barrett, 37, of no known address, and Charles Bobby Beyes, 24, of Gretena, La., pleaded innocent Tuesday in Marin Municipal Court to charges of possessing marijuana when arrested in Sausalito Sunday.

A preliminary hearing was set for next Tuesday.

The men were arrested after an officer said he saw Beyes throw a plastic bag out of a pick-up truck window at 3:15 a.m.

ALMANAC

Today is Thursday, Dec. 10, the 344th day of 1970.

The moon is between its first quarter and full phase. The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mercury and Saturn.

Those born today are under the sign of Sagittarius.

American poet Emily Dickenson was born Dec. 10, 1830.

On this day in history:

In 1817 Mississippi was admitted to the union as the 20th state.

In 1898 Spain signed the treaty of Paris, officially ending the Spanish-American War. It gave Guam, Puerto Rico and the Philippines to the United States.

In 1941 Japanese troups landed on Northern Luzon in the Philippines.

A thought for today: Emily Dickinson said, "Success is counted sweetest by those who never succeed."

In 1901 distribution of the first Nobel prizes began on the anniversary of the death of Alfred Nobel.

Burglary Charge To Be Heard

Robert Louis Arnett Jr. of 121 Fairhills Drive, San Rafael, pleaded innocent Tuesday in Marin Municipal Court to charges of burglarizing the home of Marian F. Clark of 117 Rafael Drive, San Rafael on Nov. 11 and concealing stolen property on Nov. 16.

Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. refused to release Arnett on his own recognizance and set his bail at $1,000.

He also set a preliminary hearing for next Tuesday.

Reasonable Price For Swank Stocks

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. It seems that Swank is one of the only firms which makes jewelry and similar items for men. Because the whole area of men's fashion items is expanding and becoming popular, I wondered if Swank would be a good buy. — T.H.

A. Swank, a major factor in the men's jewelry field, has recorded good growth in both its "Swank" and "Prince Gardner" (leather accessories) lines. Sales of the former expanded 133 per cent from 1959-1969; and "Prince Gardner" sales increased 40 per cent from 1966-1969.

Although sales for "Jade East" toiletries have been declining, Swank should be able to retain volume on this line at the present level without increasing advertising expenditures, thereby allowing the growth of the other lines to become more apparent.

Earnings, which have been in a declining trend for three years, rose in the nine months ended September to 73 cents. It is expected that Swank will earn $1.50 for 1970. Thus, the stock which is selling at only 11x projected 1970 earnings appears reasonably priced for purchase.

Q. You have mentioned an organization for retired people. Can you give me the address and explain what it does? — D.J.

A. The organization, American Association of Retired Persons, is located at 1225 Connecticut Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036. Subscriptions to two AARP periodicals are included in the $2 annual membership cost. The association helps the retiree keep abreast of legislation which will directly affect him and also offers group rate benefits on insurance, travel and drugs.

Q. I hold 100 shares of King Resources. What are the chances for recovery0 — G.B.

A. Much improved, now that King has announced that interest due on their 5½ per cent debentures was paid within the 30 day grace period. Also announced was a similar 30-day postponement for payment of interest on a subsidiary's debenture. King has several irons in the fire which appear on the verge of breakthrough. Although very speculative, I would hold pending developments.

Class Suit Filed Against Chrysler

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — A class action lawsuit has been filed here against Chrysler Corp. and its major affiliated companies accusing the company of numerous violations of the antitrust laws and a conspiracy to create a nationwide system of captive dealers.

The federal court suit was filed on behalf of James G. Dicostanzo, former Chrysler and Dodge dealer at Natick, Mass., and other dealers by Harold Brown, Boston lawyer who has been crusading against franchising abuses in many industries.

The complaint asked treble damages. It mentioned no specific sum but Brown said he expected to argue for damages of at least $50 million.

Utilities Expand

SINGAPORE (UPI) —The Public Utilities Board will spend $6 million for gas, $44 million for water and $187 million for electricity in an expansion program to cope with the expected growth of demand from the industrial and commercial sectors over the next five years.

Railways Lose

UTRECHT, Holland (UPI) — The Dutch state railways ended up $22.3 million in the red in 1969, despite the fact that the number of passengers carried increased for the first time since 1963.

Rail Halt Fails To Hurt Trade

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market was higher with less than an hour to go today despite confusion over whether the nationwide rail strike, which began at midnight, was actually breaking up. Turnover was fairly heavy.

The Dow Jones Industrial Average, the blue chip barometer was ahead more than 4½ points at 819.89 near 2:30 p.m.; Standard & Poor's 500 stock index gained 0.49 at 90.03, and advances topped declines, 788 to 501, on 1,597 issues crossing the tape.

A four-hour turnover of 10,680,000 shares compared with 9,910,000 shares traded at a comparable period yesterday.

Wall Street analysts generally attributed the market's better tone to overall improvement in market psychology stemming from recent reductions in interest rates — down to the consumer level — and expectations of a marked pickup in business next year.

Chase Manhattan Bank, in its bimonthly economic letter, said that just as restrictive policies of late 1968 and 1969 brought on a mild rec ession, "expansionary policies of 1970 will bring renewed growth in 1971."

David Rockefeller, chairman of Chase, told a news conference in Los Angeles, the economy has basic strength and that once consumers regain confidence they will begin buying again.

Among the big board's most active issues were Federal National Mortgage, Pan American World Airways, American Broadcasting Companies and Kinney National Service.

Prices were mixed on moderate turnover on the American Stock Exchange.

Ford, Korean Auto Venture

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ford Motor Co. announced agreement to form a joint venture with Hyundai Motor Co., South Korea, to produce automobiles in that country. The equally-owned venture will build an engine plant and foundry.

A Hyundai spokesman said the two companies have applied for South Korean government approval for the venture.

5 Billion Pounds Of Plastic Wrap

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) —More than 5 billion pounds a year of plastic wrapping film will be used by supermarkets to cover fresh meat, fruit and vegetables by 1975.

According to Goodyear, largest supplier to the food chains, this gain for soft plastic film packaging will come on top of a 400 per cent increase to 3.4 billion pounds in the 1959-69 decade.

Reasonable Price For Swank Stocks

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. It seems that Swank is one of the only firms which makes jewelry and similar items for men. Because the whole area of men's fashion items is expanding and becoming popular, I wondered if Swank would be a good buy. — T.H.

A. Swank, a major factor in the men's jewelry field, has recorded good growth in both its "Swank" and "Prince Gardner" (leather accessories) lines. Sales of the former expanded 133 per cent from 1959-1969; and "Prince Gardner" sales increased 40 per cent from 1966-1969.

Although sales for "Jade East" toiletries have been declining, Swank should be able to retain volume on this line at the present level without increasing advertising expenditures, thereby allowing the growth of the other lines to become more apparent.

Earnings, which have been in a declining trend for three years, rose in the nine months ended September to 73 cents. It is expected that Swank will earn $1.50 for 1970. Thus, the stock which is selling at only 11x projected 1970 earnings appears reasonably priced for purchase.

Q. You have mentioned an organization for retired people. Can you give me the address and explain what it does? -- D.J.

A. The organization, American Association of Retired Persons, is located at 1225 Connecticut Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036. Subscriptions to twc AARP periodicals are included in the $2 annual membership cost. The association helps the retiree keep abreast of legislation which will directly affect him and also offers group rate benefits on insurance, travel and drugs.

Q. I hold 100 shares of King Resources. What are the chances for recovery0 — G.B.

A. Much improved, now that King has announced that interest due on their 5½ per cent debentures was paid within the 30 day grace period. Also announced was a similar 30-day postponement for payment of interest on a subsidiary's debenture. King has several irons in the fire which appear on the verge of breakthrough. Although very speculative, I would hold pending developments.

Class Suit Filed Against Chrysler

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — A class action lawsuit has been filed here against Chrysler Corp. and its major affiliated companies accusing the company of numerous violations of the antitrust laws and a conspiracy to create a nationwide system of captive dealers.

The federal court suit was filed on behalf of James G. Dicostanzo, former Chrysler and Dodge dealer at Natick, Mass., and other dealers by Harold Brown, Boston lawyer who has been crusading against franchising abuses in many industries.

The complaint asked treble damages. It mentioned no specific sum but Brown said he expected to argue for damages of at least $50 million.

Utilities Expand

SINGAPORE (UPI) —The Public Utilities Board will spend $6 million for gas, $44 million for water and $187 million for electricity in an expansion program to cope with the expected growth of demand from the industrial and commercial sectors over the next five years.

Railways Lose

UTRECHT, Holland (UPI) — The Dutch state railways ended up $22.3 million in the red in 1969, despite the fact that the number of passengers carried increased for the first time since 1963.

Rail Halt Fails To Hurt Trade

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market was higher with less than an hour to go today despite confusion over whether the nationwide rail strike, which began at midnight, was actually breaking up. Turnover was fairly heavy.

The Dow Jones Industrial Average, the blue chip barometer was ahead more than 4½ points at 819.89 near 2:30 p.m.; Standard & Poor's 500 stock index gained 0.49 at 90.03, and advances topped declines, 788 to 501, on 1,597 issues crossing the tape.

A four-hour turnover of 10,680,000 shares compared with 9,910,000 shares traded at a comparable period yesterday.

Wall Street analysts generally attributed the market's better tone to overall improvement in market psychology stemming from recent reductions in interest rates — down to the consumer level — and expectations of a marked pickup in business next year.

Chase Manhattan Bank, in its bimonthly economic letter, said that just as restrictive policies of late 1968 and 1969 brought on a mild rec ession, "expansionary policies of 1970 will bring renewed growth in 1971."

David Rockefeller, chairman of Chase, told a news conference in Los Angeles, the economy has basic strength and that once consumers regain confidence they will begin buying again.

Among the big board's most active issues were Federal National Mortgage, Pan American World Airways, American Broadcasting Companies and Kinney National Service.

Prices were mixed on moderate turnover on the American Stock Exchange.

Ford, Korean Auto Venture

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ford Motor Co. announced agreement to form a joint venture with Hyundai Motor Co., South Korea, to produce automobiles in that country. The equally-owned venture will build an engine plant and foundry.

A Hyundai spokesman said the two companies have applied for South Korean government approval for the venture.

5 Billion Pounds Of Plastic Wrap

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) —More than 5 billion pounds a year of plastic wrapping film will be used by supermarkets to cover fresh meat, fruit and vegetables by 1975.

According to Goodyear, largest supplier to the food chains, this gain for soft plastic film packaging will come on top of a 400 per cent increase to 3.4 billion pounds in the 1959-69 decade.

Morris Plan Company To Open Novato Branch, 2nd For Marin

A new office of the Morris Plan Co. of California will be opened at 1518 Grant Avenue, Novato, on Monday.

It will be the company's 87th branch in the state and its second in Marin County. Another office is located in San Rafael.

The Novato office will be managed by M.D. (Max) Maxwell, an assistant secretary of the company. Office hours will be from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Mondays and from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesdays through Fridays. Customer parking is provided behind the building.

SOMETIME AFTER the first of the year, Wayne Temple will be moving his House of Kwan Yin farther west from 2130 Fourth Street on the San Rafael Miracle Mile, where he has been for the past 13 years.

He will move to the San Anselmo side — at 510 Red Hill Avenue, where a new building will be constructed for him. The beauty salon will have more space and more facilities than the present location.

CONSTRUCTION on the Seven-Eleven Food Store planned for 349 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley, should get under way sometime in January. Weather permitting, an opening should take place about the middle of January.

THE MARIN MEDICAL GROUP, since the fire at the building at 11 Professional Parkway, Terra Linda, has relocated temporarily at 750 Las Gallinas Avenue in the Northgate Medical Dental Building. Now working from here are Dr. William S. Neal, Dr. Edward C. Sargent Jr., Dr. Marvin L. Gerber, Dr. Christian Gronbeck Jr., Dr. Filmore S. Rodich, Dr. Stephen F. Kent, Dr. David S. Bloom, Dr. George J. Monteverdi, and Dr. Jack M. Bernstein. Phone number for the group remains the same.

JEAN OST of San Rafael, former owner of the Gift Horse in the Montecito Shopping Center, is now an independent distributor for the Amway Corp., makers of home and personal care products. She operates this business from her home at 3 Knight Drive.

CHARLES D. OWEN of San Rafael has been appointed assistant vice president of accounts receivable financing statewide at Crocker-Citizens National Bank's administrative headquarters in San Francisco. A native of Mill Valley, he joined the bank in 1964 following 15 years of business experience. Recently he has been an assistant vice president in the commercial loan administration.

IF YOU ARE a flying executive, a survey says, the odds are your baggage will be lost or damaged on one of your next five flights. And at least half of all your flights will leave late and probably arrive at your destination late, according to Dartnell Institute of Business Research.

The first Trans-Atlantic cable worked only a few days and then failed.

Benefit Fund For Accelerator

All proceeds from a buffet Monday at Sally Stanford's Valhalla restaurant in Sausalito will go to the campaign to raise $50,000 for a Linear Accelerator for Marin General Hospital.

An 11-piece Dixieland banjo band and Marin folksinger Betsy Chapman will furnish the entertainment. Miss Stanford is donating the profits from the bar as well as the food for the campaign. No-host cocktails will be at 6:30 p.m. and the buffet at 7:30 p.m.

The Dixieland banjo band members are Dr. Elmer Weden Jr., Peter Deetkin, Wally Lewis, Keith Tanner, Henry Forbes and Sally Burns, banjos; Harold White, trumpet; Mrs. William Lamers, piano; Dr. Robert Alderson, gut bucket; James Brennan, tuba, and Warren Terry, drums.

Miss Chapman, a resident of San Anselmo, is now signing at the Sea Ranch in Sonoma County.

Ray K. Bollinger, administrator of Marin General Hospital said that the linear accelerator would be used in the radiotherapy room at the hospital.

It has proved to be one of the best treatments so far for cancer, he said. It is preferred because it can concentrate the beam and has less side effects on the patient, he added.

Prison Facilities Facing Shutdowns

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The state Department of Corrections disclosed today that it is considering the closing of more prison facilities if the convict ranks continue "on the downtrend."

The department last week announced the shutdown of the California Men's Colony-West, a minimum security facility housing 1,200 older and disabled inmates near San Luis Obispo.

Information Officer Phil Guthrie said the state's prison population dropped from 28,800 in January 1969 to 25,000 as of this month.

Guthrie said there would be additional closures probably if the total drops another 1,000. This, he said, would not be likely for at least another year.

The shutdowns would include minimum security facilities or parts of them, he said. He pointed out those under consideration would be units "built years ago" as temporary quarters.

Guthrie said the department's inmate population had been "on the downtrend" because of three reasons:

—The intake levels have been steadily decreasing due to the county probation subsidy program in which the state pays counties to keep convicted felons under supervision in their areas.

—A drop in the recidivism rate, that is, fewer parolees have been getting into trouble.

—And the California Adult Authority Parole Board has been releasing a slightly higher number of inmates than in past year.

The state official said fewer men were being sent to state prison for such property crimes as burglary and forgery.

"We are getting mainly violent men," he said.

Guthrie pointed out that it was not immediately known how many or which facilities would be closed. This, he added, would be determined at a later date.

About 40 per cent of the current population is locked up in minimum security facilities, he said.

Asked whether future closures would mean layoffs for correctional officers, he said that just about all would be reassigned to other institutions.

Three Injured In 2-Car Crash

Three persons received minor injuries Tuesday at 3:15 p.m. in a two-car collision on northbound Highway 101 north of the Francisco Boulevard exit in San Rafael.

The California Highway Patrol said a car driven by Denise G. Martin, 18, of 615 Spring Street, Sausalito, swerved to avoid two dogs on the roadway and collided with a vehicle driven by Michael A. Coyne, 16, of 360 Summit Avenue, San Rafael.

Miss Martin was to see her own doctor for neck and back pain, as was a passenger, identified by the highway patrol only as Mrs. Vandemark, 19, of 515 D Street, Apt. 31, San Rafael.

Jeanne Coyne, 13, a passenger in Coyne's car, received a bump on the head, officers said.

Pair Arrested In Car Burglary

Two youths have been arrested by San Anselmo police on suspicion of auto burglary.

Police said Robert Vernon Alderson, 17, of 21 Tarry Road was cited to juvenile authorities. His companion, Gary George Leucht, 18, of 21 Willow Avenue, Fairfax, was released pending a decision by the district attorney whether the youth should be charged as an adult or minor.

Officers said the youths are suspected of stealing two car seats Monday from an auto owned by Karl Spiller of 55 Longview Avenue, San Anselmo.

Leucht was stopped Tuesday at 8:45 a.m. as he drove into the Red Hill Shopping Center with an auto matching the description of that used in taking the car seats, police said. After questioning, Leucht and Alderson were arrested.

Sixth Graders Sell For Camp Trip Fund

Directors of the Tamalpais Community Services District have endorsed a plan by sixth grade students in the Mill Valley School District to sell reflecting house numbers to Valley residents.

According to Glenn Lambacher, Board president, the students are trying to raise $3,000 for a camping trip in the mountains. He said the district usually foots half the bill for the $6,000 annual trip, but has been unable to do so this year because of a financial squeeze.

The youngsters will sell a set of house numbers for $1 and a set mounted on a redwood plaque for $1.25, Lambacher said.

The Tamalpais Community Services District board also:

BUS SERVICE — At the request of about a dozen Valley Residents, agreed to ask the Marin County Board of Supervisors to do what it can to continue Marin Transit Bus service, now in jeopardy because of the transit company's financial problems.

CADET PROJECT — Accepted the services of the Tam Valley Cadets, a youth group, who have offered to plant approximately 30 trees along the Shoreline Highway during Christmas vacation if the county will pay the cost of the trees.

ASSISTANT DIRECTOR — Authorized the district manager to find and hire an assistant recreation director who will be paid $2 an hour.

MAINTENANCE MAN — Approved the hiring of a new maintenance man, August Belden, at a salary of $545 a month.

Benefit Fund For Accelerator

All proceeds from a buffet Monday at Sally Stanford's Valhalla restaurant in Sausalito will go to the campaign to raise $50,000 for a Linear Accelerator for Marin General Hospital.

An 11-piece Dixieland banjo band and Marin folksinger Betsy Chapman will furnish the entertainment. Miss Stanford is donating the profits from the bar as well as the food for the campaign. No-host cocktails will be at 6:30 p.m. and the buffet at 7:30 p.m.

The Dixieland banjo band members are Dr. Elmer Weden Jr., Peter Deetkin, Wally Lewis, Keith Tanner, Henry Forbes and Sally Burns, banjos; Harold White, trumpet; Mrs. William Lamers, piano; Dr. Robert Alderson, gut bucket; James Brennan, tuba, and Warren Terry, drums.

Miss Chapman, a resident of San Anselmo, is now signing at the Sea Ranch in Sonoma County.

Ray K. Bollinger, administrator of Marin General Hospital said that the linear accelerator would be used in the radiotherapy room at the hospital.

It has proved to be one of the best treatments so far for cancer, he said. It is preferred because it can concentrate the beam and has less side effects on the patient, he added.

Prison Facilities Facing Shutdowns

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The state Department of Corrections disclosed today that it is considering the closing of more prison facilities if the convict ranks continue "on the downtrend."

The department last week announced the shutdown of the California Men's Colony-West, a minimum security facility housing 1,200 older and disabled inmates near San Luis Obispo.

Information Officer Phil Guthrie said the state's prison population dropped from 28,800 in January 1969 to 25,000 as of this month.

Guthrie said there would be additional closures probably if the total drops another 1,000. This, he said, would not be likely for at least another year.

The shutdowns would include minimum security facilities or parts of them, he said. He pointed out those under consideration would be units "built years ago" as temporary quarters.

Guthrie said the department's inmate population had been "on the downtrend" because of three reasons:

—The intake levels have been steadily decreasing due to the county probation subsidy program in which the state pays counties to keep convicted felons under supervision in their areas.

—A drop in the recidivism rate, that is, fewer parolees have been getting into trouble.

—And the California Adult Authority Parole Board has been releasing a slightly higher number of inmates than in past year.

The state official said fewer men were being sent to state prison for such property crimes as burglary and forgery.

"We are getting mainly violent men," he said.

Guthrie pointed out that it was not immediately known how many or which facilities would be closed. This, he added, would be determined at a later date.

About 40 per cent of the current population is locked up in minimum security facilities, he said.

Asked whether future closures would mean layoffs for correctional officers, he said that just about all would be reassigned to other institutions.

Three Injured In 2-Car Crash

Three persons received minor injuries Tuesday at 3:15 p.m. in a two-car collision on northbound Highway 101 north of the Francisco Boulevard exit in San Rafael.

The California Highway Patrol said a car driven by Denise G. Martin, 18, of 615 Spring Street, Sausalito, swerved to avoid two dogs on the roadway and collided with a vehicle driven by Michael A. Coyne, 16, of 360 Summit Avenue, San Rafael.

Miss Martin was to see her own doctor for neck and back pain, as was a passenger, identified by the highway patrol only as Mrs. Vandemark, 19, of 515 D Street, Apt. 31, San Rafael.

Jeanne Coyne, 13, a passenger in Coyne's car, received a bump on the head, officers said.

Pair Arrested In Car Burglary

Two youths have been arrested by San Anselmo police on suspicion of auto burglary.

Police said Robert Vernon Alderson, 17, of 21 Tarry Road was cited to juvenile authorities. His companion, Gary George Leucht, 18, of 21 Willow Avenue, Fairfax, was released pending a decision by the district attorney whether the youth should be charged as an adult or minor.

Officers said the youths are suspected of stealing two car seats Monday from an auto owned by Karl Spiller of 55 Longview Avenue, San Anselmo.

Leucht was stopped Tuesday at 8:45 a.m. as he drove into the Red Hill Shopping Center with an auto matching the description of that used in taking the car seats, police said. After questioning, Leucht and Alderson were arrested.

Sixth Graders Sell For Camp Trip Fund

Directors of the Tamalpais Community Services District have endorsed a plan by sixth grade students in the Mill Valley School District to sell reflecting house numbers to Valley residents.

According to Glenn Lambacher, Board president, the students are trying to raise $3,000 for a camping trip in the mountains. He said the district usually foots half the bill for the $6,000 annual trip, but has been unable to do so this year because of a financial squeeze.

The youngsters will sell a set of house numbers for $1 and a set mounted on a redwood plaque for $1.25, Lambacher said.

The Tamalpais Community Services District board also:

BUS SERVICE — At the request of about a dozen Valley Residents, agreed to ask the Marin County Board of Supervisors to do what it can to continue Marin Transit Bus service, now in jeopardy because of the transit company's financial problems.

CADET PROJECT — Accepted the services of the Tam Valley Cadets, a youth group, who have offered to plant approximately 30 trees along the Shoreline Highway during Christmas vacation if the county will pay the cost of the trees.

ASSISTANT DIRECTOR — Authorized the district manager to find and hire an assistant recreation director who will be paid $2 an hour.

MAINTENANCE MAN — Approved the hiring of a new maintenance man, August Belden, at a salary of $545 a month.
